

Eddie Ash

NEWS of the DAY IN THE SPORT WORLD

Vedder Gard

Heze Clark

BIG TEN MAY SEE MARKS GO IN TRACK MEET

Games Friday and Saturday Expected to See Conference Records Take Tumble.

N. D. STARS ENTERED

CHICAGO, June 1.—Following the announcement that watchers which register tens of seconds will be used by the stars at the track and field games of the Western Conference at City tomorrow and Saturday, records which have stood attacks of athletes for years may be broken.

On June 13 Clyde Blaie of Chicago was the first Big Ten sprinter to run 100 yards in 9.4-5, which is the present record. In 1918, W. W. May of Notre Dame in 1919 and Bill Hayes of Notre Dame in 1920. On nearly every other occasion the final of the century has been in even time.

SPEED BOYS IN THE CENTURY.

With Hayes of Notre Dame, Ayres of Illinois, Paul of Grinnell, Spetz of Wisconsin, Burke of Michigan, Maxfield of Purdue, Keen of Indiana, Wilson of Iowa and other who have done better than ten seconds this spring, entered in the century, the old mark may be broken by a tenth of a second.

There is little probability that Robert Simpson's Big Ten record of 14.3-5 for the quarter mile high hurdles will be broken. Simpson is one of the speediest low barriers. Simpson also holds this record at 22.4-5, made over a straight course.

Artie Hahn, one of the greatest sprinters ever developed at Michigan, established a Conference record of 21.3-5 for 220 yards back in 1913. F. T. Ward of Chicago set the record in 1914. In the same year B. W. Wilson of Wilson in tied the mark and Jack Schatz of Missouri equaled the record in 1920. This mark will also be in danger, as the same field of stars will try to shatter the century mark which will attempt to break the furlong record.

QUARTER MILE MARK TO STAND.

The Conference record of 47.2-5 for the quarter mile, by Blaie in 1919, should not be broken. Blaie will set his record around one turn and the same sort of course which will be used in this year's meet. Ira Davenport of Chicago holds the one-mile record around two turns. He stepped the distance in 48.4-5 back in 1910.

The record for the half mile is 1:03.1-5 and is held by F. M. Scott of the Mississippi Aggies in 1915. It is hardly probable this record will be smashed, although Eddie Fall's mark of 4:19.5 for the mile may be approached. Fall met his record in 1918 at the annual Oberlin. The two-mile record is 9:29.3-5, and was made by C. J. Stout of Chicago in 1916.

Goldsberry Hurls Wabash to Victory Over Purdue

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., June 1.—Goldsberry proved too strong for the Purdue batters here. Wabash won by a 3 to 0 score. Wallace was on the mound for the Boilmakers and pitched good ball after the first two innings, then the Scarlet made all their runs. The Wabash batters were led by M. A. Roberts, a double, a sacrifice and Schanahan's single. In the second frame Mount tripled, Gullett singled, scoring one, and got around home on a sacrifice, a fielder's choice, and a groundout to short.

Friday the two teams hook up at Purdue. Phillips will pitch for Wabash, with Goldsberry doing the twirling Saturday against Butler at Indianapolis.

BIG LEAGUE STUFF

"Biff" Falk Wednesday can true to his reputation by seeing the Cleveland Indians get it in the neck. The White Sox winning the series finale, 8 to 4. Falk hit two home runs and was driven in by a matter of feet. The Sox scored five runs off Lindsey in the sixth with the aid of a single hit.

The next time John McGraw trades a promising ball player he will send said youth to Asia Minor, or the other way around, which will do the Giants no harm. Walter Heslin again proved the downfall of the Giants yesterday, his home run in the eighth the score, and his single in the eighth starting the Phils' winning rally.

Pittsburgh Grimes gave the first evidence of his intention to earn his fat salary by holding the Braves to five hits while the Dodger won, four to one.

The Senators gained an even break with the Red Sox by a four-run rally against Ferguson in the ninth inning. The game was won by the Sox won the opener by assaulting Walter Johnson for six runs in the second.

