EXPLOSIONS COMING Englewood Hall Exposition Scene

By THE VISITOR

An explosion generally is a sign something is happening. There will be two aerial bomb explosions in the east part of the city Monday night.

The first will be the signal that the first part of the new Englewood community hall, as a part of the Englewood Christian Church, has been formally turned over to the board of directors, and the second will announce the opening of a five-day Englewood Crafts and Products Exposition.

The Hustling Hundred, the men's Bible class of the church and Rev. F. E. Davidson, pastor, conceived the idea of the exposition. Men, women and children of the community have made lamps, tables, dolls, fancy work, comforts, bed linens and hundreds of suitable Christmas gifts. These goods will be sold at reasonable figures.

Forty-two Indianapolis firms have been allotted space at the exposition and will exhibit their products. Although it is a community event, the Rev. Davidson feels that it will attract people from all parts of the city.

Entertainment will be provided during the five nights of the exposition. On Monday night the Newboy mortgage. He also will give an illustrated lecture. Rev. L. C. Fackler is pastor of the church.

RED CROSS AIDS DISABLED SOLDIERS

"The disabled soldier and his dependents continue to be our largest responsibility," said William L. Fortune, chairman of the Indianapolis chapter of the Red Cross, in his report given at the annual meeting of the Red Cross at the Chamber of Commerce late yesterday.

Reports also were given by Frank D. Stalnaker, treasurer, and Eugene J. Foster, chairman of the civilian relief committee. Thomas E. Green, chairman of the Speakers' Bureau of the National Red Cross, also spoke.

The annual receipts of the association were $56,463.07, the treasurer's report showed. The total disbursements were $66,436.20. The apparent deficit was made up from the balance left over from last year.

Resolutions expressing appreciation of the work done by Mr. Foster were passed.

The following twelve members of the board of directors were re-elected: Francis H. Gavick, Hilton U. Brown, Frank D. Stalnaker, Mrs. P. M. Watson, W. J. Moore, Franklin Vonnegut, Mrs. William L. Elder, Mrs. Meredith Nicholson, Louis Hollweg, Myron R. Green, Mrs. Wolf Sussman and E. U. Graf.

TRIDON EXPLAINS POLITICAL TURNS

Copyright, 1922, by United Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—"The world is showing off." So Andre Tridon, the famous psychoanalyst, explains the many political upheavals which have taken place within the last few months.

"The public, the world over," Tridon said, "is tired of the bosses and wants to show its power. It wants to do something itself; some great thing to which it can point proudly and say, 'I did that.' This accounts for the lack of direction. In each country where there has been a turn-over it has pointed in a different way."

Movements Over World

Tridon referred to Italy, where there has been an extreme nationalist movement. To the sudden and complete conservative reaction in England.

To the recent successes of the Democratic party here in America. To the many shifts, backward and forward, and roundabout in Russia.

To the establishment of a republic in Germany, and the apparent dissatisfaction with it.

To the overthrow of monarchy in Turkey.

And to the many turnovers, reversals and upheavals all over the world in Poland, Albania, Rutenia, Greece and China.

All this, according to the psychoanalyst, is in large part attributable to the war.

People Taught to Kill

"During the war," he says, "governments lied and murdered and taught the people not to love their brothers, but to kill them. And the people were made to do what the governments ordered. So now, in reaction, they want to show that they can do something themselves. And they want particularly to show the governments and they're doing it."

"It is a sort of egotism, this wish to show power. Does the public know what it wants? No. But it knows what it does not want. It does not want a monarchy and no more does it want a democracy; neither kings nor presidents. But not having any idea as to what would be better than these, the public merely turns out whatever happens to be in power."

Fred Gause, 22, 33 W. Henry St., was under arrest today on a charge of operating a blind tiger. Patrolman Dunwoody went to Gause's place and asked him if he could get a "little drink." Gause is alleged to have started to pour out a drink of "white mule," when the police squad, under Sergt. Cummings, raided the place.

SILENT TRIBUTE PAID TO UNKNOWN

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—A tribute of silent homage, impressive and significant, was paid here today to the unknown soldier on the first anniversary of his return from foreign fields of battle to his home land.

The President of the United States stood before his tomb in the great white marble amphitheater in Arlington cemetery where last year all the world paid him homage and in behalf of the American people, placed a memorial wreath upon the tomb.

The Secretary of War was there and the Secretary of Navy, representing the land and naval forces. They stood silently beside the President, forming a small semi-circle. No one else participated in the brief ceremony.

No word was spoken. Their silent tribute paid, the three high officials of the Government departed.

DISCUSS SCHOOL SPECIFICATIONS

Another step toward the inauguration of a building program was taken by the board of school commissioners last night, when the board, sitting as a building and grounds committee, finally discussed the standardized building specifications.

The present board has been in office more than ten months and a revision of the specifications has been mentioned at almost every meeting during that period. However, no definite steps were taken until last night. Walter J. Twinn, business manager, and Jacob H. Hiken, inspector of construction, presented a revised set of specifications and, although they were not given final approval, it is believed this action will be taken soon.

The specifications used last year have been characterized as extravagant and containing unnecessarily expensive requirements, but the new set are not radically different from the old.

The board expects to receive bids on seven new school buildings about Jan. 1.

CLOSED CAR SHOW TO BE REPEATED

The first Indianapolis Closed Car Show came to a successful close last night, with dealers expressing satisfaction over the sales records and the number of prospects obtained.

A record crowd thronged the aisles when the lights flickered as a signal for the building to be closed. Attendance during the last two days of the show made a remarkable increase.

"The actual business done far exceeds the most optimistic expectations," John B. Orman, manager of the show, said today. "Next year the show probably will be held early in October."

The Enclosed Car Show will become an annual event, Mr. Orman said.

DECLARES SIGMON AFFAIR FRAME-UP

"The whole thing was a frame-up," this statement was made by Commissioner Adolph Emhardt at a special meeting of the board of school commissioners last night in referring to the arrest and conviction in city court recently of Charles M. Sigmon of the Sigmon Coal Company on a charge of attempting to deliver a short weight load of coal to a school house.

Sigmon was fined $25 and costs after he had been found guilty. The case now is pending on appeal in city court. Emhardt's opinion was backed up by Ralph McCarty, purchasing agent of the board, who said that he thought the State had made a weak case against Sigmon and that a finding of not guilty should have been made.

Albert Baker, attorney for the board, disagreed with Emhardt and McCarty and said the evidence was sufficient to justify the judgment of the court. However he advised the board not to cancel the contract with the company until a complete investigation had been made.

After a long and bitter discussion Walter J. Twinn, business director, and Thomas Howell, coal inspector, were instructed to check up on the weights given on coal delivery slips by the trucks making the deliveries and report their findings to the board.

During the discussion Howell caused a mild sensation when he said that in the past coal companies had refused to permit him to use their scales in weighing coal being delivered to the schools by other companies. When asked why this was the case he said he "guessed they stuck together." He added that no instances of this kind had happened this year.
