

STRIKES SLOW UP CAPITOL SOCIETY

White House Ceases All Entertaining — Notes of Washington Folk.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, July 22.—While Washington shimmers in summer heat it shivers at strike news and talks of possible fuel rationing.
And society, which isn't simmering in Washington heat, shivers hardest.
Meanwhile, the strike situation or something seems to have stopped all White House entertaining. The President and Mrs. Harding are expected to be in Washington all summer, with the exception of a three-day trip to Moosehead, Ill., early in August, and a possible short visit to Bar Harbor. At Moosehead the President will address the children at the Moose Home.

Secretary of State and Mrs. Hughes will go to Brazil next month, Mrs. Hughes having accepted an invitation to open the Brazilian Centennial Exposition Sept. 17. A naval vessel will be placed at their disposal.

Vice President Coolidge is scheduled to address the American Bar Association at its meeting, which begins Aug. 8 in San Francisco. He and Mrs. Coolidge will leave Washington the latter part of July for California, and their sons, John and Calvin, Jr., probably will accompany them.

Brig. Gen. Douglas A. MacArthur, former West Point commander, who has been transferred to the Hawaiian Islands, will sail early in August for Honolulu. Mrs. MacArthur, who was Mrs. Cromwell Brooks of Washington, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury of Philadelphia, before sailing with him.

The Secretary of the Treasury, Andrew W. Mellon, and his daughter, Miss Ailsa Mellon, have been entertaining informally on the houseboat Vagabond, which is anchored on the Potomac. The boat belongs to Mr. Mellon's cousin, William L. Mellon, and has been placed at his disposal for the summer.

Members of the French mission, which has arrived in Washington to discuss the funding of the French war debt, were guests at a dinner given by the French Ambassador, Jules Jusserand, and Mme. Jusserand, July 14 in commemoration of Bastille Day.

Senator Kellogg of Minnesota entertained at dinner for the Canadian Premier, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, while the latter was in Washington last week.

Senator and Mrs. S. P. Spencer have as guests their three sons, Sel den, Jr., Brooks and Oliver Spencer.

Theodore Roosevelt, acting secretary of the Navy, has returned from a short trip to Long Island. Mr. Roosevelt also attended the Elks' convention at Atlantic City.

Ethelind Terry Gives Hints on How to Have Beautiful Teeth

ETHELIND TERRY
(This is the second of a series of beauty articles written for the Times by six stage beauties. In it Ethelind Terry tells you how to care for your teeth.)

BY ETHELIND TERRY
Star of "The Music Box Revue," Whose Perfect Teeth Are Celebrated.

Why teeth leave home is a question being thoroughly investigated these days.
More than ever before we are interested in keeping our teeth with us to the end, and in making them comfortable and happy in their surroundings.

This, because we know that aside from being unsightly and causing us pain, bad teeth are the cause of many diseases.

The entire beauty of the mouth depends on the teeth.
You may have a Cupid's bow or rosy lips, but if you can't part them in the middle and reveal nice white teeth, you can't call your mouth your beautiful feature.

A reliable dentist is your first aid. He should examine your teeth twice a year and see that all the cavities are promptly filled, and that the gums are in a healthy condition.

But the daily care, what really counts, is up to you.
Remember to include in your diet a little coarse bread and some foods that require chewing. Then crew.

hop up into the sink and wash themselves and wipe themselves dry with the dish towel and carefully place themselves in the cupboard."

"How nice that is," cried Raggedy Ann.

"Are they magic dishes?" Raggedy Andy wanted to know.

"I do not believe they are magic dishes," said Snow White. "The little Gnomes had them when I first came to live in this cunning little place and they told me they got the dishes when they were quite small—young dishes, and just trained them to wash and wipe themselves dry with the dish towel and carefully place themselves in the cupboard."

"It must have taken a great amount of patience to teach them," laughed Raggedy Ann.

"Indeed, I guess it did," laughed Snow White. "You see, the dishes had a great habit at first of dropping themselves on the floor and breaking. Now let's go out on the Whirling Jinney and play that we are at a picnic."

"We can eat ice cream cones and had frankfurter sandwiches and have a lovely time, for I have a whole lot of tickets which I made just to play with."

