

CITY FIREMEN'S LIST RUNS OVER BUDGET QUOTA

Previous Administration Filled Department With Appointees.

The fire force is six or seven men over the total personnel composed by the budget for 1922 and the police force is 150. Fire Chief John J. O'Brien and Police Chief Herman E. Rikoff reported to the board of public safety at the regular meeting Tuesday afternoon. The last administration filled the departments almost to the brim with appointees in the last week of its term and such new men as have been added constitute an overflow. The exact situation will not be known until the final and final personnel records are straightened out of the tangle into which they were thrown by the tremendous shake-ups of Jan. 2.

AS TO POLICE ROLL CALL.

Upon a suggestion of Mayor Samuel Lewis Shank and recommendation of Col. Charles E. Riddle, abolished the roll call for police from 4 to 6 o'clock in the morning. Board Member Edward G. Sourbier said at first that he did not favor eliminating the roll call because there are some men in the police department who are prone to sleep and would take advantage of the fact that they did not have to report at headquarters after the night tour of duty ended. James E. Armitage, Democratic board member, called upon Mr. Sourbier to produce evidence that there were bootleggers and drinkers on the force. If there are such men on the force they should be thrown off at once.

Mayor Shank said he did not want a man on the force who could not be trusted to stay on the job until his hour for quitting came and that no one would be able to get by with drinking because the present white male product has such a kick that no man can stand up under it more than six months.

CITY NOW HAS SMOKE INSPECTOR.

For the first time since the close of the Bell administration the city has a smoke inspector. The board appointed Fred Beck to the job, who gets $1,500 a year. Beck had been named as foreman of construction in the park department. Lee J. Kirsch, former city councilman, was designated to succeed Beck in the park department.

POLICE DEPARTMENT CHANGES.

Changes in the police department made by the board were as follows:

Lieutenant Robert Hyland reduced to bycleman. Bycleman Luther Muse reduced to patrolman. Detective Sergeant George Bradley reduced to patrolman. Sergeant Louis Johnson promoted to Lieutenant. Bycleman Benjamin Lansing promoted to detective sergeant. Patrolman William Fields promoted to sergeant. Patrolman Patrick J. Johnson promoted to sergeant. Patrolman James Todd, Thomas Leonard, William Paul and Ed Harms promoted to byclemen. Patrolman Henry Condel promoted to wagonman. Traffeman William Martin reduced to patrolman, and Traffeman Harry Schley transferred to bycleman. George Baker was appointed patrolman. In the fire department, Chauncy Stephen E. Dingle was reinstated as the man; John E. Dingle was reinstated as a driver and Walter Gallimore of truck company No. 20 and Nick Cucu of truck company No. 19 were promoted to chauffeurs.

Indiana Threshermen Hear Many Speakers

Visiting officers and members of other brotherhoods addressed the convention of the Indiana Brotherhood of Threshermen in Tomlinson Hall today. Other speakers were H. C. Wallace of the Link Manufacturing Company of Kansas City, W. H. Nelson, president of the City Council; secretary of Brotherhoods of Threshermen; Jud Parker, who is said to have attended more threshermen's conventions than any one living; E. E. Parkinson of Madison, Wis., and Finley P. Mount, president of the Advance-Rumely Company of La Porte.

The proposed changes in the constitution of the organization were discussed in the session in Tomlinson Hall last night. The convention opened yesterday afternoon with an address of welcome by Ed Jackson, secretary of State.

Governor Refuses Zahrt Resignation

Walter O. Zahrt of Ft. Wayne, Republican member of the State highway commission, submitted his resignation to Governor Warren T. McCrary yesterday. The Governor refused to accept the resignation and urged Mr. Zahrt to reconsider it.

Business reasons, according to his letter, prompted Mr. Zahrt to ask for his retirement. The other three members of the commission have devoted all their time to the road work of Indiana since the reorganization of the board last year, and Mr. Zahrt said he would not be able to devote much of his time because of other business. Who would succeed Mr. Zahrt, in case he definitely decides to resign, is not known.

