

WIFE SLAYER MUST DIE IN CHAIR JUNE 1

'Bill' Donovan to Pay Extreme Penalty for Crime. PLEA IS DENIED Governor Rules on His Appeal for Clemency.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., May 27.—"Bill" Donovan died a thousand deaths today.

The man who killed his wife because she wouldn't live with him looked toward June 1 with dread. His body will shiver in the electric chair at State prison here.

He has four more days to live. Every morning spells a new cycle. The chaplain comes on a mission of mercy and his departing footsteps are like hammer blows on Donovan's head.

The condemned man saw no hope of turning the law aside from its course. He was informed that Governor McCray and members of the pardon board reviewing his case had seen no reason to set aside the verdict of the court.

"A cowardly and dastardly murder," the board said, and the Governor has approved its action.

For Donovan shot the woman he had loved, the mother of his children, whom the pardon board described as a "mild-mannered, inoffensive woman."

She was leaving their home near Bloomington, Parke County. She had already departed because Donovan, she said, was "overbearing and high tempered." But she had come back when he said some of their children were sick.

Donovan whipped out the gun and fired. She fell dead.

GOVERNOR REFUSES CLEMENCY PLEA

William P. Donovan, convicted wife slayer of Parke County, must die in the electric chair June 1. On recommendation by the Indiana board of pardons, Governor McCray refused to grant Donovan clemency.

At a hearing of petitions asking clemency held recently by the board, little evidence was introduced to show that Donovan should not pay the penalty with his life for what was characterized as one of the most brutal killings in the State crime annals.

The board has received many communications asking that Donovan's punishment be made life imprisonment, but they were based principally on opposition to capital punishment, it was said.

Donovan was described as a man of extraordinary high temper and his wife as a mild-mannered woman. After being separated Mrs. Donovan returned to their home in Parke County to see her youngest child, who, her husband said, was ill. With little provocation, Donovan is said to have drawn a gun and shot his wife. Donovan at close range while she was holding the child in her arms.

The following Marion County cases were acted upon by the pardon board in its last session approved by Governor McCray today:

James Pyatt, committed to State Farm, from the city court March 18, 1922, to four years for conspiracy to violate the liquor law. Remission of fine recommended upon payment of costs in monthly installments of $10 to the city clerk beginning June 15, 1922.

John Koon, State Farm, city court, Feb. 4, 1922, to serve out a fine of $100 and costs for liquor law violation. Recommended that he receive credit on his fine for rate of $100 per day for the time served at farm and that he be permitted to pay remainder of fine and costs at the rate of $15 per month to the city clerk beginning May 28, 1922.

Matthew Henry, sentenced from Marion juvenile court, Jan. 31, 1922, 180 days State Farm and fined $500 and costs for contributing to neglect of child. Remission of fine recommended upon payment of costs.

Richard Jett, sentenced from Marion juvenile court, Jan. 31, 1922, 180 days State Farm and fined $500 and costs for contributing to neglect of child. Remission of fine recommended upon payment of costs.

May Baker, Marion juvenile court, Nov. 16, 1921, six months to the penitentiary and fined $500 for child neglect. Remission of fine recommended upon payment of costs.

Charles Kilburn, city court, April 13, 1922, ninety days, State Farm, $100 and costs, liquor law violation. Refusal recommended.

Charles Binford, Marion County, Oct. 1, 1921, two to four years for conspiracy to commit a robbery, Indiana Reformatory. Refusal recommended.

Juan Travers, Jan. 10, 1922, 180 days State Farm, $300 and costs, one to four years, Indiana Reformatory, grand larceny. Refusal recommended.

Albert Shireman, Marion County, Oct. 19, 1921, one year, robbery, State Farm. Refusal recommended.

Elsworth Dunbar, June 21, 1921, one to five years, issuing fraudulent check, Indiana Reformatory. Refusal recommended.

PAROLE RECOMMENDED.

Virgil Broomfield, sentenced from Crawford County, Dec. 10, 1921, sixty days to the State Farm and fined $100, for violation of the liquor law. Sent down in advance of this report.

Dewey McFadden, sentenced from Jennings County, Jan. 10, 1922, six months to the State Farm and fined $500, for violation of the liquor law. Sent down in advance of this report.