The Whirling Jinney which the little Gnomes had made for Snow White was painted snow white and trimmed in gold. The seats were fitted with soft cushions of crimson velvet and there was even a lovely music box which played while the Whirling Jinney turned around.

Raggedy Andy and the Fuzzywump enjoyed riding with Snow White on the lovely Whirling Jinney, but the Puppy Dog said it made him feel as if his eyes were really for surely crossed, so he only rode once, then ran to the Frankfurter Tree and backed until a Frankfurter fell off. While he was eating the Frankfurter the little Puppy Dog heard some one knock at the little Gnome's front door and he ran around to find an old woman with a basket standing there. "Bark! bark! bark!" the Puppy Dog said.

The old woman raised her stick. "You go away from me," she cried. "I looked in my magic Looking Glass and found out that Snow White is still more beautiful than I am and I've come to put a comb in her hair so that she will fall down on the floor."

"Ha!" cried the Puppy Dog, making his eyes cross more than he ever did before. "You are the mean old stepmother queen in disguise." And he jumped and clicked his teeth as close to the disguised queen's ankles she dropped the basket and stick and went running for home as fast as she could go. The Puppy Dog ran after her far into the woods, then he came back and scratched a hole in the ground and buried the comb the queen had intended for Snow White. Then the Puppy Dog smiled to himself as he said, "I've got a secret," and went around and barked at the Frankfurter tree until he got another Frankfurter. Copyright, 1922, by Johnny Gruelle.

ney turned around. Raggedy Ann, Raggedy Andy and the Fuzzywump enjoyed riding with Snow White on the lovely Whirling Jinney, but the Puppy Dog said it made him feel as if his eyes were really for surely crossed, so he only rode once, then ran to the Frankfurter Tree and backed until a Frankfurter fell off. While he was eating the Frankfurter the little Puppy Dog heard some one knock at the little Gnome's front door and he ran around to find an old woman with a basket standing there. "Bark! bark! bark!" the Puppy Dog said.

The old woman raised her stick. "You go away from me," she cried. "I looked in my magic Looking Glass and found out that Snow White is still more beautiful than I am and I've come to put a comb in her hair so that she will fall down on the floor."

"Ha!" cried the Puppy Dog, making his eyes cross more than he ever did before. "You are the mean old stepmother queen in disguise." And he jumped and clicked his teeth as close to the disguised queen's ankles she dropped the basket and stick and went running for home as fast as she could go. The Puppy Dog ran after her far into the woods, then he came back and scratched a hole in the ground and buried the comb the queen had intended for Snow White. Then the Puppy Dog smiled to himself as he said, "I've got a secret," and went around and barked at the Frankfurter tree until he got another Frankfurter. Copyright, 1922, by Johnny Gruelle.

ney turned around. Raggedy Ann, Raggedy Andy and the Fuzzywump enjoyed riding with Snow White on the lovely Whirling Jinney, but the Puppy Dog said it made him feel as if his eyes were really for surely crossed, so he only rode once, then ran to the Frankfurter Tree and backed until a Frankfurter fell off. While he was eating the Frankfurter the little Puppy Dog heard some one knock at the little Gnome's front door and he ran around to find an old woman with a basket standing there. "Bark! bark! bark!" the Puppy Dog said.

The old woman raised her stick. "You go away from me," she cried. "I looked in my magic Looking Glass and found out that Snow White is still more beautiful than I am and I've come to put a comb in her hair so that she will fall down on the floor."

"Ha!" cried the Puppy Dog, making his eyes cross more than he ever did before. "You are the mean old stepmother queen in disguise." And he jumped and clicked his teeth as close to the disguised queen's ankles she dropped the basket and stick and went running for home as fast as she could go. The Puppy Dog ran after her far into the woods, then he came back and scratched a hole in the ground and buried the comb the queen had intended for Snow White. Then the Puppy Dog smiled to himself as he said, "I've got a secret," and went around and barked at the Frankfurter tree until he got another Frankfurter. Copyright, 1922, by Johnny Gruelle.

ney turned around. Raggedy Ann, Raggedy Andy and the Fuzzywump enjoyed riding with Snow White on the lovely Whirling Jinney, but the Puppy Dog said it made him feel as if his eyes were really for surely crossed, so he only rode once, then ran to the Frankfurter Tree and backed until a Frankfurter fell off. While he was eating the Frankfurter the little Puppy Dog heard some one knock at the little Gnome's front door and he ran around to find an old woman with a basket standing there. "Bark! bark! bark!" the Puppy Dog said.

