

CHILLY WINDS CAUSE THEFT OF CLOTHING

Detective Interrupts Plans of
Hold-up Man to Rob
Conductor.

The cold wave was a signal for clothing thieves to start working. Harry Henderson, Hamilton, Ohio, told the police a suit was stolen from his room in the National Hotel.

An overcoat and another coat, worth $35, were stolen from him at the Y. M. C. A. Harry Webber, 332 English avenue, told the police.

Albert Turner, 325 West Michigan street, told the police a burglar entered his house and took a suit, hat and a pair of shoes.

A would-be hold-up man escaped amid a shower of bullets from the revolver of Detective Ben Lansing. The man attempted to hold up Wesley Morgan, conductor, 1223 West New York street, at the end of the West Tenth street car line.

When Frank Land, who lives above the John Cox grocery, 120 Gelsendorf street, heard some one beating on the door of the store, he leaned out of a window and asked who was there. A man ran, jumped into an automobile and drove away. It was discovered the door had been forced open.

MANUAL ALUMNI WILL CELEBRATE

In celebration of the opening of the recently completed addition to Manual Training High School, the alumni association of the school is preparing plans for a "house-warming" and dinner dance to be given Feb. 13.

The date of formal opening has not been set by the board of school commissioners, but it is expected the building will be in use by the date set by the alumni association.

MINERS KILLED IN EXPLOSION

Two Shot Firers Die When Mine Is Wrecked.

Special to The Times. Jan. 20.—Once Lattin, 25, Terr Haute, and James Wells, 60, Marion Heights, shot firers at the Dixie Bee coal mine of Pimento are dead today as result of an explosion at the mine late Thursday evening. The explosion is believed to have been caused by a "windy shot."

The mine was partially wrecked. The two shot firers were the only two men in the mine at the time of the explosion.

Both bodies were badly burned. Lattin's skull was fractured.

Washington Briefs

Special to Indiana Daily Times and Philadelphia Public Ledger. WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—New York State manifestly is the diplomatic favorite of the Harding administration. Not only is the Secretary of State a New Yorker, but no fewer than five ambassadors and three ministers are New Yorkers by birth or residence. Representative Alanson H. Houghton, just selected as ambassador to Germany, is the fourth New York man to be raised to ambassadorial rank by President Harding, the others being Colonel Harvey (Great Britain), Richard Washburn Child (Italy) and William Miller Coiler (Chile). A fifth New Yorker, Ambassador Edwin V. Morgan, is to be retained at Rio de Janeiro.

New York ministers appointed by Mr. Harding are Jacob G. Schurman, to China; Lewis Einstein, to Czechoslovakia, and John D. Prince, to Denmark. Some of those appointees are charged on the patronage account to other States, but all of them have outstanding Empire State connections of one sort or another.

Probably for the first time on record the Smithsonian institution has been host to an exhibition by a Japanese. Under its auspices there was held at the national museum a display of paintings by the Japanese artist, Shunko Sugura. Mr. Sugura is on his way to France to present to the Paris Louvre one of his works which was accepted ten years ago.

Mexico apparently believes it pays even a government to advertise. Washington papers now contain a "display" notice in which the Mexican embassy "begs to announce that the office of its chancery have been removed from 1413 I street to the embassy's new premises at 2829 Sixteenth street." Then follows a schedule of office hours for ordinary week days and for Saturdays, and a list of telephone numbers.

One of the best-known and best-liked Army officers in Washington, Maj. John G. Quekemyer, General Pershing's aid during the World War and since, is leaving the District of Columbia. At his own request Major Quekemyer is being transferred to the cavalry school at Fort Riley, Kan. Quekemyer at the outbreak of the World War was an assistant military attaché in London and later American liaison officer at British general headquarters in France. General Pershing is very much attached to him. He is a Mississippian.

Water Company Asks Plumbers to Dinner

Plumbers and representatives of plumbing supply houses in Indianapolis have been invited by the Indianapolis Water Company to attend a dinner at the Chamber of Commerce the night of Jan. 30. Cooperation for the betterment of the water supply will be discussed. Besides talks by master plumbers, the program will include a discussion of "Construction and Operation of the Plant of the Indianapolis Water Company," by C. L. Kirk, vice president and general manager; "Purification of the Public Water Supply," by H. E. Jordan, superintendent of filtration; "Indianapolis Water Company's Program for Future Construction," by E. J. T. Jepp, chief engineer; "Good Plumbing an Essential to Good Water Service," by J. F. O'Donnell, superintendent of distribution; "Our 1922 Program for Municipal Improvements in the City of Indianapolis," John L. Elliott, city civil engineer; "The Value of Sanitary Conveniences in Decreasing Sickness," Dr. W. F. King, assistant State health commissioner; "Consumers' Complaints," Carl Wilde, director of service, Indiana public service commission.
