

TYPHOID FEVER SAID TO SHOW UPWARD TREND

Indianapolis Has Second Highest Death Rate, According to Chart.

Typhoid fever is on a slightly upward curve in Indianapolis, a chart showing the variations in the death rate a hundred thousand of population each year for the last twenty-two years, prepared by Tom Johnson, chief clerk of the board of public health. The rate in 1919 dropped to the lowest point in Indianapolis has ever had, 4.54 deaths. In 1920 it climbed to 6.30 and in 1921 rose to 7.07. The chart shows, however, typhoid has not been nearly so deadly an enemy of Indianapolis citizens in the last ten years as it was in the preceding decade. In the ten years ending with 1911, an average of 33.28 persons out of each hundred thousand of population died from typhoid each year. In the ten years ending with 1921, the average annual rate was 12.99. A remarkable decrease in the rate is shown in the past five years over the five years preceding. In the half-decade ending with 1916, the average annual rate was 19.35. From 1917 to 1921, inclusive, the average annual rate was 6.61.

EPIDEMIC HIT CITY IN 1919

A severe typhoid epidemic struck the city in 1919. The rate for that year was 23.26. The epidemic stirred the city health department to action, and the next year the rate dropped to 8.96 and has not been above seven since until 1921. The epidemic of 1919 was traced chiefly to typhoid being carried in milk from the home of a producer who was a member of the family had the disease and to bathing in Fall Creek. The health department took steps to prevent the recurrence of either of these causes and also immunized hundreds of people. While the rate is nothing to compare with what it was ten years ago, Indianapolis has the second highest in the country in which more of its population, per 100,000 died in 1921 than Indianapolis. The rate was 8, as compared with the national 7.07.

SAYS HIGH DEATH RATE IS UNNECESSARY.

"Indianapolis might just as well have a typhoid rate of one or two," said Dr. Herman G. Morgan, secretary of the board of public health. "On the other hand, conditions are such any time the rate might shoot up to twenty-five or thirty-six, as it did in 1919. When we have the number of open vaults we have in Indianapolis, we can have an epidemic of alarming proportions at any time. The only way we can keep it down is to keep the city clean and healthy. At all times, the city means seventy-five loads of night soil a day are hauled through the streets of Indianapolis and dumped on Solers Farm. When this city is properly cared, covered and homes equipped with sanitary arrangements for disposing of filth we shall not have to worry about typhoid epidemics. Until then we shall always be on the anxious seat."

GROCERS HEAR SHOW REPORTS

Vaudeville to Be Feature of Food Exposition.

A meeting of Indianapolis grocers with the various committees having the food show in charge was held last night at the Chamber of Commerce and reports were heard regarding the progress of the show for the exposition to be held in the season of 1922.

Various special attractions have been planned by the program committee, including a women's orchestra, a woman vaudeville soloist and several other vaudeville acts which will be shown nightly. In addition, the committee has arranged to provide for free dancing at certain hours during the evening, and a baby show which the public will judge through a system of voting. On the final night, a sweepstakes prize will be awarded to the baby adjudged best.

The committee announced it was not ready to report concerning the assigning of guest nights for the various civic and fraternal organizations of the city. The first night will be grocers' night and the Saturday night following will be given over to the commercial travelers. Other organizations will be assigned special evenings, the committee said.

J. W. Dean, manager of the show, said practically all the display space had been assigned. Some of the booths, he said, would be works of art and would cost several hundred dollars. Most of the food product manufacturers of the city will have displays and demonstrations.

Excursion Season of C. I. & W. Opens May 7

The Cincinnati, Indianapolis & Western Railroad today announced that its Sunday excursion season will open May 7. The road will operate excursions to Shelby, Ind., for the benefit of visitors to Turkey Run, and Decatur, Ill., every Sunday. An excursion train will go to Cincinnati, May 7, and every other Sunday thereafter during the season.

Would Give Legion Post Disette Home

Mayor Samuel Lewis Shank said today he favors giving the Disette residence, acquired recently in the purchase of the Disette estate northwest of Irvington by the board of park commissioners to the Irvington post of the American Legion as a clubhouse. The park board has been puzzled what to do with the house, which is a mansion in type, ever since it came into possession of the city. Part of it will be used as a shelter for golfers who use the new course, being laid out in surrounding fields.