The old woman raised her stick. "You go away from me," she cried. "I looked in my magic Looking Glass and found out that Snow White is still more beautiful than I am and I've come to put a comb in her hair so that she will fall down on the floor."

"Ha!" cried the Puppy Dog, making his eyes cross more than he ever did before. "You are the mean old stepmother queen in disguise." And he jumped and clicked his teeth as close to the disguised queen's ankles she dropped the basket and stick and went running for home as fast as she could go. The Puppy Dog ran after her far into the woods, then he came back and scratched a hole in the ground and buried the comb the queen had intended for Snow White. Then the Puppy Dog smiled to himself as he said, "I've got a secret," and went around and barked at the Frankfurter tree until he got another Frankfurter. Copyright, 1922, by Johnny Gruelle.

ney turned around. Raggedy Ann, Raggedy Andy and the Fuzzywump enjoyed riding with Snow White on the lovely Whirling Jinney, but the Puppy Dog said it made him feel as if his eyes were really for surely crossed, so he only rode once, then ran to the Frankfurter Tree and backed until a Frankfurter fell off. While he was eating the Frankfurter the little Puppy Dog heard some one knock at the little Gnome's front door and he ran around to find an old woman with a basket standing there. "Bark! bark! bark!" the Puppy Dog said.

The old woman raised her stick. "You go away from me," she cried. "I looked in my magic Looking Glass and found out that Snow White is still more beautiful than I am and I've come to put a comb in her hair so that she will fall down on the floor."

The RAGGEDIES by Isabel Ostrander

©1922 N.E.A. Service, Inc.

The strange and unexplained eccentricity of three wealthy, estate and middle-aged OWEN MILES, detective sergeant, and his colleague, FERGUS McCREADY, known as "Scottie," to investigate on the request of PATRICIA DRAKE, daughter of the young-

HOBBART DRAKE, a Wall Street broker, who started his neighbors by appearing in the town square, clothed in a sheet, and delivering a mock oration.

Miles, in the guise of a houseman, is employed at the home, and on his first night hears two brothers, ROBERT, the scientist, and ANDREW, who has recently come from Australia, talking loudly, Roger, by making a burlesque of a scientific paper, and Andrew, by playing with tops on the parlor floor, and equaling Hobart's eccentricity.

"I'm not going to endure it," Miles heard Roger cry. "There is a way out, quick and sure."

"You're talking like an ass and worse—a coward!" Andrew interrupted with sudden, subdued fury. "Jerry's all right, but you've forgotten Hobart's girl! Could she live down the fact that her uncle was a suicide?"

"You know what chance we have of averting what is coming?" Roger laughed in a strained, falsetto which made the listening detective shudder. In spite of himself and there was a quick movement within the room "Pat had better live with the knowledge that one or both of her uncles—and her father as well—had died by their own hands than that all three of them were—"

"Here! None of that!" Andrew cried. He had evidently thrown caution to the winds for his tones had risen to a bellow and a door opened down the hall. Miles retreated hastily toward his screening corner of the wall near the back stairs, but not before the sound of a sharp struggle came from the room where the brothers were, followed by an oath and the tinkle and crash of shattered glass.

Broken glass! He had anticipated a pistol or perhaps even a knife of some sort, but not a bottle! Seizing a handful of the gravel and tablets together Miles stuffed it into his pocket. He had not been bluffing, after all! As Miles replaced the envelope in his pocket, his fingers came in contact with another, the one which Hobart Drake had dropped on the dining room floor. What could it have contained to drive him into such a tempest of fury?

The detective was turning it over speculatively in his hands when suddenly he uttered a sharp exclamation. He needed no magnifying glass to verify the truth: the canceled stamp had been transferred from another envelope and the postmark was a forgery. That letter had never passed through the mails!

CHAPTER VI
It was close to midnight when a stocky figure enveloped in a heavy ulster warmed its way through a gap in the hedge and started a circuitous course about the Drake house.

