

BRIDE OF A DAY HAMPERS TIERNAN

Professor Says He Will Live
With Whoever Law Declares
His True Wife.

SAYS CASE IS 'INTERESTING'

Mrs. Tiernan No. 1 Wants to Know His Relations With Iowa Woman.

By United Press
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 28.—Peace reigned in the John P. Tiernan household today following a stormy reconciliation with his wife.

But Professor Tiernan was all but anchored to his home. An invitation from Mrs. Blanche Brimmer at Marshalltown, Ia., his "bride of a day," to join her in Iowa stood between the professor and Mrs. Tiernan and hampered prospects of a quiet reunion.

Mrs. Tiernan at the same time demanded to know what her husband's relation had been with the Iowa woman during their brief honeymoon in Chicago Saturday. She was not content with her husband's explanation that it was a "public honeymoon," that he did not have his bride alone a single moment.

Trend of His Love
Tiernan still views the whole affair as an "interesting case." Whatever his legal status toward the woman, there apparently is the trend of his love.

When Mrs. Brimmer called the professor on the long distance telephone insisting she was his wife and pleading that he come to Iowa and live with her, he replied:

"I intend to live with whoever the law of Indiana decides is my wife."

Hoosier Briefs
SOUTH BEND.—Court officials here are wondering if the disrespectful yawn made by Alan Partridge when he was called before Judge Kovacs on a charge of drunkenness, didn't have something to do with his drawing a fine of $10 and fifty days.

LA PORTE.—Elimination of punch boards and of screens in front of all pool rooms and ex-saloons will be the next move in the cleanup campaign being staged by members of the ministerial association here.

ANDERSON.—C. C. Gray of Muncie, has been indicted here for embezzling $500 obtained from O. P. Walser of Anderson, for an investment in a get-rich-quick scheme which did not materialize.

FRANKFORT.—Just as he placed a finger over the peg while engaged in a game of horseshoes, Henry Kempie, 79, of Mulberry, sank to the ground and died from heart failure.

WARSAW.—Property valued at $200,000 which was not listed by township assessors, has been uncovered by County Assessor Charles L. Hatfield and placed on tax duplicates in this county.

LAFAYETTE.—The Rev. F. H. Bell, as pastor of the Pentecostal Mission Church here, has closed his doors because of "large and worldly"ness," he says. A large crowd attended the last meeting.

MUNCIE.—A Muncie meat cutter overcharged a woman customer early in the morning. When he closed his shop that night he walked eight blocks out of his way through a snow storm to refund her 15 cents.

SOUTH BEND.—Brooms and butch knives were a constant menace to Theo Bauwens, who stated in his divorce complaint filed here that he lived in constant fear of assassination.

COLUMBUS.—Officials of the Interstate Public Service Company charge that the city of Columbus has been using twice as much current as it has been paying for, due to a defective meter.

ALBION.—A local hunter claims to have a new method of catching ducks. He says he soaks corn in "moonshine" liquor, places it on the bank of a lake, and waits for the ducks to become intoxicated, when he captures them.

ZIONSVILLE.—Zeke Stum is exhibiting a black "raccoon" which he killed while hunting. It is said to be a very rare animal, according to old hunters here.

WABASH.—Dr. R. F. Blount, 91, who is said to be one of oldest physicians in the State, is ill at his home here. Dr. Blount is one of the familiar figures of this city. He has driven his automobile on his calls until recently.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.—Advertisement.

Administers Mental Embalming Fluid; Enough Music for All in Vaudeville

By WALTER D. HICKMAN

Mental embalming fluid was slopped all over me last night.

But—here is a confession—I liked this particular brand.

I am still a little stupid today because Pauline Frederick administered the embalming fluid in large doses. Miss Frederick, after a lengthy and profitable sojourn in the movies for about eight years, decided some months ago to return to the stage where she might see and hear her audience. After a series of several months in Chicago, she landed at the Murat last night in a play called "The Guilty One."

The author and the cast conspired to play a trick upon the audience and I will admit they certainly do turn the trick. It's just about as nice a little trick as I ever have seen on the stage. After the trick is played, neither the authors or the players "rub it in," but pass the joke off as hysterically and dramatically as possible.

"The Guilty One" operates as a sort of a mental oplate. You want to think, but Miss Frederick and her talented assistants sail on and your desire to think leaves you. You take the hook, pole, line, bait and everything else, and I think I am just as ordinary, everyday, average, goor. I was fooled and I loved it.

I think it is unfair to state just how you will be fooled, because ignorance is bliss, and the more ignorant one is, the better he will like the show. So I think I will give you a chance to be deceived in some exciting embalming fluid.

This play is a sort of mystery affair. Nicely timed and expertly acted by Miss Frederick, Charles Waldron, Noel Leslie, Charles Dalton (splendid as a Scottish Yard man), Henry Warwick, Ethel Intropoli and Florence Edney.