The clawless Tigers made thirteen hits, but lost to the Browns again, this time by a score of 7 to 5. The old hit and the pitch was missing.

STONEHEN HEARING DELAYED. NEW YORK, June 1.—Hearing of the case of Charles A. Stoneham, part owner of the New York Giants, summoned on behalf of creditors of the defunct brokerage firm of E. D. Dier & Co., was adjourned in Tombs Court Wednesday until Friday.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

During my seventeen years in the major leagues I have seen a number of unusual plays.

It has been my good fortune to witness triple and double plays unassisted. Likewise I have seen double plays made in many freak ways.

One time Derrill Pratt of the New York club literally drop-kick a double play. He overran the ball slightly, and before he could get his hands down, his foot had come into contact with the ball.

Derrill Pratt was with New York at the time. Roger Peckinpaugh, playing short for the Yankees, ran over to second to take the throw, as a run was on first at the time and the hit and run was on.

Instead of throwing the ball, however, Pratt kicked it for a perfect field goal into the waiting hands of Peckinpaugh, as he ran over to second, thereby forcing the runner at that base. A fast snap to first to retire the batsman.

It was a freak double play if there ever was one. I will never forget it.

However, in a game at Philadelphia recently, I saw a perfect executed double play in which the pitcher did most of the execution. In all my career I have never seen its like. A description of the play will show its unusual feature.

Detroit was the opposing team. Lu Blue, the first sacker of the Tigers,

BABE SAYS HE'LL HIT THE LOW ONES OUT OF PARK

NEW YORK, June 1.—Babe Ruth doesn't know of a think in the world to worry about. He is back in the good graces of the fans and he is getting his reward on the ball field.

The "Bam" gets one big laugh out of the things that have been printed about his record. He doesn't care what the umpires say. He doesn't care what any one says about him. The big laugh came when it was reported he couldn't hit a low ball.

"I hope the pitchers get to thinking that way. I don't know of anything like better than a low ball. Give me plenty of them and most of them out of the yard," Ruth said.

Ruth is a little peevish at the fans. He thinks he is the best player in the world. He wants to give his eye ball a rest before they start crowning him with the wreath of raspberries.

"I ain't worrying about home runs. When the old eye comes back I will get started and then I am not sure where I am going to go from there."

"I don't think I can beat last year's record because I came in flat-footed when the pitchers were all off to a running start. You can't get your eye back in a week or two when you've been away for six weeks."

"Of course, I want to hit sixty homers this year, but I'll call it a good year if I get forty. If I get the chance I'll knock forty off low balls that they may be in my groove."

Winding up their series with the Louisville Colonels today, the Indians next will entertain the Columbus Senators at Washington Park, the visit of the Buzukos starting tomorrow.

In the contest, forward was scheduled this afternoon. Forward was scheduled to do the flinging and the Indians were keenly desirous of taking the game from the Colonels. On the other hand, the Colonels won the edge in winning a thriller yesterday, 4 to 3, and the Hendricks were out to even up the count.

"It looks to me as though Connie has won his records on how many home runs he has hit. He gives me low balls, high balls, slow curves, and fast ones—once in a while. The most I got is one ball and I have to go out and get another."

"I don't worry about home runs. When the old eye comes back I will get started and then I am not sure where I am going to go from there."

"I ain't worrying about home runs. When the old eye comes back I will get started and then I am not sure where I am going to go from there."

"I don't think I can beat last year's record because I came in flat-footed when the pitchers were all off to a running start. You can't get your eye back in a week or two when you've been away for six weeks."

"Of course, I want to hit sixty homers this year, but I'll call it a good year if I get forty. If I get the chance I'll knock forty off low balls that they may be in my groove."

Winding up their series with the Louisville Colonels today, the Indians next will entertain the Columbus Senators at Washington Park, the visit of the Buzukos starting tomorrow.

