

WORLD WAR NOW ENTERED INTO CITY CAMPAIGN

Shank Says He Was Too Old to Fight, but Questions Ralston Relatives.

GOT PEACE JOB FOR SON?

Boyd M. Ralston and Samuel Lewis Shank, rival candidates for mayor, are fighting the World War over.

Wednesday evening Mr. Ralston declared:

"We never would have won this war if all our soldiers had been like our noble son."

Thursday evening Mr. Shank replied:

"Now, but that ridiculous and unfair? Why, I was too old to be a soldier and I know I wouldn't have made a very fine figure as a soldier. But, was Ralston a soldier?"

"And what about his son and son-in-law? Were they soldiers, even though they were of military age and able-bodied?"

DID RALSTON USE HIS INFLUENCE?

A man in the rear of the room interrupted:

"I know about how much money Ralston spent to keep his son-in-law out of the Army when he was drafted. I was working for the Superior Sheet Metal Company when Ralston's son-in-law was drafted and I know that Ralston spent a lot of money to keep him out of the Army and didn't get by with it either. Why, it was common talk around the factory that this man actually cried when he found that he had to go to the Army."

Mr. Shank went on:

"Ralston's son got cold feet when it came time to get in the army and the old man finally got him some kind of a job over here in the United States, while your boys were wading through the mud in France."

"I did the best I could to help raise the money to help win the war, but I do think it is ridiculous for Ralston to say those things about me."

Mr. Shank denied connection with J. Herbert Hartman, Republican nominee for city judge, involved in the Francis confession. He said he voted for John Engelle for city judge in the primary and Mrs. Shank for Delbert Wilmet.

"Ralston and the News can't blame me for Hartman being on the ticket," he said. "He would have been on the ticket just the same if Howe had won the nomination for mayor. But everything will come on all right. Time will settle it."

Assuming that he thought he would come out with the better record, Mr. Shank said he would like to have a committee of clergymen investigate the pasts of Mr. Ralston and himself.

"I believe I am so much better fitted morally, by experience, and in every way, that the people will forget all about this stuff Ralston and the News is saying about me if a committee of preachers found out the real facts and told the public about them. All I want is the truth."

The Shank meetings were in Brightwood, all three being well attended. Others who spoke were John W. Rhoades, nominee for city clerk, and Theodore Bernd, candidate for city clerk, and E. E. Updike, Frank Benough and William A. Edwards, president of the Brightwood Republican Club.

Mr. Ralston spoke at Clifton and Udel and South East and Prospect streets last evening. He scored Mr. Shank for using "vaudeville" in his meetings, declared Mr. Shank should not talk about Mr. Ralston being in the rent profiteering business because the Shank moving rates are twice what they used to be and renewed numerous promises he has made for good government.

Thomas K. Garvin, Democratic nominee

ARRIVE ABOARD S.S. OLYMPIC

Elsie Janis and her mother return after a year and a half spent in Europe. Miss Janis is wearing a one-piece dress of fashionable Jersey cloth with pleated skirt.

for city judge, repeated his charge that Mr. Shank has made a deal with Mayor Charles W. Jewett in which Mr. Shank is to support Mr. Jewett for Congress in 1922 in return for Mr. Jewett's support in the present race. Frank T. Hawley, Lewis Schwartz and E. J. Sexton were other speakers.

The convention was opened without the president, Mrs. Michael Gavin, who was called to St. Paul by the illness of her mother, Mrs. James J. Hill, widow of the railroad magnate. Col. Theodore Roosevelt, assistant Secretary of the Navy, made a brief address of welcome and the rest of the opening afternoon was taken up by an address by Bishop Schrembs of Cleveland and reports of officers. In the evening there was a reception in the Willard.

The women's council is a coordinate branch of the department of the lay organizations, one of five divisions of the national Catholic welfare council.

The program of activities include campaigns and indirect movies and birth-control legislation, distribution of Catholic literature and extension of the Catholic press; representation on national and local conferences of women's organizations.

Although the women's council is scarcely more than a year old, it was said that there were 804 State, diocesan and local organizations, representing hundreds of thousands of Catholic women.

The last two days' session will be taken up largely with woman's part in the new social activities of the Catholic Church. Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Company.

Special to Indiana Daily Times and Philadelphia Public Ledger.

