

SCHEDULES OF GARBAGE TRAIN TO BE CHANGED

Head of Sanitation Department Announces New Collection Time.

NORTH SIDE IS FIRST

Change in the garbage collection schedule for the entire north half of the city, effective Monday morning at 7 o'clock, were announced today by Truly Nolan, superintendent of sanitation, for the board of sanitary commissioners.

On Mondays and Thursdays garbage trains will collect in all territory north of Fall Creek, east of White River.

On Tuesdays and Fridays trains will work in a district bounded by Fall Creek on the north, Thirtieth street from White River to Commerce avenue and Pogue Run thence to the east city limits on the south, White River on the west and the city limits on the east.

Collections on Wednesdays and Saturdays will be made in the district bounded by Thirtieth street on the north, White River on the west, the Lake Erie and Western Railroad tracks on the east and Georgia street on the south.

Present schedules will be continued in all other parts of the city until eighteen new trailers and one new tractor truck are bought by the board, when new east and new southwest districts will be organized.

Trains will start collecting at 7 instead of 8 o'clock in the morning in the new districts.

BALDY OF NOME DIES; ONLY DOG, BUT GOOD PAL

BERKELEY, Cal., April 22.—Baldy of Nome has crossed trails' end, but he has left behind a sermon for men to read and heed; he has left an epic of dogdom. In the Northland code of Baldy and his clan were written large these traits: selfless courage, unswerving purpose, eternal faithfulness and pride of clan.

His code knew no defeat, but death, and so the most famous of Alaskan sled dogs is finally beaten.

They have buried him under a rose bush in the yard of his sled driver, "Scotty" Allen. Over the little mound hung Baldy's service flag with its twenty-six stars, a star for each of the shaggy sons he sent to the great war.

Only a dog—yet the news that he has gone on his last march has traveled from the white silence of the Arctic, that once was his home, to the Swiss Alps, where the survivors of his line live on pension of the French government.

Only a dog—yet, when his driver fell in Alaska snows during race he was heart and brain to stop, swerve in his track and lift to the sled the injured man.

No other dog had ever been able to lead his team in seven successive races across the 418-mile course of the Alaska sweepstakes.

The mainstay puppy pet of a small boy, he was sold into the dog racing stables of Darling & Allen, once of Nome, to become the greatest sled dog of all time.

After his victories his owners brought him home. His fame traveled far and when the war came, Rene Hans of the French army traveled 10,000 miles to get for war service sons of Baldy's line.

From the Alps came some months later the story of how a dog team, after climbing precipitous mountains with munitia, came into camp without a driver. A German bullet had found the sled.

But the dog leader knew that it was his duty to carry on and reach the isolated regiment. Where did they find such a dog? A son of Baldy of Nome, of course!

It was Baldy that Jack London used as the composite type of his dog heroes, and one day a tombstone is to be placed over Baldy's grave and on it will be inscribed these lines from a poem written to him by Esther Birdsell Darling:

"My eyes grow dim, but I seem to see The wastes where the Arctic winds blow free
They say when the breath of a dog is done
That he and the clay of his grave are one;
Alas, I say, for there is no end
So long as he lives in the heart of a friend."

Arbuckle Must Be Star or Nothing, Says His Manager

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 22.—If Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle goes back into pictures it will be as a star and not as a director, if Joseph M. Schenck, financial chieftain and producer of Arbuckle pictures, has anything to say about it. At least that was the expression of Schenck today following a conference with his Western manager, Lou Anger, and Arbuckle.

Other than to express himself as believing Arbuckle's ban from the screen was only temporary, and "he would be given every chance to return to the screen as a star," coupled with the fact that Hay's ruling against Arbuckle was a great surprise to him, Schenck had no comment to make on the case.

KANSAS CO-EDS FLAP NOT

LAWRENCE, Kan., April 20.—Winkers and wearers of high heels! The ban has been put on them for all time, as far as the Women's Student Government Association of Kansas University is concerned.

A fashion show was held recently and live models posed in all sorts of gowns. Then the girls passed on them.

And now—
Can a co-ed wear high heels?
No, sire!
Can she wink?

LATIN AMERICAN WOMEN HOLDING CENTER OF STAGE

no heppened husbands and women are respected and revered. In Uruguay, it is still a disgrace for any well born woman to earn money. She must live in idleness on her relatives.

Only in Chile and in Peru does the situation seem comparable with the United States, and there the social welfare legislation seems to have been taken to it in many respects.

The young woman who gets up when Chile is called for is as pretty as her name is picturesque—Senorita Graciela Mandujano. She is in her twenties, olive-skinned and dark hair, matching the black taffeta dress, which, however, shows her neck and arms. And there is a wide black belt and jet earrings to complete the picture of Spanish-American.

She journeyed from far off Santiago as the official delegate appointed by the Chilean government, but she has a record of having earned her way through Columbia University.

