

FAREAST MAY DECLINE INTO SECOND PLACE

Sees Easy Success for Conference.

EVEN JAPS PLEASSED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The two great facts which appeared at the first sitting of the Far East conference have but become more apparent since.

1. It is clear we shall reach a complete agreement on the question of the limitation of naval armaments.

2. The question of the Far East tends to be removed more and more to a relatively second-rate place, where it will become harmless.

So far as the limitation of naval armaments is concerned, it is incredible certain people should not have seen how advantageous the American proposals were bound to be to the main powers concerned.

Although the procedure adopted to put forward these proposals may have seemed disconcerting to European diplomats, representatives of the British Empire could not be displeased with a scheme which reduced the British navy in the first rank. The suggested naval holiday could not increase unemployment in England, as England already practically has stopped building ships.

Similarly, the scrapping of a certain number of naval units will not create any difficulty as far as establishments are concerned, as the American proposals allow England to keep 22 capital ships, while the actual number of British capital ships in full commission today does not exceed twelve.

JAPS SHOULD BE PLEASED.

On the Japanese side, satisfaction cannot be less marked. The proportion from three to five should be sufficient to insure the defense of Japan, because the Japanese fleet is concentrated instead of being divided as is the American fleet, and moreover, as the only strong naval bases in the Western Pacific are Japanese.

For these reasons, it is already certain, the naval agreement will be easily arrived at.

Such amendments may be presented to the American scheme, as for instance, the British amendments on the continuity of shipbuilding or the necessity of still further reducing the number of submarines are not as many excuses preparatory to a refusal, but on the contrary will be suggested only in the sincere desire to better the scheme and to facilitate the agreement.

It is scarcely necessary to emphasize the importance of the service rendered by stopping for the first time the race in armaments. Though the limitation of naval armaments is a step in the right direction in the present state of the world and in view of the responsibilities bearing upon France, it is still permitted to say that it will be a step in the right direction created with respect to the relatively simple problem of naval armaments may be utilized as far as the land armies are concerned.

OBSTACLES MAY DISAPPEAR.

It is more and more probable, on the other hand, that the Far Eastern question will take up a much more important place than first had been believed. It seems certain Mr. Hughes will not add to his speech on disarmament a speech on China.

Adopted in respect to the Far Eastern question is equally significant. A little time ago, Mr. Hoover, who has had personal experience in China, but who does not seem to be in favor of a radical anti-Japanese policy, expressed the opinion that the best method for the conference to follow would be to classify the problems as "leading to China" by taking first those on which an agreement could be easily reached and by postponing if necessary until some other occasion the examination of those problems on which an agreement today was impossible.

As a result of a suggestion presented by Mr. Brand, this is precisely the method adopted by the committee of the nine powers which holds its first sitting tomorrow.

The consequence, however, is clearly that the danger of a clash between the United States and Japan inside the conference has been considerably lessened.

Even should certain members of the American delegation retain the intention of forcing Japan to the wall, the position taken by the American Government on the armament question would prevent them from succeeding. The great mass of the American public never would understand why a general understanding of the limitation of armaments should be finally dropped simply because Japan would have for instance refused to withdraw her police forces from the eastern Chinese railway in northern Manchuria.

SHANTUNG EASILY DISPOSED OF.

The only question which might create deep emotion in America is that of Shantung but everything indicates Japan is ready to make important concessions on this point, as well as in respect to China proper, as different Eastern European Mongolia and Manchuria. In the present state of things, it is doubtful if the American Government will do more than content themselves to reserving or refusing its consent should an agreement with Japan appear difficult on certain matters.

The attitude thus adopted by the American Government on the two main questions makes it, therefore, possible to hope that a general understanding will be framed, as a result of the conference, between the main powers of the Pacific. Though an alliance or merely a permanent partnership is probably inconceivable between the United States and any other power, a de facto cooperation for the maintenance of peace in the Far East is probable between the United States and Great Britain, while the combination being in the least threatening against Japan—Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Company.