By CONSTANCE DREXEL.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—The first convention of the national council of Catholic women, meeting here, marks a decided departure from the policy of the Catholic Church. Heretofore, Catholic women have been advised to keep within the confines of the home. Even charity work was left usually to the clergy and the nuns.

Catholic women now are to go out into the world wide to cooperate with other women's organizations.

Briefly, that is the raison d'être of the national council of Catholic women, which is meeting in convention at the Willard hotel. The delegates were received by Mrs. Harding at the White House. More than four hundred representing twenty-nine States and Canada are in attendance.

The program of activities include campaigns and indirect movies and birth-control legislation, distribution of Catholic literature and extension of the Catholic press; representation on national and local conferences of women's organizations.

Although the women's council is scarcely more than a year old, it was said that there were 804 State, diocesan and local organizations, representing hundreds of thousands of Catholic women.

The last two days' session will be taken up largely with woman's part in the new social activities of the Catholic Church. Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Company.

Special to Indiana Daily Times and Philadelphia Public Ledger.

By CONSTANCE DREXEL.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—The first convention of the national council of Catholic women, meeting here, marks a decided departure from the policy of the Catholic Church. Heretofore, Catholic women have been advised to keep within the confines of the home. Even charity work was left usually to the clergy and the nuns.

Catholic women now are to go out into the world wide to cooperate with other women's organizations.

Briefly, that is the raison d'être of the national council of Catholic women, which is meeting in convention at the Willard hotel. The delegates were received by Mrs. Harding at the White House. More than four hundred representing twenty-nine States and Canada are in attendance.

The program of activities include campaigns and indirect movies and birth-control legislation, distribution of Catholic literature and extension of the Catholic press; representation on national and local conferences of women's organizations.

Although the women's council is scarcely more than a year old, it was said that there were 804 State, diocesan and local organizations, representing hundreds of thousands of Catholic women.

The last two days' session will be taken up largely with woman's part in the new social activities of the Catholic Church. Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Company.

Special to Indiana Daily Times and Philadelphia Public Ledger.

By CONSTANCE DREXEL.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—The first convention of the national council of Catholic women, meeting here, marks a decided departure from the policy of the Catholic Church. Heretofore, Catholic women have been advised to keep within the confines of the home. Even charity work was left usually to the clergy and the nuns.

Catholic women now are to go out into the world wide to cooperate with other women's organizations.

Briefly, that is the raison d'être of the national council of Catholic women, which is meeting in convention at the Willard hotel. The delegates were received by Mrs. Harding at the White House. More than four hundred representing twenty-nine States and Canada are in attendance.

The program of activities include campaigns and indirect movies and birth-control legislation, distribution of Catholic literature and extension of the Catholic press; representation on national and local conferences of women's organizations.

Although the women's council is scarcely more than a year old, it was said that there were 804 State, diocesan and local organizations, representing hundreds of thousands of Catholic women.

The last two days' session will be taken up largely with woman's part in the new social activities of the Catholic Church. Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Company.

Special to Indiana Daily Times and Philadelphia Public Ledger.

By CONSTANCE DREXEL.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—The first convention of the national council of Catholic women, meeting here, marks a decided departure from the policy of the Catholic Church. Heretofore, Catholic women have been advised to keep within the confines of the home. Even charity work was left usually to the clergy and the nuns.

Catholic women now are to go out into the world wide to cooperate with other women's organizations.

Briefly, that is the raison d'être of the national council of Catholic women, which is meeting in convention at the Willard hotel. The delegates were received by Mrs. Harding at the White House. More than four hundred representing twenty-nine States and Canada are in attendance.

The program of activities include campaigns and indirect movies and birth-control legislation, distribution of Catholic literature and extension of the Catholic press; representation on national and local conferences of women's organizations.

Although the women's council is scarcely more than a year old, it was said that there were 804 State, diocesan and local organizations, representing hundreds of thousands of Catholic women.

The last two days' session will be taken up largely with woman's part in the new social activities of the Catholic Church. Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Company.

Special to Indiana Daily Times and Philadelphia Public Ledger.

By CONSTANCE DREXEL.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—The first convention of the national council of Catholic women, meeting here, marks a decided departure from the policy of the Catholic Church. Heretofore, Catholic women have been advised to keep within the confines of the home. Even charity work was left usually to the clergy and the nuns.

Catholic women now are to go out into the world wide to cooperate with other women's organizations.