In the contest, forward was scheduled this afternoon. Forward was scheduled to do the flinging and the Indians were keenly desirous of taking the game from the Colonels. On the other hand, the Colonels won the edge in winning a thriller yesterday, 4 to 3, and the Hendricks were out to even up the count.

"It looks to me as though Connie has won his records on how many home runs he has hit. He gives me low balls, high balls, slow curves, and fast ones—once in a while. The most I got is one ball and I have to go out and get another."

"I don't worry about home runs. When the old eye comes back I will get started and then I am not sure where I am going to go from there."

"I don't think I can beat last year's record because I came in flat-footed when the pitchers were all off to a running start. You can't get your eye back in a week or two when you've been away for six weeks."

"Of course, I want to hit sixty homers this year, but I'll call it a good year if I get forty. If I get the chance I'll knock forty off low balls that they may be in my groove."

Winding up their series with the Louisville Colonels today, the Indians next will entertain the Columbus Senators at Washington Park, the visit of the Buzukos starting tomorrow.

In the contest, forward was scheduled this afternoon. Forward was scheduled to do the flinging and the Indians were keenly desirous of taking the game from the Colonels. On the other hand, the Colonels won the edge in winning a thriller yesterday, 4 to 3, and the Hendricks were out to even up the count.

"It looks to me as though Connie has won his records on how many home runs he has hit. He gives me low balls, high balls, slow curves, and fast ones—once in a while. The most I got is one ball and I have to go out and get another."

"I don't worry about home runs. When the old eye comes back I will get started and then I am not sure where I am going to go from there."

"I don't think I can beat last year's record because I came in flat-footed when the pitchers were all off to a running start. You can't get your eye back in a week or two when you've been away for six weeks."

"Of course, I want to hit sixty homers this year, but I'll call it a good year if I get forty. If I get the chance I'll knock forty off low balls that they may be in my groove."

Winding up their series with the Louisville Colonels today, the Indians next will entertain the Columbus Senators at Washington Park, the visit of the Buzukos starting tomorrow.

In the contest, forward was scheduled this afternoon. Forward was scheduled to do the flinging and the Indians were keenly desirous of taking the game from the Colonels. On the other hand, the Colonels won the edge in winning a thriller yesterday, 4 to 3, and the Hendricks were out to even up the count.

"It looks to me as though Connie has won his records on how many home runs he has hit. He gives me low balls, high balls, slow curves, and fast ones—once in a while. The most I got is one ball and I have to go out and get another."

"I don't worry about home runs. When the old eye comes back I will get started and then I am not sure where I am going to go from there."

"I don't think I can beat last year's record because I came in flat-footed when the pitchers were all off to a running start. You can't get your eye back in a week or two when you've been away for six weeks."

"Of course, I want to hit sixty homers this year, but I'll call it a good year if I get forty. If I get the chance I'll knock forty off low balls that they may be in my groove."

Winding up their series with the Louisville Colonels today, the Indians next will entertain the Columbus Senators at Washington Park, the visit of the Buzukos starting tomorrow.

In the contest, forward was scheduled this afternoon. Forward was scheduled to do the flinging and the Indians were keenly desirous of taking the game from the Colonels. On the other hand, the Colonels won the edge in winning a thriller yesterday, 4 to 3, and the Hendricks were out to even up the count.

"It looks to me as though Connie has won his records on how many home runs he has hit. He gives me low balls, high balls, slow curves, and fast ones—once in a while. The most I got is one ball and I have to go out and get another."

"I don't worry about home runs. When the old eye comes back I will get started and then I am not sure where I am going to go from there."

"I don't think I can beat last year's record because I came in flat-footed when the pitchers were all off to a running start. You can't get your eye back in a week or two when you've been away for six weeks."

"Of course, I want to hit sixty homers this year, but I'll call it a good year if I get forty. If I get the chance I'll knock forty off low balls that they may be in my groove."

Winding up their series with the Louisville Colonels today, the Indians next will entertain the Columbus Senators at Washington Park, the visit of the Buzukos starting tomorrow.