In a few moments the kitchen door opened and Owen Miles in the sweater and sneakers of his nightly vigil slipped around the corner of the house.

"Scottie, old scout! I knew you'd try to get in touch with me if you could and I've been making a motion picture 'still' of myself against that window shade since 9 o'clock," he whispered. Have you learned anything?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"That is fortunate, William. Mr. Hobart must be taken to the station at once."

His thoughts returned again to her, the innocent victim of the mysterious calamity which had overtaken her people, when after he had safely dispatched his wife to Scottie, he was howling slowly back to the house. It did not come wholly as a surprise when he was hailed by an athletic-looking young man who stood by a low, red runabout at the side of the road.

The young man advanced and leaned confidently over the wheel. "My name's Richard Kemp. I'll give you $5 if you'll take a note to the young lady up there, Miss Patricia, and see that she gets it quietly. Do you understand?"

In a quick flash of memory Miles recalled the deep blush which had mounted in the young girl's face when during the first interview at John Wells' office she mentioned the "Kemp place," and a light broke over him.

"I think I do, sir," he smiled slightly.

"You're all right!" Kemp clapped him on the shoulder. "There won't be any immediate answer, but I'll be at the place she knows every evening at 8 sharp. Here you are!"

"Thank you, sir. I'll deliver the note myself—good-by, sir."

He drove speedily back to the Drake estate and around to the garage to put up the car. As Miles descended from the car he beheld a battle-scarred tom-cat clawing to reach a plate of stale meat on a high shelf, and an inspiration came to him. Taking the envelope from his pocket containing the five tablets, he selected one of them and, rolling it in a small piece of meat he dropped it on the floor. With a growl the cat pounced upon it. For a moment the animal crouched and then its eyes widened with a look of almost human surprise. It rose, turned in a wavering half circle, and then all at once relaxed rather than fell upon its side with all four feet outstretched and the lurid eyes flamed.

So Roger had not been bluffing, after all! As Miles replaced the envelope in his pocket, his fingers came in contact with another, the one which Hobart Drake had dropped on the dining room floor. What could it have contained to drive him into such a tempest of fury?

The detective was turning it over speculatively in his hands when suddenly he uttered a sharp exclamation. He needed no magnifying glass to verify the truth: the canceled stamp had been transferred from another envelope and the postmark was a forgery. That letter had never passed through the mails!

CHAPTER VI
It was close to midnight when a stocky figure enveloped in a heavy ulster warmed its way through a gap in the hedge and started a circuitous course about the Drake house.

In a few moments the kitchen door opened and Owen Miles in the sweater and sneakers of his nightly vigil slipped around the corner of the house.

"Scottie, old scout! I knew you'd try to get in touch with me if you could and I've been making a motion picture 'still' of myself against that window shade since 9 o'clock," he whispered. Have you learned anything?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"That is fortunate, William. Mr. Hobart must be taken to the station at once."

His thoughts returned again to her, the innocent victim of the mysterious calamity which had overtaken her people, when after he had safely dispatched his wife to Scottie, he was howling slowly back to the house. It did not come wholly as a surprise when he was hailed by an athletic-looking young man who stood by a low, red runabout at the side of the road.

The young man advanced and leaned confidently over the wheel. "My name's Richard Kemp. I'll give you $5 if you'll take a note to the young lady up there, Miss Patricia, and see that she gets it quietly. Do you understand?"

In a quick flash of memory Miles recalled the deep blush which had mounted in the young girl's face when during the first interview at John Wells' office she mentioned the "Kemp place," and a light broke over him.

"I think I do, sir," he smiled slightly.

"You're all right!" Kemp clapped him on the shoulder. "There won't be any immediate answer, but I'll be at the place she knows every evening at 8 sharp. Here you are!"

"Thank you, sir. I'll deliver the note myself—good-by, sir."

He drove speedily back to the Drake estate and around to the garage to put up the car. As Miles descended from the car he beheld a battle-scarred tom-cat clawing to reach a plate of stale meat on a high shelf, and an inspiration came to him. Taking the envelope from his pocket containing the five tablets, he selected one of them and, rolling it in a small piece of meat he dropped it on the floor. With a growl the cat pounced upon it. For a moment the animal crouched and then its eyes widened with a look of almost human surprise. It rose, turned in a wavering half circle, and then all at once relaxed rather than fell upon its side with all four feet outstretched and the lurid eyes flamed.

