

REMOVE BODY OF MRS. ORME TO FAMILY HOME

Funeral Arrangements Await Word From Distant Relatives.

Remains of Mrs. Lillian C. Orme, 47, who died suddenly at the Hotel Severin late last evening, were to be removed from the hotel to her family home at 1001 N. Dearborn street this afternoon. Mrs. Orme was the wife of Hence Orme, death was due to acute indigestion.

Funeral arrangements have not been made pending receipt of word from distant friends and relatives.

Mrs. Orme, who was woman chairman of Senator Harry S. New's campaign for nomination, had attended the reception in the mezzanine floor of the Severin hotel and Mrs. New earlier in the evening. Feeling ill, she retired to her room with Mrs. L. C. Shauer of Valparaiso, vice president of the Indiana Parent-Teacher Association, of which Mrs. Orme was president.

Her illness increasing, Mrs. Shauer helped to make her comfortable and went to the bathroom for a glass of water. When she found Mrs. Orme dying, a nurse was summoned but Mrs. Orme died in a few minutes. Fred King, campaign manager for Senator New and Mrs. Shauer were present at the death. Senator and Mrs. New came immediately and the husband arrived in about an hour. A son, Hence Orme, Jr., who is at Stanton Military Academy, Staunton, Va., was notified.

Mrs. Orme, who was Lillian C. Clewell, was born in Logansport. She went through the common and high schools here and attended Indiana University, the left college before graduation and was married to Mr. Orme in 1908. She had been active in public work for a number of years, having been one of the chief influences in the development of parent-teacher clubs throughout the State.

In recent years she had been deeply interested in the work of Indiana Indorsers of Photoplays, having been one of the leaders in the fight of that body against movie censorship bills in the 1921 Legislature.

For several years Mrs. Orme's health had not been good. She had been slightly indisposed before coming to Indianapolis Thursday morning to start her duties as Senator New's help.

SAY WATCHMAN AIDED THIEVES

Railroad Detectives Charge Series of Thefts.

John R. Hunt, 2408 West Wilkins street, a watchman formerly employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad, is out of a job and was fined $5 and costs in city court today because, detectives say, he permitted and helped to commit the offense which he was hired to prevent.

Railroad detectives allege Hunt and two other men have taken coal from the yards at the Belmont station. An alleged Hunt, who was employed as a watchman at the Belmont station yards of the railroad, allowed James Perkins, 346 North Holmes street, and Robert Clark, 1241 South Holmes street, to come to the yards and take coal. These men, it is said, would receive a load of coal for hauling Hunt's share home. The two men were fined $10 and costs in city court.

Hunt frequently has appeared in city court to prosecute coal thieves on behalf of his former employers.

Scots Gain Chuckle From Royal Betrothal

GLASGOW, Jan. 21.—Announcement of the engagement of Princess Mary to Viscount Lascelles caused many Scots to recall a good story connected with the first marriage of a Princess Royal with a commoner. When Princess Louise, daughter of Queen Victoria, was betrothed to the Marquis of Lorne, son of the Duke of Argyll, an employee of the Argyllshire estates observed quite seriously: "The Queen maun be a proud woman the day."

POPE DEAD; ILL FOR FIVE DAYS

ages from Cardinal Gasparri, Papal Secretary of State, had indicated the Pontiff's death might be expected at any moment.

Immediately upon news of the Holy Father's death the native Catholic relief council here made efforts to get in touch with Cardinal Dougherty by naval wireless. Cardinal Dougherty succeeded the late Cardinal Gibbons as the senior prelate in America. He is now at the Vatican and is expected to go to Rome immediately on his arrival.

Eulogy of the Pontiff was delivered here today by Monsignor Bonzano, Apostolic Delegate to the United States and an Archbishop in the Catholic hierarchy who at one time served in the Papal Secretariat under Benedict XV when the latter was only a priest.

"The rule of Benedict XV as war Pope was characterized by mammoth accomplishments and usual diplomacy," Manager Bonzano said. "His broad endeavors won the admiration of statesmen from all parts of the world. Protestant and Catholic alike. He was an earnest supporter of relief for the stricken peoples of all nations during wartime as well as that of the Church. No worthy cause failed of his support and no humanitarian movement went without his blessing."

"Pope Benedict XV's peace as bishop of Rome and head of the Roman Catholic Church saw great works performed for the Church. Relations which had been severed for long periods of years, were re-established with his own people, France, England, Portugal, Poland, Czechoslovakia and several South American republics. His Holiness was a man of unusual personal charm."