Sand and Gravel Men Elect Officers

M. A. Nevill of Indianapolis was elected president of the Indiana Sand and Gravel Producers Association at a meeting in the Hotel Claypool yesterday. Other officers elected were: J. J. Natterkemper of Terre Haute, vice president; Jesse Shearer, Indianapolis, secretary and treasurer. W. S. Burd of Mt. Carmel, Ill., and H. S. Neal of Mattoon, Ill., were elected members of the board of directors.

Data concerning freight rates in Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and sand and gravel, to be presented at the meeting, will receive attention at a hearing on freight rates Jan. 16 was discussed. Several members of the State highway commission addressed another meeting at the hotel today.

City Plan Body to Seek Real Expert

A committee to investigate applicants for appointment as expert consultants of the city plan commission will be appointed at the next meeting by President Edward B. Rumb of the commission. The commission or individual members probably will visit cities where various consultants have worked before the adviser is named.

On condition that it be kept back of building lines, the commission approved location of a filling station at the northwest corner of Sixteenth street and Central avenue by the Tiona Refining Company.

I. U. STUDENTS HOLD ORIGINAL PLAY CARNIVAL

Indianapolis Students Have Important Parts in Show.

Hydro Electric Company, Proposing to Build on Tippecanoe, Before Commission.

Special to The Times
BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Jan. 11.—Students from Indianapolis, who are attending the State University here, had important parts in the recent "show Down," a carnival of original one-act plays, presented by students in the various organizations of Indiana University before an audience of more than four thousand persons. Several of the students were members of the two organizations which won silver loving cups, Kappa Alpha Theta among the women's organizations, and Kappa Sigma from the men's fraternities. Members of the cast were required to originate and make their own costumes and, with the words and select the music of the plays.

Most of the Indianapolis students in the "show Down" are members of the Garrick Club, the purpose of which is to foster dramatics among students. A feature of classes in dramatics at the university is competition during a performance between various students acting the same part. One student comes on the stage in a certain character, in a costume originated by that student and later on another student will take the same part, using such costume effects as the new student sees fit.

NEW COURSES IN 'Y' NIGHT SCHOOL

Curriculum for Term Opening June 23 Offers Variety of Instruction.

STATE TO HAVE TRAFFIC BUREAU

Indianapolis Man to Head New Department.

The winter term of the Y. M. C. A. night school will open Monday evening, Jan. 23.

For more than twenty-five years this school has been conducting evening classes for men and boys, its curriculum offering a wide variety of academic, commercial and industrial courses. All told it has enrolled nearly ten thousand students.

New courses are being organized in acetylene welding, mechanical drafting, bookkeeping and mathematics. The card lettering class will be started Monday, Jan. 23, at 7:30 o'clock in advance of the regular opening.

Among the new courses available this term is one in battery service work. This is a shop course in repairing, maintaining and building batteries. A course in "Home Ownership" covering the planning, financing, building and purchasing of a home, also will be offered.

Real estate, commercial illustrating, shorthand, public speaking and advertising are included in the winter curriculum.

Speaking of the outlook, F. C. Fields, educational director of the Y. M. C. A., said:

"We are just closing one of the most successful fall terms in our history, notwithstanding the limited business depression. Our students have been earnest. They possessed staying qualities and the net product of their efforts was better. This was especially true of the one hundred twenty ex-service men who were given scholarships."

"We look forward to a great winter term. We believe better days are ahead for the trained men."

Mr. Fields also announced that the Y. M. C. A. would continue its policy of awarding scholarships to former service men.

Weight Inspectors Make Raid on Market Stands.

Inspectors of the city weights and measures department, under Mrs. Mrs. Riddle, new chief inspector, celebrated the results of their 1922 sweepstakes Tuesday by confiscating a dozen inaccurate scales from standholders at the city market.

Mrs. Riddle intends to devote much time to making the department of service to housewives who feel they have received incorrect weight from merchants and peddlers.

The department recently destroyed more than seven hundred bad scales confiscated by the inspectors under Chief Inspector Edward McGuire during 1921.
