

NEW ARBUCKLE HEARING FAILS TO CAUSE STIR

Second Trial of Film Star Is Scheduled to Open Tomorrow.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—The trial of D. B. A. Walker for conspiracy with the late film star Fatty Arbuckle was scheduled to a close today in order that the second manslaughter trial of Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle may open tomorrow.

Interest is at a low ebb in the trial, this being evidenced by the small crowd which turned out for the appearance of the film star for his second arraignment.

Counsel are concerned chiefly with the length of time the trial will occupy. It is expected it will take the balance of the week to get a jury. Attorneys for both sides predicted the trial itself can be completed in two weeks after the jury is selected.

Knowledge that the jury is to be locked up is expected to act as a deterrent to prospective jurors entering the box and thus make difficult the work of selection. A panel of sixty-five jurors will be on hand tomorrow.

Arbuckle lotted in a luxurious suite at the Plaza Hotel between conferences with his million-dollar defense and otherwise got ready for the opening of his second trial on a charge of taking the life of Virginia Rappe.

If Fatty is actually acquitted, if he is broke, if he has sold his $25,000 automobile, or any of his cheaper ones; if he is verging on nervous collapse; if he sees impending ruin ahead of him, or if any of the other rumored disasters have overtaken him, he doesn't show it.

He is taking his predicament seriously and plainly shows worry at times, but, in the language of the street, they "haven't got his goat."

Arbuckle lives here in a three-room suite at a hotel across Union square from the St. Francis, where his fatal labor day party was staged.

Arbuckle's famous $25,000 automobile is in Los Angeles, but he has another one which cost only about $10,000. He figures that, under the circumstances, a more modest car is better.

While reports of Fatty being broke persist, his close friends can't see much sign of such a predicament.

It is pretty well established that film interests are carrying the bulk of the cost of his defense and—

Well, he looks serious, but he doesn't look ruined.

Under the will of Leopold Burckhardt of Cincinnati, who was killed by unidentified assassins last Tuesday, his sister Mrs. John M. Shaw, 1200 Park avenue, and her daughter, Miss Blanch Burckhardt Shaw, will inherit $50,000. Mrs. Shaw was informed today.

To Address 'Ad' Club

Charles E. Watkins.

The speaker before the Advertising Club of Indianapolis at its weekly luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce Thursday was Charles E. Watkins, director of the personal service and employment bureau of the Muncie products division of the General Motors Corporation and governor of International Rotary District No. 11.

The club will open a membership campaign beginning Jan. 16. The member who signs up the most prospects will be awarded a suit of clothes. The club now numbers 250 and with the enlarged quarters which have been arranged with the Chamber of Commerce it will be possible to care for 350 members. The initiation fee has been waived during the membership drive.

BIG QUESTIONS BEFORE COUNCIL

League of Nations Meets at Geneva.

GENEVA, Jan. 10.—The League of Nations council met here today on the second anniversary of the founding of the league. Paul Hymans, of Belgium presided over the opening session.

The council expects to launch the project of an international court at the Hague which will be opened in February.

The council began at once drawing up a list of international questions which will become within the jurisdiction of the world court. A number of other questions were to be laid before the league. The question of what nationality disputes were first among these.

PERFECT RACE EXPERIMENT TO OCCUPY 5 YEARS

MANSFIELD, Ohio, Jan. 10.—A perfect race was visualized today as Dr. W. H. Brown of the Child Health Demonstration League began work with this all-American town as a laboratory.

Dr. Brown, former city health officer of Bridgeport, Conn., and with the Rockefeller Foundation in France, started a five-year experiment with the Mansfield children to concoct a recipe for all American cities to copy in producing a perfect race.

The demonstration—to save the "kids"—will include the schools, home life, factories, wages, food, clothing and everything that affects living conditions.

A fund of $200,000 has been provided for the work by the American Red Cross, American Child Hygiene Association, Child Health Organization of America, Child Labor committee, National Tuberculosis Association and National Organization for Public Health Nursing.

Dr. Brown began work on a program to use all known remedies to fight disease and conserve child life. The result, Dr. Brown believes, will be a formula to make future men and women perfect in health.

Denounce Release of Debs by Harding

Denunciation of the release of Eugene V. Debs from Federal prison by President Harding was contained in a resolution adopted by the Service Club at a luncheon at the Hotel Lincoln yesterday.

