

EITHER LAW OR KLAN WILL RULE, SAYS GOVERNOR PARKER

TUTEWILER HOLDS UP APPROVAL OF ROAD ASSISTANTS

County Commissioners Make Out Lists of Thirty-Two Superintendents.

RUMFORD REFUSES TO QUIT

Highway Chief Says Postoffice Commended Condition of Pikes.

Approval of the appointments of thirty-two assistant county road superintendents was held up again today by the failure of Harry Tutewiler, county commissioner, to sign the list. Commissioner Hoffman said the appointments would be ratified formally late this afternoon or early tomorrow.

The list by districts, as decided on by each commissioner, Hoffman said, is as follows:

Tutewiler: Division three; District one, Fred Powell; two, Elmer Kester; three, Charles De Ford; four, C. H. Peters. Division five, District one, Carl Cross; two, Jerry M. Gray; three, Nicholas Tex; four, Hubert Jordan. District five was dropped in this division.

Hoffman: Division one, District one, John Weatherly; two, F. D. Hoffman; three, Harvey Darnell; four, Alfred Husey; five, Homer Tracy; six, James Cossell. Division two, District one, Fred T. Gregg; two, P. E. Dunbar. District six was dropped from this division.

Kitley: Division three, district five, William Beverland; six, William Ellis; seven, dropped; eight, S. L. Boland; nine, Gus Bowen. Division four, district one, Charles Bolander; two, Herman Bakemeier; three, Albert King; four, Benjamin Lautz; five, Samuel Pfendler; seven, Harry Hansing; and eight, Harry Sharp.

The board refused to comment on the refusal of Warren C. Rumford, superintendent of roads, to resign in favor of George Burks. Rumford has three years to go before his contract expires.

In a statement Rumford said that he had received a letter from the Postoffice Department stating that the roads of Marion County were in better shape this winter than for several years.

LEADER OF GANG IS SHOT DOWN

Tragedy of Underworld Brought to Light in Discovery.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—A tragedy of the underworld came to light today when William Lovett, called by the police the leader of the Brooklyn "white hand gang" was found in a lodging house on the water front near death from three bullet wounds.

"This is a game of give and take," he gasped, as he was being carried to the ambulance. "When we get it, we take it."

He refused to betray the names of his assailants. The shooting, he said, occurred in the street. The assassin then carried him into the building and put him to bed.

Police believed Lovett's "executive" was plotted by other members of his organization, which was split over internal politics.

TENANT PROSPECT SEES EXODUS OF BLIND TIGER

Police Seek Man Alleged to Have Moved Boozie Cargo.

Police today are searching for Lucius Wilson, colored, of 525 N. Talbot St., wanted on a blind tiger charge, after it is alleged that Wilson removed a quantity of white mule and colored whiskey from Apartment 6, at 814 N. Meridian St. B. J. Wall, apartment 12, at the same address, told the police he was in Apartment 6 with a view of renting it when he discovered thirteen pints of colored whiskey and two gallons of white mule hidden in a closet. He said when he returned to the apartment after calling the police that he discovered Wilson leaving.

ARBuckle FILMS BARRED IN OHIO

State Censor Board Puts Ban on Fat Comedian.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 3.—Roscoe (Fat) Arbuckle was barred from appearing on Ohio movie screens by the State censor board today.

"If Arbuckle films are submitted to this board they will be rejected," said a statement from Education Director Riegel.

Safety

Andrew Holos, 43, laborer, 1124 Kentucky Ave., thought he had found a safe place for a still, according to police. He had not, though.

Lieut. Corrigan and Sergt. Nagleson raided the home today and said they found a ten-gallon still beneath the family altar.

Through an interpreter Holos said he was a member of a Polish church. He is charged with operating a blind tiger, although no liquor was found.

Loom as Candidates for House Speaker

Politicians great and small scrambled around hotel lobbies and governmental buildings today lining up votes for the speaker of the House of Representatives who will be named at a republican caucus to-night.

Leonard A. Pittenger, above, and Raymond C. Morgan, below, appeared to be the leading candidates.