So Roger had not been bluffing, after all! As Miles replaced the envelope in his pocket, his fingers came in contact with another, the one which Hobart Drake had dropped on the dining room floor. What could it have contained to drive him into such a tempest of fury?

The detective was turning it over speculatively in his hands when suddenly he uttered a sharp exclamation. He needed no magnifying glass to verify the truth: the canceled stamp had been transferred from another envelope and the postmark was a forgery. That letter had never passed through the mails!

CHAPTER VI
It was close to midnight when a stocky figure enveloped in a heavy ulster warmed its way through a gap in the hedge and started a circuitous course about the Drake house.

In a few moments the kitchen door opened and Owen Miles in the sweater and sneakers of his nightly vigil slipped around the corner of the house.

ARRANGE LAWN FETE PROGRAM

MRS. WALTER GEISEL MRS. THOMAS DEMMERLY

MRS. DAVID ROSS MRS. J. W. VESTAL

Mrs. J. W. Vestal, Mrs. Thomas Demmerly, Mrs. Walter Geisel and Mrs. David Ross are members of the committee in charge of the lawn fete which the Indiana Indorsers of Photoplays will give next Friday evening at the corner of Thirty-Eighth and Meridian Sts.

Betrothal of Gladys McKelvey to Hans Jacobsen Announced

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. McKelvey, 935 Southern Ave., announce the engagement of their daughter, Gladys Elizabeth, to Hans C. Jacobsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Jacobsen, 3215 College Ave. The wedding will take place Aug. 12 at the home of the bride.

Miss McKelvey attended Butler College last year and is a member of the Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. Mrs. W. A. Ocker entertained with a kitchen shower yesterday afternoon in honor of Miss McKelvey. The gifts were presented in a basket tied with bows of blue, gray and rose tulle. The guests included Miss Ellen Ocker, Mrs. Elizabeth Vrandenburg, Mrs. J. A. Vrandenburg, Mrs. Martin Vrandenburg, Mrs. C. C. Boyd, Mrs. L. S. McKelvey, Miss Mayme Jacobsen, Miss Ida Jackson, Mrs. G. W. Schneider, Mrs. Ross Schneider, Mrs. H. J. Jacobsen, Miss Alice Jacobsen and Mrs. Charles F. Lotz and children, Vera and Charles, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Mrs. Mary Robb, 1011 Harlan St., announces the engagement of her daughter, Harriet, to Frank Blair of Edinburgh, Scotland. The wedding will take place Tuesday evening at the home of the bride, the Rev. James Eakins officiating. The attendants will be Miss Elizabeth Henderson, bridesmaid; Herbert Wilson, best man, and little Misses Lily Crutchley and Irene Dallas, ring-bearers and flower girl, respectively.

Mrs. Harry Crutchley entertained with a miscellaneous shower last evening in honor of the bride-elect.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Pearl A. Kline, daughter of Mrs. A. J. Kline, to William H. Shingleton, which took place in Los Angeles, Cal., last month. Mr. and Mrs. Shingleton were formerly residents of Indianapolis.

Mrs. Mary Robb, 1011 Harlan St., announces the engagement of her daughter, Harriet, to Frank Blair of Edinburgh, Scotland. The wedding will take place Tuesday evening at the home of the bride, the Rev. James Eakins officiating. The attendants will be Miss Elizabeth Henderson, bridesmaid; Herbert Wilson, best man, and little Misses Lily Crutchley and Irene Dallas, ring-bearers and flower girl, respectively.

Mrs. Harry Crutchley entertained with a miscellaneous shower last evening in honor of the bride-elect.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Pearl A. Kline, daughter of Mrs. A. J. Kline, to William H. Shingleton, which took place in Los Angeles, Cal., last month. Mr. and Mrs. Shingleton were formerly residents of Indianapolis.

Mrs. Mary Robb, 1011 Harlan St., announces the engagement of her daughter, Harriet, to Frank Blair of Edinburgh, Scotland. The wedding will take place Tuesday evening at the home of the bride, the Rev. James Eakins officiating. The attendants will be Miss Elizabeth Henderson, bridesmaid; Herbert Wilson, best man, and little Misses Lily Crutchley and Irene Dallas, ring-bearers and flower girl, respectively.