"During the war he maintained a strict neutrality and exerted every effort to bring about a cessation of hostilities. Long before peace was declared the Pope had made proposals for peace."

"The rule of Benedict XV as Pope was characterized by the selection of a successor to Pope Benedict, saying that any one of the seventy Cardinals was equally eligible and that the matter was entirely one for the conclave of Cardinals to decide, if the necessity arose."

POPE BENEDICT XV

Pope Benedict XV rose to the supreme head of the Catholic Church Sept. 6, 1914, and held the position until his death on June 22, 1922. He was born of noble parents at Pegli, near Genoa, Italy, Nov. 21, 1854. His father was Marchese Della Ceresa.

He was educated at Caproni College and the Academy of Ecclesiastical. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1878. He was taken to Madrid, Spain, by Cardinal Rampolla and for four years was secretary of the Nuncio in Spain. In 1891 he was appointed secretary of the Cybor and in 1907 Pope Pius gave him the appointment of archbishop of the See of Bologna. He was made a cardinal in May, 1914.

Pope Benedict was much affected by the horrors and sorrow of the World War and many times tried to bring about peace negotiations. Germany's violation of Belgium's neutrality filled him with great sorrow and after the sinking of the Lusitania he telegraphed the German Emperor his abhorrence of the deed.

Pope Benedict's first appeal for peace was issued six months after his coronation. The appeal failed to bring results, as did also his later plan for a Christmas truce. In January and in July, 1915, he again tried to bring about peace negotiations. In March, 1916, repeated his attempts and in May of the same year suggested that America should act as a conciliator between the warring nations. His note to President Wilson to this effect reached Washington in Germany and the United States were involved in a diplomatic crisis. The Vatican approved of President Wilson's peace note in 1917, but three months later the United States entered the war.

The Pope's most memorable appeal for peace was issued in his own handwriting, on Aug. 8, 1917, and asked belligerent rulers to end the struggle. During the peace conference his pleas were issued in behalf of weaker nations.

Just before the conference President Wilson had a private conference with Pope Benedict at the Vatican in which many questions of a social and international nature were discussed. The settlement of the 750-year-old Irish problem was received with great pleasure by many questions of a social and international nature were discussed.

SAYS PARLEY ONE RUNG IN PEACE LADDER

Lloyd George Makes Appeal for Reduction of Armaments.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—"There can be no peace unless there is understanding followed by a considerable reduction of armaments," said Premier Lloyd George, addressing the coalition-liberal political convention today.

"Nations must take risks in peace as well as in war. The Washington conference has been a notable success. If there had been such a conference in July, 1914, there would have been no world catastrophe in August, 1914. Each conference is a rung in the ladder of peace."

Lloyd George replied to Premier Poincaré's threat to return to pre-war diplomatic methods by all nations invited to the international economic conference at Geneva.

"We want an end to wars and to rumors of wars," declared the premier. "I am glad to see that power and all rulers to come to Geneva in a spirit of peace, and then peace will come."

Referring to the Irish situation, the premier said: "For the first time in centuries an Irish government has been established with the whole-hearted sanction of the people. There will be difficulties before it is fully effective and may be afterwards. But the good sense of the Irish will enable them to triumph. Ireland will take high rank in the free nations and will be a source of increasing strength to Britain."

"Trade is the worst now in the history of the world. Restoration depends upon confidence. The less governments interfere with trade, the better it will be for trade and the governments too. It is the task of all governments to establish confidence."

The premier confirmed the recent statement of Austen Chamberlain that there will be no general election until the Irish Free State is formally functioning.

Lloyd George expressed faith in the League of Nations, adding: "But I wish its friends would not try to run it as a party show."

He opposed any suggestion that the issues to be discussed at the Geneva conference should be left to the league because, under such circumstances, the United States would be excluded from the discussions.

The premier said that Germany should eventually pay, revealing that an agreement had been reached before the Cannes conference regarding Germany to pay indemnity payments. He hoped such a plan might be adopted at Geneva.

Police Seek Negro for Deadly Attack

Police are searching for William Hunt, negro, 1232 North Senate avenue, who, they allege, hit Arthur Frank, 3404 Virginia avenue, over the head with a heavy iron bar early today at the Marietta Glass Works.

