

GERMANY SEES SHOWDOWN AT BIG CONFERENCE

Editors Declare England Will Have to Put Cards on Table.

BERLIN, Nov. 23.—Here, in broad outline, is an exposition of the views held by an influential group of German political writers on some of the issues at stake at the Washington conference. The subjoined article is from the Muenchener Neueste Nachrichten.

"The Washington conference is important, and never before in history has the British empire been less prepared for a fateful decision than it is today. America wants a plain answer as to whether England intends to sit at the conference-table side by side with the Japanese ally or whether, for the sake of her American friendship, she will deliver Japan as a victim to American plans. England will find it so much harder to make a decision because of the internal unity of the empire and the future position of the mother country in its relation to the dominions depend chiefly upon that decision. As a power in Asia England cannot afford to make Japan her enemy without surrendering herself. But if there remains, even beneath the surface, the slightest distrust between England and her dominions will automatically be loosened, and all hope for a naval agreement and for relief from the present economic pressure will be lost."

DEBAST CANCELLATION DESIRED.

"Much to the displeasure of the United States, British statesmen are agitating a general cancellation of debts as the only remedy for the wellnigh intolerable economic conditions existing in the world today. America has let it be clearly understood that she would consider such a proposition only at the price of an absolute, thoroughgoing financial understanding with England."

"France has always been in a much better position, for she wants nothing of America except American sanction of the French European policy and, if necessary, America's support in carrying out that policy. France's strength as a military power on land is welcome to America as a means to bring pressure to bear upon England. During the last few weeks France has gained considerable ground in the United States through clever propaganda among the people and in American Government circles. Certainly it is not for nothing that Brind's speech has been so warmly received by the French public and the French viewpoint."

"In these circumstances it is easy to comprehend that England, at the Washington conference, will try to draw France closer to her rather than repel her. Once again Germany—that is, German Upper Silesia—has been the common ground over which Britain and France shook hands. In making himself the executor of Clemenceau's will, Brind has gained the greatest victory that could have been won against the British partner since Versailles."

"But even today probably no one in England doubts that this 'triumph' was a Pyrrhus victory, disastrous both to the victor and the vanquished—and the victor of Versailles will have to face a catastrophe that will not even leave the world's overlords at Washington unshaken."

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 23.—Receptions planned for General Diaz, commander-in-chief of the Italian army, had to be abandoned because the general was suffering from a severe cold. Diaz's indisposition is not serious, according to the Italian consular here. The party left for San Francisco.

'MA' GREENSTEIN GIVES DINNER TO OLD CUSTOMERS

Hard Luck Story Will Get Thanksgiving Meal at Former Beer Saloon.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—The only ticket to "Ma" Greenstein's Thanksgiving dinner is a hard luck story.

"Ma," fat, amiable and past 40, and her mate, Morris, made the turkey feathers fly, as they prepared to feed hundreds of Chicago's luckless.

Dr. Ben L. Reiman, social worker, was the chief guest of "Ma" and Morris in their dingy but clean South State street restaurant.

"Ma" who has a philosophy all her own, told why she is spending the most of a year's profits to feed the unemployed.

"You see," smiled "Ma," with both hands full of giblets, "Morris and I used to run a saloon. It wasn't one of those fancy places where the waiters hang out—I guess they call 'em gilded palaces, or grills, or something. Ours was just a common beer and whiskey saloon."

"The workmen, in the days when they all had jobs, used to come and take their beer or even a little 'shot' when they were fagged out."

"They gave us a good business and good profits and I don't figure Morris and I did wrong by closing the place."

"Now most of our friends are down and out. But I'm glad Morris and I have a little laid aside to treat them occasionally."

SECOND WOMAN IN CASE MAKES LOTS OF TROUBLE

Mrs. Elizabeth Patton Freed on Charge of Threatening Corrine Burkett.

Mrs. Elizabeth Patton, 1238 West Thirty-third street, and Mrs. Julia Butler, 1265 West Thirty-third street, were discharged today in city court on charges of drawing deadly weapons. It was alleged that they drew a gun and Corrine Burkett, 332 North Tacoma street.

According to the testimony in city court, Curtis Patton, husband of Elizabeth Patton, had been calling on the Burkett woman for about six months and had stayed there while her husband was out of town.

On Oct. 17 Mrs. Patton received word that her husband and the Burkett woman were in the Tacoma street house. She and her sister-in-law, Julia Butler, went to the house. Curtis Patton, the husband, was in a room alone when the "posse" entered. The gun was drawn and action commenced. Patton leaped over the table at his wife and wrested the gun from her. Then Mrs. Burkett appeared on the scene.

Patton then dropped his belligerent attitude toward his wife.

