

CONGRESS WORKS TO CARRY OUT HARDING PLANS

Legislation to Satisfy Farm
Bloc Will Start in Both Houses.

TAX BILLS IMPORTANT

Prohibition Measures Will Wait
Until After Conference
With Governors.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Congress today took initial steps to carry out the legislative program outlined yesterday by President Harding, although it is realized all the recommendations cannot be enacted this session.

As a result the legislative action of the President may be summarized as follows:

Taxation—The House Ways and Means Committee will ask the House next week to sandwich between appropriation bills resolutions for amending the Constitution to prohibit tax-exempt securities.

Anderson Bill Is Basis
Rural Credits—In both houses, the Agriculture and Banking and Currency Committees will tackle a mass of legislation and try to whip into shape a bill that will satisfy the farm bloc and the Administration. In the House, the Anderson bill, creating a farm credits department, with $5,000,000 capital in each Federal reserve bank, probably will be the basis of committee work.

Railroads—The President's recommendation for abolition of the railroad labor board and his other suggested legislative reforms in the transportation law will be considered by the House and Senate Interstate Commerce Committees at meetings to be held within a few days. If Mr. Harding's recommendations for a merger of the railroads into a few big systems, and for legislation to prevent strikes are insisted upon, there can be no railroad legislation at this session.

Consider Immigration
Immigration—The Senate and House Immigration Committees will meet the coming week. While immigration is considered too large a question for satisfactory solution in the haste of a short session, there will be much discussion of it.

Mr. Harding's suggestion for registration of aliens would require treaties and is inadvisable in the opinion of some House leaders.

Child Labor—The House Judiciary Committee probably will present a resolution amending the Constitution, giving Congress power to prevent child labor.

Prohibition—The President's denunciation of violators of the Volstead act and the eighteenth amendment was expected to result in new legislative suggestions for enforcement. Leaders, however, said Congress was not called on at this time to do anything about prohibition. After the President's conference with the Governors some legislative steps may be taken.

Congress and How It Operates

Boys and Girls of Indianapolis: How much do you know about Congress? Do you know how many members of Congress there are from this State; how much salary they get; how the Speaker of the House is chosen; how nominations for Congress are made; how Congressmen are elected; how Congress can and cannot do; how often Congress meets; how special sessions are called; how the number of Congressmen is fixed?

Charges Cruelty

The second marriage ship of Mrs. William L. Rohrer, widow of Jake L. Hamon, slain Oklahoma oil millionaire and politician, has run aground. Mrs. Rohrer, shown above, has filed suit for divorce. She says Rohrer, below, despite claims to wealth, refused to support her in the style to which she was accustomed, and practiced jiu-jitsu on her.

CHARGE OIL RATE DISCRIMINATION

As a part of the State-wide fight put up by the Indiana State Chamber of Commerce to obtain lower freight rates on petroleum and allied products, forces in South Bend, Terre Haute and Evansville have been organized by George H. Mosser, managing director of the chamber, and R. B. Coatsick, manager of the freight and traffic department. The big users of petroleum products and allied products are cooperating with the chamber in a fight to equalize the freight rates.

The petroleum case will be tried before the Interstate Commerce Commission here, probably next month, according to Coatsick. Briefs are being prepared by the Chambers of Commerce in the Indiana towns, which show that Indiana consumers pay from $68 to $108 a car more freight than cities an equal distance from the mid-continental oil fields, which lie West of the Indiana-Illinois State line. Mr. Mosser, in discussing the problem today, said that the petroleum is carried over the same roads, often on the same trains with petroleum transported to other cities at a cheaper rate.

that had no effect on the Rhenian school of French politics.

This school is as powerful as ever. In one respect, it is more powerful, for in 1919, there was a statesman at the head of affairs who had the strength as well as the sagacity to resist their ill-judged claim.

"When It Comes to End"

But what about 1922? Where is the foresight and where is the strength? There is a real danger that the fifteen years' occupation may on one pretext or another be indefinitely prolonged. When it comes to an end, will there be a ministry in France strong enough to withdraw the troops?

Before the fifteen years' occupation is terminated, will there be a ministry or a series of ministries strong enough to resist the demand put forward without cessation in the French press that the occupation should be made effective?

Upon the answer of these questions, the peace of Europe, the peace of the world, perhaps the life of our civilization, depend.

The pressure to do the evil thing that will once more spill rivers of human blood is insistent. The temptation is growing. The resistance is getting feeble.

"Against Any Nation"

America and Britain standing together can alone avert the catastrophe. But they can only do so by making it clear that the aggressor—whichever it may be—will have the inevitable might of these two commonwealths arrayed against any nation that threatens to embroil the world in another conflict.

