

TARIFF DEBATE MAY CONTINUE INTO SUMMER

Amendments Number 2,057 and
Minority Already Offers Objections.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The tariff bill, with its 2,057 amendments made by the Senate, probably will be debated more thoroughly in all its details than any tariff bill in many years, competent observers say.

The debate may extend well into the late summer and interfere with the campaign plans of Senators and Congressmen who are candidates for re-election, it is said.

That this is realized by many, they say, is shown by the fact that it is difficult to get a quorum in the Senate without an appeal to the sergeant-at-arms and an unusually large number of Republican Congressmen are absent from the city looking after their districts. Many of them are panic-stricken by the defeat in the primaries of Ira D. Copley of Illinois, one of the Administration leaders.

This condition may have an important bearing on the tariff bill when it goes to conference and cause further delay or even a postponement of the subject.

Although the minority report of the Democratic Senators has not been presented, the manner in which the minority members are doing their work indicates that the report will be a thorough analysis of the defects of the pending measure. Senator Simmons, the ranking minority member of the Finance Committee and former chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, in his recent speech opening the debate on the Democratic side, made "fourteen points" against the bill, which have been given wide publicity, and leading Republican papers are attacking the measure principally for the same reasons alleged by Senator Simmons—that it will increase the cost of living, destroying what is left of the foreign market and add to unemployment by curtailing local production. Also that the bill is unscientifically framed, the theory or principle of protection, adopted by the Republicans after their defeat resulting from the Payne-Aldrich tariff, having been abandoned, and the present rates based upon unstable and constantly fluctuating values.

Senator Jones of New Mexico, who is said to have a comprehensive knowledge of many phases of tariff making, has also joined in the debate against the bill, attacking the provision empowering the President to shift to the American valuation plan, which the Senate (Republican, Utah), admits that under this plan duties could be levied as high as 900 per cent.

Two other Democratic Senators who are masters of the tariff subject, Senator Pomeroy of Ohio and Senator Underwood of Alabama, will also present the Democratic side of the case.

Washington Briefs

WASHINGTON, May 19.—It would be impossible to exaggerate the depth of Washington's interest in the Pennsylvania primary results. Had the fate of a presidential candidate been at stake, anxiety for news could not have been greater. The White House, Congress, Government departments and foreign embassies and legations were among the inquirers. There was a general realization that far more than Pennsylvania State issues were involved. As to those the knowledge of the average Washingtonian is limited. What everybody knew was that Gifford Pinchot stood for a new deal within the Republican party, that he was "backing" the most powerful party machine in contemporary history and that his victory would mean incalculably important things in countless directions.

The forester is a Washingtonian in a sense, with a famous Washington record, with a home here and with a host of admirers and friends. The capital feels that one of its own, as well as a son of Pennsylvania, had made new political history.

American business leaders now assembled in Washington in hurried ranks are profoundly interested in current developments about Russia. A nationally renowned captain of industry said to the writer the American credit men's slogan of "character, capacity and capital" as the fundamental basis of credit seems to him exactly to apply to Soviet Russia.

"The Bolsheviks," he explained, "have neither character, capacity nor capital. They are, therefore, not entitled to credit." That is precisely the view of the Administration. "The H's"—Harding, Hughes and Hoover—who are directing our policy toward Russia. Another business man recalled the late Pierpont Morgan's celebrated aphorism before a congressional investigating committee, when the banker declared character was overwhelmingly the most important factor in credit. "Just what do you mean by 'character'?" asked a famous New York corporation lawyer, who was cross-examining him. "Oh," the financier replied, "I'm afraid I could not make you understand that."

Senator Don Federico Alfonso Penet, who celebrated the second anniversary of his appointment as Peruvian ambassador to the United States, has an extraordinarily personal interest in the Chilean-Peruvian conference.

He was a lieutenant in the Peruvian army in the war of the Pacific in 1879, the bitter conflict out of which sprang the Chilean-Peruvian-Bolivian controversy now in negotiation in the Hall of the Americas. Senator Penet's right hand was shattered in battle, and he has been minus a finger or two since. No Latin-American diplomat in Washington is better known or better liked. He once was Peruvian consul general in San Francisco.

Chicago Births and Marriages Decrease

CHICAGO, May 19.—Dismaying statistics compiled by Health Commissioner Bunden for the last four months show that Chicago is in a fair way to become a "race suicide" victim. Births for the first four months of 1921 were 19,448, or 845 more than the 18,583 reported for the first four months of this year.

But the biggest warning to Chicago is contained in the figures for last month, which show only 4,235 births, compared to 5,882 in April, 1921.

During the first four months of 1922, 1,200 less marriage-licenses were issued than in the same time for 1921. The number is 2,000 less than the same length of time in 1920.