Judge Pritchard said that he believed Patton should be the defendant instead of his wife, in view of the admissions which he made.

Yesterday afternoon Motley, driving a truck for Jack Carr, 312 North Meridian street, struck Colder, who was riding a bicycle, at the intersection of East and Washington streets.

Edison Opposes Seeking China's Trade by Force

Says Nations With Territory or 'Spheres of Influence' Should Get Out.

By ALLAN L. BENSON.
ORANGE, N. J., Nov. 23.—Thomas A. Edison is opposed "to seeking trade in China at the cannon's mouth." He told me so, in these words, in his laboratory today.

"It is not our business in China in competition with the rest of the world," he said, "we should get out. Every man there is in possession of Chinese territory or of 'spheres of influence' in China should also get out. China should be left alone. Other nations should help her with money and credit, and if desired, advice, but there should be no question of China's right to exercise full sovereignty over her own territory."

AT JAPAN'S DOORSTEP.
"If I were running Japan I would not more touch the Chinese territory than I would touch a cobra. Japan, more than any nation in the world, should want to see China intact and independent. China is a vast market for the doorstep of Japan. Japan is better situated to supply this market than any other country."

"This is because she does not have to pay ocean freight rates over long distances. She has everything to gain by keeping out of China herself and urging every other nation to keep out, because she needs only an even chance to beat most of her competitors. If Japan can buy our cotton, make it into clothes, sell it for less than we can put cotton cloth into China, Japan should get the trade."

"Japan should strive to be the England of the Far East—a great manufacturing nation prospering on foreign commerce. If she needs more land for her people to live on, let her buy it from Russia. Russia has more land than she needs or can use, and buying land is a cheaper way to get it than going to war."

YOUTHFUL MURDERER Captured and Jailed

Special to The Times.
LA PORTE, Ind., Nov. 23.—John Molick, 16, orphan, who shot and killed his foster parent, Mrs. Robert Stoltz, 35, North Liberty street, residing with his parents, was captured by the husband of the slain woman last night. Hunger caused Molick who had been in hiding a back door and ask Stoltz for something to eat. Stoltz grabbed Molick and took him to the county jail.

Molick told Sheriff Pennington that he had tried well at his Stoltz home, but that he did not know why he shot his benefactors. Coroner Seiple said he will make a finding of first degree murder.

Woman, 70; Man, 72, Three and Five Times Married, Divorced

At the age of 70, Mrs. Anna S. Myers, 546 East Market street, today was granted a divorce by Judge T. J. Moll of Superior Court, Room 5, from William Myers, 72. This was Mrs. Myers' third marriage and Mr. Myers' fifth marriage. William Pritchard in city court. This alleged that her husband abandoned her. She also charged cruelty. They were married on June 16, 1904.

Taxi Cases Carried Over to December

Cases against all of the taxi drivers arrested on charges of failure to display a sign in two and a half inch letters showing the ownership of the car were continued today until Dec. 15, by Judge Walter Pritchard in city court. This action was taken in order that the deputy city attorney and counsel for the Checker Cab Company might measure the height of the signs on cars of all taxi companies in town. Indication of the "taxi war" was evident in the assertions of the counsel for one of the defendants who said that drivers of his company and the independent drivers were the only ones arrested.

Power Co. Aims Plan Before Commission

Hearing of the petition of the Indiana Hydro-Electric Company for approval of its plans of organization and capitalization was held before the public service commission this afternoon. The new company, which expects eventually to be capitalized for $5,000,000, plans to construct a large hydro-electric plant on the Tippecanoe River. The company is capitalized for $10,000 pending the decision of the public service commission. The hearing was merely an explanation to the commission of the company's plans of organization and operation.

LAONIC LANDRU FIRES FREQUENT VERBAL VOLLEYS

French Bluebeard Sneers and Jeers at Court and Witnesses in Murder Trial.

VERSAILLES, Nov. 23.—Bluebeard Landru today calmly stroked the arm of his chair and smiled sneeringly as he threw verbal volleys at the court and prosecution and derided their attempts to prove he poisoned some of his 253 fiancées.

"A book was found in Landru's Gambais villa entitled 'The Lives of Great Poisons,' a report of the prosecution said.

"Pardon, Monsieur, but it is not possible to poison any one with a book," Landru retorted.

"Then we found several vials in the house," "Yes," smiled Landru, sarcastically, "they contained photographing developer."

By clever manipulations he brought out that the dates witnesses testified they had smelled the smoke did not correspond with the disappearance of his sweaters. He questioned the witnesses himself and when he sat down he turned to the court, saying: "Such foolishness as you see, I was only burning up some old rags."

