TOWNSEND HAS STIFF FIGHT IN STATE PRIMARY

Michigan Senatorial Race Finds Newberry Issue Still Paramount.

FORD BACKING OPPONENT?

Patrick Kelley Declares He Will Keep Within Limit in Cam-paign Cost.

By United News
DETROIT, Mich., July 6.—Michigan Republicans are lining up for a bitter struggle in the State primaries over their candidate for the United States Senate. The Newberry case will be the dominant issue.

The primary election will be held Sept. 12, and four candidates are already in the field.

Senator Charles E. Townsend will fight for re-election. Townsend has spent nineteen years in Congress, entering politics as an insurgent and later becoming a personal and political follower of Theodore Roosevelt.

Voted to Seat Newberry
Townsend's foes will press to the limit their point that he voted to seat Truman H. Newberry in the Senate, claiming that the rank and file of Michigan Republicans must wipe out the stigma they say attached itself to the party through the scandal fol-lowing Newberry's election.

The Senator's principal opponent is Congressman Patrick H. Kelley, chair-man of the House sub-Committee on Naval Appropriations. The others are State Senator Herbert Baker of Sheboygan and John C. Emery of Grand Rapids, former acting national commander of the American Legion.

Committee Well Organized

Townsend has announced he will stay in Washington until the adjourn-ment of Congress, but here in Mich-igan his well-organized campaign com-mittee has begun its activities and is issuing monthly reports of money ex-pended in his behalf. Already, accord-ing to these reports, the committee has spent more than $3,000, and this is a year when campaign expenditures are going to be carefully observed. The Michigan law imposes strict limits on the personal expenditures of a candi-date, but his committee is allowed al-most free rein.

Kelley, who has been on the field for several weeks, has promised that he will appoint no committees and that he will keep within a candidate's personal allowance, which amounts to $3,750, half a Senator's annual salary.

Backing of Henry Ford

The Townsend faction claims that Kelley has the backing of Henry Ford, who was defeated by Newberry after one of the hottest campaigns in State political history. Should the power-ful Ford interests definitely and openly endorse Kelley, the campaign will resolve into something similar to the original Ford-Newberry battle. The "regular" wing of the party, includ-ing many active in Newberry's elec-tion four years ago, is now largely behind Townsend. Kelley has a wide acquaintance throughout the State and probably excels Townsend as a forceful campaigner. He was Lieut-enant Governor, and toured the State as a gubernatorial candidate later for Congressman-at-Large, second time successfully.

Baker is also a veteran campaigner. His candidacy is sponsored by the Michigan Progressive League, a new combination of labor unions, Nonpar-tisan Leaguers and some of the farm element.

Emery Less Likely

Emery is considered an even less likely choice. He was first on the field, but is practically a novice at politics and his campaign to date is not thought to have gained any en-couraging results.

Former Governor Woodbridge N. Ferris has already been definitely se-lected by the Democrats as their can-didate. Ferris served two terms and was the only Democrat to occupy the Governor's chair in the last sixty years. Recent successes of the Re-publicans, however, have made them so confident that they refuse to be disturbed by the possibility that he might repeat.

Look for Licenses.
Policemen were instructed today to arrest all truck drivers who do not display city licenses.

Burglars obtained $35 from the safe of the Texas Oil Company, 233 E. Walnut St. The safe had been left unlocked.
