

SHIFT OF U. S. ATTORNEYS MAY OCCUR MONDAY

Delay Seen in Arrival of Commission—Garrison to Remain Awhile.

It is not believed by Federal officials that the formal transfer of the office of United States district attorney from Frederick Van Nuy to Homer Elliott of Martinsville will be made before Monday. It had been planned to make the transfer Saturday, but it was learned by Mr. Elliott's resignation, but Mr. Elliott's commission is not expected to arrive before Monday as the nomination was not sent to the Senate by President Harding until Wednesday of this week. Mr. Elliott announced today that he had induced Samuel E. Garrison, assistant district attorney, to remain in the office for a few weeks.

"In consenting to comply with this request, I realize that Mr. Garrison is making some sacrifice, as he has fully perfected his arrangements to re-enter private practice, but he has a very thorough knowledge of the details of this office, and has made such an excellent record during his incumbency here, that I felt that in the interest of the public service, as well as my own interest, he ought to withhold his resignation a few days," Mr. Elliott said.

"Both Mr. Carvins and myself would have been very glad indeed to have had Floyd J. Mattice remain with us for a few weeks, but Mr. Mattice has formed business connections that require his immediate service, and I do not feel that it would be fair to him to ask him to alter his plans. He has very kindly offered, however, to assist us from time to time, and we shall gladly avail ourselves of this offer, as I regard Mr. Mattice as a lawyer of more than ordinary ability in his line."

Mr. Garrison will re-enter the practice of law and has opened an office at 1103 State Life building, where he will be associated with James M. Ogden, city attorney, and H. Nathan Swalm. He made a record as assistant district attorney, a position he has held for the past two years under Mr. Van Nuy. Mr. Garrison came to Indianapolis in 1909 and was the first deputy prosecutor of the Marion County grand jury. He was a deputy for one year while Elliott Hooten was prosecutor, and for two years he served under Prosecutor Frank P. Baker.

Rabbit Shooting Season Ends Jan. 9

Next Monday, Jan. 9, is the last day of the open season for lawful shooting of rabbits, the closed season becoming effective with the morning of the tenth. From that date until the first day of April, rabbits are protected by the Indiana game laws.

George N. Maunfeld, superintendent of the fish and game division of the State conservation department, said that confusion exists regarding the open and closed season on rabbits than on any other species of wild game or game birds in this State.

Hundreds of letters, supplemented by telephone calls, come to his desk in a season inquiring if there is a closed season on rabbits and when. He accounts for the confusion existing over the State to a misprint of the laws when they were codified, some books being distributed before the mistake was noticed and corrected.

Houghton May Go to Germany as Envoy

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Announcement of the nomination of Representative A. B. Houghton, New York, as ambassador to Germany is expected shortly. From authoritative sources it was learned today that the usual inquiries as to whether Representative Houghton would be acceptable were sent some days ago and a reply is expected at any time.

NOT COMMONER, HOWEVER.
William Bryan, 38, of Chicago, was arrested this afternoon on a vagrancy charge. The detective believes he is the man who stole a German automatic revolver from the exhibit of war relics displayed by the Veterans of Foreign Wars at 21 East Market street. The gun was recovered from a pawnshop.

BOUND OVER TO GRAND JURY.
Ben Miller, negro, 1141 Trumbull street, charged with vehicle taking, was bound over to the grand jury today in city court by Judge Delbert O. Wilmet. Before taking this action Judge Wilmet caused to be issued three "forthwith" subpoenas for a woman and two men, who were material witnesses in the case. He called a recess of the court while the subpoenas were served.

HERMAN KURTZTISCH,
Milwaukee, Wis.

"When it comes to eating, working and sleeping I'm like a different man from what I was a short time ago," said Herman Kurtztisch, 406½ North Place, Milwaukee, with the Northwestern Life Insurance Co. in relating his experience with Tanlac.

"My whole system was about to give way as a result of two years' constant suffering from stomach trouble and I was so run down and worn out I was hardly able to work. I actually dreaded to eat, as after every meal I suffered so terribly from heartburn, and I was nervous I got little rest day or night. If it hadn't been for Tanlac I'm firmly convinced I would have had to resign my place. It came to my aid in the nick of time and I am strong for it. Tanlac was worth at least fifty times what it cost me."