In the contest, forward was scheduled this afternoon. Forward was scheduled to do the flinging and the Indians were keenly desirous of taking the game from the Colonels. On the other hand, the Colonels won the edge in winning a thriller yesterday, 4 to 3, and the Hendricks were out to even up the count.

"It looks to me as though Connie has won his records on how many home runs he has hit. He gives me low balls, high balls, slow curves, and fast ones—once in a while. The most I got is one ball and I have to go out and get another."

"I don't worry about home runs. When the old eye comes back I will get started and then I am not sure where I am going to go from there."

"I don't think I can beat last year's record because I came in flat-footed when the pitchers were all off to a running start. You can't get your eye back in a week or two when you've been away for six weeks."

"Of course, I want to hit sixty homers this year, but I'll call it a good year if I get forty. If I get the chance I'll knock forty off low balls that they may be in my groove."

Winding up their series with the Louisville Colonels today, the Indians next will entertain the Columbus Senators at Washington Park, the visit of the Buzukos starting tomorrow.

In the contest, forward was scheduled this afternoon. Forward was scheduled to do the flinging and the Indians were keenly desirous of taking the game from the Colonels. On the other hand, the Colonels won the edge in winning a thriller yesterday, 4 to 3, and the Hendricks were out to even up the count.

"It looks to me as though Connie has won his records on how many home runs he has hit. He gives me low balls, high balls, slow curves, and fast ones—once in a while. The most I got is one ball and I have to go out and get another."

"I don't worry about home runs. When the old eye comes back I will get started and then I am not sure where I am going to go from there."

"I don't think I can beat last year's record because I came in flat-footed when the pitchers were all off to a running start. You can't get your eye back in a week or two when you've been away for six weeks."

"Of course, I want to hit sixty homers this year, but I'll call it a good year if I get forty. If I get the chance I'll knock forty off low balls that they may be in my groove."

Winding up their series with the Louisville Colonels today, the Indians next will entertain the Columbus Senators at Washington Park, the visit of the Buzukos starting tomorrow.

In the contest, forward was scheduled this afternoon. Forward was scheduled to do the flinging and the Indians were keenly desirous of taking the game from the Colonels. On the other hand, the Colonels won the edge in winning a thriller yesterday, 4 to 3, and the Hendricks were out to even up the count.

"It looks to me as though Connie has won his records on how many home runs he has hit. He gives me low balls, high balls, slow curves, and fast ones—once in a while. The most I got is one ball and I have to go out and get another."

"I don't worry about home runs. When the old eye comes back I will get started and then I am not sure where I am going to go from there."

"I don't think I can beat last year's record because I came in flat-footed when the pitchers were all off to a running start. You can't get your eye back in a week or two when you've been away for six weeks."

"Of course, I want to hit sixty homers this year, but I'll call it a good year if I get forty. If I get the chance I'll knock forty off low balls that they may be in my groove."

Winding up their series with the Louisville Colonels today, the Indians next will entertain the Columbus Senators at Washington Park, the visit of the Buzukos starting tomorrow.

In the contest, forward was scheduled this afternoon. Forward was scheduled to do the flinging and the Indians were keenly desirous of taking the game from the Colonels. On the other hand, the Colonels won the edge in winning a thriller yesterday, 4 to 3, and the Hendricks were out to even up the count.

"It looks to me as though Connie has won his records on how many home runs he has hit. He gives me low balls, high balls, slow curves, and fast ones—once in a while. The most I got is one ball and I have to go out and get another."

"I don't worry about home runs. When the old eye comes back I will get started and then I am not sure where I am going to go from there."

"I don't think I can beat last year's record because I came in flat-footed when the pitchers were all off to a running start. You can't get your eye back in a week or two when you've been away for six weeks."

"Of course, I want to hit sixty homers this year, but I'll call it a good year if I get forty. If I get the chance I'll knock forty off low balls that they may be in my groove."

<p