MAD MONK PAWNS GEMS FOR MEALS

Famous Russian of Untold Wealth Is Penniless.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Ilador, famous as Russia's "mad monk," former familiar of the emperor and empress and man of untold wealth, is now a tenant of an East Side New York flat and wondering where next month's rent is coming from.

Not so long ago Ilador's monastic environment assured him of his bed and board, and his imperial friends were lavish in gifts of precious stones. Whereas once the imperial wand made room for him in the palace, the only symbol of hope to him now is the three gold balls that hang over a hockshop.

His Wealth Melts

Around Thanksgiving Ilador, whose right name is Sergei Michaelowitch Turfanoff, came to this country with trunks full of rubies. When the trunkful ran up against the rate of exchange a few paltry dollars, the price of a couple of American meals was all that accrued.

He auctioned off a jeweled studded crucifix and a costly ikon. Under the new tariff law a person may not sell personal effects he has brought into the country before three years have passed. So the United States demanded eighty per cent of what had been realized on the sale.

Pays Bill Collectors

But investigation revealed that Ilador only got $250 from the auction sale and all of the money went to bill collectors. Now the purchaser, a rich Russian is being sought and the eighty per cent of an appraisal price will be assessed when he is found.

ASSAILANT CHASES BOY

Police are searching for a colored man who chased James Graham, 10, to his home last night. C. C. Graham, 3266 College Ave., father of the boy, gave a description of the man.

Heads British Mission

Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the British exchequer, is shown here with Mrs. Baldwin as they sailed for the United States, where the chancellor will head the financial mission which will attempt to make a permanent settlement of the debt England owes to America.

Martial Law May Be Declared in Moorehouse Parish to Prevent Further Kidnaping of Witnesses—Feeling Is Tense.

BASTROP, La., Jan. 3.—Citizens of Moorehouse parish who attend the open hearing in the courthouse here beginning Friday to investigate the kidnaping and killing of Watt Daniels and Thomas Richards by a hooded mob, must check their shooting irons outside the court.

Up in this country, where the roads are dark and homes far apart, where customs centuries old must bow and yield to the strange demands of a newer civilization, the men carry weapons as a matter of course, and "since that Mer Rouge affair," they have oiled up their guns for action.

Arms Barred

But during the hearings, for the first time in the romantic history of Moorehouse parish, its citizens will not be permitted to keep their side arms.

The citizens of Bastrop, already resentful at the occupation of the parish by State troopers on orders from Governor John M. Parker, gathered today in little groups along Main St., expressing their condemnation of the State's chief executive.

Speculation regarding the possibility of martial law renewed when news of the arrival of a cavalry troop spread. Governor Parker was advised to strengthen the guard here by his agents.

Mer Rouge Anti-Klan

In Mer Rouge, a few miles away, sentiment was entirely different to that in Bastrop. When infantrymen first arrived there, they were hailed as "our protectors against hooded secret organizations," and since, the village has aided the troopers.

Bastrop is decidedly pro-Klan, and Mer Rouge is just as decidedly anti-Klan. Two different versions of the affair are heard in the two towns. Governor Parker, in ordering the investigation, declared "it is either the law or the Klan."

The Klan has been blamed in Mer Rouge because Daniels, one of the victims of the mob, openly defied the organization and its leaders, after they accused him of bootlegging.

Federal investigators declared today telephone wires out of Mer Rouge have been tapped in an effort to learn details of authorities' moves.

CAVALRY TROOP WARCHES INTO MER ROUGE

By United Press

MER ROUGE, La., Jan. 3.—Moorehouse parish, where murders, kidnapings and whippings have rampant for months, will be placed under martial law according to information here today.

The drastic move will be made to prevent further kidnaping and coercion of witnesses by masked terrorists charged with brutally beating and killing Watt Daniels and Thomas Richards last August.

A troop of cavalry jaunted into Mer Rouge today and took up temporary quarters in the Masonic building.

The additional guardsmen were called in to prevent new intimidations of important State witnesses following the kidnaping of Harold Teague, from 19, by a band of black masked men.

They will also be used to preserve peace during the opening hearings at Bastrop beginning Friday.

Rome Brown of Anderson, veteran doorkeeper of the Senate, was all over the place, expecting to get the job again. He says he has bought a new cane of judge polish to keep the large nickel-plated shield he wears in the course of his duties in trim.

