the local Keith theatres, the week will be made memorable by the beginning of such activities. Constructive plans for philanthropy, business or patriotic work will be outlined by leaders in such activities, and local singers and instrumentalists will give jubilee programs in the Keith theaters which now are at their disposal for such admirable uses, as no cost to them and with the complete cooperation of the Keith staffs.

"Third of a Century" anniversary week is intended to celebrate the public service record of Keith vaudeville and its community value, even more than its achievements as an amusement business. President E. F. Albee of the Keith vaudeville circuit some years ago foresaw a widening field of unselfish utility for the theaters under his direction, and with the coming of Keith vaudeville, every city began a systematic campaign to induce musical, dancing and civic betterment organizations to make use of the Keith theaters free of charge and at hours not conflicting with the regular performances.

The "Third of a Century" anniversary will be a red letter week in the history of vaudeville in America.