William Garvey, sentenced from the city court of Greencastle, March 18, 1922, to the State Farm. To serve out fine of $100 and costs for violation of the liquor law. Sent down in advance of this report.

Henry Campbell, sentenced from Putnam County, Feb. 23, 1922, ninety days to the State Farm, and fined $100 and costs, for violation of the liquor law.

Otha Davis, sentenced from Hendricks County, March 23, 1922, six months to the State Farm, and fined $100 and costs, for violation of the liquor law.

Phil Hayward, sentenced from Lake County, May 9, 1921, two to four years, for uttering forged check, to the Indiana Reformatory. Now on temporary parole.

Omer Ginter, sentenced from Jay County, February 1, 1921, two to twenty-one years for rape, to the Indiana Reformatory.

Ralph Nicholas, sentenced from Howard County, Dec. 12, 1921, two to four years, for embezzlement, to the Indiana Reformatory.

Edna Sanford, sentenced from Boone County, December 10, 1920, two to four years, for forgery, to the Indiana Reformatory. Papers sent down in advance of this report.

REFUSAL RECOMMENDED.

William Behrens, sentenced from White County, May 19, 1921, two to four years, for burglary, to the Indiana Reformatory.

Robert E. Lee, sentenced from Clay County, Dec. 14, 1921, one year to the State Farm for child desertion.

William Tiedel, sentenced from Parke County, May 28, 1919, two to four years, for burglary, to the State Prison.

Adam Dickman, sentenced from Vanderburgh, Sept. 13, 1921, two to four years, for forgery, to the Indiana Reformatory.

Chester Kilburn, sentenced from the city court of Marion, April 13, 1922, ninety

FLIERS HERE MONDAY

U. S. LEADER IN DEVELOPING FIELDS OF OIL

New Geological Surveys Being Made in South American Republics.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The United States will lead the world in developing new petroleum fields, under the present program of American geologists. The Government's own geologists have been thrown out into new areas on the North and South American continents, searching for new oil sources. These experts warn that the oil supply of the future will diminish fast unless new oil fields in Latin America are soon found and developed.

Extensive geological surveys are to be made of the Latin American republics to determine the location and extent of new and valuable petroleum resources. American geologists are on the ground in Colombia, British experts are also there, but Americans have the inside track at this time. Colombia is regarded as a fertile field for exploitation and for geological study.

In Colombia the plan contemplates the mapping and examination of the upper part of the Magdalena Valley and the regions adjoining the far western Venezuela border, and especially the southern inter-mountain valleys and foothills of the east bank of the Andes.

GOVERNMENT SURVEYS.

Government surveys of the oil wealth of the continent thus have developed these salient points:

In Mexico the oil resources in the ground which are recoverable by present methods are estimated at 4,500,000,000 barrels from the discovered fields, and the aggregate amount of oil in the ground to be recovered is about 5,750,000,000 from all fields.

Favorable results of recent tests on the west in Mexico make North Central Guatemala an inviting region for oil prospecting. Geological surveys declared, oil territory in Nicaragua and Honduras is greatly restricted, but the coastal plan of Costa Rica has lately received considerable attention from geologists, with favorable results.

Government geologists' investigations show that oil interests in South America now lie chiefly in the lower mountains of the Andean system in the northern and western regions of the continent. In northern South America principal oil sources are believed to be in the inter-mountain valleys and on the eastern flank of the Andean region.

PRESENCE OF NEW SOURCES.

Presence of oil sources in Caribbean coastal plain is unquestioned, but may be delayed because of geological obstacles. The Pacific coastal plain region of the United States amount to a great supply of oil in Ecuador and Peru, and the coast basins may prove to be a source of oil in Chile. In the southern half of the continent the largest oil fields are in the lower and in Bolivia and to the southward the interest of the oil geologist will be chiefly in the eastern foothills of the Andes.

Experts estimate that while the oil resources of the United States amount to little more than nine billion barrels at the present moment, my present methods used in recovering petroleum, the aggregate amount of oil in the ground to be recovered in South America is likely to exceed thirteen billion barrels.

COLUMBIA CLUB USES BIG STICK, SAYS DELEGATE

Action on Changes in Heights of Buildings on Circle Is Charge.

