ROME, Jan. 23.—The conclave of cardinals to elect a successor to the late Pope Benedict XV will be held Feb. 2, according to the Giornale d'Italia today.

Following out traditional custom, the Vatican physicians removed from the mortal remains of the Pontiff the heart and viscera, to be placed in an alabaster urn which will repose amidst similar urns in the Church of St. Vincent and St. Anastasius.

Masses for the repose of the Holy Father's soul were chanted throughout the morning before an altar in the papal death chamber, the chapel of the Vatican, in the great Cathedral of St. Peter and in all the Catholic churches in Rome.

The burial of Pope Benedict XV, which was to take place this afternoon, was postponed. It is understood it will take place Tuesday or Wednesday.

The mortal remains of the Sovereign Pontiff, dressed in ceremonial death robes, had been borne by noble guards from the papal chamber to the throne room to lie in state. The body was dressed in a white wool gown with red cape, white cassock and stole, white silk sash with gold tassels, white stockings, red shoes and gloves with a white silk cape lined with ermine. The Pontiff wore a ring and gold mitre. There were two circumstances to indicate that a reconciliation between the Vatican and Quirinal may be at hand. Contrary to previous custom, the Italian flag was lowered to half mast on all government buildings. Furthermore, the Italian minister of justice, Signor Rodino, who is himself a Roman Catholic, called at the Vatican officially to present condolences of the Italian government.

The funeral bed, bearing the body, rested at the foot of the throne. The head was raised slightly. About the catafalque were numerous candles, which shed a dim and flickering light over the scene. The bier was sprinkled with holy water while the archbishop of the Vatican, Monsignor Zampini and the accompanying Prelates prayed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—With only the testimony of a half dozen minor witnesses remaining to be heard, the State expects to close its case against Roscoe Arbuckle today.

It is probable the defense will not open until Tuesday.

The case for the defense, according to Gavin McNabb, Arbuckle's chief counsel, will contain no surprises. A few more new witnesses will take the stand, but their testimony will deal only with minor points, he said.

Arbuckle himself probably will take the stand either Wednesday or Thursday.

Announcement today was made by Judge T. J. Moll of Superior Court, Room 3, that the time for filing an appeal bond in the case of J. It was explained that this does not prevent Mr. Hartman from appealing, but now he will have to take a vacation appeal without benefit of illness of one.

It was understood that Mr. Hartman would appeal from the decision of Judge Moll, who had Hartman had disqualified himself to be a candidate for mayor, to issue the mandate as petitioned by Hartman.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 23.—Ten thousand dollars was the amount of bond set today by Judge Homer Hennebarre pending appeal for Stephen A. Bohan, who was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury in Circuit Court here yesterday. This action was taken on the plea of defense attorneys. The verdict followed many hours' deliberation by the jury, whose session was interrupted by illness of one of the jurors. Bohan had been indicted for first degree murder following the shooting of Clarence A. Rawles and the jury verdict was a compromise. The jury urged the mercy of the court.

Mayor Samuel Lewis Shank
Celebrates 50th Birthday

A snow white cake with fifty pink candles sat on the desk before Mayor Samuel Lewis Shank today, the gift of employees of the city assessment bureau in honor of his birthday.

The mayor admired the cake and remarked: "Well, eat that tonight," then turned to his other presents. The one that pleased him most was a box of twelve-inch cigars. He smoked one all day.

The mayor received a number of callers who wished him many happy returns of the day. One woman waited some time in the outer office until she finally told Allen Garnett, the mayor's messenger, that it was her birthday, too. The messenger carried the word to the mayor, who ordered the woman admitted to his private office immediately.

"We aren't keeping anybody like that out today," he said.

No special observance of the event was planned in the Shank household, all plans pointing to the birthday ball in the Marion Club at Tomlinson Hall this evening. A record breaking crowd is expected. Doors will be opened at 7:30 o'clock and the grand march will start at 8:30 o'clock with Mr. and Mrs. Shank leading.