Tanlac is sold in Indianapolis by Beck's Drug Store, 1000 Broadway, and

Red-Haired Man and Wife and 3 Kids Meet Mayor

His hair was red, very red. He waited his turn in the crowd which was trying to get the ear of Mayor Samuel Lewis Shank in the board of public works room today. Finally he worked his way to a spot in front of his honor.

"Ah," remarked the mayor. "Here's a man I like. I like all red headed men."

The red haired man was quick to take his cue.

"Mayor, I'm not only red headed. I've got a red headed wife and three red headed kids at home."

"You sure are entitled to a job then," said Mr. Shank.

ARREST HEAD OF OIL COMPANY

O. L. Bartlett Held at Columbus Charged With Embezzlement.

Special to The Times.
COLUMBUS, Ind., Jan. 6.—O. L. Bartlett, president of the Indiana Oil Refining Company, was arrested today charged with embezzling $2,500 in cash and $850 in bonds from the funds of the company.

The affidavit against Bartlett was filed by A. T. Conner, prosecuting attorney, and is drawn in two counts. Bartlett's bond was set at $2,000, and it is understood arrangements have been made to furnish this amount. The arrest of Bartlett came as the result of a fight between the stockholders of the company, in which the president was charged with mismanagement of the affairs of the company.

A receiver was appointed for the company by an order of Judge John W. Donaker of the Circuit Court, a short time ago. The Indiana Oil Refining Company has sold stock to persons residing in the majority of the counties of this State. The company plant on the Seymour-Columbus pike a few miles south of this city was nearly completed when the break between Bartlett and the stockholders came to a head.

DRIVES ON SIDEWALKS.

GOTHAM BOOZE OFFICER WORKS ONE-MAN SQUAD

Izzy Einstein, Champion Dry Agent, Just Drops in Any Time.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—When the ancient and secret order of Hooch Gusslers convenes in solemn oath bound convalescence members may feel safe from the prying eyes of "rum-hounds" who might attempt to spill the party by unceremoniously seizing the liquid refreshments and dragging those present off to the booze-gow.

In other cities, where ordinary prohibition officers enforce the "eighteenth commandment," this feeling of safety might be justified; not so here. For Izzy Einstein, the one-man-booze squad, chameleon-like masquerader of the dry forces may be expected to drop in anywhere from an exclusive party in a Fifth avenue millionaire's residence to a private gathering of East side ward heels.

No amount of caution, no amount of secrecy can insure the prohibition law-breaker against the sudden and dramatic announcement of this dry sleuth that he is Izzy Einstein, and that those present can prepare for a heavy fine or durance vile.

When a group of convivial souls get together at the most exclusive clubs for actors to imbibe a nip of Scotch or synthetic Johnny Walker nobody can say for a certainty that Izzy may not be among them, dressed in formal glad rags and chattering props and scenery and "the prof."

Or it may be an undertakers' convention. In this case Izzy will be arrayed in all the sombre habiliments of that morbid trade, and few indeed would recognize in this solemn young man anything but a business-like mortician.

When Izzy fares forth in pursuit of the Demou Rum said D. R. must do some gall going to dodge this super-detective of the prohibition forces. His latest stunt was to appear on the big football field in Van Courtlandt Park disguised as a four-eleven-inch football team. The soiled and grim-faced warriors, with headgear tilted back and nose guards hanging from their belts, were none other than the famous Izzy Einstein squad.

At a little cafe near the park the four men roughly ordered the waiter to bring whiskey and to hurry it up. Others at the bar were convinced their order sounded almost like a college yell and that these were indeed truly veterans of the gridiron.

Eddie, the waiter, saw too late that these were highball and not football stars. As it was he went unsuspectingly to his doom—somewhere in the back room—and returned with three small glasses. One of the gridiron heroes handed Eddie $2.50 to pay the $2.25 bill and waited patiently for his quarter back.

"Four-eight-seven-two!" shouted one of the men, and at the signal the team got into action like a perfectly oiled machine, despite the fact neither had touched the lubrication in the glasses before them. Izzy impounded the evidence and Eddie was turned over to the police on a charge of violating the well known Volstead act.

In his comparatively brief career Izzy has impersonated a policeman, a politician, a movie actor, a newspaper reporter, a fireman, a truck driver and a longshoreman. His next may be a female impersonation.

Rich Heiress Fights to Save Neck of Negro

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Jan. 6.—George McKinley Grace, 22, negro, was hanged today for criminal assault on a white woman Feb. 24, 1920.

