Highways and By-Ways of Lil' Ol' New York

(Copyright, 1922, by the Public Ledger Company.)

By RAYMOND CARROLL.

NEW YORK, March 17.—With three of his so-called "bedroom farces" playing to capacity at New York theaters, "Ladies' Night" and "Getting Gertie's Sixth" in the Broadway district—Al H. Woods, theatrical manager, has become a public speech, also named Woods at a man who was riding the theater into the center of the uprising against the present of fifth on the stage. Not only have the clergy named Woods as the prime offender against decency, but the center of the uprising against the present of fifth on the stage. Not only have the clergy named Woods as the prime offender against decency, but the center of the uprising against the present of fifth on the stage. Not only have the clergy named Woods as the prime offender against decency, but the center of the uprising against the present of fifth on the stage.

Who is Al H. Woods? The answer is here in New York, the story of a poor boy who came out of the great east side to meet Woods and talk with his is to fall under the spell of his engaging personality. He is a good friend, and quoting Abe Bernstein, secretary of the Grand Street Boys' Association, "his hand is always in his pocket to help the least fortunate."

And, further, he has not always been a producer of fifth—but he is getting ahead of our tale. Al H. Woods began his theatrical career some thirty years ago as a writer in Harry Miner's Lion Theater on the Bowery, then the home of farce and burlesque. It is not illogical for a theatrical manager to start as an author. Years ago, when the Lion Theater was a theater in the name, and more recently we have Earl Carroll, who served a similar theatrical apprenticeship in a Pittsburgh theater, the Bowery when he was getting his start in life.

U. S. to Bill Allies for Army in Germany

WASHINGTON, March 17.—A note from the United States Government to this country's claims for payment of $200,000,000 to meet the cost of the American Army's occupation in Germany, will be dispatched to the allied powers shortly. It is understood here. This note will present the American claim directly to the powers. Identical notes probably will be sent to the French, British and Italian governments by Secretary of State Hughes, it was indicated.

IOWA FEELS BETTER AND SHAKES LEG

money in the State. The effect in restored confidence has been immediate and striking. The present new attitude of mind, the recovery, began along in January and is progressing. The farmer feels with the banker and business men is now out of the hole, and this year he can make a long stride forward toward paying his debts, and next year he will see really good times, as in the old before-the-war days. This new feeling and buoyancy is manifested in a thousand ways.

Iowa produces not only corn and hogs and dairy products, but securities of agriculture and successful farm journals. These farm journals are in direct contact with the farmer and rise and fall with him. They are a powerful force in advertising patronage. They are getting back to normal size. The advertisers say their announcements are bringing them, not prospects, but customers. One national bank president said:

"If I could be granted for ten years the present condition and situation of feeding corn at 45 cents a bushel to hogs that fetch a price of 10 cents, I would leave the banking business tomorrow."

The daily papers are full of such little items as these.

"The Ames Canning Company, tide last season, will work to full capacity this season."

"A dairy at Nevada is making $50,000 worth of improvements."

"Forty Poland China hogs at Webster City averaged $49.25 and the average for a Poland China sale at Tipton was $22.80."

"A hundred and thirty grade Holstein cows sold at Marshalltown for an average of $131.75."

"Mitchell will build a $50,000 school-house and a $100,000 power plant."

"Corn sold in the crib at Charles City for 52 cents."

In a homely way of speaking, Iowa is recovering its old head. The head is contracted as a result of a Januare the whole State went on in 1919 and 1920. First, there came a great speculative stock selling campaign. All sorts of companies were organized. It is estimated the farmers lost $100,000,000 or more in this adventure, and there are persons here now who say the State is out-of-gear and out-of-line by just about

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed With Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantage of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances the beauty of your hair.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully. Besides, no one can possibly tell it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the hair will appear; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger—Advertise.

the amount of the losses sustained in these wild speculations.

This was followed by a great boom in farm land values which had to work out in course of time. Then came a period of deflation and falling prices for farm products, which ended in the freight and depression of October and November. At this moment the State is visibly out of the black hole of despondency and on its way to normal times. The people are up and cheerful again. They have rid themselves of the megrims and the blues and the state of mind that made them see everything in dark colors. Iowa is all right again and on the road to normalcy, which means her usual fitness and prosperity.—Copyright, 1922, by Public Ledger Company.