Political influence of the Columbia Club stifled opposition which the board of control of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument planned to lead in the city council meeting May 15 against the change in the Circle building height limit ordinance backed by the city plan commission, according to statements of E. H. Moore, delegate from the College Avenue City Association, in the meeting of the Indianapolis Federation of Community Civic Clubs last night.

Mr. Moore's assertions about the political bludgeon reported to have been wielded by the Columbia Club on the opposition to the increase in the Circle building height limit were made in explanation of why there was not a word of opposition to passage of the ordinance in the council meeting. He was chairman of a committee instructed by the federation to act with the monument board of control to prevent passage of the ordinance. The city plan commission, on advice of George E. Kessler, nationally known city plan expert from St. Louis, had introduced the ordinance which increased the limit from eighty-six feet to 100 feet on the property line and 130 feet on a twelve-foot setback. The board feared tall buildings would dwarf the monument.

The Columbia Club plans to build a new building on the site of its present six-story structure in Monument Place. A number of other tall buildings are planned and one is being erected.

Mr. Moore said he had plans laid for vigorous opposition to the plan commission measure at the council meeting, but at 5 o'clock in the afternoon of the meeting Col. Oran Perry, superintendent of the monument, kept away from the meeting and asked him to stay away from the meeting. He said Col. Perry told him he had an "inside tip" everything was arranged and thought it would prevent opposition. He said he would not go through and through and there was no need of going. Much to his surprise he learned the next morning the plan commission ordinance was passed and he had been bargaining for the federation representative to attempt to oppose the ordinance before the council without support from the board of control.

"Col. Perry told me the Columbia Club, which we all know is a strong pro-City body, fought him so very strongly that nothing could bear them down. He said they simply trumped in in droves and laid their thumbs under their noses and told him what they were going to do. They said they would build their building as high as they wanted to and we might as well go on about our business. They just crushed us out." The Woodside Loyal Civic League was admitted to representation in the federation.

MOTHER GOING TO COLLEGE IN ORDER TO TEACH

Purpose of Mrs. Strawn Is to Earn Funds for Educating Her Sons.

DEFIANCE, Ohio, May 27.—For centuries youngsters have been following their parents' vocations.

But it has remained for Mrs. Dora E. Strawn of Defiance to enter college to prepare herself for the profession in which her daughter is engaged.

Mrs. Strawn is 45 years old. Her daughter, Leah, is 20. Leah finished her normal training in Defiance College and is teaching in the Defiance grade school. Her mother is a student in the department of education. She expects to teach next year. Mrs. Strawn has two smaller boys in the grade school. When her husband died she moved from her farm to Defiance, and with her two smaller boys occupied a house near the Defiance College campus.

Every morning neighbors see the two boys start for the school building while the mother hastens to her first college class.

"It would be amusing were it not so tragic," explained Mrs. Strawn, "how many business men, way down in their hearts, think that a woman ought to die with her husband and leave the children conveniently tucked away in an orphan's home. Most men would give liberally to an orphan's home, but they wouldn't think of giving a woman a chance to comfortably support her children herself."

"My problem seems to be to convince them differently."

"I am doing all within my power to educate myself for a position that I may give my boys sufficient schooling to make them useful citizens. I expect to be thoroughly equipped before I apply for a position. I have faith I will be given equal opportunity with the young teachers to prove my capability. Some men I know seem to think this door is closed to me. I have faith I will be given equal opportunity with the young teachers to prove my capability. Some men I know seem to think this door is closed to me. I have faith I will be given equal opportunity with the young teachers to prove my capability."

U. S. SENATORS HOLD CAUCUS

Make Unsuccessful Effort to Patch Differences.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Torn by dissension over a proposed application of closure to the Chamberlaine bill, thirty of the sixty Republican members of the Senate held a stormy caucus today in an unsuccessful effort to patch up their differences.

The caucus was finally adjourned until Wednesday without any agreement being reached, and after there was an acrimonious verbal exchange between the proponents and opponents of closure.

College professors frequently have in their classes young persons whose parents they instructed years before. But Mrs. Strawn has turned the tables by enrolling under the same professors in the department of education.

Deena E. Lawson, Defiance College, said Mrs. Strawn is making a good record in her classes despite the twenty-five years that have elapsed since she, previously, was a "school girl."