The seats in the Senate have been rearranged in such a way that it will not be so easy for spectators to mingle with the members. The story is told that frequently lobbyists have voted when the names of absent members were called. It is said one lobbyist was present so much the Senate roll clerk acquired the habit of calling his name in roll call.

The crop of broad-brimmed black hats is more plentiful than ever among the members.

Zell Swain, seeking reelection as secretary of the Senate, appeared with a loudly checked shirt and many stories of his experiences as a Government booze sleuth.

Many occupants of offices in the Statehouse who were moved out

"Sell the south half of the courthouse grounds bordering on Washington St., and erect a modern courthouse in the form of an office building on the other half along Market St."

This is the project being revived by men connected with the Indianapolis Advertising Club. A move soon may be made to have the Chamber of Commerce officially support the movement.

Office buildings would be erected facing Washington St., and sale of this valuable ground would be a large figure toward erecting the new courthouse, under the plan discussed.

VETERAN WEARS COAT

FIRST TIME SINCE '69

Civil War Soldier Recalls Days at Gettysburg.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 3.—C. A. Warren, sole surviving member of the Grand Army of the Republic post at Brownsdale, Minn., wore the same coat that he wore at the battle of Gettysburg at a recent American American Legion banquet in Minneapolis. The coat lay packed in tobacco leaves in a trunk from 1869 to 1907.

Figures in Mer Rouge Terrorists Trials

After her father was kidnaped by a band of hooded terrorists, Leota Richards, aged 3, went with her mother to the Louisiana State capitol at Baton Rouge and tearfully pleaded with Governor John M. Parker to find her daddy.

The Governor started a probe under cover of militia guns, which found Leota's daddy, a mutilated corpse at the bottom of Lake La Fourche, uncovered another slaying and now promises to lead to indictment against forty-five persons.

Above at the left is District Attorney David Garrett, who will prosecute the cases. In the center above is Clarence Darrow, famous criminal attorney, reported engaged to defend suspects. At the right is Judge Fred Olson, who will hear the cases. Below, Leota Richards.

But His Highness was angry.

"The elevator girl told me that hereafter I must make use of the servants' elevator. If that is the case, my visits must cease," he said.

Out rushed the head of the house and descended upon the elevator maid.

"What do you mean by insulting my friends?" he fairly shouted. "After this you treat this gentleman with respect."

"But I know what he is, he's a bootlegger," the girl answered.

"Well, what if he is? He has a right to make an honest living, hasn't he?" was the reply. "This gentleman is a college graduate, he taught history in a high school for six years and was an instructor in a college for five years. Now he is in business for himself and if you want to hold your job you had better learn to treat business men properly."

J. F. HINCH

J. F. Hinch, 40, 4046 Carrollton Ave., who slashed his throat at his home and wandered far north of town today, following a quarrel with his wife, Monday night.

DEADLOCK OCCURS IN STATE FAIR BOARD ELECTION

Balloting Continues in Effort to Eliminate Numerous Farmers Seeking Places.

GOVERNOR IS SPEAKER

Two New Members Named Without Opposition—Executive Appointments Expected.

Balloting for members of the State board of agriculture continued this afternoon at a meeting in the House of Representatives of delegates representing numerous agricultural organizations.

Five members were to be elected representing the Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Ninth and Eleventh congressional districts. G. R. Kemper of Columbus was named without opposition to represent the Fourth district.

Fifth Is Tied

The tie-up came in the balloting for a member from the Fifth district, a place for which there were five candidates. On the first ballot Harry McCabe of Greencastle was leading by a small plurality. No candidate had a majority and the balloting continued.

In the Sixth District, Harry Moberly of Shelbyville was without opposition and was expected to be named. Two candidates were seeking the place from the Ninth District. They are Mac M. Coffing of Covington and E. J. Barker. Four were candidates from the Eleventh District. They are John Isenbarger of North Manchester, Charles L. Smith of Montpelier, Lin Wilson of Jonesboro, and Edgar E. Phillips of Walton.

Governor Talks

Governor McCray in addressing the meeting declared he was for a greater and better State fair. He announced he would ask the legislature to make the board of agriculture a State department. Mayor Shank made a brief talk in which he welcomed the delegates to the city and expressed his support of the State fair.

