

VIOLATOR OF DRY LAW NOT GIVEN PAPERS

Three Other Citizenship Seekers Fail Because of War Slacker Records.

One applicant for admission to citizenship in the United States refused final examination in the morning session of the April hearing before Judge W. W. Thornton in Superior Court, Room 1, today because he had violated the prohibition laws and four others were rejected because they had claimed exemption from draft in the late war on the ground they were not American citizens. Six or seven were rejected.

Other four were given their papers are Thomas Arthur De Falco, Isidor Goldstein, Theodore Marks, Frank Syro, Roger Craner and George Durnet.

The men who were refused admittance to citizenship because they attempted to dodge the draft were Salvatore Presti, 311 South Audubon Road; David Eskalyo, 1026 Chestnut street; Patrick Ward, 49 North Jefferson avenue, and Jacob Delman, 1039 Union street.

WISHT START OVER AGAIN.

"You will not make a good citizen. You must begin all over again," Judge Thornton remarked to Louis Carl Kosfeld, 1308 Ashland, who had refused to admit Kosfeld to citizenship. "You have no regard for American law."

Kosfeld had been convicted of violating the liquor laws, it was pointed out.

Judge Thornton pointed to Kosfeld as he spoke to the school children who thronged the balcony of the courtroom. They were from the civics classes of some of the grammar schools.

When one man who answered "I don't know" when asked what the Fourth of July was to commemorate, Judge Thornton called, "Tell him, children."

CHORUS COMES OUT STRONG.

Their childish voices yelled from the balcony, "We know and remember, 'The Declaration of Independence.'

Those admitted are: Patrick Garland, 30 Lansing street; George Valker, 711 North Warman avenue; Charles F. Eastman, 405 Sandus street; Frank Gordon Mathews, 2838 East Vermont street; Joseph Edwin Mervin, 641 East Thruway, second street; William Christian Olson, 126 West Pleasant street; John Ebell, 820 South Randolph street; Thomas Kafour, 1456 South East street; Samuel H. J. David, 729 Indiana avenue; Charles Schey, 1244 Orange street; Andrew Meler, R. R. 1 or Home Store Company; John Olsen, 2160 Northerson Avenue; Edward Dunn, 1116 Park Avenue; Hans Christian Ert, 310 East New York street; George Sallier, 2329 North Capitol avenue; Arthur William Dinnane, 2124 Singleton street; Herman Fred Salge, 1228 North Jefferson avenue; Michael Lagonick, 1211 Union street; Cornelius B. T. Lee, 1210 Union street; John W. Blodgett, 619 Eastern Avenue; David Toland O'Connor, 8900 North Meridian street; Thomas Quatler, 428 Patterson street; John Vlidak, 1016 North Holmes avenue; Joseph Urbancic, 914 North Holmes avenue; Benedict Kvitney, 906 South Illinois street; Fred Robbins, 2725 East Washington street.

GARY LAWYER LOSES $100 BY NOT APPEARING

Author of Laws

JOHN L. BENEDICT.

John L. Benedict, who has served two years in the Legislature, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Judge, Room 5, Marion County Superior Court. As a member of the fees and salaries committee of the house his claims to have aided in the defeat of measures carrying salary increases amounting to $72,000 by the General Assembly.

Benedict drew up a bill which, among other things, put the six principal offices on a straight salary basis. Incorporated in the bill was a provision requiring trust funds come under the supervision of the State depository law. The result of this law, had it been in effect in time, Benedict says, would have been the prevention of loss to Marion County through defalcation of County Clerk Sipe.

Must Refund $850, Instead of $750, to Client He Failed to Clear.

Failure of Dimitri Economoff, lawyer, of Gary, to appear before Judge Albert R. Anderson in Federal Court today to answer to a charge of obtaining a fee of $950 from Mike Zoran of the same city by making fraudulent representations as to his ability to win a case, he was fined instead of $750, the amount originally set by the court for Economoff to refund to his former client.

Economoff will be given ten days in which to pay the $850 into court and if this is not done proceedings for criminal contempt will be instituted against him. His attorney is Elliott, United States District Attorney.

According to Zoran's story he was employed by Economoff in 1920 to defend him on a charge of counterfeiting. He said Economoff charged him $950 and told him part of the money was for the court and the district attorney and he would get away without a prison sentence. Zoran was sentenced about two weeks ago, and that time Economoff was given the choice of $750 or $750 into court by last Monday or appearing for a hearing today.

Economoff told Judge Anderson at the first hearing that he had received $700 from Zoran and had refuted $140. He also said he was worth about $12,000, but did not believe he could raise the $750. Judge Anderson insisted must be returned to Zoran.

Bank Reserves Too Low, Camp States

Too many banks of the State are operating with a cash reserve too low," Charles W. Camp, State bank commissioner said today before leaving for Louisville to investigate the closing of the White River Bank, there, following a run on it by depositors. The White River Bank is the fifth closed since the beginning of the present fiscal year, Oct. 1, 1921, in Indiana.

Mr. Camp said first reports indicate bank's low cash reserve was the cause of its closing, but an investigation would show whether anything more was wrong.

Walter Hays, president of the bank, said other cash reserves had been depleted by accepting notes for purchases of bonds and by sending money out of the bank.

Ex-Service Voters' League Incorporated

The Ex-Service Voters' League of Indiana filed incorporation papers with the Secretary of State today. It was explained this action was taken to prevent the use of the name by other organizations.

It was announced that the organization will have representations in every precinct on primary day and that it will organize a "flying squadron" to work in various precincts.

The league has been attracting considerable attention as indicated by requests from other States for information concerning the nature of the organization.

Times Radios in Party by Strauss

L. Strauss and Company has made preparations to entertain a host of "radiettes" on the third floor of its store Saturday night, until 9 o'clock. The store's receiving equipment has been augmented. Several Daily Times radiophones will be used. Plenty of seating capacity has been provided.

Otis Bradway, who will be in charge, will be glad to confer with those who desire information on the technicalities of the radiophone, he has announced.

Thief Must Be Getting Outfit

Fuel companies suffered from visits of thieves today. A thief entered the barns of the Hoad Coal Company, 70 South Sherman drive, and carried away a set of horses. A burglar last night from the garage door of the Stengmeyer Fuel Company, Thirtieth street, and the L. E. & W. Railroad tracks. An automobile tire, a rim and a grease pump were stolen.

Escapes With Fine of $100 and Costs

Although Tom Nurse, 609 Chadwick street, admitted that he had been visited "two or three times of operating 'the blind tiger'" he escaped a sentence at the Indiana State Farm in city court today. Special Judge Maurice Tenant fined Nurse $100 and costs. Nurse's home was raided Feb. 11, and the police say they found a bottle of "red whisky."
