

MOVIES BOOK BIG ATTRACTIONS FOR STATE FAIR WEEK

Fair," specially arranged by Lewis R. Swain, organizer.

"Blood and Sand" Booked

A story of colorful Spain, of moonlight, of senoritas, of dancing and rufians—the land for passionate love-making—written by Vicente Blasco Ibanez, author of "The Four Horsemen," adapted by June Mathis, adapter of that production and directed by Fred Niblo, who directed "The Three Musketeers." Such is "Blood and Sand," starring Rodolph Valentino which opens today at Loew's State.

A story of hot, impetuous love against a background of the most dangerous sport known to man—bull fighting. Immense scenes there are of the bull ring, the tremendous crowds, the impressive opening pageant and the charge of the bull, the cape play, the foot work, the dangerous work of the devils who infuriate the bull, who dare the beast

TIGERS PERFORM AT BARNES CIRCUS

Performing tigers as shown in picture will be among the features to be seen Monday afternoon and evening in the Al G. Barnes circus. Jiggs, an orang-outang performer, is another strange animal to be seen in a complete act. Mr. Orang-outang wears a toupee. Quite classy, but he seems to feel that it injures his dignity. It is announced that there will be a circus parade Monday morning.

to kill them—and who often lose their dare.

A Jack London Story

At the 1st next week the chief feature of the program will be "The Son of the Wolf," a drama adapted from a Jack London story. Edith Roberts and Wheeler Oakman have the leading roles.

The scenes are laid amid the big snows of the northwest, and the chief figure of the story is Scruff Mackenzie, a stern frontiersman who with his partner, Harrington, penetrates the frozen wilderness of Alaska in search of wealth and adventure. During their stay at an Indian village Mackenzie falls in love with Chook-ra, the pretty daughter of the chief of the tribe. Harrington turns out to be a scoundrel, and an interesting plot is developed in which a girl from a dance hall in Dawson City is an important factor.

The bill includes a comedy with "Brownie," a dog, featured.

Triple Bill Booked

"The Branded Man," a story of banditry in the old days of the West, will headline the program at the Regent all week. George Waggoner and Fritz Ridge way are the leading players in "The Branded Man," which deals with the fight of a bank robber to regain his honor. The program will include Ruth Roland in "The Smuggler's Cave," the latest episode of "The Timber Queen," and Paul Parrott in "Wet Weather," a comedy.

Farm on Menu

Dustin Farnum in "Oathbound" will be the attraction at Mister Smith's beginning Sunday. The story, written by Edward J. LeSaint, is a tale of river pirates on the Pacific coast. The scenes are laid along the river front at Santa Barbara.

The star's leading woman is Ethel Grey Terry and Kid McCoy, ex-prize fighter, and Lefty Flynn, the former Yale football star, also are in the cast. A comedy and news reel complete the program.
