

BULLET HALTS PURSE GRABBER; MOTORIST SHOT

Motorpolice Pursue Negro,
Who Seeks Refuge on Shed Roof.

WOMAN IS ATTACKED

Gun play which included the shooting of a negro pursuer by a policeman and the shooting of an automobilist who saved his car from theft, featured the week-end crime wave in Indianapolis.

An attempted assault of a white woman by a negro and several burglaries and petty thefts also figured in the police reports.

Mrs. Nettie Burk, 524 South State avenue, was walking on Illinois street near Vermont street at 1 a. m. today when a negro seized her purse and ran west through an alley. Eight men heard her screams and pursued the thief. Motor Policemen Tooley and Lansing were sent from sub-station No. 2 and joined the chase.

The negro ran between two houses on Capitol avenue and the officers followed his overcoat, in the pocket of which was Mrs. Burk's purse. The police discovered the man on top of a shed in the rear of the Elite Cafe on Indiana avenue. When the negro refused to halt and started to jump from the shed Policemen Tooley fired. The bullet passed through the negro's right foot.

OUT OF PRISON
FOUR MONTHS.

The negro said his name was Charles Smith, 35, 617 West North street. He was taken to the city hospital detention ward and is held on the charge of robbery. Smith admitted to the police that he had been out of prison about four months.

Miss Charlotte Albrecht, Apartment No. 8, The Plaza, 902 North Pennsylvania street, was awakened at 1 a. m. by a negro prowler who was in her bed. "If you scream I'll kill you," the negro threatened. Miss Albrecht screamed however and the negro ran from the room. Her screams aroused other persons in the building and the emergency squad made an unsuccessful search for the prowler. The negro was fully dressed.

SHOT BY MAN BENT ON STEALING AUTO.

Edward Devine, 514 North Bancroft avenue, is recovering from a bullet wound received Saturday night, when he caught a man attempting to take his automobile from in front of the offices of the Indianapolis Water Company in Monument Circle. Devine's assailant was captured by Mrs. Devine and Joseph Serrell, 111 Monument Circle. He gave his name as Harry L. Pierpont, 19, 116 Traub avenue. He was armed with two automatic pistols and two revolvers.

Mr. Devine approached his car and discovered Pierpont attempting to start it. He attempted to drag Pierpont from the automobile and the latter drew a revolver. Mr. Devine forced his hand downward and prevented the bullet from going into his stomach. One bullet struck Mr. Devine in the leg and two others went wild.

ANOTHER FRIGHTENED
BY NEGRO PROWLER.

The negro prowler who entered the Plaza apartments may be the same man who was in the room of Mrs. B. H. Dillard, 2317 Ashland avenue, early Sunday morning, the police believe. She was awakened by a negro who was standing by her bed. She screamed and the negro ran.

A negro robber held up Walter Stewart, 910 East Fifth street, at Carrollton avenue and Forty-Ninth street, and knocked him down and ran. Then he knocked Stewart down and ran.

A. B. Taylor, 617 East Twenty-Fourth street, supplied two masked men who were busy ransacking his room. Taylor said they obtained $4.

OBTAINS $200
FROM NIGHTDRESS.

A burglar entered the home of Albert Lee, 2514 Schumann avenue, and impounded $200 from the nightdress of Mrs. Lee, according to her report to the police. The thief also took a watch worth $10, and a purse containing $8 from Mr. Lee. The thief entered through a kitchen window.

William Bradley, 940 Drexel street, said a sweater coat and a shot gun were stolen from his house.

Furglers were successful when they entered the apartment of J. V. Harding, No. 23, The Arlington, 339 East North street, Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. Harding said the thieves took jewelry and clothing from them worth $133. Miss Thelma Jackman and Miss Edna Humphrey, who rooms at Harding's apartment, missed clothing and jewelry worth more than $300.

White and negro handbills held up and robbed James Jones, a conductor on a College avenue street car and William Wilkerson, motorman late Saturday night at the loop at the State fair grounds. The robbers took $5 of Jones' money and $20 of the company's cash. They took Wilkerson's watch that was valued at $50. The negro robber held the revolver while the white man took the money and watch from the street car men.

CANDY STORE SET ON FIRE AFTER ROBBERY.

Thieves entered the Tripolis candy store, 223 South Illinois street, owned by Tom Salapattas, and took a sack containing $88 from the cash register early yesterday morning. Then they set fire to the store. The police say the fire may have been accidental, as the burglars used matches while robbing the store.

store. The blaze did little damage, the loss being about $25.
Orville Foley, 1388 West Ohio street, was held up at White River and Ohio street Saturday night by two robbers who took $250 and a package of cigarettes.

DIAMOND VALUED
AT $699 LOST.

Carl Rost, 25 North Illinois street, reported that he lost a purse containing a diamond stud worth $600, and a two-and-a-half dollar gold piece.

Thieves broke into the store of Harry R. Branson, 1332 North Senate avenue, and carried away a bag containing 200 pounds of bran and two sacks of flour.

James Snoddy, 2517 North Talbot avenue, found that a burglar entered the side door of his home and took $8.

Claude Shafter, 902 West Eleventh street, reported that a thief obtained a set of brass-mounted harness from his barn.

Pang Wing, Chinese, 119 North Alabama street, found that burglars had broken into the laundry of George Pang.

Pang was murdered ten days ago in his laundry. The man who killed Pang has not been caught.

William Johnson, 543 East Thirty-Third street, parked his automobile on Camden street and a spot light was stolen and the windshield broken.