Mrs. Harry Crutchley entertained with a miscellaneous shower last evening in honor of the bride-elect.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Pearl A. Kline, daughter of Mrs. A. J. Kline, to William H. Shingleton, which took place in Los Angeles, Cal., last month. Mr. and Mrs. Shingleton were formerly residents of Indianapolis.

Mrs. Mary Robb, 1011 Harlan St., announces the engagement of her daughter, Harriet, to Frank Blair of Edinburgh, Scotland. The wedding will take place Tuesday evening at the home of the bride, the Rev. James Eakins officiating. The attendants will be Miss Elizabeth Henderson, bridesmaid; Herbert Wilson, best man, and little Misses Lily Crutchley and Irene Dallas, ring-bearers and flower girl, respectively.

Mrs. Harry Crutchley entertained with a miscellaneous shower last evening in honor of the bride-elect.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Pearl A. Kline, daughter of Mrs. A. J. Kline, to William H. Shingleton, which took place in Los Angeles, Cal., last month. Mr. and Mrs. Shingleton were formerly residents of Indianapolis.

Mrs. Mary Robb, 1011 Harlan St., announces the engagement of her daughter, Harriet, to Frank Blair of Edinburgh, Scotland. The wedding will take place Tuesday evening at the home of the bride, the Rev. James Eakins officiating. The attendants will be Miss Elizabeth Henderson, bridesmaid; Herbert Wilson, best man, and little Misses Lily Crutchley and Irene Dallas, ring-bearers and flower girl, respectively.

Mrs. Harry Crutchley entertained with a miscellaneous shower last evening in honor of the bride-elect.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Pearl A. Kline, daughter of Mrs. A. J. Kline, to William H. Shingleton, which took place in Los Angeles, Cal., last month. Mr. and Mrs. Shingleton were formerly residents of Indianapolis.

Mrs. Mary Robb, 1011 Harlan St., announces the engagement of her daughter, Harriet, to Frank Blair of Edinburgh, Scotland. The wedding will take place Tuesday evening at the home of the bride, the Rev. James Eakins officiating. The attendants will be Miss Elizabeth Henderson, bridesmaid; Herbert Wilson, best man, and little Misses Lily Crutchley and Irene Dallas, ring-bearers and flower girl, respectively.

Mrs. Harry Crutchley entertained with a miscellaneous shower last evening in honor of the bride-elect.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Pearl A. Kline, daughter of Mrs. A. J. Kline, to William H. Shingleton, which took place in Los Angeles, Cal., last month. Mr. and Mrs. Shingleton were formerly residents of Indianapolis.

Mrs. Mary Robb, 1011 Harlan St., announces the engagement of her daughter, Harriet, to Frank Blair of Edinburgh, Scotland. The wedding will take place Tuesday evening at the home of the bride, the Rev. James Eakins officiating. The attendants will be Miss Elizabeth Henderson, bridesmaid; Herbert Wilson, best man, and little Misses Lily Crutchley and Irene Dallas, ring-bearers and flower girl, respectively.

Mrs. Harry Crutchley entertained with a miscellaneous shower last evening in honor of the bride-elect.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Pearl A. Kline, daughter of Mrs. A. J. Kline, to William H. Shingleton, which took place in Los Angeles, Cal., last month. Mr. and Mrs. Shingleton were formerly residents of Indianapolis.

Mrs. Mary Robb, 1011 Harlan St., announces the engagement of her daughter, Harriet, to Frank Blair of Edinburgh, Scotland. The wedding will take place Tuesday evening at the home of the bride, the Rev. James Eakins officiating. The attendants will be Miss Elizabeth Henderson, bridesmaid; Herbert Wilson, best man, and little Misses Lily Crutchley and Irene Dallas, ring-bearers and flower girl, respectively.

Mrs. Harry Crutchley entertained with a miscellaneous shower last evening in honor of the bride-elect.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Pearl A. Kline, daughter of Mrs. A. J. Kline, to William H. Shingleton, which took place in Los Angeles, Cal., last month. Mr. and Mrs. Shingleton were formerly residents of Indianapolis.