CLAIMS BOOZE;
GETS ARRESTED

Wife Faces Charge After Attempt to Shield Hubby.

George Chappell, 48, 940 Union street, was arrested this morning by police and Federal officers on a charge of violating the prohibition laws. When the police raided Chappell's home, they found two bottles of beer and a quantity of "white mul" whiskey. Mrs. Mary Chappell, his wife, sought to take the blame from her husband as he had been arrested three times before, and claimed that the liquor with the result that she, too, was placed in jail. The last time Chappell was arrested he was fined $50 and costs in city court.

The same squad of officers also arrested Byron Hines, 412 Hill street, on a similar charge. At Hines' home nine pounds of corn mash, part of a still, three hundred pounds of sugar and the rest the ingredients for "home brew" were found.

NEW CARLSLE HAS BLAZE.

LA FORT, Ind. Nov. 17.—Fire which threatened the business section of New Carlisle was brought under control early this morning. Engines from La Porte and South Bend came to the assistance of the local department. The damage amounted to $5,000.

Plays for Indorsers

MISS ELIZABETH VOLLMER

Miss Elizabeth Vollmer, one of the younger set of musicians in the city, will play the musical setting for the "All in Wonderland" photoplay, to be presented as a special children's show at the Colonial theater Saturday morning under the auspices of the Indiana Indorsers of Photoplay. The hostesses for the event are to be Mrs. J. R. H. Moore, Mrs. W. C. Rolland, Mrs. O. H. Skinner, Mrs. Harry Vollmer, Miss Lucy Toph, Mrs. Anna Neukirch, Mrs. Benjamin Meyer, and Mrs. Woolf Sussman.

In the afternoon and evening the same film will be offered at the Ruritan theater under the auspices of the Parents Teacher Association, the hostesses being Mrs. H. L. Fisher, Mrs. H. R. Davis, Mrs. W. H. Rivier, Mrs. H. W. Hueschen, Mrs. J. S. Clark, Mrs. J. O. Doty, Mrs. Otis Chambers, Mrs. Rolla Harrell, Mrs. G. B. Manlove, Mrs. L. W. Bell, Mrs. Edward Hyatt, Mrs. Hazel Cullen.

$350,000 BOND ISSUE WILL BE SOLD ONCE MORE

Sanitary Board's Tangle Keeps
City Legal Department
Busy.

CONTRACT IS AWARDED

The city legal department was engaged today in straightening out the latest tangle in the board of sanitary commissioners. The board has gotten itself into this time the board has discovered that it will have to re-advertise a bond issue of $350,000 after bids had been received and the issue awarded to the Fletcher Savings and Trust Company.

Lucius B. Swift is chairman of the board of sanitary commissioners. Mr. Swift issued a statement the other day in which he said, in effect, that Samuel Lewis Shank, mayor-elect, had better not try to oust him. Mr. Shank replied that if that was the way Mr. Swift felt about it he would do everything he could to rid the city government of Mr. Swift and that if he couldn't get him off of the board he would "sick some legal talent on him that would keep him hopping."

THE RESOLUTION upon which the advertising for bids was based stated that the board of sanitary commissioners would award the contract for the construction of a city sewage disposal plant and for the purchase of equipment for the garbage collection department. This resolution was approved by the board of sanitary commissioners on November 10, 1921.

It was then that the board of sanitary commissioners discovered that the resolution was in violation of the city charter, which provides that the board of sanitary commissioners shall not have the power to award contracts for the construction of a city sewage disposal plant and for the purchase of equipment for the garbage collection department.

As a result of this discovery, the board of sanitary commissioners has decided to re-advertise the bond issue of $350,000.

The board of sanitary commissioners has also decided to award the contract for the construction of a city sewage disposal plant and for the purchase of equipment for the garbage collection department to the Fletcher Savings and Trust Company.
