of Her Claim to Alimony Allowance.

By United Press

ATLANTA, Ga., July 28.—The hearing on the temporary alimony suit brought by Mrs. Fannie Manly Hawkins, former belle of Georgia society and a daughter of W. D. Manly, millionaire banker and manufacturer, against Morton S. Hawkins, Portland, Ind., business man, begun unexpectedly in Superior Court here.

Mrs. Hawkins, who claims her husband is "a millionaire," and who is asking no specific amount of alimony, but "an amount relative to his income," declared that one of the reasons she left her home was because "he picked his teeth in public."

Hawkins charged that his 17-year-old wife was on several "wild parties with other men" while they were on their honeymoon in the Bahama Islands.

INDIANA men with Indiana interests at heart head this big $50,000,000 Indiana Life Insurance Company. They are men you'd be proud to know—friendly, generous, sturdy business men. Their names on a Life Insurance document represent more than mere words and titles; they represent men whom you can meet face to face; with whom you can discuss your Insurance problems; flesh-and-blood, neighborly Indiana citizens.

What is Life Insurance?

Life insurance is a form of protection in which MANY combine to guard the INDIVIDUAL. It is MORE than an investment. It is a savings account drawing interest, and providing a substantial and immediate estate in event of death.

The Public Savings Insurance Company has more than $50,000,000 worth of insurance now in force, protecting the lives of more than 200,000 people. It writes all forms of Ordinary Life Policies. The adult schedules embrace all ages between 14 and 65 years. Its Junior Policies, on the Ordinary plan, cover the child in the cradle and extend to the age of 14. The Public Savings Insurance Company is the LARGEST Indiana company writing Industrial insurance, in which protection is given to individuals between the ages of ONE DAY and 65 years.

Supporting State Institutions

The Public Savings Insurance Company is distinctly an Indiana company. Not a dollar of the money invested in its policies leaves the borders of this commonwealth.

Its funds go to promote business and the general welfare of Indiana concerns, and its investments consist chiefly of first mortgages on Indiana real estate.

The money paid into its coffers is Indiana money. It is handled by Indiana men and STAYS AT HOME.

In 1921 this company increased its insurance in force by $8,000,000 over the amount in force for the preceding year. This remarkable stride is due not only to the solid, rock-bottom foundation, but to a well nigh perfect organization and to the sound business methods practiced by its executives.

Advantages of a Home Company

No one outside of Indiana need be questioned in obtaining adjustments on the policies of the Public Savings Insurance Company. The beneficiaries suffer no painful delay. The company's headquarters are located right here in Indianapolis, on Market street, between Pennsylvania and Delaware, and it is possible for anyone in the state to obtain settlement on an insurance policy WITHIN TWENTY-FOUR HOURS' TIME without invoking any outside help or advice.

Get acquainted with this-big Indiana company. You will find the workings of its busy force a revelation in office efficiency. Its spacious quarters, which fill practically the entire four-story building on Market Street, are full of sunshine and the spirit of optimism. A warm welcome awaits any visitor!