Concerning Miss Frederick

Rather surprised to see Miss Frederick so slender. Here is a clever woman. She is a good actress. She knows her theater and her public. When she turns loose her dramatic talents in the second act—well, I was ready to believe what she was trying to make us believe. When she is rebellious, she is interesting. When she is in tears, she is divine. The movies did not injure her ability to act. You actually can hear every word she utters. That's something these days. Mr. Waldron, as the trick husband, bluffs you dramatically, just as Miss Frederick does.

Rather have the hunch the average theatergoer will enjoy the experience of being fooled by Miss Frederick, the playrights and her several assistants in the cast.

At the Murat today, Wednesday afternoon and night.

And There Was Music

The men who booked the acts at Keith's this week must have had the impression there was a musical comedy in town. The current bill is swamped in fact it is lopsided with music. There is classical and jazz music. The violin and the piano is a popular instrument this week. If the actors don't play an instrument they sing.

There are two strictly classical acts on the bill—Kovacs and Goldner, a pianist and violinist; Maryon Vadie, a dancer, and Ota Gygi, a violinist who plays real music. This is giving us the musical classics in extra heavy doses, but the truth is—it is real music. I have the feeling you will forgive those who placed so much melody on the bill.

The Vadie and Gygi act belongs to the better sort. Miss Vadie is a talented dancer. The closing number, "Rondo Capriccioso," in which she is assisted by the Portia Mansfield dancers, is as pretty a dance picture as one would want to see. Here is classical dancing—pure, clean and beautiful. Nothing objectionable here.

Kovacs and Goldner play mostly classical numbers. Both are artists. They make a concerto out of "April Showers." Al Shurne and Frank Donia are very musical and mighty noisy. They seemed to "land well" with everybody but me. Leo Miller

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them
Off with Dr. Edwards'
Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cured with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 50c and 20c.—Advertisement.

and Alice Bradford increase the melody wave with an act called "Typical, Typical Tales." Jack Wilson, with the assistance of three others, are the applique winners of bill. They offer burlesque and it ties up the show. Curtain talk by Wilson, applause, bows and everything else. The Nakae Japs offer no melody. They present Jiu Jitsu. Raymond Wilbert opens the show.

At Keith's all week.

A Fox Story

"Say, Pop, what makes 'em smell so they have to put perfume on?" This is what the mountain girl in "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," the attraction at English's for the first half of the week, wants to know when she is told about the so-dirty girls in the city.

The mountain girl doesn't approve of the "educated" girl at all and pretends to be called a "gaw" instead of girl. She can't understand how they can amount to much when they don't work and do nothing but wear pretty clothes and use perfume.

"The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" is based on the story of that name by John Fox, Jr. It is a Kentucky mountain story of Civil War time and feuds and moonshine liquor are much in evidence. A pretty romance is run through the story.

John Clayton, who has the role of Chad, "the little shepherd," handles the role in a pleasing manner. Janet Cameron as Melissa, the mountain girl, is quite capable. The cast as a whole is good.

As a popular priced attraction, this show should make some appeal.—(By the Observer)

Just Soap Bubbles

Never knew there was so much beauty and even comedy to soap bubbles until Griff appeared this week at the Lyric. Here is an unusual man. He makes a living blowing soap bubbles. He is so clever that he blows a nice big bubbles and then divides that bubble into two bubbles. He even juggles these bubbles. He does numerous other things, including a nice balancing stunt. Great act for children.

The Jarvis Revue possesses something which so many so-called vaudeville revues lack—a real comedian. The one in this revue has material, real goods, and he knows how to put it over. Not an elaborate revue, but pleasing because of the work of the comedian and his foil.

"Indoor Sports," a comedy concerning two fellows calling on their girls, is noisy slapstick. No merit that I could see. Crane Sisters specialize in songs. They have a rather unique number about "The Spider and the Fly." One of the girls is chuck full of personality.

The Caledonian Four is just as the title indicates—music and humor from the land where only kilt-wearers could come from. Marie Kell and Brother Brothers open the show. The bill includes the Haas Brothers.

The Jarvis Revue and Griff are the high lights of the Lyric's bill this week.

Introducing a Dog or Two
Two acts have real live dogs at the Palace this week.

My favorite dog this week is the one owned by Coley and Jaxon in "The Minstrel and the Maid." Here are two people and a dog. The humans of this act walk right out on the stage and go to work to make us laugh. The woman is so clever she made this act my favorite on the bill. The dog seems to appreciate the quaint and individual humor of his mistress.

The second dog exhibited at the Palace comes in an act called "Young America." It deals with what some people might think happens in a juvenile court. This sketch is so far-fetched it is actually misleading as to what actually happens in a real juvenile court. Overacted by those in the cast. The dog is the only one who appears real.

A ventriloquist is generally satisfied with one dummy, but Vernon has six of them on the stage at the same time. It takes work to do this and Vernon gets along nicely with it.

