

KELLOG FACTION CONFIDENT WITH OPPOSITION SPLIT

Minnesota Election Might Have Different Result With Two Parties.

FUSION ATTEMPT FAILURE

Farmer Labor Group Makes Gains, While Democrats Stage Unique Fight.

By FRANK J. TAYLOR,
Times Staff Correspondent
MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 1.—Minnesota is a shining example of a State that the "outs" could be the "ins" if they could but get together.

The candidates are 1. Senator Kellogg, whose mission in the Senate has been that of head office boy for the Harding Administration.

2. Mrs. Anna D. Olesen, Democratic nominee, running on a liberal platform.

3. Dr. Hendrik Shipstead, running on the Farmer-Labor ticket, organized largely by Thomas Van Lear, former Socialist mayor of Minneapolis.

Minnesota, since the dawn of the progressive movement, had known three parties.

Combined Vote Larger

In the past two elections the combined Farmer-Labor and Democratic vote has greatly exceeded that of the entrenched Republican party.

This year an effort to unite Democrats and the Farmer-Labor group failed.

The Kellogg faction, thanks to the split, is not worried. But the Farmer-labor group is active and promises sensational gains. And Mrs. Olesen, in a Ford coupe, with her daughter as chauffeur, and her husband as tire expert, is bumping over the country roads of Minnesota daily, talking democracy to the farmers.

LACK OF MARKETS CAUSES BIG LOSS OF PERISHABLES

High Freight Rates Prevent Shipments of Vegetables and Small Fruits.

By United Press
CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—America, with its greatest fruit and vegetable crop, is losing millions of bushels of apples, peaches, plums and potatoes daily because of lack of markets.

Commissions houses accept only the select or fancy grades.

Great quantities of fruit are rotting on the ground. Bumper crops are reported in every section.

An example of the loss was thirty car loads of potatoes on track here today from Idaho.

These potatoes sell for from $1.40 to $1.50. The cost of getting them to the market is about $1.45.