The action was taken after a talk by Claude E. Gregg, State commander of the American Legion.

"The legion means to teach, preach and practice Americanism," Mr. Gregg said. "We have now the greatest crisis that has confronted us since Nov. 11, 1918, for the widespread unrest of the people is plain to be seen."

Commander Gregg also outlined the legion's work in Indiana for the coming year.

Civic League Will Confer With Shank

The possibility of joining with the Belvidere League of the South side in the movement for elevation of Belt Railroad tracks across West Indianapolis and the south side will be discussed by directors and the committee on arrangements for West Indianapolis with Mayor Samuel Lewis Shank and Charles A. Bookwalter, president of the board of park commissioners, Friday evening in Assumption Hall.

TRINKETS COME HIGH.

An impulse to possess a 10-cent stick pin and a nickel pencil procurable for Hugh Cox, negro, 1821 North western avenue. Cox was arrested Saturday after he had stolen the pin and pencil from a 5-and-10-cent store. He was fined $1 and costs in city court.

A HOME-MADE GRAY HAIR REMEDY

You Can Make a Better Gray Hair Remedy Than You Can Buy.

Gray, streaked or faded hair is not only unbecoming, but unnecessary. Any one can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, to a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost, or the druggist will put it up for you. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It is easy to use, does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.—Advertisement.

HIGHERUPS IN HAYNES' SCOPE

Dry Leader Announces Plans in Chicago Clean-up Campaign.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Prohibition Commissioner Haynes, returning from an inspection trip to Chicago, today announced that as a result of new plans mapped out with Senators McKinley and McCormick and other high officials, he contemplates "ferreting out large violations and cutting off sources of supply" in that city.

Higher-ups are sought by Commissioner Haynes, chiefly to make the clean-up of Chicago complete. Haynes said he had approved the suggestion of State Director Gregory for a much larger force of agents.

"Chicago constitutes one of the great law-enforcement problems from the standpoint of dry law violations," Haynes said.

TAKE CONTROL OF LOCAL BANK

Goodrich Brothers Buy Aetna Savings Stock.

James P. Goodrich, ex-Governor of Indiana, and his brother, Edward S. Goodrich, president of the Randolph County State Bank, have purchased a controlling interest in the Aetna Savings and Trust Company. The bank will be reorganized at a meeting of the stockholders tomorrow afternoon.

The Goodrich brothers purchased 1,570 shares of the stock of the company from Will H. Latta and his associates. The stock has been selling at $100 a share. The company has a capital of $250,000 with 2,500 shares of stock.

Several months ago the Goodrich interests in the bank and those of a number of other stockholders were sold to Mr. Latta and persons associated with him. The Goodrich brothers by their latest transaction again assume control of the institution.

Hays Opposes Bill Hitting Publishers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Postmaster General Hays, in a letter today to Senator Nelson of Minnesota, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, came out squarely in opposition to a bill recently passed in the House which would make it an offense for newspapers to publish racing news.

The bill primarily was intended to prevent transportation of lottery and cheating devices through the mails, but one section, according to Hays, would seriously affect newspapers.

Young Prince Ill; Mother in Exile Granted Parole

Representatives of Half Million Rail Workers in Conference.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—General chairman of the Federated Shop Crafts Unions maintained silence today as they entered the second session of their conference here to consider action on wage cut and working rules recently promulgated by the United States Railway Labor Board.

The conference is set and officials attending the meeting refused to give out any statement.

Six unions with a combined membership of nearly 500,000 men are reported at the conference. They comprise the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor. The sessions may last several weeks before a decision is reached.

The shop crafts voted last summer to strike against the wage reductions announced by the labor board on July 1. This action later was held in abeyance pending the decision of the board on working rules.

Despite the silence of the general chairman it was considered likely that the conference, before adjourning, will authorize a new strike vote, covering both the question of wage reductions and the working rules.

PRINCE OTTO.

PARIS, Jan. 10.—Former Empress Zita of Austria, who was exiled to Madeira with her husband because of the royalist coup in Hungary, arrived here today en route for Switzerland to visit her son, who is sick. She is closely guarded by French secret service agents to prevent communication with agents of the Hungarian monarchists.

