Hoover Conference Arouses Interest of Brotherhoods and Employers.

Special to Indiana Daily Times and Indianapolis Post-Examiner.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Re-establishment of the entente which existed before the war between the railroad and the coal and iron industries, by which disputes were settled through regional conference, is in a fair way of being accomplished.
As the result of a meeting here this week engineered by Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, railroad executives and representatives of the Big Four coal and iron associations agreed to submit to their respective organizations the proposal for the restoration of the two-party regional conferences for the settlement of the Big Four coal and iron industries. The regional conferences are to take place throughout the United States on or about Feb. 10 if the railroad interests formally agree and the iron chiefs are able to swing the membership of their organization in line. Members of the association of railway executives have been called to meet in Chicago next Saturday to decide for the railroads, but no hitch is expected on either side.
According to the conference with Mr. Hoover were: W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania; F. D. Underwood, president of the Erie; Carl Gray, president of the Union Pacific; C. H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central; W. L. Mapother, president of the Louisville & Nashville; Daniel Wildard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio; W. C. Hargrave, president of the Chesapeake & Ohio; A. H. Smith, president of the New York Central; J. H. Duxbury, president of the Boston & Maine; F. B. Bush, president of the Missouri Pacific; W. S. Stone, of the engineers; W. G. Lee, of the trainmen; Timothy Shea, of the firemen and engine-men; and L. E. Shepherd of the conductors. The conference was called by Public Ledger Company.

WITNESS SAID KING WAS SLAIN IN BATTLE.
Testimony tending to establish that Benjamin King of Wilmington, N. C., was killed in action in France instead of having been lynched at a stockade near Paris at the direction of "Hard Boiled" Smith, was given by Varney E. Wells, Wilmington, N. C., formerly a member of company G, 119th Infantry.
"I have no direct proof that King was killed," Wells said, "but he jumped off with his squad during a battle Sept. 29, 1918. His number one and two men were killed and I concluded King was killed, too."
"On Dec. 10, 1918, I met Oscar Sheldon of Druid, N. C., in London and he told me that he had seen King down to pieces. King was reported missing."
"I saw King just before we jumped off in that battle."
Richard Sullivan of Somerville, Mass., related a story similar to that told by Rufus P. Hubbard, a former witness, who said bodies of two negro soldiers, encamped in a cemetery in France, had ropes around their necks and black caps over their heads.
He denied, however, that the caps were left on their heads or that the bodies were sent back to supposed relatives without proper identification.
Sullivan was an assistant embalmer with the American Graves Registration Service.

I suggested it could be charged to my bill at the hotel office. When he called the next day he told me it would cost me another $3 for the visit. I said 'our rooms are right here together and I did not send for you.' We had a quarrel and he called me 'cheap' and 'tight.' On Saturday afternoon Dr. Storms met me in the lobby of the hotel and called me by name and struck me four times." Dr. Storms explained after his arrest he had quarreled with Klepper over a bill for professional services. He asserted Klepper had called him over the telephone and had called him vile names.