Prayers for Pope Benedict XV will be said at all Catholic Church services in Indianapolis until the day of his funeral, which is the ceremony attended to by the Vatican officials. The funeral was announced at the residence of Bishop Joseph Charrand of the Indianapolis diocese today. Catholic churches all over the city will celebrate the solemn mass until the funeral day. At the bishop's residence it was expected that this will be next Monday.

Official confirmation of news of the death of the Pope was given at practically all Catholic churches Sunday. The altar at St. Peter and Paul cathedral bore a portrait of Benedict XV shrouded in black.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Japan officially served notice upon the powers of the Washington conference today that she will not withdraw her troops from Siberia for the present.

The Japanese position was outlined in a statement made to the full Far East committee, detailing the conditions that prevail in Siberia.

"The Japanese assure the conference they wanted to get out of Siberia, but conditions were such that Japanese life and property would be endangered should they do so. The statement concluded with the promise that the withdrawal would be accomplished at the earliest possible moment."

However, no date, tentative or otherwise, was fixed.

Decisions of grave importance in determining the future of China and Russia and the Japanese policy in the Far East hung in the air at the Washington conference today as the Japanese position was outlined in a statement made to the full Far East committee, detailing the conditions that prevail in Siberia.

1. Announcement of a world policy toward Siberia and the numerous "military republics" of the Far East.

2. Settlement of the Shantung controversy.

3. Consideration of the twenty-one demands through which Japan obtained a grip on two rich Chinese provinces, Manchuria and Mongolia.

Adjustment of the all important question affecting China hinges upon Shantung and the Chinese and Japanese delegates went into session today for the thirty-first time in another effort to reconcile their wholly divergent views.

Meanwhile two important treaties that are to come out of the conference, the five-power naval treaty and the nine-power Chinese treaty, are hanging on the books of indecision, awaiting this week's adjustment of disputed issues.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The election campaign of 1922 opens this week. As is fitting, it begins in pivotal States—Ohio and Indiana. There is no thrilling issue in the bye-elections. Continuance of Republican control of the Senate is a certainty. A greater landslide than that of 1920 would be required to alter the complexion of the House. The interest centers chiefly in the "confidence" of the people in the Harding Administration. There is, furthermore, to be a test of the strength of the radical farm movement in the West and Middle West.

Senator Atlee Pomerene, Democrat, a thinker who bears no tinge of Wilsonism, hope of the Democracy in 1924, he is in Ohio his fight for re-election in the home State of the President on the identical issue which gave him a Senate seat six years ago—excessive expenditures in elections. He led the fight against Senator Newberry. He will to his G. O. P. colleague, Frank R. Willis, to frame a resolution which was at once an acknowledgment of Newberry's wrongdoing but a warning not to let it happen any more. Mr. Pomerene will be opposed, most likely, by the hand-picked candidate of the White House—Walter F. Brown, now serving as chairman of a committee to reorganize the Government. Brown was a Progressive once. He hails from Toledo.

Passage of the ordinance providing $1,000 to help support the relief station operated at 241 North Delaware street by the National Disabled Sailors' League, for the assistance of other patriotic organizations, is expected at a special meeting of the city council tonight.

The ordinance would transfer the money from the amputation and target practice fund of the police department. The council has before it an ordinance authorizing issuance of bonds for the purchase of a site at Alabama and Ohio streets for a new police headquarters and city hall annex building, and soon will have introduced measures for changing traffic methods and for abolishing the old police headquarters building.

Police were today searching for Waldo Raymond De Emery, 27 1/2 North Illinois street, who disappeared Saturday afternoon and of whom no trace has been found since.

De Emery's absence was first reported by his secretary, who advised a loss of less than a month, Sunday afternoon. She said that he had left home Saturday noon and had promised to meet her at the home of her father, Wilbur Paulley, thirty-second street, at seven o'clock that evening, but had failed to keep the engagement.

Mrs. De Emery, who married the missing man on Jan. 6, said that when her husband left he had more than $200 in cash and several valuable diamonds with him.