Senate Wants Facts About Sealskins

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The Senate today passed a resolution directing the Secretary of Commerce to furnish it with "complete information" on sales of Government-owned sealskins in the Alaskan fur trade. The resolution was a result of charges by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, that the Government had lost heavily through "incompetent and foolish contracts."

James M. Leathers, who, on the face of the returns, defeated Judge W. W. Thornton for the Republican nomination for judge of Superior Court, Room 1, District Court, was yesterday in the ground for the nomination, today filed as itemized statement of expenses incurred in the recent primary election campaign.

According to the statement his total expenditure in the campaign was $1,120.50. Included in this is a donation of $500 to the Marion County Republican League.

Others who filed statements of expense are: Republican, Robert F. Miller, county commissioner, $560; William B. Doolittle, judge of Superior Court, Room 4, $28.25; Edwin S. Miller, representative, $22.25; Frank J. Noll, Jr., representative, $181.

LOS ANGELES, May 27.—Scores of dubious Los Angeles marriages are virtually on trial in connection with the bigamy charge against Don Godovsky and Frank Mayo, who were married in Los Angeles on June 1.

This information comes directly from the district attorney's office on the eve of action against the screen idol of a million American women.

Unions said to include many socially and professionally prominent Californians have been reported for investigation—unions paralleling Valentino's marriage to Winifred Hudnut at Mexicali, Mexico, May 13, before he was legally freed from Jean Acker.

VIOLENT STORM HITS IOWA TOWN

Traffic Paralyzed in Burlington—Other Damages.

BURLINGTON, Iowa, May 27.—All traffic was stopped and considerable damage resulted when three inches of rain fell here in less than an hour. Wind, which accompanied the deluge, wrecked telephone, telegraph and street car wires.

Water stood four feet in some of the business houses in the lower section of the city and one building collapsed. Following the heavy rains of the last few days all Iowa rivers are rising rapidly.

Many Women Need More and Better Blood

It is a fact proven by thousands of grateful letters that Hood's Sarsaparilla is remarkably beneficial to young or older women.

The most common ailments of women drain and weaken the system and sometimes result in anemia, nervous weakness, general run-down condition. Women overworked by family duties or overtaken socially find they can't stand anything.

Their nerves are all unstrung, faces pale, appetite impaired, sleep not sound nor refreshing.

Hood's Sarsaparilla gives the blood more vitality and better color, makes stronger nerves, and contributes to the length and enjoyment of life.

It is agreeable, pleasant and convenient to take, and it embodies a long-tried, and found true formula for the relief of pale, weak, nervous and dyspeptic women.

Hood's Pills help as a laxative.

"CHANGE OF LIFE left mother a wreck, unable to get about, limbs sore and stiff, joints swelled and painful, could not sleep. I got her two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Now at 86 she can get around, does nothing, feeling fine, all due to that good blood purifier and tonic."

SOPHIA A. MCKINLEY, Killian, La.

ANEMIA. "The doctor said my daughter was anemic. She was nervous, had no color, could not sleep. She has been taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and has improved wonderfully. Her cheeks and lips are red."

Mrs. LIZZIE FOSTER, 801 Prouty Ave., Toledo, Ohio.

"RHEUMATIC LAMENESS" relieved makes me grateful to Hood's Sarsaparilla. "I can walk well."

Mrs. MARY A. VALL, Rockland, Me.

The great economy of Hood's Sarsaparilla appeals to everyone. War tax removed and price reduced.

WOMAN COULD NOT WORK

Made Strong and Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Paul, Minn.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a tired, worn-out feeling and painful rheumatism. I used to get up with a pain in my head and pains in my lower parts and back. Often I was not able to do my work. I read in your little book about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have taken it. I feel so well and strong and can do every bit of my work and not a pain in my back now. I recommend your medicine and you can use this letter as a testimonial." — Mrs. PHIL MASER, 801 Winslow St., St. Paul, Minn.

Just another case where a woman found relief by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Many times these tired, worn-out feelings and pains about the body are from troubles many women have. The Vegetable Compound is especially adapted for just this condition. The good results are noted by the disagreeable symptoms passing away — one after another.

Lydia E. Pinkham's "Vegetable Compound is a Woman's Medicine for Women's Ailments. Always reliable."
