

COUNCIL TABLES TURNED ON NEW POLICE STATION

Ray Was 'Anti,' Now 'Pro'- Claycombe, Formerly 'For,'
Now 'Against.'

Councilman Otto Ray, Shank administration critic, today is fighting for the administration ordinance authorizing a $200,000 bond issue to buy the site across Alabama St. from the city hall for a new police headquarters.

Councilman Lloyd D. Claycombe, administration leader, was against the ordinance.

The shift in alignment was not explained by the two in council meeting last night.

The ground is listed in the name of the Fletcher Realty Company, and is appraised at $147,000. William H. Armitage and former Mayor Charles W. Jewett have urged the $200,000 bond issue.

Ray tried to get the ordinance on passage, but Claycombe blocked him with a point of order which President Theodore J. Bernd sustained. The ordinance has been pending for months.

FAST TRAIN GOES INTO SIDING AT PORTER; 50 HURT

One May Die as Result of Crash Between Flyer and Locomotive.

PORTER, Ind., July 6.—One person probably was fatally injured and more than fifty slightly hurt last night when a Pere Marquette passenger train, bound for Chicago, ran into a siding and crashed into a New York Central locomotive.

Investigations are under way to determine whether the accident was through mistake or malice.

The train was traveling at sixty miles an hour when it took the siding, according to Judge Asa G. Adams of Chicago, a passenger. New York Central officials blamed Engineer Root of the Pere Marquette train.

The wreck was within three miles of the place where thirty-seven persons were killed in the New York Central-Michigan Central wreck of two years ago.

Julia Hoyt, Stage Beauty, Has Sensible Ideals

BY WALTER D. HICKMAN.

Crackers and milk will not be the diet of Mrs. Lydig Hoyt, who, in private life is a New York society beauty and the wife of a New York attorney.

While "learning to act," Julia Hoyt, as she is known on the stage, will do it in a de luxe fashion.

But Julia Hoyt has one thing in common with every one on the stage—hard and sincere work before her.

For seven weeks she has given up her wonderful country home out of New York City, and is here in Indianapolis rehearsing daily with the Stuart Walker Company at the Murat.

I motored to the Woodstock Country Club yesterday afternoon with her. The object of my little journey with her was to find out just why she desires to make something out of herself on the stage.

She made the biggest kind of hit personally with me when she declared that she was not disgusted or tired of society, but that she considers the stage a "very pleasant job and not a pastime."

"I think all people are highly interested in any one taking up a job," she told me at the club, while watching Tilden on the tennis court.

The Job Is the Thing.
Julia Hoyt has a "job," and a big one; that she realizes.

She has come to Mr. Walker for training. She will play any part assigned her, and she doesn't expect her name in big type or in the electric sign.

At first she had difficulty in meeting the objections of her family. At first she played a small part in the movies, and last season appeared with William Faversham in a revival of "The Squaw Man."

Her job right now is to fit herself for her work.

She told me that she had a more genuine interest in the stage than anyone suspects. She does not intend to give up her friends, her country home, her husband or her social position.

Women all over the world work, and they do not give up their social positions or their home. Why should Mrs. Hoyt?

"Coming here is just like going on a trip," she said. "I leave my country home and husband for a short time."

She realizes that she must convince the public and the critics that she is sincere in her love for a stage career.

Like Going to School.
Mrs. Hoyt, as I chatted with her in Mr. Walker's box at the tennis tournament, gave me the impression that she was just like the daughter of a wealthy family attending a very proper boarding school.

STAGE BEAUTY HERE

Mrs. Lydig Hoyt, New York society beauty, who hopes to carve a place on the stage for herself by sincere work and study. She is now rehearsing and studying with the Stuart Walker Company.

She really is going to school. It is no lark for her, and, above all, she realizes that her secure and exclusive social position in New York will not make her a great actress. She must study and learn; that she admits.

She loves to motor and drives her own high powered car in the East.

"I was arrested eight times for speeding," she admitted to me, "but a summons was only served once."

She loves tennis and all other sports.

The doors of New York's most exclusive social set open for Mrs. Hoyt. She will not close those doors, but she is seeking only to open the doors of real achievement on the stage.

That's Mrs. Lydig Hoyt, a real individual with an ideal, who will make her local debut at the Murat next week in "Seven Chances."

Mother-To-Be, Read This—

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers. From this moment on, cast from your mind all dread and fear, and feel every day as the months roll by that great freedom from much of the suffering which thousands of expectant mothers undergo, unnecessarily. And when the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend."

Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally to the abdomen, back and hips. It aids the muscles and tissues to expand easily. It penetrates quickly. It contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. It is safe. There is no substitute. Avoid useless greases sometimes recommended by the unkindling "Mother's Friend" is sold by all druggists.

NOTE—Write for valuable, free, illustrated book, "Motherhood and the Baby," containing important authoritative information which every expectant mother should have, and all about "Mother's Friend" to Standard Register Company, 34-46, Atlanta, Ga.