According to the father-in-law, Mr. Paulley, De Emery possessed a license in the Chicago University showing that he was graduated in the law class there in June, 1921. Since coming to Indianapolis, however, he said, the young man has been engaged in the shoe polish man's manufacturing business on North Illinois street.

Special to Indiana Daily Times and Philadelphia Public Ledger.
By COL. EDWARD M. HOUSE.
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23.—There are few things more necessary to a better understanding between nations and to the maintenance of peace than a universal language to be used in international commerce and diplomacy.

This has been one of the dreams of the centuries, and has been linked with such other dreams as general disarmament and an association of nations.

The great war has accelerated interest in all these measures, and plans for their realization are well under way. We are familiar with what is being done toward the limitation of armaments and the league of nations, but we have less of and know but little of what is being done toward a common tongue.

As to the need of a universal language, no one doubts who has had part in international conferences. Although the peace conference was held in Paris, English was the dominant language among the directing heads at that gathering. This came about naturally and not by design, although both French and English were used in the negotiations and in the official text of the proceedings.

The peace was made largely by the United States, Great Britain and France because they were the dominating factors among the victors, and Clemenceau, France's great spokesman, knows English as well as his own French, while the English was the only language the spokesmen for the United States and Great Britain, with few exceptions, could speak. Every one familiar with that conference knows how much Orlando, the Italian prime minister, was handicapped because of his inability to communicate with his English and American colleagues except through an interpreter.

At Washington it is the French who have the upper hand. There was no one among the delegates who could speak English could (Continued on Page Fifteen.)

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Executives of the sixteen so-called standard unions, which include a majority of the railroad employees, met in joint session here today to discuss the railroad situation and the methods of procedure to be adopted. All the executives were here except W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

One of the chief topics under discussion was the advisability of asking rehearings of the wage cut decisions of the United States railway board with a view to revisions. The working rules also were strenuously objected to by several organizations, notably the shop crafts.

The board announced sweeping changes in war-time working agreements. No overtime will be paid the above classes of employees until after nine hours' work, which has been the case for some time, but a half will not be paid until after the ninth hour.

The railroads also were authorized to employ men on "split" tickets, in which case, workers can be employed intermittently during any eight of twelve hours instead of working eight consecutive hours.

The three members of the board, representing the carriers, dissented because it was not decided to pay overtime after ten hours instead of nine.

Union officials refused comment pending study of the decision.

In actual times it was estimated the ruling will save the roads $50,000,000 a year.

SAYS U. S. MUST AID FARMER IF NATION'S
BUSINESS TO SURVIVE*President Harding Opens National Agricultural Conference at Washington—
400 Delegates in Attendance.*WARNS FAILURE MEANS DISASTER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Agriculture must be lifted from the chaotic depths of imminent disaster and placed firmly on a thriving basis by governmental aid, if industrial and commercial America is to survive.

President Harding gave the Nation this warning here today in opening the national agriculture conference, called by the Executive to effect adoption of a definite Federal policy of encouraging the farmer.

The farmer, "in his hour of disaster," is entitled to every support and assistance the Government can give him, the President declared to four hundred delegates gathered here from all over the country for one of the most important conferences ever held in the National Capitol.

"If we fail him, we will precipitate a disaster that will affect every industry and commercial activity of the Nation," the President asserted.

IMMEDIATE ACTION NECESSARY, HE SAYS.

The Government must do everything possible to ameliorate the "critical condition" of agriculture and its action must be immediate, the president warned. Greater financial aid, he said, should be extended to the farmer, transportation facilities, land and water must be extended to meet farming needs and every practical proposal for watering arid lands, for reclamation, cuts in taxes and for protecting fertile valleys from inundation, should be given full encouragement.

"All this," said the President, "should be a part of recognized permanent policy. Not otherwise will it be possible to keep the Nation self-supporting and as nearly self-contained as it has been in the past.

Speaking in the ballroom of the New Willard Hotel the President told the delegates, men and women,