Weininger Bound Over to Grand Jury

George Weininger, 1310 Shelby street, was bound over to the grand jury this morning in city court by Judge Walter Pritchard on charges of petit larceny and conspiracy. Weininger, in company with Lewis Klinge, 4959 Graceland avenue, was caught on the spot, stealing a tire from an automobile belonging to Police man Fronzo Wagner, 247 Leola avenue. Wagner saw him take one tire and lay in wait for his return. When he came back, accompanied by Klinge, Wagner shot five times at them. Three of the shots struck Klinge, who later died at the city hospital. A confession by Weininger absolved Klinge of all blame.

Brind's Talk Opens Way for Europe to Act

Germany and France Is Only Real Issue at Conference.

By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—It's Germany's next move.

Premier Brind's speech has precipitated what seems to be the only issue in the conference and proves again the value of open discussion. He tells why France feels she must maintain a considerable army. As long as no reason for this was given no answer could be made.

But now that the world knows the reason all eyes are turned on Germany. If she comes forward and through her government announces her willingness to cooperate in the preservation of peace it will be up to France to accept the assurances or show why they should not be accepted.

The case is in court; the jury has been selected and the trial is in progress. Out of it will come European disarmament or a threat of future wars that will make it impossible to carry out the program of naval disarmament.

The situation will increase in interest until the jury returns its verdict. France will receive greater assurance than she has of her security. It will be in European dispositions for peace which, as Secretary Hughes says, will be more valuable than an army.

Peace in Europe is not impossible. The conference might take a lesson from chemistry. Oxygen and hydrogen, when in the form of gas, will ignite at any ration except H-2O, but when they are brought together at the proper ratio they form water, which puts out fire.

Question: How can France and Germany be brought together? As long as they are hostile, there may be at any time produced wars if they can be properly united, they can insure European peace. Japan is receiving congratulations on every hand. Her action in extending the help to China gives to her one of the great victories thus far won at United Press.

CASUALTY LIST REACHES 300 IN BOMBAY RIOTS

Disturbances Marred Visit of English Prince—City Now Mourns.

BOMBAY, Nov. 23.—At least thirty persons have been killed and more than 800 are in hospitals as a result of rioting by the hoodlums among followers of Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi, according to a compilation of casualties today.

Maritime law will be declared by the authorities upon the first recurrence of rioting, which has subsided for the time being.

The disturbances spoiled the visit of the Prince of Wales, turning the city from one of rejoicing to one of mourning. Residential and business areas are practically deserted as the law-abiding population fears further rioting.

Gandhi is the non-cooperation leader of India, who protests against British rule.

ENDURED SUFFERING MORE THAN 10 YEARS

Terre Haute Woman Tells How She Has Become Well And Happy Once More.

"I understand now why so many people praise Tanlac; it certainly deserves everything good that can be said about it," said Mrs. C. A. Byington, 318 North 16th St., Terre Haute, Ind. "I had a breakdown in 1910 and from that time until recently, that is until Tanlac overcame my troubles, I was in wretched health. I suffered a great deal from rheumatism in my arms, legs and feet and at times was in pain night and day. My kidneys were disordered too, and my nerves almost shattered. I finally got to where I never knew what it was to have a good night's rest, and every morning got up feeling miserable and often with such a raging headache that I would almost be distracted."

"That I am a well and happy woman now I owe to Tanlac and nothing else. It certainly is the most wonderful medicine in the world."

Tanlac is sold in Indianapolis by Hook Drug Co., and leading druggists everywhere.—Adv.

FACTIONS FROM CHINA PUT OUT PEACE FEELERS

Arms Delegates Express Hope Country Will Settle Differences.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Hopes of the powers that China may settle her internal strife so the benefits accruing from the Washington conference can be applied to the whole country were strengthened today by receipt of information that Dr. Sun Yat Sen, president of the South China republic, will retire if the Peking government accepts the peace conditions of the South.

Tentative "peace feelers" have been exchanged between the Peking and Canton governments but so far no decisive step has been taken toward an actual peace conference. It is understood that the initiative was taken by the Canton officials.

Not only Dr. Sun Yat Sen, but his whole cabinet would consent to retirement if Peking accepts Canton's conditions, which include the resignation of President Hsu Shih Chang of the Peking government.

The course of events between North and South China are being watched here with intense interest. If an agreement is reached between North and South China before the Washington conference makes its final decision upon China it will enable the unofficial delegates representing the Canton government to pool their interests with those of the official delegation representing the Peking government.

The attention of the conference is now centering upon Chinese fiscal affairs. It is reported that, if the conference is successful in reaching a complete agreement upon China, steps will be taken to provide the country with funds to assist it to its feet economically. The suggestion has been made (conditional upon the success of the conference) that some of the powers unite in an international loan to China. The nations most likely to participate in such a loan are the United States, Britain, France, Japan and Belgium.