She hesitates charmingly over a word now and then, but we are being treated to much less perfect English. For instance, the Columbian delegate, Mme. De Coronado, spoke of families of from twelve to twenty-four as "long." Instead of "large."

Some of the delegates don't attempt English at all but ripple away in musical Spanish and that is why Mrs. Concha Romero James, the official translator, is so greatly appreciated. Her presence was an act of courtesy and generosity by the national hosts.

However, the Latin-Americans usurped the day, the United States more than held its own in Mrs. Joseph T. Bowdell of Chicago, appointed official delegate by President Harding.

On the morning topic Mrs. Bowen declared the League of Women Voters was best able to put through necessary legislation for women in industry. She said if they managed the "most powerful lobby in Washington," as charged by Congresswoman Alice Robertson, they ought to be proud of it. She said the women who led in suffrage ought to lead women to their proper place in political affairs. In the afternoon she rose when the United States was called upon and urged the women to close the cabaret.

"We have closed the houses of prostitution and now the cabarets are manufacturing prostitutes," was the charge, widely applauded.

Two surprises of the day were Mme. Charles Dube, official delegate from Haiti, and Mrs. Emeline Pinkham, who was discovered sitting next to Mrs. Catt, in back of the platform.

Mme. Dube might have been one of our own color-mixed women from Mississippi, but spoke in perfect French and made some of the most pungent remarks of the morning session. She was educated in Paris and is now a teacher in Port-au-Prince.

She declared the role of woman in the world was called upon and urged the women to close the cabarets.

Mrs. Bankhurst, who now makes her home in Toronto, came to the representative of the committee to combat venereal disease. She is now interested in social hygiene and was given the courtesy of the floor for three minutes. She said it was now the duty of women to make the world safe for maternity.

Others speaking briefly to expose the point of view of the United States were Mrs. Raymond Robbins, Bascom Johnson and Dr. M. J. Exner.

Dr. Stepanek, minister to the United States from Czechoslovakia, brought greetings from the women of that country. Tomorrow's sessions are expected to be interrupted if not disrupted by the arrival of Lady Astor, who is awaited from New York in the afternoon.

G. O. P. SHAKES LEG AND TAKES UP 'BONUS' TASK

Aroused by Democrats' Plan to Make Political Issue of Soldiers' Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The spring drive of the soldier "bonus" bill was launched today in the Senate.

Finance Committee Republicans met in Senator McCumber's office to map out a program, the object of which is to be the final enactment of "bonus" legislation by early summer. They were determined to set at rest immediately reports that the "bonus" would be allowed to become a political football in Congress to be kicked back and forth in partisan debate without any real progress being made.

The Republicans have been fully aroused to the threat of Democratic leaders to take over the "bonus" legislation as a Democratic campaign asset. Accordingly Republicans are now determined that they will meet the bonus squarely action without delay and with consequence whatever they may be. They are determined the "bonus" will not impose new taxes on the people at this time. It must, however, carry the means for paying the former service men entitled to its benefits.

PANTS NEEDED; MEDAL IS DUE

Hunter Hanna Rescued Kitten in Rat and Mice Drive.

DEFIANCE, Ohio, April 22.—The solons of Brimburg, village of two dozen houses, a mile from here, which was razed by the 1920 cyclone and which since provided two kidnapping sensations and an auto bus wreck, are debating whether to award a Charles Hanna the brass medal for bravery, as originally planned, or to present him the new pair of pants he requested.

Hanna was in the midst of the annual rat-and-mice hunt when Ora Gregg's kitten was observed on one of the cross-arms of a thirty-six-foot telegraph pole. After several of the village acrobats had made futile efforts to climb a greased pole, Hanna dropped his rat-hunting implements and soon was at the top of the pole, where he rescued the chora of the populace.

But coming down he caught his trousers on a nail. He swung frantically, while women spectators looked on the other way. It is reported that Hanna appropriated a nearby barrel in order to reach home.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep regular. Try them, 10c and 50c.—Advertisement.

SPENT HALF HER TIME IN BED

Farmer's Wife Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her a Well Woman

Carters Creek, Tenn.—"Three years ago I was almost an invalid. I spent half of my time in bed, being afflicted with a trouble which women of a certain age are apt to have. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am a well woman now and have been for two years. I can work as well as any one who is younger and as I am a farmer's wife I have plenty to do for I cultivate my own garden, raise many chickens and do my own housework. You may publish this letter as I am ready to do anything to help women as I have been so well and happy since my troubles are past."—Mrs. E. T. GALLOWAY, Carters Creek, Tenn.

Most women find plenty to do. If they are upset with some female ailment and troubled with such symptoms as Mrs. Galloway had, the smallest duty seems a mountain. If you find it hard to keep up, if you are nervous and irritable, without ambition and out of sorts generally, give the Vegetable Compound a trial.