Mrs. Mary Robb, 1011 Harlan St., announces the engagement of her daughter, Harriet, to Frank Blair of Edinburgh, Scotland. The wedding will take place Tuesday evening at the home of the bride, the Rev. James Eakins officiating. The attendants will be Miss Elizabeth Henderson, bridesmaid; Herbert Wilson, best man, and little Misses Lily Crutchley and Irene Dallas, ring-bearers and flower girl, respectively.

MOVIE INDORSERS PLAN LAWN FETE

Mrs. Walter Geisel, Chairman of Committee, in Charge of Arrangements.

The Indiana Indorsers of Photoplay will give a lawn fete next Friday evening at the corner of Thirty-Eighth and Meridian Sts. Mrs. Walter Geisel is general chairman of the committee in charge, which includes Mrs. David Ross, Mrs. T. W. Demmerly, Mrs. M. B. Robins, Mrs. J. P. Ake, Mrs. Charles Bentjohs, Mrs. Charles Davidson, Mrs. J. Gilbert George, Mrs. C. B. Williamson, Mrs. D. Y. Byrkit, Mrs. Curtis Hodges, Mrs. B. H. Moore, Mrs. George Barker, Mrs. H. C. Fletcher, Mrs. Myron Rinker, Mrs. George Finck, Mrs. Wolfe Sussman, Mrs. J. A. Kendall, Mrs. Jessie Daley, Mrs. J. O. Riddle and Mrs. J. W. Vestal.

The lawn will be decorated with Japanese lanterns and there will be fish ponds, fortune tellers and food galore. Plans are being perfected for a moving picture show.

STUDENTS TO GIVE RECITAL

Metropolitan School of Music Plan Summer Program.

The annual summer recital in piano and readings will be given at 3 o'clock in the afternoon Friday and Saturday of next week at the Metropolitan School of Music by students in the summer school. The program Friday afternoon will be given by William Robert Cragle, Marjorie Carr, Mary Elizabeth Stueber, Reba Levin, John Holman, Robert Hamill, Rosemary Morrisey, Janet Ernst, Martha Hill, Sarah Alex, Bessie Alex, Elisabeth King, Harriet McGaughey, Frauline Robey, Mabel Rider, Hannah Rood, Caroline Hitz, Eugene Kerr, Dorothy Leah Price, Peggy Simpson, Mary Hanks and Martha Mae Staunton.

Saturday's program will be given by Maxine Lankford, Mildred Lankford, Betty Brown, Wesley Williams, Lola Ruth Benck, Fern Shellenbourn, Elizabeth Smith, Jewell Martin, Oma Kathryn Gladish, Frances Small, Jane Elizabeth Walker, Wayne Williams, Jessie Critchlow, Lowell Fink, Rosemary Gladden, Frieda Fink, Blanche Steinmeier, Pauline Cooper, J. Carl Martin, Dona Beck and Athol Hill.

Those who will take part in the program are pupils of Miss Leone Kintner, Mrs. Nora Beaver, Miss Lucille Roark, Mrs. E. Fay Heller, Miss Geraldine Trotter, Miss Helen L. Quigg, Miss Laura Doerflinger, Arthur Berall, Miss Frances Balk, Miss Frances Wishard, Miss Grace Hutchings, Miss Helen Sartor and H. E. Jones.

Clubs & Meetings

Lincoln Lodge No. 2, Knights and Ladies of America, will give a prize dance and card party in P. H. C. Hall, N. East and E. Michigan Sts., Monday evening, under the auspices of the baseball and degree teams. The lodge will hold their semi-annual election of officers in their dance hall, Tuesday evening.

McClainsville Epworth League and Edgewood Epworth League will hold a joint picnic in Garfield Park this evening.

The Ladies of the Altar Society of St. Anthony's Church will have a euchre and lotto party Sunday evening in St. Anthony's Hall on Warman Ave.

The Troubadour Club will entertain at cards this evening in McClainsville Hall.

A Week's Cruise on 4 Lakes

Lake Superior $72.50
Meals & Berth Included

One of the most delightful trips on the finest steamers on the Great Lakes. The trip is educational as well as full of pleasure.

SEE US FOR RATES AND RESERVATIONS