

RAILROAD DEAL OPENS MARKET FOR COAL FIELD

Indiana Region May Have
Outlet for 30,000,000 Tons
Annually.

VAST SUPPLY IN STATE

As a result of the leasing of the Chicago, Terre Haute & Southern Railway by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, a market for 30,000,000 tons of bituminous coal annually is opened in Indiana coal fields, Richard Lieber, director of the State conservation department, has informed Governor Warren T. McCray. Mr. Lieber points in his letter to the Governor, that credit is due the division of geology of the conservation department which, under direction of Dr. William N. Logan, State geologist, published many articles concerning the quality, quantity, value and distribution of the coal of Indiana, and which undoubtedly supplied the information whereby the St. Paul system was able to determine the value of Indiana's coal resources.

The conservation department is informed that this railroad system will transport 3,000,000 tons of coal a year in addition to the coal being supplied from the mines in other States intersected by their system. In addition there will be open to the Indiana coal fields a market for 30,000,000 tons of bituminous coal. This market will be supplied largely by Illinois and Indiana.

"Should Indiana supply only one-third of the total amount it will mean the bringing into the State of approximately $50,000,000 a year," Mr. Lieber says.

LAND OF DOUBLE PRODUCTION.

Dr. Logan, in an article printed in the current issue of the Black Diamond, a coal trade publication, on "Coals of the Allegheny Division in Indiana," sets out that "trailing the top and mining the bottom is what is taking place over a large area along the line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway in Indiana," and that "production from both sides, or rather from top and bottom of farm land, should prove highly remunerative."

"Here we have two industries occupying the same area, the one supplying man's food, the other his fuel," Dr. Logan writes. "A drive over the top gives one only an imperfect conception of the magnitude of the bottom industry. One bituminous coal mine in Indiana has produced 1,228 tons, 123 cars of coal, in eight hours."

"The Allegheny coals of Indiana are of the bituminous variety," writes Dr. Logan. "On freshly fractured surfaces or unweathered surfaces the color is pitch black, and the luster bright and vitreous. On weathered surfaces many of the coals present rusty yellow or brown colors. The coals split readily along the planes of the bands of dull luster, and are intersected vertically by joint planes, which divide the coals into blocks of varying size. The fracture of the coals varies from irregular to cubical, and they possess a medium degree of hardness for a bituminous coal."

CHARACTER OF INDIANA COAL.

Coal III, of the Allegheny division, Dr. Logan says, is one of the thickest coal beds in Indiana, ranging as high as thirteen feet and rarely sinking below a thickness of five feet. This coal, the State geologist asserts, is mined in Clay, Greene, Vigo, Vermillion, Fountain and Parke counties chiefly, though a coal outcropping about the same horizon is mined in Crawford, Daviess, Perry and Spencer counties. Among the mining centers are Turner, Stanton, Seelyville, Jackson, Rosedale and Coxville. "Though probably occurring as far north as the southern part of Warren County, it is not mined north of Eugene in Vermillion County," he says. The coal in particular is used principally as steam coal, although some of it is used for domestic purposes. It is used extensively for fuel by railroads, cement and ceramic plants and in the manufacture of producers' gas.

Coal IV, says Dr. Logan, is one of the best coals in Indiana for domestic uses. It is also one of the best coking coals. Where it is best developed, as in the Linton field, it consists of a solid bed without partings and from four to six feet thick. The main centers of mining are Linton, Terre Haute and Clinton, "all prosperous communities." According to Dr. Logan it is used as domestic coal, for the manufacture of illuminating and producers' gas, to manufacture coke, as a locomotive and steam coal, fuel in ceramic and metallurgical plants.

Coal V, is mined in ten counties chiefly in Gibson, Vanderburgh, Warrick, Pike, Sullivan, Knox, Clay, Greene, Vigo and Vermillion. Mining centers are at Booneville, Newburg, Bicknell, Princeton, Petersburg, Ayrault, Meton, Rader, Dugger, Paxton, Terre Haute and Clinton. One hundred mines are mining this coal in Indiana. It is used as steam, railway, producer gas and industrial plant coal.

Coal VI is well developed in Greene, Knox and Sullivan counties. It is mined in Sullivan and Vigo counties, and to a limited extent in Warrick County. It is chiefly used for domestic and steam purposes. Mining centers are Sullivan, Sheburn, Farmersburg, Terre Haute, Vincennes and west of Clinton.

PLANS TO SEAL BOOZE COFFIN

Wheeler Opens Fight for Dry Codes in States Having None.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The Anti-Saloon League plans to seal the last crevices of John Barleycorn's coffin before this year is ended.

A program outlined by Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the league and generalissimo of the drys in the United States, calls for a fight to enact dry enforcement codes in the few States having none, strengthening weak codes in other States and pushing some new measures through Congress.

Particular attention will be paid Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Maryland, California and Missouri, Wheeler said. Under the eighteenth amendment, States are given concurrent powers of enforcement and have the same obligations to enforce national prohibition that Congress has. This will be brought home to the various State Legislatures meeting this year. "Missouri's enforcement code will be strengthened by adding to the powers of the attorney general or some other high official," he said.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes the right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs, loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind. —Advertisement.
