

MINERS FORCE WAGON SHAFTS TO CLOSE DOWN

More Than 200 Strikers Make Raid in Fifty Automobiles.

SHOTGUN POINTED Show of Resistance Is Overcome Without Casualties.

BRAZIL, Ind., June 14.—More than two hundred striking coal miners, in fifty automobiles, swooped down on a number of small wagon mines west of Brazil today and forced them to close down.

The strikers came from Terre Haute. Meeting two motor trucks loaded with coal at Cleveland, they compelled the drivers to dump the fuel.

At the Jones Brothers mine near Stanton, the men working in the pit made a show of resistance and one flourished a shotgun, without firing any shots. At this mine the strikers conspired six shotguns and compelled the men to leave.

The Sulman, Winters and Targrett mines near Stanton also were visited and compelled to shut down.

These mines have been operating during the national coal strike, supplying fuel for domestic use and small industries.

'AND THEN I AIMED AT HER CHIN'

Girls Battle on Field of Honor

DALLAS, Texas, June 14.—Police today declared war on "Jollyboys" and "Dippers" who encouraged two girls here to settle an insult on a field of honor with fists. Mrs. Katherine Fausler, 18, one of the principals, gave her version of the affair.

"I know it isn't ladylike to fight, but no woman can run over me," Mrs. Fausler declared.

Clarice Paschall was dancing and made a remark about a girl who was dancing with the girl who was dancing with her. The girl was in no condition to defend herself. I asked Clarice what she meant. One thing led to another, until the floor manager told us he wouldn't allow fighting on the floor.

"Then one of the boys suggested we go outside somewhere and settle it 'man to man'."

"Thirteen cars drove out and turned their headlights on the pasture."

"Are you ready?" I asked Clarice.

"I aimed at her chin, but she ducked and I hit her over the eye. She went down in a little ditch filled with broken glass and tin cans."

"I fell on top of her and she got my finger in her mouth and nearly bit it off. We got up and I asked Clarice if she had enough."

TEAR BOMBS DRIVE MOB FROM JAIL

JACKSON, Mich., June 14.—A mob of 3,000, attempting to storm the Jackson jail and get possession of George Straub, an ex-convict, who confessed murdering Miss Alice Mallett, was dispersed early today by tear bombs hurled into the crowd by deputies.

Miss Mallett, matron of the Crittenden home, was found brutally slain and her body mutilated with an ax on June 9.

Straub, regarded as mentally subnormal, was under suspicion from the first. A complete confession was made public early last night.

The streets were soon filled with hundreds of persons, weaving about and talking mob violence. The murmuring, threatening crowd soon started to gravitate toward the jail and demands for vengeance became louder.

Hundreds of women and children were in the crowd. Many women took the lead in demanding the confessed slayer's life.

The crowd surged forward to the jail steps and Sheriff George Lambie ordered deputies to throw the gas bombs from second floor windows. The crowd, angrily defiant, was forced to give way.

In the respite, Straub, heavily clothed, was taken from a rear entrance and whisked away in an automobile, to a neighboring town.

As the crowd drove forward a second time, deputies announced Straub was no longer in the jail. When the mob refused to believe that he had been taken away, a committee was appointed and searched the jail.

A flushing course, devoted to studying their own home town was given some twelve hundred Indianapolis school children from the eighth grades yesterday afternoon, when the Indianapolis Community Civic Clubs conducted a "seeing Indianapolis" tour to all points of interest in the city.

More than a hundred crowded, flag-decked automobiles, led by an escort of mounted police, took the children past all the places worth seeing in Indianapolis, from the monument to Garfield Park, Ellensberger, Brookside and Riverside Parks also were visited; the homes of such notables as Benjamin Harrison, Meredith Nicholson and James Whitcomb Riley were gazed upon with awe; Crown Hill cemetery, the gas plant and the Federal Building were inspected from a

COSGROVESOON TO KNOW FATE IN THEFT CASE

Alleged Auto Stealing Develops Testimony That Amuses Court Crowd.

Fred B. Cosgrove of Muncie, well known circus clown, on trial in Federal Court for alleged complicity in the transportation of a stolen automobile from Chicago to Muncie, Elwood and Clinton, probably will learn his fate this afternoon.

Argument started at the beginning of the afternoon session and the case was expected to reach the jury before adjournment.

At the conclusion of the evidence, Judge Albert B. Anderson directed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty, as to Morris Stokes of Elwood. The evidence failed to show that Stokes took any part in the alleged conspiracy.

Cosgrove took the stand in his own behalf and was given an unpleasant half hour on cross-examination by Homer Elliott, United States district attorney. Cosgrove undertook to explain discrepancies in two written statements given to operatives of the bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice.

"I feel on top of her and she got my finger in her mouth and nearly bit it off. We got up and I asked Clarice if she had enough."

Considerable amusement was furnished the spectators when Cosgrove testified that an automobile for which he said, in one statement, he paid $1200, was suffering from a faulty gas pump and transmission and a cracked cylinder. He said that it could be driven only by some one who understood its ailments.

On request of the Government the case against Carl Robinson and Floyd Foster, also of Muncie, charged jointly with Cosgrove in another indictment set for trial today, was continued.

The same automobile is involved in this case.

a policeman. I understand my secretary was officially notified of her appointment Jan. 2, and he put her on the payroll. You remember the day Ray was gotten up in a hurry, due to the rush of business incidental to the change in administration. I asked Quiesler if he had checked the pay roll and was sure it was right. He said it was, so I signed it.

"Two or three days ago I happened to be looking over the pay roll and saw this woman's name there. I had never seen her working and I learned she had not reported to any of the captains. So I called her in and told her she would have to resign."

"She got mad and told me Taylor Groninger (corporation counsel) and Mayor Shank had told her so and so. I told her the mayor and Taylor Groninger were not running this department and she ought to pay the money back. She was the most impudent woman I ever talked to. She first declined to resign and then finally she sent her badge in."

Board of safety minutes merely show the check for $915.95 was accepted. Whether he or Miss Murphy had given it to the board, Chief Rikhooff said this was a "rather direct question," and he would prefer information concerning it come from the board. President Kingston divulged the details after this.

Mayor Shank said when the matter was reported to him he gave instructions the city was not to sue Miss Murphy, but the money should be gotten back to the city somehow. He said he did not oppose whoever paid the money back suing Miss Murphy, and he had not issued any orders she should not be prosecuted in any official decided she should be.

Shank and Sanitary Board to Mix Again?

Prospects of another jamboree between Mayor Shank and the board of sanitary commissioners appointed today.