C. & O. HEAD SEES BUSINESS GAIN

Announces Probable Return to Full Shop Capacity.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Jan. 10.—Business is on the up grade once more, according to W. J. Harahan, president of the Chesapeake & Ohio, who inspected the local shops today.

Harahan backed up his statement by the announcement that the local shops, which are running on less than half a force, would probably open at full capacity in February.

The most marked improvement on the Chesapeake & Ohio line is in the coal fields of West Virginia, according to Harahan. He thinks the coal business is to be a thermometer of American industry.

His Physician Tells How Penrose Named Harding

Reviving From Collapse, Senator Directs Pennsylvania's Swing to Ohioan.

Special to Indiana Daily Times and Philadelphia Public Ledger.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10.—The inside story of how the late Senator Boies Penrose came out of complete collapse to break the deadlock at the Republican national convention last year and to swing the sixty votes of Pennsylvania to Warren G. Harding now is revealed for the first time by Dr. Herbert W. Carpenter.

All the nation recalls the picture of the sick man of Spruce street drawn by a hundred writers in the early days of June, last year, when the Republican convention met. The story of the Penrose mystery went all over the country. But the facts were all of external things.

A room had been set aside at the Senator's residence, 1331 Spruce street for the newspaper men. A battery of telegraph wires had been installed and it was announced operators would be on duty night and day. By leased telephone also Penrose planned to follow every move at Chicago.

NEWS PAPER MEN HAUNT FRONT ROOM.

But the truth about the physical condition of Penrose defied alike the skill of veterans and the luck of beginners among newspaper men. Day and night they haunted the second floor front room, taking and sending to their offices occasional statements, but really interested only in knowing the extent of the Senator's illness.

To the Senator's doctors this anxiety of the public and of politicians seemed to verge on an affront. The fact was that no matter how much the power of Penrose might be denied, the future of the Nation depended on his living through the convention and retaining at least the semblance of his grip.

It was not until Senator Penrose died that any one questioned the extent of that grip. But since then reports have been in circulation quoting members of the Senate as saying that Penrose really had little to do with the selection of President Harding.

A deep admiration for the stoic courage of the man and his single-minded adherence to duty had been the best for the Nation, impelled Dr. Carpenter to break his silence and tell what actually happened. He was one of the Senator's personal physicians for years.

It was on Saturday, June 15, 1919, that Harding finally was nominated. That, it happens, was the day when the strain of his long complication of ailments almost finished Penrose. He had been cooped up in his room for weeks under the constant guard of doctors and nurses.

For three days he had forced his mind to ignore exquisite physical pain so that he might concentrate all of its adult power on the selection of a candidate. But on Saturday his will found nothing to work with. His body had been driven to the limit and beyond, and his heart simply balked.

UNCONSCIOUS FOR HOURS.

"Penrose was out," said Dr. Carpenter. "He had been too ill to go to the convention; he was a very sick man. He collapsed. There was no question about that—he had been utterly unconscious for hours."

"But even in that condition his mind subconsciously was turning over and over the problem at Chicago. He came to, at last. I was there and I know what happened. He was still exhausted."

"But he turned to Leighton C. Taylor, his secretary, and asked him what was being done at Chicago. It was the first question he asked after regaining consciousness. Taylor answered that they had done nothing; that a deadlock had been reached. The Senator lay there a moment, thinking."

"Call up King," he said at last to Taylor, "and tell him to throw it to Harding."—Copyright, 1922, by Public Ledger Co.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS

Read This Letter from Mrs. W. S. Hughes

Greenville, Del.—"I was under the impression that my eldest daughter had some inter-troubles as ever since the first time her sickness appeared she had to go to bed and even had to quit school once for a week. I always take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound myself so I gave it to her and she has received great benefit from it. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish, as I cannot say too much about what your medicine has done for me and my daughter."

Mrs. Wm. S. Hughes, Greenville, Del. Mothers and oftentimes grandmothers have taken and have learned the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So they recommend the medicine to others.

The best test of any medicine is what it has done for others. For nearly fifty years we have published letters from mothers, daughters, and women, young and old, recommending the Vegetable Compound. They know what it did for them and are glad to tell others. In your own neighborhood are women who know of its great value.

Mothers—daughters, why not try it?
