GRAPHITE CUTS
OPERATING COST
Motor Upkeep Greatly Reduced by Scientific Lubricant.

For years the problem of making graphite available as a lubricant for automobile motors has attracted the interest and efforts of some of the best minds of the motor world. The wonderful lubricating possibilities of graphite has long been a generally recognized fact, but until recently the problem was not solved.

This was due to the fact that until a process was discovered for manufacturing a perfect graphite, the mineral graphite available contained too many impurities to be entrusted to the walls of a motor cylinder.

However, Oldag, which is nothing more than defoliated Acheson graphite diffused and suspended in a pure, paraffin base oil, is said to solve the old troublesome question perfectly. In this compound the pure oil acts as a vehicle for the graphite, which does the lubricating.

The fineness of this defoliated graphite can be understood when it is so fine that it will pass through a screen having 40,000 openings to the square inch. The process of defoliating shows each minute grain of this graphite powder into thousands of smaller particles. Then wherever the oil goes the graphite goes, flowing as freely as the oil itself, and it has the startling and unique faculty of uniting with metal piston rings, cylinder walls and bearings and creating a new surface in the metal itself, called graphol surface.

These graphol surfaces are smooth and slippery, so free from friction that the rubbing of two of them together produces no more heat than does the rubbing of two pieces of ice.

"This has the effect of almost eliminating friction," explained an official of the Petroleum Service, Inc., distributor of Oldag for this territory. "The use of lubricating reduces friction, while Oldag almost eliminated it. It has been our experience that automobile motors in which graphol surfaces have been formed, have given service never before dreamed of by their owners. And of course, this is due to the virtual elimination of friction in the operation of the car."

Interesting Book Contains Complete City Information.

It is indeed a wise citizen that knows his own city. A great many of us actually think we know Indianapolis when as a plain matter of fact we could not pass an examination with any degree of credit to ourselves if we actually were put to the test.

Where is Beauty avenue?
What street car line do you take to get to public school No. 67?
Where is the Reyer apartment house?
How far is it to the southern limits of the city?
Where is Highland Drive? Highland Park? Highland avenue? Highland Place?
Just try to answer a lot of questions, and see how little you know about your own city. The suggestion is offered by E. E. SchAAF, assistant sales manager of the National Map Company.

"To meet a demand for information of this character in condensed form the National Map Company has issued its new map and street guide of Indianapolis," Mr. SchAAF said. "We had behind us thirty-six years of experience in map-making and we feel certain that we have given to the city the best and most complete guide of Indianapolis ever published. It is correct, up-to-the-minute, and in such form that information may be had from it without delay or complicated computations of any sort."

"Every street, park, addition, public or private institution of importance, public building, street car line, railroad and automobile highway are shown clearly." Besides the street indexes and locations, the house numbering systems, the guide has included in it information as to hotels, theaters, churches, clubs, lodges, libraries, apartments, etc. The guide is intended primarily for residents of Indianapolis and it contains items of interest to even the oldest and best informed residents of the city.

BUILDING RECORD
WILL BE BROKEN
Big Boom Sure to Come,
Marble Dealer Predicts.

Unprecedented building activity which will cover a period that may last six years or more is predicted by F. E.
Gates of the F. E. Gates Marble and Tile Company, if business conditions get back to a stable basis.

"All that is needed to bring about the greatest period of building activity in the history of the country is a stabilization of business and financial conditions," Mr. Gates said. "Just let the bothersome and unsettling matters such as taxation, freight rates and financial matters be definitely settled on a fixed basis, and the boom will set in."

"From information at hand I understand that during the last two months building activity has been renewed in New York and in other parts of the East.
Necessarily this will be followed by a corresponding reaction in Chicago. In Indianapolis the home building boom which assumed large proportions last year has been kept alive by the unusually favorable conditions existing throughout the winter months, and naturally this will become even greater when spring comes."

"Despite adverse business conditions the demand in our own particular line of business has proved strong and has even surprised us by its steadiness. We have completed some very handsome jobs during the past year, among which may be mentioned the Spencer County courthouse at Rockport, Lee's Theater in Indianapolis, the exchange room of the Cotton Exchange in New Orleans, First National Bank of Shelbyville, the Tribune building, South Bend; the First National Bank of Sheridan and the Bankers' Trust building in this city."

"Fabrication of marble work for the Seville apartments, Illinois and Seventeenth streets, was completed by us, as was the work for the new dormitory of the Sisters of Providence, St. Mary's ind, the addition to the Masonic Temple, Illinois and North streets, Hotel Lincoln and banks at Dugger and Shelby-ville. In addition to this we constantly are doing work for owners of private residences."

"From time immemorial the human race has realized the beauties of marble for decorative purposes and many of the great examples of ancient art, such as the Parthenon at Athens were constructed of that material."

NEW CARBURETOR
PUTS PEP IN CAR
Old Motors Gain Renewed Vigor With Installation Of Device.

As a result of automobile owners keeping old cars in commission as long as possible in preference to purchasing new ones, carburetor sales are constantly and steadily increasing, according to George E. Nelson, manager of the Indianapolis branch of the Marvel Carburetor Sales Company.

"Selling and replacement business are particularly good," Mr. Nelson said. "A great part of this is due beyond a doubt to the fact that the recent business slump and financial depression has resulted in a determination on the part of many motorists to keep their old cars running as long as possible, rather than replace them with newer models."

"In working over an old car the effects of the installation of a new carburetor are frequently little short of miraculous, and as a result many car owners are being sold for replacement purposes."

"In fact, we have found that the carburetor business is far better than it appears to be on the surface, and as a result we have no complaint to make of business conditions. In no other part of the automobile business does the word "service" have a more important part than in the carburetor. A poorly adjusted, ununderstood carburetor can cause a lot of trouble in a motor car, and our local branch has established a reputation of maintaining a standard of service that has won us many friends and customers."

Our experts are well equipped to repair and rebuild carburetors.

"Although the Marvel factory is located at Flint, Mich., the device is the invention of an Indianapolis man and was first manufactured in this city. The inventor was Bert Pierce and for a time the factory was located here."

SUNDAY DINERS
LIKE NEW ROOMS
Travertine and Italian Rooms of Hotel Lincoln Popular.

That ever increasing number of Indianapolis families who have formed the attractive habit of dining downtown Sunday evenings, and occasionally at other times also, as a welcome break in the monotony of eating at home over a too-extended period of time, have found the new Travertine and Italian rooms of the Hotel Lincoln greatly to their liking.

In the enlargement and extension of the facilities of the Hotel Lincoln in the recent addition to the hotel completed and thrown open to the public only two weeks ago, particular attention was paid to the dining room equipment, the entire fourteenth floor of the building being set aside for service of this character.

The Travertine room especially intended and designed for large dinner parties and dances already has proved exceptionally popular, and smaller parties have flocked to the Italian room with a unanimity which shows the attractiveness of the place.

In designing the new addition," an official of the Hotel Lincoln said, "we had in mind the fact that among families there is growing desire to occasionally get away from home and eat a meal out. This is a break in the ordered routine of life, it takes one away from away from the housewife and gives her an opportunity to enjoy herself without the slightest worry as to how things are