300 CINDERELLAS
EXHIBIT PERFECT
FEET AND ANKLES

Chicago Shoe Style Show Attracts Nation-Wide Attention.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Cinderellas, 300 gorgeous ones—put the kick in the Nation's shoe style show here today.

Thousands flocked to the mammoth Coliseum to attend the National Shoe Retailers' exhibition and departed without seeing a shoe.

Perfect three A's, model B as plain, 5s and 6s on the double E were waited down the mile of runway by the strains of a lively march.

It took a whole year to carefully pick the models from all over the United States. All of them furnished a thrill, even as Cinderella two minutes before the midnight going changed.

Manufacturers, realizing that their show was too successful and that many dealers would leave with a most minute conception of every detail of midday's apparel but the shoe, started side shows.

At these exhibitions the model was screened—all but the foot and a very small portion of the ankle. Here dealers all over the country picked out the shoes they will wear in the springtime.

The season's shoe and slipper will be neater and simpler, lacking loads, straps and buckles. The price to the shoe wearer will be a trifle less.

Part of the style show was devoted to instructing the public in methods of choosing correct fitting shoes.

Miss Marjorie MacGregor personally fitted shocking stockings to demonstrate that correct shoe fitting starts with the hose.

Shoes and stockings go "foot in foot," she explained.

SAFETY IN NUMBERS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Harry Brubaker, a chauffeur, was arrested for speeding and upon being searched was found to be wearing two pairs of trousers. He explained that he kept his money in the pockets of the pair underneath to fool hold-up men.

PUSS IN BOOTS JR.

By David Corry

"Whoa there!" cried Puss Junior, reining in his Good Gray Horse. The Robin perched on the fence, and the Pig Without a Wig gave a grunt of satisfaction and lay down on the grass.

A little man, very angry and excited, stood by the gate whipping a small dog. "Hold on! Why do you whip your dog?" cried Puss.

"That's what I'd like to know," said Tom Thumb. The Pig Without a Wig gave another grunt; the Good Gray Horse whinnied and the little Robin chirped.

And then the little angry man stopped beating his dog and said: "I had a little dog, his name was Buff. I sent him to the store for an ounce of snuff."

But he lost the bag and split the snuff. So take that cuff, and that's enough," cried Tom Thumb. "We were about losing our patience. We never allow anyone to hurt an animal."

"It's my dog, and I'll do what I like with him," cried the man, and he gave poor Buff another cuff.

"This was too much for our brave Puss Junior. Leaping from his saddle, he drew his sword and ran toward the man. "If you give Buff another cuff I'll cut the cuff off your sleeve. And if that's enough, I'll cut the sleeve off your coat."

The man paused, his arm uplifted ready to strike the poor dog. "Be careful," said Puss, "I mean what I say. While I'm as good of dogs at the same time, they are man's best friend. My trusty sword shall see that you treat your dog kindly."

"Bah!" suddenly exclaimed the man, giving poor Buff another cuff. "My dog's name is Buff, but yours, Sir Cat, is Bluff."

But the next minute he wished he had left these words unsaid. Puss Junior's sword flashed a moment in the sunlight and then down it came and off went the man's cuff as neatly as if a tailor had used his big scissors. "Phist!" hissed Puss, his eye blazing with anger. "Phist!" and again his sword flashed, off went the man's sleeve as neatly as a butcher slices off a piece of ham.

"Hold, my noble Sir Cat!" cried the man, "would you address me with a sword? Take the dog, and let me go!"

"A bargain!" cried Puss Junior, sheathing his sword. "Come Buff, your master has given you to me!"

"Gid-up!" said Tom Thumb, and away went the Good Gray Horse, the Robin, the Pig Without a Wig, and Buff, barking with delight at his good fortune to be with these merry comrades of Puss Junior. Copyright, 1922.

HENRY SEVERIN DIES SUDDENLY

Brief Illness Fatal to Indianapolis Man.

Henry Severin, 52, well known business man and builder of Hotel Severin, died in Chicago yesterday, following a short illness which resulted from an attack of tonsillitis.

He had been subject to tonsillitis for a number of years and suffered an attack of it while he was in Indianapolis about ten days ago, but his condition was not considered serious at that time.

Mr. Severin was born in Indianapolis and attended school here. Later he was connected for a short time with the wholesale grocery business of his father, Severin-Osternyere & Co., which was located in the building now occupied by the Mooney-Mueller-Ward Drug Company.

After several years in the wholesale grocery business he became connected with Lewis Meler & Co., overall manufacturers, and at the time of his death was president of this concern.

For many years he was a director of the Fletcher-American National Bank.

In addition to the Severin Hotel property, he owned a number of valuable pieces of real estate in Indianapolis. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Augusta Severin, the widow and three sons, Henry, Randolph and Theodore. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Lay Pact Before League of Nations

LONDON, Jan. 9.—Dissatisfaction in England over the treaty recently concluded between Turkey and France is to be aired before the supreme council of the League of Nations, according to international experts. They declare that had the Irish problem not been so disquieting at the time the British government would have made a sharp issue over the matter when the treaty was drafted.

THE DEMON NICOTINE.

PARIS, Jan. 9.—"Three drops of nicotine will kill a dog. Five or six drops will kill a horse," Dr. Roeland, a Paris municipal councillor and well known veterinarian, has announced. The doctor's crusade against smoking in crowded rooms where a number of people must work was questioned.