The mayor and Mrs. Shank attended a dance given by the Irvington post in the house last evening.

RETAIL MEN OF STATE INVITED TO CONVENTION

Chamber of Commerce to Conduct Better Business Exposition March 29.

Announcement was made today by John B. Reynolds, general secretary of the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce, of the program of the better business convention, an exposition of short cuts and money saving stunts in business, which will be held in the Lincoln Hotel all day March 29, under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce. Announcements of the convention inviting the retail merchants from all over Indiana have been put in the mails by the chamber.

Featuring the convention will be Fred P. Mann of Devils Lake, N. D., a merchant whose retail achievements have been heralded the length and breadth of the land. Mr. Mann, according to members of the staff of the Chamber of Commerce, is a merchant in a town of 6,000. In 1921, in the face of business depression, he sold more merchandise than in 1920. Despite the size of the town his total gross business was more than a half million dollars.

Mr. Mann has a message for the year based on his 1921 experience which, according to the Chamber of Commerce, will be well worth while for every retail merchant in Indiana to hear.

The program for the convention is as follows:

10:00 A. M.—Welcome and explanatory remarks by O. B. Iles, president, Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce.

10:15 A. M.—Why 1922 Promises Better Business to Those Organizations who make the Most of Their Opportunities. Dick Miller, president, City Trust Company, Indianapolis.

11:00 A. M.—Printers' Talk—The Salesman's View. J. H. Miller, president, City Trust Company, Indianapolis.

11:30 A. M.—Direct Advertising Corporation, Indianapolis.

12:00 Noon—Luncheon: "How to Increase Your Sales in 1922," by Fred P. Mann.

2:30 P. M. to 3:30 P. M.—Viewing exhibits of those office short-cuts most universally used in modern stores and offices—the Addressograph, Adding and Duplicating Machines, and Cash Register—which will be exhibited at the end of the meeting.

8:00 P. M. to 9:30 P. M.—Smoker. Mr. Mann, chairman. Questions and individual business problems of merchants and doctors who attend will be discussed and suggestions for solution considered.

Local Jewish Fund Drive on Tonight

The drive to obtain $20,000 in subscriptions in Indianapolis for the Palestine foundation fund will open here tonight with a mass meeting at the Masonic Temple, Illinois and North streets. Dr. Nahum Sokolow, chairman of the executive committee of the world Zionist organization, and Colonel Patterson, D. S. O., who was in command of Jewish troops in Palestine during the World War, will be speakers at the evening.

The campaign is in charge of Professor B. B. Burg, executive director of the fund for Indiana.

Skin Eruptions Fade Away

Kloria ends itching, dandruff, boils, and other infections. Soothes and heals like magic. Free trial—test it.

ONE trial of Kloria for almost any skin disease will show you results never before thought possible. The way it stamps out barber's itch, eczema, and other skin diseases, almost challenges belief. The way it soothes irritation, itching scalp or itching anywhere, is truly amazing. For dandruff, simply wet the scalp a few times, and the trouble disappears; harmless to the hair. This is the new and wonderful antiseptic, discovered in the world war, which, by scientific test, is over 40 times more germ-destroying than carbolic acid. This great germicidal power is what makes it so effective.

Yet Kloria is not poisonous, doesn't burn or irritate, is soothing, pleasant, and safe.

Test Kloria on a boil or open sore. Notice how it destroys the pus infection, ends the soreness and heals with magic quickness. For cuts and burns, it insures quicker, cleaner healing than iodine or any old-time antiseptic or salve. As a mouth-wash, it destroys the acid-forming bacteria, thus preventing tooth-decay. As a gargle, see how quickly it relieves sore throat and canker sores. Apply it to sore, bleeding gums (pyorrhea), and see if the soreness and bleeding do not disappear in one week. Harmless, yet more effective than poisonous antiseptics for personal hygiene.

