

MILLIONS ADDED TO COAL BURDENS DUE TO STRIKERS

Public Will Be Called Upon to Make Up Huge Loss Due to Idleness.

OPERATORS ARE PROTECTED

Price Boosting Process Goes on to Guarantee Lost Profits.

By ROBERT J. BENDER
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—It is an old saying that the public pays the bill in any great strike. But there, perhaps, has never been more tangible evidence of this—or of how much the bill is to be—than in the situation growing out of the mine and rail strikes.

It is estimated by statisticians that during the mine strike mine workers have lost approximately $300,000,000 in wages, figuring that had they worked normally—about half time—during their present walk-out, this would have been their aggregate pay. But, such are the demands for fuel confronting the country today, that, resuming work, the miners will be virtually assured steady full-time employment for many weeks. Thus they will get back their losses—except in the anthracite fields, where maximum production is maintained at all times.

Prices Have Gone Up.
Statisticians further estimate that mine operators have lost approximately $300,000,000 in profits, damage to plants and possibly loss of markets. But, such are the demands for fuel that those operators who have produced despite the strike, have boosted prices far above the normal level and when production is once resumed fully the boosting process will go merrily on among them all.

Already it is estimated that the people in the country have been called upon for approximately $100,000,000 by way of increased fuel prices and that this bill will run up to a half billion dollars at least before the winter is over.

Manhood of America Is Rising to Preparedness, Says Pershing

(Copyright, 1922 by United Press.)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—American manhood is rising to the necessity for military preparedness, in the opinion of Gen. John J. Pershing, General of the Armies of the United States.

The people of the country are displaying a greater interest now in military training than at any time since the armistice, the General declared in an exclusive interview with the United Press today.

General Pershing's statements are regarded as particularly significant, coming as they do, immediately after Harding's address yesterday to 1,000 "citizen soldiers," who were told by the executive that America wants no more war, but wants to be prepared if another war comes.

PREPARING NEW LAW FOR CURB ON PROFITEERS

Coal Price Regulation Is Occupying Attention of High Officials.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—A new law to curb coal profiteering is being framed by Administration Cabinet members.

At the suggestion of President Harding, several plans have been submitted to Attorney Daugherty and he is expected to confer with Secretaries Hoover and Davis today in an effort to find a satisfactory measure.

Unexpected legal difficulties are besetting the attempt to provide Federal supervision of fuel prices.

Daugherty is drawing up a bill providing for a Federal coal agency to act as a "middle man" by buying huge quantities of coal for interstate shipments, thus holding down prices.

WILL GET FRESH AIR SCHOOL PLAN

Board to Consider First Permanent Construction at Next Meeting.

Plans for the Theodore Potter Fresh Air School will be considered by the board of school commissioners next Tuesday night. Sailer & Rotz, engineers for the board, were directed to submit the plans. The building will cost about $75,000 and if erected it will mark the first permanent construction undertaken by the new board.

Because of what was termed by Walter J. Twinnine, business director, "an outrageous requirement" of the city building inspector the board will be put to an expense of $500 in strengthening floors in ten portable school buildings now under construction.

The building inspector, Twinnine said, insisted that the floors be strong enough to carry a load of at least 2,000 pounds, whereas they never will be required to carry a load of more than 6,000 pounds.

The following appointments were approved on recommendation of George H. Rickles, superintendent of buildings and grounds: R. E. Rice, Leonard Pitman, Elbert Watt, Howard King, Henry Pfister, carpenters, and Emmett McNerney, tinner helper.

Newer Form of Iron Quickly Increases "Pep" Strength and Energy

"You cannot be well and strong and full of vigor, force and power unless your blood is rich in iron," says Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Drug Store), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital.

"It is your red blood that enables you to resist and overcome disease, and that nourishes every organ in your body. Without iron your blood becomes thin, pale and watery. Poor blood cannot nourish your vital organs and as a result you may have pains in your heart or kidneys, indigestion, headaches and feel all rundown and tired out."

When your blood lacks iron, do not waste your time taking stimulating medicines, but directly enrich your blood with the newer form of iron sold by all druggists under the name of Nuxated Iron, which is like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples and is in a form easily assimilated into your blood.

Get a bottle of Nuxated Iron today. Take it for two weeks and if you have not, like thousands of others, obtained most surprising health, strength and energy, the manufacturer will promptly refund your money. The following local druggists will sell you Nuxated Iron with this "satisfaction or money back" guarantee: Hook's Dependable Drug Store, Haag Drug Co. and Henry Euder.—Advertisement.

GANFIELD WAKES UP AND SLAMS AT BOB LA FOLLETTE

Wisconsin Candidate for Senate Gets Scrapping Spirit From Conference.

VOTERS LIKE FIGHT

Campaign Is as Heated as Any in Last Thirty Years Among Badgers.

By United Press
MADISON, Wis., Aug. 22.—Up to a fortnight ago political cymbals were being clashed only in that spot in Wisconsin occupied at that moment by Senator Robert Marion La Follette.

His opponent for the Republican senatorial nomination, William A. Ganfield, president of Carroll College, was conducting a professional campaign politely refraining from attacking his veteran opponent and confining himself to academic discussions of his political economy viewpoint.

Somehow this did not seem to take hold. Wisconsin has used to it. It is accustomed to the red-hot political oratory of the La Follette brand.

