

BETTERMENT IS SOCIETY'S AIM, SAYS RALSTON

"The prime object of society is to better man's condition and the prime object of a commercial body should be to aid society in the consummation of its objects," Samuel M. Ralston told members of the Kiwanis Club and their guests at a luncheon today in the Riley Room at the Claypool Hotel. The power for advancement of civic interests by organizations of the character of the Kiwanis Club he declared unlimited. No reference was made to politics by Mr. Ralston, who is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator and the third aspirant to speak before the Kiwanis Club.

Inspection of public works, encouragement of local industry and interest in good government were pointed out by Mr. Ralston as things which need the attention of the Kiwanis Club and similar organizations.

"When the laws are not enforced the evil resulting therefrom soon brings trouble to the community. It soon affects the business of the community and the private life of the people. The great British statesman, Burke, declared that there never was a corrupt government of a virtuous people. That was his way of saying a people could not be corrupt and virtuous at the same time. His declaration is as true today as it was when he uttered it, but a people professing to desire free government must understand that sooner or later free government will perish, if they do not stand for clean government.

"I think that it is safe to take it for granted that your organization is most familiar with the history of Indianapolis and its present condition and that it has not failed to make a survey of its future possibilities. Therefore, I do not hope to be a burden upon you, but I hope to be a help to you in the future. I am sure that you have not already given or are giving the consideration it merits. Even if this be true, however, no harm can come from my mentioning the possibilities of your organization.

"I know I do not have to point to a body like this that the welfare of Indianapolis depends largely upon railroads, factories and mills. You have, know, considered these and similar factors, essential to community welfare, but I would have you not overlook the fact that the heart of the city lies in the things beyond these.

"This is not the occasion for preaching, but it must not be forgotten in considering the public welfare, that in the past analysis, in the long run, good morals are as essential to a successful community life as to a successful individual life. There can be no permanent prosperity anywhere if the primary virtues of honesty and honor are violated; for these high virtues and the homely ones of industry and moderation lie at the very base of all true civilization and they cannot be ignored without paying the price of ultimate disaster.

"Your organization has a wide field in which to operate. It is not only under obligations to secure, if it can, industrial enterprises for Indianapolis but it also has a duty to perform in seeing that local industries have the friendship and support of the community. It frequently happens that an unjust clamor goes up against a legitimate industry. It frequently happens that such an industry is not given the local financial aid and support it deserves and that that may be given to it without hazarding the interest of any one.

"A few years ago a gentleman of wealth and wide business experience told me of a certain city losing an industry because it could not get the local financial assistance it desired. In less than two years after this industry was helped to its feet in another State it brought into the city of its new location fifty thousand. But few can comprehend the value of such an industry to a community."

TAKES KIDDIES TO SEE MOVIE WITHOUT LEAVE

Miss Alexander Said to Have Opposed Wishes of School Board.

DISregarding a resolution of the board of school commissioners adopted last night, in direct opposition of the expressed wishes of the instruction committee of the board and without asking or obtaining the consent of E. U. Graff, superintendent of schools, Miss Georgia Alexander, district superintendent of eleven public schools of the city, took about 2,000 grade school pupils from their classrooms today to see "The Four Seasons," an educational film being shown this week at a theater.

It is considered certain that the board will take some action in the case, but just what it will be no school official is prepared to say at this time.

Certainly something should be done in the matter," Dr. Marie Haslep, chairman of the instruction committee of the board, said when told of Miss Alexander's action.

"Yesterday Miss Alexander called me by telephone and I told her that personally I was opposed to taking the children from the class work to see a motion picture, but if she had obtained the consent of Superintendent Graff I would agree, regardless of my personal opinion. I understand this permission was not obtained. Miss Alexander told me, during the conversation, she did not see why I would object to this as it was no more an advertising affair than it was for the school children to go to a dry goods store one week to get maple trees for Arbor day."

Superintendent Graff said there had been time to notify Miss Alexander of the official action of the board, but that a meeting of district supervisors Monday, which was attended by Miss Alexander, he had discussed the question at length and had said the instruction committee was opposed to taking children from school to attend motion picture shows and the committee would so report to the board last night. He said Miss Alexander was inclined to argue the matter at the time. He also said she had not asked his permission before taking the action today.

When the matter was taken up by the board Dr. Haslep recommended the board adopt a resolution to the effect that the board would not give official approval of any motion picture and the children not be taken from their classes by the teachers to attend any motion picture show.

The motion was adopted unanimously. Dr. Haslep said Miss Alexander had told her she intended to take her children to "The Four Seasons" today, and Commissioner Bert S. Gadd asked Mr. Graff what he intended to do if Miss Alexander went through with her plans. After some hesitation he answered:

"Well I don't think we will cross the bridge until we come to it."

"It certainly looks as if Miss Alexander has led the board squarely up to the point," a school official said.

Miss Alexander has the following schools under her supervision, Nos. 1, 4, 6, 11, 23, 27, 32, 40 and 68.

After leaving the theater children from School No. 1 were taken by their teachers to call on Mayor Shank at the city hall. The mayor made a speech cautioning the pupils to save their pennies, be honest and obey their instructors and predicting that one of them might be governor some day.

Take It In Time!

DO you know that by far the larger number of the common ailments of women are not surgical ones; that they are not caused by any serious displacement, tumor, growth, or other marked change?

DO you know that these common ailments produce symptoms that are very much like those caused by the more serious surgical conditions?

DO you know that many women and young girls suffer needlessly from such ailments? More than that, they endanger their health by allowing their ailments to continue and develop into something serious.

If treated early, that is, within a reasonable time after the first warning symptoms appear, serious conditions may often be averted. Therefore, at the first appearance of such symptoms as periodic pains, irregularities, irritability and nervousness, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be taken. It is prepared with accuracy and cleanliness from medicinal plants. It contains no narcotics nor poisonous drugs, and can be taken with perfect safety.

The Vegetable Compound acts on the conditions which bring about these symptoms in a gentle and efficient manner. The persistent use of it shows itself in the disappearance, one after another, of the disagreeable symptoms. In a word, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound acts as a natural restorative, relieving the present distress and preventing more serious trouble.

Why not give a fair trial to this medicine
