

Making Both Ends Meet On an $1,800 Salary

requires careful planning and intelligent spending in these days of high living costs. It can be done, however, with the help of a family or individual budget. A budget is a plan for spending and saving which helps to check leaks and wasteful spending.

If you are finding it difficult to get along on a salary of $150 a month our Home Economics Bureau is at your service and will be glad to help you work out a practical budget to meet your requirements in spending your income.
