

FARMERS WILL OFFER PLANS FOR RELIEF

Governor McCray and Prof.
Christie to Present Idea at Washington.

PURDUE SHORT COURSE

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 11.—Indiana farmers attending the short course at Purdue University, met today to outline some plan of action for farmer relief which they will offer through Governor McCray and Prof. G. I. Christie of Purdue, delegates to the agricultural conference called in Washington for Jan. 23. The plan will be worked out at the annual meeting of the Indiana Corn Growers' Association in session today and will be prepared finally before adjournment tonight. Livestock men, corn growers, vegetable men, horticulturists and all interests represented at the short course are engaged in formulating the plan.

CORN GROWERS

OPEN PROGRAM

The corn growers opened their program this morning with a short address of welcome by Vice President Henry W. Marshall. He was followed by Charles E. Gurneys, assistant secretary of the American Farm Bureau, who discussed the economic situation of the farmer and the aid being given in meeting the problems by the American Farm Bureau.

Prof. A. T. Wiancko of Purdue was the principal speaker this afternoon, discussing the results of soil fertility experiments.

"The average yield of corn on land both tilled and properly limed and fertilized, was 53.2 bushels per acre, against 15.5 bushels on the untreated land," said Professor Wiancko. "These results indicate that the entire cost of tile drainage and other treatments soon will be paid for by the crop increased produced, and it is probable that the effects of tilling will become more and more pronounced for several years to come."

The tile where the 55-bushel average yield was obtained were laid three rods apart. Where they were laid four rods apart, the yield was 48 bushels of corn and five rods apart it was 43 bushels. Land tilled one to two rods apart averaged 44.8 bushels of corn per acre, as against 40.8 bushels on the untiled land.

The speaker presented considerable data to show the value of using lime, stone and manure and the use of acid phosphate, especially in the southern half of Indiana. Crop yields frequently had been increased as much as 100 per cent where proper treatment had been followed.

Mr. Overton of the farm management department presented data to show that farmers must readjust their business and produce things for which there is a demand, as he had gotten away from the old system of producing everything he needed and now produced a few important crops and purchased other things he needed.

"When a farmer produces economically, he is using his labor and capital at maximum efficiency to produce those products for which there is a demand, and to which his farm is adapted because of soil type, climate, transportation facilities and markets," he said. He suggested plans for reorganization of farming business and more efficient use of labor and capital.

VEGETABLE AND FRUIT GROWERS SECTION.
One of the most interesting features before the vegetable and fruit growers' section of the short course was a talk by Prof. J. W. Lloyd of the University of Illinois on State Aid in Developing California Farms, a plan by which whole sections of undeveloped land in that State are being settled.

Before the poultry section, C. I. Bashore of Silver Lake, Ind., gave his experience with the use of electric lights in his henhouse during last fall and winter. He obtained an egg production 24 per cent in November, 46 per cent in December, 51 in January, 50 in February and 55 per cent in March. Spring production of his flock of 250 birds was entirely up to normal despite this high winter production under lights, giving him an average egg production of 163 eggs per hen for the year.

W. F. Friebe of Chicago, an extensive buyer of eggs, poultry and butter, spoke on marketing of eggs and gave those taking the poultry work much valuable information.

Mr. Friebe urged better attention to cost of production and also more economical and efficient handling by the country packer and shipper and lower transportation charges for eggs and poultry products.

The farmer gets what is left after all the agencies have their profits, he said. To help remedy this, it is up to the farmer to know the steps in marketing, produce better products and then see that it reaches the consumer with the least possible waste, he said.

B. F. Burris, State superintendent of public instruction, made a strong appeal for betterment of rural schools. He spoke before the home economics section.

REFORM BILLS UP IN MARYLAND

Liquor Traffic and Race Track
Measures Worry State Lawmakers.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 11.—War on the liquor traffic and race tracks has opened in the Maryland Legislature. This legislation has been a perennial feature of the sessions of the General Assembly, but the proposed measures as introduced are even more drastic and far reaching than any attempt at reform bills that has gone before. The anti-race track bill would put an end to racing in Maryland. Not only would pari-mutuel betting be prohibited, but oral betting and book-making would be barred. Heavy penalties for violations are provided. At present the State receives about $750,000 annual revenue from the operation of the racetracks.

A concurrent prohibition enforcement act, passed by the Anti-Saloon League, after embodying the features of the Volstead act, provides for the employment of counsel by organizations of citizens to "assist" the State's attorney in the prosecution of offenses against the prohibition law. The wets have countered by introducing a bill to memorialize Congress to permit manufacture and sale of beers and light wines, and stiff debate is anticipated before the Legislature takes action.

WOULD CONDEMN STATE SCHOOLS

Health Inspector Urges Board to Take Action.

Condemnation of sixteen schools in Indiana was asked of the State board of health, which convened this afternoon, by H. R. Conderoy, inspector.

Recommendations that the trustees in Wabash and Johnson Counties correct the unsanitary conditions which exist in several schools in their counties also were made to the board by Mr. Conderoy.

The schools which he asked to be condemned are in the following counties: Miami, four; Jefferson, ten; Madison, one, and Wabash one.

More than five thousand schools in the State are beyond repair and should be condemned, Conderoy said.

Approval of plans for twenty-three schools in the State was given by Mr. Conderoy during the last three months, according to his report.

Holds Railroader May Use His Fists

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—Railroading is still a two-fisted business.

A man can fight and yet hold his job, according to a decision handed down today by the United States railroad board, reinstating George Harneson, blacksmith, who was discharged by the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company for fighting while on duty Nov. 10, 1920, at the Chicago shops of the company.

The board ruled Harneson "should be reinstated to his former position with seniority rights unimpaired."

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is sign you have been eating too much meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority.

Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.—Advertisement.
