

RILEY DAY TO BE OBSERVED AT EXPOSITION

Health Show Speakers to Aid Hospital Fund Campaign.

Saturday will be James Whitcomb Riley day at the Indiana Health Exposition, in the Manufacturers' building at the State fairground. The exposition will open Friday and continue through Saturday of the following week.

Speakers will emphasize the need for the establishment of a hospital in Indiana devoted exclusively to the care of children in the State who need medical or surgical attention, and also will urge a general response to the campaign which will be made in Indianapolis and Indiana soon to complete the raising of a $2,000,000 building fund for the erection of the James Whitcomb Riley Hospital for Children in Indianapolis. A Riley program will be given in the afternoon, starting at 2 o'clock and also in the evening. The exposition itself will open at 11 o'clock each day.

Statistics recently compiled by the United States Public Health Service show there are more than 10,000 children in Indiana seriously in need of medical or surgical attention. There is no institution in the State at present with sufficient facilities to care for more than a very small percentage of these children. It will be pointed out by speakers, carried on in Indianapolis and Marion County through efforts of the Marion County Tuberculosis Association, will be shown graphically by the association in many exhibits at the Indiana Health Exposition.

Executives of the association announced besides a "health fortune-telling booth," in which real "health Gypsies" will forecast the future, there will be many booths and auxiliary exhibits in which the story of how the death rate has declined in the country will be told. Since 1910, the executives showed today, Marion County's death rate from the "white plague" has decreased from 210.2 annually in each 100,000 of the population, to 152.2.

Hope of China in Student Classes

The hope of China is in her student class, although there is an alarming lack of religious interest in educated people, Dr. George R. Gross, president of De Pauw University, Greencastle, said in the principal address at a banquet of the Indianapolis Methodist Church Association, at the East Tenth Street M. E. Church last night. The event was attended by more than 125. The women of the church served a chicken dinner.

Dr. George S. Henninger, pastor, welcomed the guests.

Color Blindness Adds to Penalty for Fred Murphy

Breaking up red lights left out at street danger signals, brought Fred W. Murphy to city court, charged with destruction of property. When he told Judge Wilmett he was too drunk to know whether the lights were red—or he had even kicked any lights, the judge added a $10 fine for drunkenness to the $2 fine for property destruction, assessed against Murphy.