Dissolve a few Kloria Tablets in water, and instantly you have, at a cost of a few cents, a large bottle of liquid antiseptic which is clean, colorless, stainless and virtually odorless.

All druggists. 50c. Money refunded if not satisfied.

Free Sample A sample of Kloria, enough for a convincing test, will be gladly sent free. Write for it. The results will be a revelation.

DR. ALEY TELLS STUDENTS NOT TO DIE ON '3D'

Uses Baseball Term to Drive Home Meaning in Address at Bloomington.

Special to The Times.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., March 22.—Education should be the first ideal of every college and university, said Dr. Robert Judson Aley, president of Butler College, speaking at Indiana University convocation exercises here today on the subject, "College Ideals."

Dr. Aley also addressed the Bloomington Rotary Club and the pupils of Bloomington High School.

"The college was founded for the purpose of education," said Dr. Aley. "Education has permitted it to live, and if the college is to take its place as a necessity of life in the future, it must continue its first function—education."

"The successful college should provide a retreat for scholars," Dr. Aley continued, "where those who wish to devote their time and talents to study may do so, and also where education may be advanced as it cannot be advanced in secondary schools."

"Progress, individually or nationally, comes only after hard work, usually the price paid in work is greater than the price value of the result. But success in little things leads to astounding success later. Sometimes about a college one hears of a high grade as being 'accidental' or 'lucky.' Nothing worth-while in life is just accidental or lucky. Permanent things don't just happen. The reward comes to the faithful, and this is just as true inside college as out."

"I cannot estimate the value of friendship gained in college. The rewards of friendship often do not appear until years after the friendship was first established, but a true friend is as valuable an asset to a man or woman as a college education. Friends are encouraged in an ideal college. They are the keystone of human and social relationship."

Financing education was Dr. Aley's subject at the Rotary Club meeting. In this address he took up the costs of public and secondary education, as well as those of colleges and universities.

"The only way to American prosperity that education proceed," urged Dr. Aley. "Let us not, in our worthy efforts to reduce public expenses, deprive education of appropriations, every cent of which it needs. I can think of nothing more fatal ultimately to American democracy and intellectual supremacy than to reduce education."

"We will feature a modern slaughterhouse as part of our exhibit," said Dr. R. C. Julien, State veterinarian, in announcing plans for his exhibit. "If we can forcibly convey to the public the knowledge of the unnumbered measures taken to protect them in controlling the preparation of meat, we may contribute in some small manner to the success of the general plan to urge the people of our State to live a little longer. By means of specimens we will show clearly the effect of bovine tuberculosis upon meat producing animals and we will indicate clearly the methods in use for controlling and eliminating, as far as possible, this disease among livestock."

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in the throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply of milder cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste. Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

MUSKRAT TRAP KILLS WOMAN

Body of Female Trapper, 72, Is Found, Revealing Tragic Death.

ALGONAC, Mich., March 22.—Hours of torture in which Mrs. Joseph Sears, 72, trapper, struggled against a muskrat trap which held her in two feet of mud and water, were revealed with the finding of the woman's body in the flats here. One of her own traps had snared her, and a boat, from which she was baiting it, tipped over and floated away.

For at least five hours the woman floundered in the icy water and mud. To extricate herself she attempted to bite off her right wrist near where the steel trap gripped her. Unable to stand up, she lay on her back, her head in the water, her right arm propped up, she remained in the stooping position until the cold air and icy water drove her into a frenzied fight in which she almost tore off her clothing from her back. So firm was the grip of the vice-like trap, all her struggles only forced her deeper into the mire. Her body was half submerged in mud when found.

Death was due to cold and exposure, the coroner's office ruled.

Body of Female Trapper, 72, Is Found, Revealing Tragic Death.

ALGONAC, Mich., March 22.—Hours of torture in which Mrs. Joseph Sears, 72, trapper, struggled against a muskrat trap which held her in two feet of mud and water, were revealed with the finding of the woman's body in the flats here. One of her own traps had snared her, and a boat, from which she was baiting it, tipped over and floated away.

For at least five hours the woman floundered in the icy water and mud. To extricate herself she attempted to bite off her right wrist near
