Stuffed Peppers

By BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH of Columbia University

6 large, sweet, green peppers
1 cup macaroni
1 small onion
2 tablespoons butter or oil
1 cup bread crumbs or
Salt, pepper
1 cup grated cheese

Wash, wipe and cut the peppers in halves lengthwise. Remove seeds and inside pulp and sprinkle with salt.

Break macaroni in small pieces and cook until soft in boiling, salted water. Drain, season well with salt and pepper.

Stuff peppers with macaroni. Cover each pepper with bread crumbs mixed with a little melted butter, or with the cheese.

Place in a pan, adding just enough water to prevent burning, and bake until peppers are soft. Serve with a fresh tomato sauce.

If one does not wish to serve a sauce with the peppers, mix the macaroni with enough cooked tomato to moisten.

Cooked rice may be used instead of the macaroni.

Martha Lee HER COLUMN

Martha Lee will be glad to answer questions of Times readers regarding problems of love, clothes and etiquette. For personal reply, send stamped, self-addressed envelope. Questions will be withheld from publication at the writer's request.

The "sweet young thing" used to gaze up demurely over her lace fan, smile sweetly at whatever "he" said, and conquer his heart.

Today the "sweet young thing" granddaughter plays golf and tennis with "him," takes him riding in her father's car and discusses with him everything from the latest dance to the next election.

Still, if she is wise, she reverts to some of her grandmother's tactics. Just as grandmother did, she lets him see that she values his opinions highly. She lets him excel in tennis and golf, and she doesn't outwit him in discussions.

For, the times have changed, lovers and men have remained much as they were in the day of the "sweet young thing."

Answer to Geraldine: You want the vote and all that goes with modern freedom, without giving up anything women had before they got the vote.

In your ardor for "independence" you are sacrificing the chain which marked women of the past century. Learn to blend the two. The man who "used to seem almost in love" probably is being driven away by your "masculinity."

Dear Miss Lee: I am 21 years old and have never been popular with men. I have a younger sister who is very popular. She tells me I am "pale" and a "prude." Really, I know I am not very entertaining, but it seems I just cannot talk when I am with men, especially if I like them. Isn't there something I can do to make myself popular?

Answer: Your trouble, self-consciousness, can be overcome through will-power. When you are with men force yourself to think about them and about anything except yourself. Get the men to talk—they like to, anyway—about their own affairs and then sit up and listen intently and interestedly.

Remember the man may be as self-conscious as you. In trying to put him at his ease, you will get rid of your own self-consciousness. When you meet strange men stick to impersonal subjects until you find out what particularly interests the men; then let him talk.

Answer to FIFTEEN: Do as your mother asks, and wait a few years before beginning to have "dates." By doing that you will enjoy your gay times more when they come.

"Thoughtful Mothers!" Are You One of Them?

All mothers—bless them—are loving and devoted. How wonderful relief and in a few days all trace of the congestion and catarrhal symptoms are usually gone. The joy of seeing the quick freedom from colds, coughs and dangerous complications, the freedom from anxiety and sleepless nights, to say nothing of the real economy of this home remedy—is "worth its weight in gold."

To Keep Hair Curly, Wavy and Beautiful

Here is how your hair can be curled, nicely, easily and harmlessly, to "stay curled." Before doing it up, apply a little liquid Silmerine with a clean toothbrush. In three hours you will have just the prettiest curls and waves—and they will look and feel so natural you'll never think of doing without Silmerine thereafter. You won't be troubled any more with hair stringing around your face—with burnt, uneven ends, nor with that dull, dead appearance. The hair, whether long or bobbed, will remain in curl over so long.

Any druggist can of course supply you with liquid Silmerine, and a few ounces will last you a long time. It is neither sticky nor greasy, and is really a delightful thing to use. It is doubly useful besides, if a hair setting or a home-made dressing for the hair. Advertisement.

DANCING RUNS IN THE FAMILY

KENNETH C. GAYNO

When the dancing recital is presented next Thursday evening in English's opera house by Kenneth C. Gayno and the pupils of his mother, Mrs. Leontine Gayno, the third generation in a family of dancers, will display his terpsichorean art. Nearly fifty years ago Kenneth's grandmother, known as "Leontine," appeared here with the Metropolitan Opera Company under the direction of Colonel Mapleson. With the company were such famous singers as Patti and Campanini. Twenty-five years later the daughter of the famous Leontine, now Mrs. Gayno, mother of Kenneth, had fame equal to her mother's and was premier dancer with the Metropolitan Opera Company. She visited Indianapolis in an all-star production of "Sinbad."

From early childhood Kenneth displayed his natural heritage of dancing and was taught by his mother. For the past two years he has been with the Chicago Opera Company ballet.

The Orloff Trio has been engaged to play for the dancing, and also will be heard in numbers by Beethoven, Gluck and Suite Op. 35 by Horatio.
