green, a color no one else wears nearly as well as the red-haired woman. Or, child, of course, always is thought of first when mentioning colors for the women with Titian locks. Brown is usually a becoming. You should be able to wear almost any shade of blue. And black probably brings out the beauty of your hair. Only pink and red are to be avoided—and some red-haired women wear even those shades.

Importance of Line
Paris designers declare that frocks should be very simple and unadorned, that elaborate trimming should be avoided and the gown should depend for its effect on the line and draperies.

Wrist Corsages
Wrist corsages are a novelty and promise to have a vogue among the younger set. It is quite effective to have velvet flowers, matching the evening frock, twisted about the wrists to form bracelets.

CHAIN SAVES WOMAN

Restraints Cow After First Vicious Attack and Goring.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Mrs. Thomas Mullin of Glenham, Dutchess County, treated by hospital surgeons for serious injuries received by an attack from a cow, was saved from death by the length of chain the cow had on its neck. When she was going home in the forenoon with some packages, the cow grazing at the roadside, suddenly rushed at her, threw her to the pavement and gored her. When she regained consciousness the cow was struggling to gore her again, but the chain prevented another attack.

Turbans for Evening

Smart turbans for evening are noted at all fashionable openings. They are usually formed of silver or gold cloth and illusion, or of beads and metal cords. They are close and light in weight and there seems to be a tendency to avoid spreading feathers or attempts at elaboration of outline.

COVER UP

These two French lasses show you what's what in hats and how it is being worn. To reveal the eyebrow is almost as bad form as to expose the ear.

Both models are for street wear and are recommended as fitting accessories for the stylish costume suits.

TRIPS AT FOURSORE

Master Urges Dance for Longevity

By RODNEY DUTCHER United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The royal road to the century mark leads up and down the ballroom floor.

This road is recommended by Augustus E. Bourne, veteran Chicago dancing master who during the past sixty years has taught several generations of Chicago's social luminae to trip the light fantastic gracefully, and having failed to lose any of his nimbleness at the age of 80, expects to be alive to join the ranks of the centenarians in another twenty years.

Eighty years unattended by rheumatism or aches and pains of any sort, is attributed by the aged dancing master to the exercise involved in the great amount of dancing he has done, and Bourne also thinks his lessons have done a great deal to keep aches and pains away from such leading families here as the Pullmans, the Philip Sheridans, the Armours, the Potter Palmers and the Kimball families.

A reporter who called on old Mr. Bourne Monday found that dancing had not prevented the whitening of his hair, but otherwise his appearance could almost be called youthful.

"Yes, I certainly feel young," the dancing master said. "And the fact can be largely attributed to the extensive exercise I've had in dancing. There's nothing finer, and hundreds of people I've instructed came to me for the exercise in it, without caring about the entertainment that it affords."

"The entertainment and the music are the best of nerve tonics, while the physical movements can be depended upon to keep up the circulation. It's good for the old people, too many of whom sit around just as if they were waiting to die. No wonder they're afflicted with rheumatism and other troubles that afflict them as they advance in age."

Association with children in his juvenile classes has also helped to keep Bourne young, he thinks. He has been teaching correct dancing to children since 1867, when he opened his studio here.

Soul Food Is Necessary to Hold Husband's Kiss, Expert Declares

By United Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Establishment of kiss clinics for marriageable girls, to solve American divorce problem, was urged today by Irene Bordoni, Parisian stage beauty.

Miss Bordoni declared marriage in this country has become a farce through failure of young wives to kiss properly.

"They kiss with their lips—not with their soul," she declared.

"A woman's whole heart should be put into every kiss she gives her husband."

And the petite Irene, whose kissing has won the plaudits of continents, puckered her own luscious lips, in a most seductive manner.

"A kissable woman will keep any normal man anchored at home," she declared, and all who heard and saw, believed.

"Too many wives think they can hold their husbands through their stomachs," she continued.

"You can starve a man's body, but let his soul go hungry for love and the marriage knot will soon be untied. Scientific love is more practical than domestic science."

