

TWO KILLED AND TWO INJURED IN REVOLVER DUEL

Officer Meets Death in Raid on Home of Alleged Bandit Gang.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, Oct. 15.—Two men were killed and two seriously wounded in a pitched gun battle between railroad and police officers and a band of alleged box car thieves when officers attempted to search the home of W. A. Bennett, four miles north of here.

The dead: Robert Murray, 38, Norfolk, Neb., Northwestern railroad special agent. James Thompson, alleged bandit. The wounded: Elmer Lane, deputy city marshal, probably will recover. George Moore, 40, Lincoln, Neb., alleged bandit, condition serious.

Police arrested Frank Tierney of Tulsa, a woman who gave the name of Alice King, and William Bullis, alleged members of the bandit gang. Acting on a tip that goods stolen from box cars could be found on the farm the officers swooped down on the Bennett home and disarmed the bandits. A run by the woman resulted in the shooting.

After she had fainted, the officers allowed Bennett to go to her side. She slipped him a key and he unlocked in her house and he shot Officer Murray and wounded Lane.

PRESIDENT IN FAVOR OF LOAN

Cuban Government Borrows $60,000,000 From U. S. Bankers.

Special to Indiana Daily Times and Philadelphia Public Ledger. WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Cuba's desire to float a government loan in the United States has the hearty approval of the Harding Administration. When Havana dispatch reporting that Davis M. Egan has sailed from Cuba after completing arrangements for a $60,000,000 loan was brought to the attention of high officers of the Government today, they said they were happy to hear the transaction had apparently been successfully carried out. The loan will not be a United States treasury affair, but an advance by American private bankers, acting as individuals or as a group or syndicate.

It was pointed out that the Cuban loan does not come within the scope of the Harding Cabinet several months ago, i. e., that hence forward American capital loaned abroad should be spent for American goods or produce. We look upon Cuba through special eyes. She is not a foreign nation in the sense that European South American or Asiatic states are. The Platt amendment, as is well known, confers upon the United States a benevolent charge upon Cuba's foreign relations, and the Harding Administration rejoices at the opportunity that has been presented to sanction measures designed to stabilize Cuba's economic and financial status.—Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Company.

CROPSY SCHOOL DULY DEDICATED

School Officials Take Part in Ceremonies.

Speeches by two members of the board of school commissioners, Mrs. Julia Belle Tutwiler and Bert S. Gadd, and talks by other school officials marked the dedication ceremonies of school No. 22, the Nebraska Cropsy School, at Kansas and Illinois streets last night.

The new school which was completed during the summer and put in use only last month was named in honor of Miss Cropsy who died in 1917 after about forty years of service in the public schools of Indianapolis. The ceremonies were attended by a crowd which filled the big auditorium of the new building. In addition to Mrs. Tutwiler and Mr. Gadd, the following persons talked: E. U. Graff, superintendent of public schools; Miss Mary Connor, principal of the school, and Miss Mary Hamilton, supervisor of schools and for many years an intimate friend of Miss Cropsy.

A musical program by the pupils and Ernest G. M. Hesser, director of music in the schools, was given. Following the ceremonies the entire building was thrown open to the public.

Oppose Laws Which Favor Divorce and Birth Control

Points Scored by Catholic Women Second Day of National Council.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Catholic women were urged to stand as a unit against any laws facilitating divorce, birth control or interfering with parochial schools. They were told to make the immigrants coming from Catholic countries their special concern so that these immigrants speedily may be welcomed into Catholicism here.

Those were the high spots in the second day's sessions of the first convention of the new National Council of Catholic Women being held at the Willard Hotel. More than 1,000 delegates and visitors were in attendance.

Men of the church have been prominent on the program. It was during the address of the Rev. Joseph C. Hussien, S. J., on the subject "Woman's Influence on Public Opinion" that Catholic women were urged to watch legislation keenly so that laws might not be made inimical to the precepts of the Catholic Church.

They were told to let their votes stand firmly for the sanctity of the home. They were enjoined to direct public opinion so that looser divorce laws or birth control might not creep in. By all means are they to see that no state or national control of education be allowed to interfere with Catholic schools.

As an example of the power of concerted action against any proposed legislation, the Rev. James H. Ryan, D. D., of the national Catholic welfare council declared a bill tending to interfere with the freedom of education had been successfully held up in Congress. The reference was to the Smith-Townsend educational measure creating a separate department of education in the cabinet and appropriating large sums of money from the Federal treasury to help education.

In the afternoon the immigration program of the national Catholic welfare council was discussed by Bruce M. Mohler, director of its bureau of immigration.

Dr. Anne Nicholson, formerly director of Americanization work in the San Francisco public schools and now director of the service bureau of the National Council of Catholic Women, discussed its Americanization program.

Catholic women were enjoined to co-operate with the immigration program of the Catholic men in taking care of Catholics from foreign lands. An office for this purpose has been secured at 60 Whitehall, New York, the nearest spot to the ferry going to Ellis Island.

The allocation of the Pope to Italian women on Oct. 21, 1919, in which his Holiness said: "With reason, therefore, can it be said that the changed conditions of the times have broadened the field of women's activity," was the keynote of the day.

With an itinerary which will touch as far as Ft. Worth, Texas, Mrs. Maud Wood Park, president of the National League of Women Voters has left for a three weeks' speaking tour. She started in with the State convention of the Maine League of Women Voters, stopping off at various points in New England to address local leagues. One of her biggest days will be in Philadelphia at a luncheon at the Bellevue-Stratford under the auspices of the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters. That is on Oct. 19. On the 21st she takes in the State convention of the Delaware League at Washington. Then she jumps to the Southland—Memphis on Oct. 24, Little Rock, Oct. 25; Muskogee, Okla., on the 26th, and Ft. Worth, Texas, for the 28th and 30th and back to Washington by Nov. 4.—Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Company.