The hanging of Grace terminated a long legal fight to save him from the hangman's noose. As a final effort Governor Neff was petitioned for a stay of execution. The effort was fostered by Miss M. Eleanor Brackenridge, sister of the late George W. Brackenridge, financier. Neff refused to interfere.

SUB CAPTAIN MADE PIRATE BY NEW RULES and frankly" with each other in case of trouble between two of the powers party to the agreement or with an outside party.

So far as Great Britain is concerned, it was announced officially, in case of attack she reserves the right to increase her navy immediately to any figure she may deem advisable and expects other powers to do the same. It would be an act of grace, however, for a nation under such circumstances to notify the others.

WAR REVENUE.
To sum it all up, it was stated, Great Britain regards war as an automatic release from the restrictions imposed by the Hughes program.

These clarifications from official British sources, coming on top of the agreement that has been reached to exclude the Japanese homeland from the provisions of the Pacific treaty are expected to allay nearly all of the senatorial opposition to the set of treaties that will emerge from the conference.

The rapid progress of the last twenty-four hours—the virtual prohibiting of submarine attacks on commerce and settlement of the Chinese tariff and foreign troops question—led to renewed predictions that another ten days will see the end of the perley.

TACKLES PIRACY.
The naval committee went back into session today to tackle the last of the Root submarine resolutions, which makes it an act of piracy punishable by death for a submarine commander to violate the rules of submarine warfare now agreed upon.

Discussion was also in progress over methods of making the new rules of submarine warfare between the five powers applicable to the world. The method most favored is to address them directly to the smaller powers having navies and requesting their adhesion to them.

It is possible that a plenary session of the conference may be called for tomorrow although the general expectation that it will be early next week.

Two treaties are expected from the conference, one consolidating the position of the powers with regard to China and another of the same general character placing the powers to respect Russia's territorial integrity.

COMMISSIONERS INSPECT SITES

Wish to Obtain Land for Grouping of Institutions.

The first inspection trip taken by County Commissioners Harry Tutwiler and Carlin Shank to look at prospective sites which might be suitable for the relocation of all county charitable institutions on one tract of land, was taken today.

The commissioners have asked the L. H. Trotter, a real estate agent, went to Desatur Township, near West Newton, to look at a tract.

The commissioners have asked the county council at a meeting to be held some time this month, to endorse the plan of the commissioners to buy several hundred acres of land for the purpose of relocating and grouping the poor farm and other county institutions with the exception of Sunnyside.

Report of Shipping Conference Filed.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The report of the joint commission of shipping board officials and ship operators, on the establishment of a Government subsidy for the American Merchant Marine, was presented to Chairman Lasker of the shipping board today by H. H. Bayard of New York. It was understood the report will be used as a basis for recommendations which are to be made to Congress.

BELL COMPANY IS OPTIMISTIC IN RATE PLEA

arrange for as many calls as possible to come from unmeasured telephone to them instead of going the other way.

He gave as an example the proposal that a grocer would call his customers instead of having his customers call him, and that a husband would call his wife instead of the wife calling the husband at his place of business. The cost of service in the measured telephone would thus be kept down, he said, because there will be no charge for incoming calls.

Mr. Romine declared no additional equipment would be necessary to take care of the measured service because the operators would merely record the calls on tickets. He said that there would be no charge unless a call is completed and that in case a wrong number has been given the subscriber would be expected to call the attention of the operator to the fact and no charge would be made.

The company expects, according to Mr. Romine, to lose 2,437 subscribers through the elimination of duplications by unmeasured service. He said a canvass had been made of all subscribers who now have both manual and automatic telephones and that it was found that 2,437 would have one telephone discontinued and that slightly more than 1,000 expected to retain both telephones because their volume of business would necessitate both.

MANUAL PHONES.
Mr. Romine testified at the present time 66.2 per cent of the business users have individual manual telephones and 30 per cent of the residence owners have individual manual telephones. He said the company expects some business subscribers to take measured telephone service with a maximum of ninety calls a month for $5.50.

The subscriber, according to Mr. Romine, will be given an option as to the kind of service he uses. He said he considered the measured service fair because smaller users can be quoted lower rates and not be compelled to bear the cost of service to other subscribers. He said he believed this type of service to be fairer than any other kind.

Attorneys for the telephone company explained, in answer to a question of Commissioner Glenn VanAuker that the Indiana Bell Telephone Company pays the taxes on instruments rented from the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. They explained, however, that taxes are not computed in the rental value and if the parent company paid the taxes, the rental would be higher.