In order to teach girls the value of a kiss before they are married, Miss Bordoni suggested the operation of a scientific kiss clinic in conjunction with all divorce courts.

ment the passing of the olden dances which have been almost entirely superseded by the fox trot, was inevitable, but he thinks he will live to see their revival.

"Ah," he said, with a reminiscent twinkle in his eyes, "the good old quadrille, the gallop, the two-step, the Virginia reel and the rest of them—they are all gone. But they will come back some day. They say history repeats itself, and those good old dances will return."

"Grace and deportment are qualities which lie dormant in the human race, and only need the desire, followed by a little directed concentration and application to awaken them. They have a wide influence in building and establishing character. Dancing when properly conceived, adapted and taught awakens these dormant qualities, help to develop character and at the same time affords pleasure. The practical value of dancing from an educational standpoint is universally recognized."

Mrs. Bourne, who helped build up her husband's fashionable school, is four years his junior and in equal good health. The aged couple will celebrate their sixtieth wedding anniversary in June.

Gossip!
The very word seems full of dread meaning. It has a history of heart-aches, broken homes, ruined lives. Steer clear of the woman, or man, who starts out with: "Of course, I don't know whether it's true, but I heard—"

Some day she may hear something about you and she will tell it with great relish to listeners. She may mean no harm, but that does not keep her from doing a great deal of harm.

Be careful that you do not put yourself in the class of gossips by repeating any stray stories you may hear.

In the courts a man is innocent until he is proved guilty. But in the court of public opinion gossip often convicts an innocent man.

Answer to DORIS: I am not surprised that our friend is angry. Even though you meant no harm when you repeated what you had heard about her, you should have realized how harmful gossip always is. Send her an apology, telling her that you did not realize the harm you were doing. And remember, after this, that gossip never does any good and usually does a great deal of harm. Even when it happens to be true, you gain nothing by repeating an unpleasant story. And when it is untrue, you may lose a friend, as in this case, and you surely will lose the respect of people of high ethical standards.

Answer to BROWN EYES: You are not supposed to "do and act" in any special way to start to have "dates." As you cannot ask the boys, you must just wait until they ask you. Of course, you can make yourself as attractive as possible, so that they will like you and want to go with you. That is all you can do.

Answer to RED-HEAD: Think of the many women who dyed their hair to get just the shade of which you would be rid! But they could not get that same shade, because dyed hair does not have the life that naturally-colored hair has. That is why I advise you against dyeing yours. Instead, bring out the beauty of your hair. Wear bright and pale

HOW TO GET RID OF DANGEROUS DANDRUFF

If you have dandruff you must get rid of it quickly—it's positively dangerous and will surely destroy your hair if you don't.

Dandruff means faded, brittle, scraggly hair that finally dies—new hair will not grow—then you are bald and nothing can help you.

The sure way to abolish dandruff for good is to destroy the germ that causes it. To do this quickly, safely and most effectively get from your druggist a bottle of Parisian Sage. This is guaranteed to banish dandruff, stop itching scalp and falling hair, and stimulate new hair to grow.

Parisian Sage is a scientific preparation that supplies hair needs—an antiseptic liquid neither sticky or greasy, easy to use, and distinctly perfumed.

If you want beautiful, soft, thick lustrous hair, and lots of it, use Parisian Sage. Don't delay—begin tonight—a little attention now insures abundant hair for years to come.—Advertisement.

ICE CREAM PAUNCH Substitute for Beer Bay Window

By United Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The beer "bay window" has been replaced by the ice cream paunch, and of these two the latter is the bigger, according to a national health survey made public here Monday by the National Life Insurance Company, which declares the great American waist line is becoming greater, and that the United States seems doomed to become a Nation of fat men.

Thousands of belts have been let out one, two or even three notches since prohibition, the survey finds, and vest buttons have popped with such frequency as to indicate that by the time Roscoe Arbuckle returns to the movies, he will find countless potential rivals.

IF HAIR IS TURNING GRAY, USE SAGE TEA

That beautiful, even shade of dark glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. You hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.—Advertisement.