Briefly, that is the raison d'être of the national council of Catholic women, which is meeting in convention at the Willard hotel. The delegates were received by Mrs. Harding at the White House. More than four hundred representing twenty-nine States and Canada are in attendance.

The program of activities include campaigns and indirect movies and birth-control legislation, distribution of Catholic literature and extension of the Catholic press; representation on national and local conferences of women's organizations.

Although the women's council is scarcely more than a year old, it was said that there were 804 State, diocesan and local organizations, representing hundreds of thousands of Catholic women.

The last two days' session will be taken up largely with woman's part in the new social activities of the Catholic Church. Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Company.

Special to Indiana Daily Times and Philadelphia Public Ledger.

By CONSTANCE DREXEL.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—The first convention of the national council of Catholic women, meeting here, marks a decided departure from the policy of the Catholic Church. Heretofore, Catholic women have been advised to keep within the confines of the home. Even charity work was left usually to the clergy and the nuns.

Catholic women now are to go out into the world wide to cooperate with other women's organizations.

Briefly, that is the raison d'être of the national council of Catholic women, which is meeting in convention at the Willard hotel. The delegates were received by Mrs. Harding at the White House. More than four hundred representing twenty-nine States and Canada are in attendance.

The program of activities include campaigns and indirect movies and birth-control legislation, distribution of Catholic literature and extension of the Catholic press; representation on national and local conferences of women's organizations.

Although the women's council is scarcely more than a year old, it was said that there were 804 State, diocesan and local organizations, representing hundreds of thousands of Catholic women.

The last two days' session will be taken up largely with woman's part in the new social activities of the Catholic Church. Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Company.

Special to Indiana Daily Times and Philadelphia Public Ledger.

By CONSTANCE DREXEL.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—The first convention of the national council of Catholic women, meeting here, marks a decided departure from the policy of the Catholic Church. Heretofore, Catholic women have been advised to keep within the confines of the home. Even charity work was left usually to the clergy and the nuns.

Catholic women now are to go out into the world wide to cooperate with other women's organizations.

Briefly, that is the raison d'être of the national council of Catholic women, which is meeting in convention at the Willard hotel. The delegates were received by Mrs. Harding at the White House. More than four hundred representing twenty-nine States and Canada are in attendance.

The program of activities include campaigns and indirect movies and birth-control legislation, distribution of Catholic literature and extension of the Catholic press; representation on national and local conferences of women's organizations.

Although the women's council is scarcely more than a year old, it was said that there were 804 State, diocesan and local organizations, representing hundreds of thousands of Catholic women.

The last two days' session will be taken up largely with woman's part in the new social activities of the Catholic Church. Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Company.

Special to Indiana Daily Times and Philadelphia Public Ledger.

By CONSTANCE DREXEL.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—The first convention of the national council of Catholic women, meeting here, marks a decided departure from the policy of the Catholic Church. Heretofore, Catholic women have been advised to keep within the confines of the home. Even charity work was left usually to the clergy and the nuns.

Catholic women now are to go out into the world wide to cooperate with other women's organizations.

Briefly, that is the raison d'être of the national council of Catholic women, which

DELEGATES TALK ON CONFERENCE

Tell Manufacturers of Unemployment Situation.

John E. Edgerton of Lebanon, Tenn., president of the National Association of Manufacturers, who has been in Washington, D. C., attending the unemployment conference called by President Harding, and James E. Emery of Washington, general counsel of the association, were the principal speakers at the luncheon at the Maypool Hotel yesterday, at which a number of manufacturers, both local and others from throughout the State were the guests of the national association. H. C. Atkins presided.

After touching very briefly upon the unemployment conference, Mr. Edgerton urged an increase in membership in the national association, and said such an organization could accomplish much for the general welfare.

Mr. Emery confirmed the greater portion of his talk to the matter of tax questions.

Following the luncheon the manufacturers attended the Indianapolis Industrial Exposition.