The financial report of the board showed receipts amounting to $411,948.47 and disbursements amounting to $411,418.49.

Following the election of members of the board Governor McCray was expected to name three additional members. He said he would not announce the names of these members until the election is completed.

TIMES WRITER TAKES COUE'S 'BETTER' CURE

(Continued From Page 1)

was Lincoln Steffens, getting material for a magazine article about Coue. And on the other side was the famous American sculptor, Jo Davidson, making a clay model for a bronze bust of Coue, which is shortly to be exhibited in Paris.

He's Thrifty Smoker

Coue paid no more attention to them than he did to the humblest peasant in the room. He is totally without narrow self-consciousness. And here's one thing which will make a hit with American men:

Coue rolls his own!

Frequently, while he is explaining his theory, or while he is speaking to various patients, he gets out his paper and tobacco, rolls a cigar and contentedly puffs away at it. And with true French thrift, he smokes it clear down to the butt.

On the other days of the week, except Sunday when he rests, Coue has one clinic a day for people who have come to Nancy from a distance.

From All Over the World

In addition to the French peasants and middle class people who came from all over the Lorraine country, I saw Americans from New York and Connecticut, Britons, Canadians and one couple from South Africa.

The Americans were mainly sufferers from neurasthenia. The French peasants came to be helped in their sufferings from stomach troubles, eczema, rheumatism, neuritis, all kinds of chronic ills.

Coue himself says that young persons, and especially women, are most susceptible to his treatment.

In the clinics I attended women were in the great majority and many of them were old.

Coue spots the newcomers at once. He has an excellent memory for faces and for the illnesses of the individuals.

Makes Simple Inquiry

He came over to me at once and I thought—"Now for it."

But he simply asked in his kindly, interested way what I was suffering from.

"Ah, bad nerves! Many of you Americans seem troubled that way. You will get better—and soon."

There were no other questions that day, so far as I was concerned. But I was now a full-fledged patient at a clinic and welcome to get all the good out of it that I could.

In his next article Bronner tells of his first treatment by Coue.

SILENT ORATOR TELLS OF I. U. NIGHT SCHOOL

The silent orator, the motograph on the Merchants Heat and Light Company building, will flash a statement, beginning tonight, as follows: "Study evenings in the Indiana University extension class. Beginning Jan. 15, instruction in fifty-five subjects, including English composition, public speaking, office management and a wide variety of cultural branches. Nearly a thousand students are enrolled. Offices 319 N. Pennsylvania St. R. E. Cavanaugh, director."

RUSSIANS BUILD CITY IN BERLIN

Already Colony Has Reached Population of Indianapolis or Columbus.

By CARL D. GROAT

BERLIN, Jan. 3.—The Russians are building within Berlin a Russian city of no mean proportions.

Already their colony has reached a population figure as large as that of Columbus, Ohio, Indianapolis, or Denver, according to estimates of the local Soviet embassy.

The Russians have their own stores and banks, their own cafes and theaters, music halls and papers.

Restaurants Spring Up

Wherever night life blooms, one finds now a Russian restaurant springing up. The cook of the Czar is employed in one. Prince this and princess that are managing others. Little Russian theaters, with the fascinating art and music of Moscow, lure the German and the visiting foreigner as well as hundreds of the Russian colony.

"Der blaue Vogel" (the "Blue Bird") showing the same piece, as the "Chevre Soudis" in New York, is the pioneer in Russian theaters. One sits and smokes and drinks as that of Columbus, Ohio, Indianapolis, or Denver, according to estimates of the local Soviet embassy.

The Russians have their own stores and banks, their own cafes and theaters, music halls and papers.

Restaurants Spring Up

Wherever night life blooms, one finds now a Russian restaurant springing up. The cook of the Czar is employed in one. Prince this and princess that are managing others. Little Russian theaters, with the fascinating art and music of Moscow, lure the German and the visiting foreigner as well as hundreds of the Russian colony.

"Der blaue Vogel" (the "Blue Bird") showing the same piece, as the "Chevre Soudis" in New York, is the pioneer in Russian theaters. One sits and smokes and drinks as that of Columbus, Ohio, Indianapolis, or Denver, according to estimates of the local Soviet embassy.