It was necessary to take several stitches in Frank's head. Dr. George Christian, deputy coroner, who was at the scene of the accident, gave the victim medical attention. Frank says the negro struck him as the result of an argument over some bottles. Both are employees of the glass works.

LEGION TAKES STEPS TO AID DISABLED MEN

was taken up with business concerning constitution and by-laws. CONFERENCE OPPOSES NATIONAL MEMORIAL.

The conference went on record definitely as opposed to the erection of any national war memorial until the unemployed and disabled veterans have been taken care of properly. This action is directed at a proposed memorial in Washington in honor of the heroes of all wars and of George Washington.

Representatives of the American Federation of Labor met with the legislative committee of the legion yesterday and expressed themselves as bitterly opposed to the erection of a memorial in honor of the heroes of all wars and of George Washington.

"The American Federation of Labor wants to be understood," he said, "as not opposed to the measure itself, but to a sales tax provision. The federation always has favored the adjusted compensation bill. It is so meritorious that it should stand alone. A sales tax is really a consumption tax and should be paid by the wealthy and placed upon the workers of this country, upon those least able to pay. There is $14,000,000,000 in sales tax in the United States. The administration might well try to amend the law so that these securities could be properly taxed."

The erection of a memorial to the late P. W. Galbraith, past national commander of the legion, was approved. The memorial will be erected at Cleveland. No assistance from the State of Ohio or city of Cleveland will be accepted. The sum of $25,000 will be appropriated for the memorial.

Last night a banquet for all legion officials was held in the Travertine room of the Hotel Lincoln.

John A. MacNider, national commander presided. MANY SPEAKERS PRESENT.

Speakers of the evening were, Charles F. Coffin, president of the Indiana Chamber of Commerce; David Laughlin, editor of the Veterans and representative of the Great War Veterans' Association of Canada; Col. John M. A. Palmer, representing the War Department; Lemuel Dolles, national adjutant; Director Forbes of the Veterans Bureau; Mrs. Lowell P. Hobart, president of the Auxiliary; Jason S. Joy, representing the American Red Cross and Daniel J. Tobin, representing the American Federation of Labor.

Fail to Agree on Pay for Prisoners' Care

A conference was held today by the Marlon County commissioners, County Auditor Leo K. Foster, Sheriff George Smith and County Attorney Harry Houshilton with A. G. Cavins, deputy United States district attorney, and Randolph Meadams, representative of the Attorney General's office at Washington, relative to the request of the commissioners that the Government pay 75 cents a day for the care of Federal prisoners at the jail, instead of 60 cents, which is now being paid.

The Federal representatives are opposed to paying any more than 60 cents a day for boarding prisoners. It was pointed out that the county has spent nearly $100,000 in improvements at the jail during the last year and it was thought that it would only be fair for the Federal Government to bear a part of the expense.

As no agreement could be reached, the commissioners placed the matter in the hands of the county attorney to make a report on the legal status of the controversy.

FINDS WRIGHT NOT GUILTY IN SHOOTING CASE

Judge Collins Discharges Negro Charged With Wounding Sibert.

James Wright, a negro, living at 2033 Cornell avenue, who is alleged to have shot and injured Frank Sibert, another negro, at the Sibert home at 48 South Capitol avenue on Sept. 26 last, today was found not guilty by Judge James A. Collins of Criminal Court.

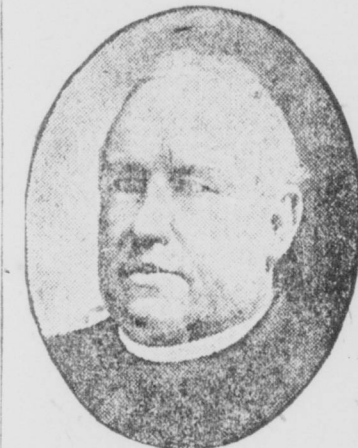

The judge discharged him on a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill Sibert. The State contended that the evidence showed that Wright is a brother of Mrs. Sibert and following a quarrel, Sibert ordered Wright from the place. It was contended that Sibert closed and locked the door in Wright's face and that Wright knocked the door down, obtained his revolver and shot Sibert in the stomach. Sibert recovered. There was some evidence pertaining to an alleged exchanging of blows between the two men prior to the shooting.

Walter Easterday, Lawrence, Ind., was found not guilty on a charge of issuing fraudulent checks. In the case of Elmer C. Addison, charged with issuing fraudulent checks, the court sustained a plea in abatement at Addison. He was discharged.