Backers Take Hold
Ganfield's backers, the "committees of forty-four," took their candidate in hand. They knew him for a fighter, once he got started.

As president of Center College in Kentucky, he put the institution on the map with a few dollars and a football team. They know he could scrap against anything.

Ganfield has absorbed this scrapping doctrine and as a result Wisconsin is witnessing as personal and as heated a political campaign as it has known since La Follette himself loomed on the horizon thirty years ago and tipped the existing order upside down.

He is telling the people of Wisconsin that Robert Marion La Follette, by his "obstructionist methods," hasn't done a thing for the State in the Senate since 1916.

But the vehement, stocky and hard-fighting leader of Wisconsin Republicanism for three decades is letting no grass grow under his feet.

Defends War Record.
He is defending his war record without any reservations and asking no favors. He is still blaming Wall Street for the war, declaring that every prediction he made in the stirring days of 1917-18 has come true.

One of La Follette's favorite arguments in this campaign is advocacy of complete publicity for all State and Federal personal and corporation income tax returns. He is declaring that the Government and States are being beaten out of millions by the present system.

Times Information Director Explains Methods Tomorrow

In tomorrow's paper, Frederick M. Kerby, director of the Indianapolis Times' Washington information bureau, will tell readers in a story brimful of human interest, just how the Question and Answer service operates. You have often wondered how it is possible for any bureau to answer any question anybody chooses to propound, haven't you? Wouldn't you like to take a peep into the inside workings of such an organization? How would you like to look over the shoulders of the research workers and reading clerks at Washington and see all the letters that readers send in and how they are answered? Do you know the most asked question? Wouldn't you like to read some of the funny things people want to know? Want to know how our Washington bureau had helped some of our readers? Then look on the editorial page tomorrow for the story by the man whose duty it is to see that each and every one of you gets a personal reply to anything you want to know.

For nearly two years now Kerby has been directing and developing your bureau for you. The Indianapolis Times selected him because of long training and experience in newspaper and research work. Born in Washington and familiar with the Government service through years of service in three of the great Government departments, Mr. Kerby has served this newspaper in one way or another since 1910. In the past year he and his staff have handled in the neighborhood of 200,000 requests for information of various kinds from readers of this and its associated newspapers. You will find Kerby's story of how this was done intensely interesting. Look for it tomorrow.—EDITOR.

Vegetable Grower Is King of Optimists, Layman Declares

By NORA KAY
Some people's idea of an optimist may be the man with an empty cabbie bin who expects to replenish it this winter at $7 a ton—or the cheerful financier who invests in German marks and lives in hope they will rise, but neither of these have anything on the vegetable growers who are holding their fourteenth annual convention in Indianapolis this week.

For any gardener who can look over the exhibit in the Riley Room of the Claypool Hotel and then go back home and plant a crop of anything, has more courage than it took for Governor McCray to call off the Dempsey fight. For, after all, a prize fight is one thing and a cabbage worm is one of a million things, all green, creepy and viciously hungry.

Of course they didn't bring the whole million into the Riley Room but there were at least a dozen or so artistically spread out over an honest-to-goodness cabbage, which is probably the first time a worm of the cabbage variety has stopped at the Claypool.

The verdant c. w.'s were by on means the only creepy things that were featured at the convention, however, as there were grub worms and bugs and army worms and asparagus beetles, not to mention several dozen varieties of plant diseases known by such scientific names as mosaic and anthracnose, which seemed to mean respectively bumps and brown spots.

Listen to Lectures
But the growers are the last word in optimism. They listen to lectures on bugs and fungi, bad weather and uncertain transportation, and then invite you over to Tomlinson Hall where they show examples of vegetables that are guaranteed to make your mouth water.

Pure Ginger Ale Benefits Health

Utica Club is more than a delicious beverage

Ginger ale made from real ginger, true fruits and pure distilled water is an ideal tonic for you to use regularly to keep your digestive system in good order. You can get that kind of ginger ale at a very moderate price if you ask your grocer or other dealer for "Utica Club."

The carbonic gas and the ginger stimulate the digestive fluids, while the fruit nourishes the system, and the distilled water, which is used exclusively in Utica Club, protects your health from minerals and bacteria that might prove injurious. Distilled water is the only water that is scientifically pure.

You will like Utica Club also because of its delicious flavor—not too mild, not too bubbly. It blends perfectly with numerous mixed drinks. Order a case at once from your grocer or dealer. If he doesn't carry Utica Club, phone Main 1316, Monument Bottling Co., 912 N. Davidson St., Indianapolis, local distributors.

M'CUMBER SAYS BONUS SUCCESS CLOSE AT HAND

Senate Action Seems Sure Following Completion of Several Polls.

CONTEST WILL BE STAGED

Burden of Four Billion Debt Arouses Antagonism of Objectors.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Passage of the bonus bill in the Senate by the middle of next week, with approximately thirty votes against it, seemed assured today.

This was evidenced in announcement of several separate polls of the Senate. Chairman McCumber, co-author of the bill, predicted a substantial majority over two-thirds will advance the measure to the President for signature.

Opponents Lining Up
Opponents were lining up for battle on the grounds that the Nation cannot stand any added financial burden which the bonus, it is estimated, will impose to the extent of about $4,000,000,000.

McCumber and other staunch supporters were ready to contend that the bonus is in reality a Government obligation—long overdue—to war veterans.