Liberty Market

350-354 East Washington Street

The Biggest Retail Grocery in Indiana

POTATOES—Nice smooth stock. 33c

Medium size. Peck 33c

Creamery Butter Hoosier Gold, 43c

Pound Print, 43c

Pillsbury XXXX Flour, 24-lb. Sack $1.15

RUB-NO-MORE SOAP SPECIAL

Three packages Rub-No-More Soap Chips 25c

Three cans Spotless Cleanser. 22c

New tall can 22c

FLORIDA GRAPE FRUIT— 15c

Thin rind and good flavor. 2 for 15c

CRANBERRIES—"Eatmoor's." 15c

Pound 15c

SWEET SPANISH ONIONS— 11c

Three for 11c

STANDARD OLEO—Colored, lb., 35¢; 25c

uncolored, 25c

BOILED HAM— 45c

Lean and sweet. Pound 45c

Little Pig Shoulders, 19c

sugar cured, small sizes. 15c

Pound 15c

Breakfast Bacon, 19c

sugar cured and nicely streaked. 19c

Pound 19c

Pure Pork 21c

Sausage, lb. 21c

3 pounds 73¢

Frankfurter Sausages, lb. 19c

Fresh Smoked Sausage, 21c

country style. Pound 21c

LARD— 38c

Pure open kettle rendered. 3 pounds 38c

Sweet Meats, lean and boneless, pound 32c

Dried Beef, sweet cure, 1/2 pound 25c

Peanut Butter, fresh made, 27c

Cottage Cheese, lb. 15c

Block Swiss Cheese, lb. 32c

Mince Meat, bulk. 19c

Pound 19c

Full Cream Cheese, New York, pound 30c

Cream Cheese, Long Horn, pound 25c

Armour's Corned Beef, Pound can 23c

Libby's Chili Con Carni, with beans 12 1/2c

Cracked Hominy, 4 lbs. 10c

Hominy Grits, 5-pound bag 17c

Barley Grits, 2 pounds 15c

Pearl Tapioca, bulk. 12 1/2c

Quaker Instant Oats 12 1/2c

White Corn Meal— 4 pounds 10c

Extra fine quality 4 pounds 10c

Navy Beans, extra fine Michigan 3 pounds 19c

Lentils, Imported. 12 1/2c

Split Yellow Peas. Pound 12 1/2c

Oat Meal and Home Made Cookies. 21c

Pound 21c

Taggart's York Crackers, hot from the oven. Lb. 15c

Liberty Ginger Snaps, crisp and snappy. Pound 15c

Franklin Sugar, Granulated Cane, 5-lb Carton 35c

Dark Brown Sugar. 2 pounds 18c

Snow Flake Powder Sugar. Carton 12 1/2c

Olive's Country Gentleman Corn. Can 19c

Royal Ann Cherries, large can. Gold Bar 39c

Armour's, Telmo and Monarch preserved fruits and jelly; 5-pound stone jar $1.25

Chocolate Drops, whipped cream centers; 3 pounds, $1.00; pound 35c

Old Fashion Peanut Candy 19c

Twisted Stick Candy, pure Sugar. Pound 19c

Peppermint Lozenges. 17c

Salted Peanuts, fresh grade, lb. 12 1/2c

Queen Olives. 59c

Sweet Pickles, fingerlings. Dozen 19c

Cotton Mops, square end; 16-ounce 33c

Parlor Brooms, 4-sewed, plain handle 69c

Scratch Feed, No grit, 100-pound sack $1.90

25 pounds 50¢

POTATOES, No. 1 fancy, peck 45c

SWEET POTATOES, fancy, lb. 5c

ONIONS, good quality, pound 5c

APPLES, fancy stock, lb. 7 1/2c

LEMONS, large size, doz. 25c

ORANGES, sweet, doz. 25c

RAISINS, Sun-Maid, pkg. 23c

MILK, Wilson's, 11 1/2c

MILK, Nutro compd., tall can. 10c

MILK, Borden's Eagle, can. 20c

PORE & BEANS, Campbell's, can. 10c

SALMON, Alaska, Campbell's, can. 10c

APPLE BUTTER, Libby's, No. 2 1/2c

SOUPS, Campbell's assorted, can. 10c

Wanser's Modern Market

215 NORTH ILLINOIS STREET

NO SPECIALS—EVERY DAY PRICES

Three 10c cans Moss Rose pork and beans, or red kidney beans 25c

Golden Sun Coffee, per pound 35c

One-pound cans Rumford, Calumet or Heekin's Baking Powder, per can 25c

Virginia Sweet Pancake Flour, 2 packages 25c

Creamery Butter, Monument brand, per pound 45c

Armour's Corn Flakes, per package 10c

Rib and Loin Porkchops, per lb. 25c

Breakfast Bacon, sugar cured, 6 to 8-lb. average, per lb. 30c

Fresh Spareribs, per pound 14c