There are men in Germany who preach revenge. They must be told that a war of revenge will find the same allies side by side inflicting punishment on the peace breakers.

There are men in France who counsel annexation of territories populated by another race. They must be warned that such a step will alienate the sympathies of Britain and America and that when the inevitable war of liberation comes, the sympathies of America and Britain will be openly ranged on the side of those who are fighting for national freedom.

The time has come for saying these things, and if they are not said in high places, humanity will one day call those who occupy those places to the reckoning.

Guarantees To France

The pact, giving guarantees to France against possibility of German aggression, was designed to strengthen the hand of M. Clemenceau against the aggressive party which was then and still is anxious to commit France to the colossal error of annexing territory which has always been purely German. M. Clemenceau knows full well that Britain has been ready at any time during the last three years, up to a few months ago, to take upon herself the burden of that pact, with or without the United States of America. At Cannes, early this year, I made a definite proposal to that effect. It was a written offer made by me on behalf of the British government to M. Briand, who was then Prime Minister of France. I was anxious to secure the cooperation of France in a general endeavor to clear the European situation and establish real peace from the Urals to the Atlantic seaboard. French suspicions and French apprehensions constituted a serious difficulty in the way of settlement and I thought that if it were made clear to France that the whole strength of the British Empire could be depended upon to come to her aid, in event of threatened invasion, French opinion would be in a better mood to discuss the outstanding questions which agitate Europe.

International Good Will

International good will is essential to reestablishment of the shattered machinery of international commerce. With a great country like France, to which the issue of the war had given I am not complaining of M. Barthou. He did his best under most humiliating conditions to remain loyal to the conference which his government had seceded from the moment it was clear that the British government was hampered, embarrassed and tangled at every turn. Whenever he took any step forward, he was lassoed.

MRS. B. L. WEST,
142 N. Blackford St.,

says: "I was in a wretched condition with kidney and bladder trouble. My back pained so, I could scarcely move and there was a steady, dull ache across my kidneys. Inflammation of the bladder made the trouble worse and the action of my kidneys was irregular. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and have never had anything do me as much good. The aches and pains left, the inflammation of the bladder disappeared and my kidneys were regulated."

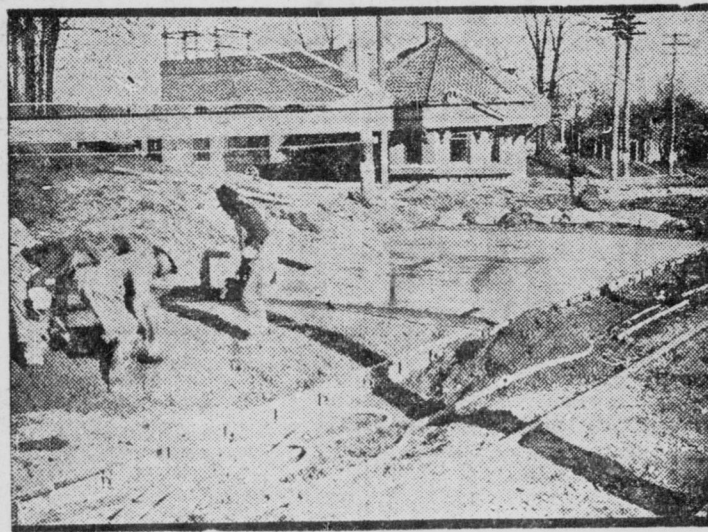

EDWARD ALBERS, City Fireman,
426 Dorman St.,

says: "I consider Doan's Kidney Pills a splendid remedy. My kidneys were out of order and I had severe pains across the small of my back. When I stooped, it was hard to straighten. I used Doan's Kidney Pills from Freund's Drug Store and they soon took the aching and soreness out of my back. Doan's also put my kidneys in good condition."

Indianapolis to Capital

A continuous paved road from Indianapolis eastward to Washington will be open to traffic Dec. 20. The road over which the early settlers of the West came. The picture shows work on the last few feet of by a dispatch from Paris. I am cred- ited with the fact that he received 800 of these communications in the course of the conference!

What could the poor man do under such bewildering conditions? The other European countries were perplexed and distracted. They were anxious that Genoa should end in a state of peace. There was no doubt about sincerity—the passionate sincerity of a desire for peace throughout Europe, but the European nations could not help feeling that one of the great powers was working for a failure. They had a natural anxiety not to appear to take sides. It is a marvel that in spite of this unfortunate attitude adopted by the French government that a pact was signed which has, in any case, preserved the peace in eastern Europe for several months.