The Russians have their own stores and banks, their own cafes and theaters, music halls and papers.

Restaurants Spring Up

Wherever night life blooms, one finds now a Russian restaurant springing up. The cook of the Czar is employed in one. Prince this and princess that are managing others. Little Russian theaters, with the fascinating art and music of Moscow, lure the German and the visiting foreigner as well as hundreds of the Russian colony.

"Der blaue Vogel" (the "Blue Bird") showing the same piece, as the "Chevre Soudis" in New York, is the pioneer in Russian theaters. One sits and smokes and drinks as that of Columbus, Ohio, Indianapolis, or Denver, according to estimates of the local Soviet embassy.

The Russians have their own stores and banks, their own cafes and theaters, music halls and papers.

Restaurants Spring Up

Wherever night life blooms, one finds now a Russian restaurant springing up. The cook of the Czar is employed in one. Prince this and princess that are managing others. Little Russian theaters, with the fascinating art and music of Moscow, lure the German and the visiting foreigner as well as hundreds of the Russian colony.

"Der blaue Vogel" (the "Blue Bird") showing the same piece, as the "Chevre Soudis" in New York, is the pioneer in Russian theaters. One sits and smokes and drinks as that of Columbus, Ohio, Indianapolis, or Denver, according to estimates of the local Soviet embassy.

The Russians have their own stores and banks, their own cafes and theaters, music halls and papers.

Restaurants Spring Up

Wherever night life blooms, one finds now a Russian restaurant springing up. The cook of the Czar is employed in one. Prince this and princess that are managing others. Little Russian theaters, with the fascinating art and music of Moscow, lure the German and the visiting foreigner as well as hundreds of the Russian colony.

"Der blaue Vogel" (the "Blue Bird") showing the same piece, as the "Chevre Soudis" in New York, is the pioneer in Russian theaters. One sits and smokes and drinks as that of Columbus, Ohio, Indianapolis, or Denver, according to estimates of the local Soviet embassy.

The Russians have their own stores and banks, their own cafes and theaters, music halls and papers.

Restaurants Spring Up

Wherever night life blooms, one finds now a Russian restaurant springing up. The cook of the Czar is employed in one. Prince this and princess that are managing others. Little Russian theaters, with the fascinating art and music of Moscow, lure the German and the visiting foreigner as well as hundreds of the Russian colony.

His Hip Highness Insulted

Love me, love my bootlegger.

This is the motto of at least one prominent Indianapolis citizen, who dwells in an exclusive apartment house.

AD CLUB REVIVES PLAN FOR NEW COURTHOUSE

May Endeavor to Enlist Chamber of Commerce.

"Sell the south half of the courthouse grounds bordering on Washington St., and erect a modern courthouse in the form of an office building on the other half along Market St."

This is the project being revived by men connected with the Indianapolis Advertising Club. A move soon may be made to have the Chamber of Commerce officially support the movement.

Office buildings would be erected facing Washington St., and sale of this valuable ground would be a large figure toward erecting the new courthouse, under the plan discussed.

VETERAN WEARS COAT

FIRST TIME SINCE '69

Civil War Soldier Recalls Days at Gettysburg.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 3.—C. A. Warren, sole surviving member of the Grand Army of the Republic post at Brownsdale, Minn., wore the same coat that he wore at the battle of Gettysburg at a recent American American Legion banquet in Minneapolis. The coat lay packed in tobacco leaves in a trunk from 1869 to 1907.

Husband Cuts Throat After Domestic Tilt

J. F. HINCH

J. F. Hinch, 40, 4046 Carrollton Ave., who slashed his throat at his home and wandered far north of town today, following a quarrel with his wife, Monday night.

Desserts and Pastries

Mrs. Housewife: Here's a choice collection of recipes fresh from Uncle Sam's laboratories and kitchens, for delicious desserts and pastries, with full directions how to make 'em.

Washington Bureau, Indianapolis Times, 1322 New York Ave., Washington, D. C.

I want a copy of the bulletin DESSERTS AND PASTRIES, and enclose herewith 4 cents in stamps for postage.

Name

Street and No.

City

State