Although John Price entered a plea of guilty to a charge of selling mortgaged property, the court withheld judgment and sentence pending good behavior.

BONDSMEN ARE PUT UNDER BAN BY CITY COURT

Judge Wilmett Determined to Block Mercenary Practice.

Judge Delbert O. Wilmett today took steps to stamp out soliciting for attorneys and bondsmen by "runners" who frequent the turnkey's office and the hallways of the city court room. Special orders were issued by the court and copies were sent to the turnkeys, Samuel Lewis Shank, mayor; member of the city council, the board of public safety, and Herman F. Rikhoof, chief of police.

The orders indicated Judge Wilmett, who has been on the bench of the city court less than one month, already is familiar with the methods used by professional bondsmen, a certain small group of attorneys, and the "runners" for these men. His orders, if carried out, will at least interfere with the wholesale soliciting that has apparently been going on at police headquarters.

It has become customary for "runners" to look at the slate in the turnkey's office, obtain the names of prisoners and then go to another room where this man is given either to a bondsman or an attorney who has been in waiting.

HERE'S HOW SYSTEM WORKS.

The bondsman or attorney immediately goes to the turnkey's office, asks to see the prisoner whose name he has obtained, and when he is permitted to talk to him, his first question is: "Have you any money?" and "How much?" The man with money is taken care of, provided he wishes to spend it. The man without money is "unfortunate," and remains in the cellroom.

Judge Wilmett's order follows: "Records of prisoners in the city prison are not to be shown or divulged to any one, except the mayor, members of the city council, board of public safety, members of the police department, reporters of Indianapolis newspapers, and city court officers."

PRISONER MUST ASK FOR BOND.

"When prisoner is searched and slated, no one is allowed to be present in turnkey's room other than those named. After a prisoner is searched and slated, he is to be asked if he desires to get into communication with any relative, friend, lawyer or bondsman. If he has such desire and furnishes the turnkey with name and telephone number of such person, the turnkey will telephone such person and inform him of the prisoner's desire to see him at the city prison."

"Relatives may be admitted to the city prison to talk to accused."

"Attorneys are to be admitted to the city prison to consult with a prisoner only after being called or employed by said prisoner."

"Bondsman are to be permitted to talk to prisoner only when called for by the accused."

"Loafers and persons having no business in the turnkey's office, are to be excluded therefrom at all times."

SMALL MOTION TO BE TAKEN UP NEXT SATURDAY

Quarantine Keeps Banker Curtis From Court When Hearing Called.

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Jan. 21.—Arguments on motions for separate trials for Governor Len Small and Vernon Curtis, Grant Park banker, charged with conspiracy must be made Jan. 23, Judge Claite C. Edwards ruled today in Lake County Circuit Court.

Because a diphtheria quarantine kept Banker Curtis at home, lawyers for both sides agreed to not battle today, but Assistant Attorney General James H. Wilkerson said A. F. Beaman, of Governor Small's counsel, each denied responsibility for the action.

"This court," said Judge Edwards, "has no desire to spend the time and money of February on this case which already has used up a lot of time. Let the defendants and counsel be here at 9:30 a. m. Saturday. At that time the motion for severance may be made and the defendants arraigned. If Mr. Curtis cannot appear his plea may be entered by counsel and the plea may be made later."

Counsel for the State will oppose separate trials for the two defendants who are accused, with Lieutenant Governor Fred Sterling of conspiracy to get $500,000 of State interest money.

MAN HELD ON CHECK CHARGE

Report From Bank Indicates Signer Had No Funds.

A man giving his name as George Ritchey, 720 North Capital avenue, is being sought by the police for passing an alleged fraudulent check for $17.80 on Karl Wacker, a butcher, at 403 West Washington street. In return for the check Ritchey received $5 in cash and $12.80 worth of meat.

The same man, according to the police, gave Isaac Binger, 234 North Capital avenue, a second hand furniture dealer, a check for $130 for some furniture and asked that it be delivered to the Capital avenue address. He then asked Mr. Binger to cash a check for $3, but he refused.

The Terre Haute, Indianapolis & Eastern Traction Company, according to law, must share the expenses with the State highway commission of repairing a bridge on the national highway near Greenfield, Attorney General U. S. Lesh said today in an opinion to John W. McCarrle, chairman of the public service commission.

The traction company questioned the highway commission's right to require it to pay part of the expense of repairing the bridge and appealed to the public service commission for a ruling.