Before the conference we had heard of armies being strengthened along frontiers and movements of troops with a menacing intent from the Baltic to the Black Sea. Genoa, at least, dispelled that cloud.

But a permanent peace has not yet been established and the pact with Russia will soon expire. I am, however, hopeful that the spirit of Genoa will stand between the contending armies and prevent the clash of swords.

Reason More Sinister

All this, however, is leading me away from an examination of M. Clemenceau's suggestion that Britain did not keep faith in the matter of guaranteeing France against German aggression. The offer was definitely renewed at Cannes and M. Poincare has not accepted it. I have my own opinion as to why he has not done so. It is not merely that he does not wish to set the seal of his approval upon a predecessor's achievement. I am afraid the reason is of a more sinister kind.

If France accepts Britain's guarantee of defense of her frontier, every excuse for annexing the left bank of the Rhine disappears. If this is the explanation, if the French ministers have made up their minds that under no conditions will they even at the end of the period of occupation withdraw from the Rhine, then a new chapter opens in the history of Europe and the world with a climax of horror such as mankind has never yet witnessed.

The German provinces of the left bank of the Rhine are intensely German in race, language, tradition and sympathies. There are seventy millions of Germans in Europe. A generation hence, there may be a hundred millions. They will never rest content as long as millions of their fellow countrymen are under a foreign yoke on the other side of the Rhine and it will only be a question of time and opportunity for the inevitable war of liberation to begin. We know what the last war was

SPEEDWAY CLASSIC ON MEMORIAL DAY ATTACKED

American Legion Opposes Desecration of Solemn Occasion.

The holding of the 500-mile Speedway race classic in Indianapolis on Memorial day will be made the subject of a legislative attack in the coming General Assembly, John B. Reynolds, secretary of the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce and president of the National Service Clubs, Inc., said in a speech before the local Service Club at the Hotel Lincoln, Friday.

The meeting was attended by State department adjutants of the American Legion, which, as an organization, has gone on record as opposed to the desecration of the day in this manner and which promised support to any effort to have the event declared illegal. Mr. Reynolds, in his address, said he felt confident there would never be another Speedway classic held on Memorial day at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

SIX POLICE DE IN TWO MONTHS

Pension Fund Reaches $200,- 000 Through Rewards, Dues.

Six members of the Indianapolis police department have died since Oct. 12, records of Lieut. Samuel Shelton, secretary of the police pension fund, showed today.

They were Mrs. Mamie Shelton, colored, policeman; Patrolman Peter Teneff, William Whitfield, colored; Michael Raftery and Robert Kinsey and Detective Henry Askins.

Wives of five policemen have died since Aug. 14.

There are 133 dependents of dead policemen on the pension pay roll, which totaled $4,841 last month.

The pension fund is kept up by taxation, rewards received by the police department for captures of criminals and recovery of stolen property and assessment of each member $1.25 a month. Income exceeds the annual expense and the fund, now over $200,000, is gradually being built to a point where interest, rewards and assessment will be sufficient to warrant elimination of the tax levy.

Receipts from rewards have dropped materially this year because the State automobile police have been getting most of the fees for recovering stolen motor cars. Gaddis said.

OWNERS OF LAND ENTER PROTEST

Owners of property in the vicinity of Forty-Sixth and Pennsylvania Sts., today appealed to the city plan commission, building and engineering departments to prevent David Smith, real estate dealer from erecting a one-story frame business building at 4533 N. Pennsylvania St.

Among those who protested were Dr. Carl D. Lucas, 3365 Carrollton Ave., and Mrs. J. Gardner Wilson, 4546 N. Pennsylvania St.

Officials told the property owners, who feared their high-priced residence land would be depreciated in value, they were powerless to aid them because the city zoning ordinance will not become effective until Dec. 20.

The zoning ordinance, puts the neighborhood in a single family dwelling district, the most restricted classification, with the intention of protecting the homes there from commercial despoliation.

Smith obtained a building permit for the one-story structure Nov. 23. Neighbors said it would be built close to the sidewalk. The permit calls for an 18x20-foot building costing $500.

WIFE ASKS DIVORCE; SAYS HUSBY WAS CRUEL

Annis E. Legg, 3466 Carrollton Ave., wife of Edward A. Legg, filed suit today in Circuit Court for divorce on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment.

Among the inhuman acts alleged to have been committed by Mr. Legg were kicking and knocking the furniture, spanking the baby, once, in a rude manner and some times refusing to eat Mrs. Legg's cooking, because he said it would choke him.
