

TWO QUESTIONS TO BE SOLVED BY PARK BOARD

Federal Use of Boulevards and Doubled Salaries From City in Dispute.

CHANGES GOLF COURSE

Two important questions of policy faced the board of park commissioners today. They are:

Shall United States mail trucks be permitted to use the city's boulevards when all other heavy traffic is prohibited?

Shall persons drawing salaries as school teachers be permitted to draw salaries as employees of the park department?

Uncle Sam has no more right to violate the regulation forbidding truck traffic on boulevards than any other heavy vehicle owner in the opinion of President Charles A. Bookwater of the board, who expressed himself thus when a request that the mail trucks be permitted to run over the restricted highways was received from Postmaster Robert H. Bryson. Mayor Samuel Lewis Shank agreed. The matter was referred to J. Clyde Hoffman, attorney for the board, for report at the next meeting and it was suggested that Postmaster Bryson have a representative present to tell why he wants mail trucks to be given the special privilege.

"One of the things this board must face is that the boulevards have gotten into very bad shape," said R. Walter Jarvis, superintendent of parks. "We are going to put them in shape of course, but we have got to protect them. Besides I'm thinking about the treatment we got from the Federal authorities when we wanted to put a Christmas tree out in front of the Federal building not long ago. They wouldn't let us do it. I'm in favor of reciprocity."

The question of paying city salaries to those drawing pay from the school city arose when Mayor Shank requested that Miss Alice Mesall, assistant director of recreation for the past three years, be dismissed by the board. Miss Mesall is a teacher in the public schools. She gives part of her time to the recreation department in the winter, directing activities in the community centers and the city recreation workers' school at the Lauer Memorial and all of her time in the summer.

Mr. Jarvis came to the defense of Miss Mesall, saying that she "is the best in the United States" and that Cleveland, Chicago and Cincinnati have been trying to take her away from Indianapolis. Mayor Shank said he did not question the ability of Miss Mesall but was concerned merely with whether or not the park department has a legal right to pay a salary to some one getting pay from the taxpayers from another source.

Mr. Jarvis remarked that to raise such a question very likely "will hit people in other departments." The mayor did not care if it did. He wanted the question settled once and for all. The matter was referred to Mr. Hoffman.

City Controller Joseph L. Hogue, recently announced that he was going to try to find some way of eliminating the practice of putting city employees on two or three pay rolls so as to increase their salaries. He said some employees get money from as high as three funds.

When it was reported that the ground of the Ellenberger heirs upon which part of the present Ellenberger golf course is located can not be leased again this summer because it is being platted into city lots and when a committee from the Ellenberger Golf Club, which is made up mostly of Irvington players, made a plea for new facilities, the board, with Mayor Shank's approval, instructed Superintendent Jarvis to put some of the men on the city's needy unemployed list to work developing a new nine hole course on the Disette property east of Ellenberger park, recently purchased by the city. The course is to be ready for play in the early spring.

A request of the committee that the fine house on the Disette tract be turned down for the time being, President Bookwater and Mayor Shank expressing the feeling that the city has no right to spend the $5,000 a year which would be necessary to maintain it when there is such a crying need for playgrounds in many of the closely built up neighborhoods. The committee acquiesced, asserting it was glad to get the promise of the new course.

It was stated that the new course can be developed for the same amount as would be required to renew the lease on the Ellenberger property, were that possible.
