

Submarine Still Issue Before Arms Parley

Advisory Committee Is Showered With Requests for Abolition of Undersea Craft.

Special to Indiana Daily Times and Philadelphia Public Ledger.

By CONSTANCE DREXEL.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The submarine sank the Lusitania and later forced America into the World War. It has been the cause of near-rupture at this conference, leaving the way open for the building of the deadly craft, even though a palliative in restrictive use may be adopted.

To the average man and woman the submarine and poison gas spell the frightfulness and horrors of war and are of greater moment than whether China or Japan is allowed to operate a railroad in Shantung.

Thus the pressure of public opinion has been so great relative to the report of the advisory committee on submarines that ex-Senator Sutherland called a meeting of the committee again, the first since before the Christmas holidays.

On adjournment of the meeting ex-Senator Sutherland, chairman, said the possibility of a supplementary submarine report had been discussed, but no decision made. Owing to absence out of town or pressure of other duties only half a dozen members of the committee were in attendance. Included were Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird and Mrs. Katharine Phillips Edson.

COMMITTEEMEN GRANTED RIGHT TO OPINIONS. The criticism is not directed so much because the report was favorable to the retention of the submarine. Such a criticism would hardly be fair, as the twenty-one members of the advisory committee have a right to express their own opinion.

But the criticism, which has been voiced in a letter to ex-Senator Sutherland by Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of the National Council for the Limitation of Armaments, is due to the fact that the report was adopted at an afternoon meeting of the advisory committee on Dec. 1. It was presented by Admiral Rogers, chairman of a small sub-committee, of which Mrs. Winter was a member.

After the meeting on Dec. 1, ex-Senator Sutherland would give no information whatever except that four reports had been adopted, including the one on submarines.

However, a press dispatch went all over the country declaring that the report had favored submarines and that it had the support of the conference. From that moment criticism of the report began to pour into the conference, finally causing Col. William Boyce Thompson's subcommittee on information, through Commander S. F. Bryant, to authorize the statement that the submarine report of the advisory committee had been prepared and adopted before public opinion had been tabulated.

Yet this is the report which Secretary Hughes read to support his contention at the second joint meeting of the committee on limitation of armament and the subcommittee on the limitation of naval armament, as recorded in the official communiqué of that meeting to the afternoon of Dec. 22 in the Pan-American building.

READS REPORT OF ADVISORY COMMITTEE. Secretary Hughes told Mr. Balfour, M. Sarraut and the others that he "read this report not as an opinion of the American Government, but as a report of the advisory committee which was created in order that the American delegates might be advised as to public opinion."

That this report favoring the retention of submarines as a defensive weapon was influential in maintaining that position is unquestioned. There is no criticism of Secretary Hughes for using it, nor is there any marked criticism of the advisory committee for rendering it. But the fact remains that the report was made on Dec. 1, and that since then the advisory committee, through its subcommittee and general information, has been receiving opinions running up to hundreds of thousands favoring the abolition of submarines as a weapon of warfare.

The criticism has been augmented because of the failure to give out those figures—Copyright, 1922, by Public Ledger Company.

BRITISH ECONOMY. LONDON, Jan. 6.—The ministry of pensions was asked to send three rubber stamps to Brighton. The ministry sent an investigator to Brighton to ascertain the need for the stamps. The investigation cost 600 times what the stamps would have cost. They were sent after three months' delay.

MOTHER!

Move Child's Bowels with
"California Fig Syrup"

Hurry mother! Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If constipated, bilious, feverish, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good cleansing of the little bowels is often all that is necessary.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.—Advertisement.