George Austin Moore is a story teller and a singer. His songs and stories deal chiefly with the South. He has a pleasant stage appearance. The Musical Hunters open the show by playing on many instruments.

Their descriptive hunt number is different from that offered in the average musical act. The bill includes K. T. Kuma and company, and Lambert and Fish.

The mole feature is Florence Vidor in "Dusk to Dawn."

At the Palace all week.

Concerning Columbia Burlesque

Some people shy at the word burlesque and well they might. Many crimes have been committed in the name of burlesque. In my experience covering the theater I have made it my business to keep in touch with all branches of entertainment. I have arrived at this conclusion—on the whole, the Columbia Wheel burlesque does not offend nor insult, but actually entertains.

Their burlesque fare, Burlesque today successfully to compete in the entertainment field must be clean. It must be clean, it must not be an outing for roughnecks. Clever men and women can entertain successfully American citizens on the burlesque stage without insulting their intelligence or damaging their morals.

I am speaking of Columbia Wheel burlesque only and one of its shows, "The Greenwich Village Revue," at the Park this week. This house became a Columbia Theater this week.

I detest filth and commonness on the stage and I admit I did not find these enemies of true entertainment in "The Greenwich Village Revue." I found plenty of slapstick comedy and I found several mighty clever entertainers, especially Tom Senna and Ray Read. Their burlesque or travesty on the famous "Floradora" sextette is a gem in burlesque comedy.

The chorus is strong on good looks. They dance well and don't bore you while singing. They do not expose naked legs but wear clean tights and the like. The show is in many scenes and the scenery is often lavish. The comedy is clean and cleverly presented by Senna, Read and the others. Several of the women principals have more than fair good looks.

Those who enjoy decent, interesting burlesque on the revue style, done by performers who know their business, will find such attributes in "The Greenwich Village Revue," at the Park this week.

At the Park this week.

ties. This week the acts are given prominence on the bill.

The vaudeville acts consist of Woodall and Snyder, in "Boys From Dixie"; Earl and Grace, in "Just Two Little Girls"; Miller and Lane, Comics De Luxe, and The Jesters, in "Something Different."

The musical comedy is along the usual lines and is called "My Southern Rose."

Mothe Blue in "A Broken Doll" is the photoplay attraction.

At the Broadway

"Georgia Peaches," the Mutual Wheel attraction at the Broadway this week, is reminiscent of a show which played here earlier in the season called "The Jazz Babies."

The show is composed chiefly of hits, song numbers and dancing. Andrew White, Otto Powers and Fred Wilson are new members in the cast. White heads the singing contingent and puts over his songs in good style. Scottie Friedell is the featured comedian.

Caroline Ross, Dora Davis and Irene Perry are the other principals in the cast. The chorus is a fairly good one.

On the Screen

The following movies are on view today: "When Knighthood Was in Flower," at the Ohio; "Oliver Twist," at the Circle; "Dr. Jack," at the Apollo; "The Impossible Mrs. Bellow," at the Colonial; "Romance and Arabella," at the Isis; "The Kick-Back," at Sister Smith's, and "The Sheriff of Sun Dog," at the Regent.

What She Saw in the Looking Glass

By MARION JONES.

Lucille would have been a lovely girl, a real beauty, but alas! her complexion was bad, her face was covered with unsightly pimples, and at dances the young men passed her by for girls with smooth, velvety skins, though they were not endowed by nature with a fairer form or lovelier face, were it not for disfiguring blotches. She spoke of her distress to the old family physician, who gave her a simple cooling lotion and said: "No outward application will cure you; what you need is a good blood purifier, something to tone up a sluggish liver and I am glad to recommend a splendid herbal remedy I have used in my practice for many years. It is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I knew Dr. R. V. Pierce and can assure you that this remedy is a purely vegetable one, as I have analyzed it. Come back to me in a month, dear child."

With renewed hope Lucille followed his advice. Gradually her complexion cleared, the pimples disappeared and every one looked with surprise and admiration at a girl with a smooth and lovely skin, and her girl friends eagerly inquired what had caused this transformation. "Of course," she replied with a happy smile, "I owe it to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

Druggists sell the "Discovery" in both liquid and tablet form, or send 10 cents for trial sample to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, 655 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement.

SEEK SEPARATE PACT WITH TURKS

Conference at Lausanne Faces
Another Break in Policy.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—The Near East peace conference at Lausanne is about to mark another break between the policies of the United States and the great allied powers. It was evident in official and diplomatic quarters here today.

The United States Government will not be a party to the treaty of peace to be worked out between the allies, Greece and Nationalist Turkey, but on the contrary is seeking a separate treaty with Turkey at Lausanne.

The proposed pact between the United States and Nationalist Turkey is believed to be a treaty of amity and commerce, establishing an up-to-date basis for relations between the two countries in the light of changes of the World War and the victory of the Nationalist Turks.
