WIDOW OF MOB VICTIM TELLS OF DYNAMITE THREAT

Declares 'Citizens' Committee' Riddled House With Bullets.

HUSBAND GAVE SELF UP

Surrendered to Band to Save Wife and Child From Explosive.

Times Staff Correspondent
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 23.—How a mob prepared to dynamite the house sheltering her 11-year-old daughter and her husband was described today by Mrs. Josie B. Gregor, widow of E. C. Gregor, who was hanged from a railroad trestle near Harrison, Ark., by the so-called "citizens' committee."

"My husband arrived at Harrison only three days before they killed him," Mrs. Gregor said. "Our house was shelled with bullets and surrounded by armed men."

"I heard threats to dynamite the house to get my husband. I shouted to them not to dynamite because my child was inside. A few moments later a former official of Harrison called me to the door and told me the best thing would be for my husband to surrender, so my daughter and I could be protected. This he did."

"Feeling All Right." "They took him away. That night about 10 o'clock he telephoned to ask how we were getting along. He was feeling all right, and said he supposed they would take him to jail. That was the last time I ever talked to him."

"I was not allowed to notify my relatives or do anything. When I left Harrison all roads were being guarded by armed men. A mob was gathered around a fire built in the middle of the town."

Several hundred lodge members and striking shopmen met the Gregor funeral cortege at Springfield to honor Gregor. A similar demonstration took place in Front.

Even in Harrison, where Gregor was hanged, it is the common comment, "It was too bad it had to be Gregor."

Lynched for Defiance. Not even the mob leaders accused Gregor of depredations on the Missouri and North Arkansas Railroad. Gregor had been out of town working since Oct. 1. He evidently was lynched for defying the mob's demand for entrance into his house.

A. J. Raash, bunk mate of E. C. Gregor, said Gregor was fast asleep for six miles from the region where railroad bridges had been burned.

"Gregor could not possibly have had anything to do with the burning of those bridges," Raash said.

CITY OFFICIALS IN MOB-RIDDEN TOWN RESIGN

By United Press
HARRISON, Ark., Jan. 23.—Municipal officials favorable to the "citizens' committee" which has controlled Northern Arkansas for the last week will replace Mayor J. L. Clute, Marshal Parr and councilmen who resigned last night.

The resignations were offered following pressure of the "citizens' committee" which seized control when suspension of operations of the Missouri and North Arkansas Railroad was threatened because of bridge burnings and other outbreaks.

While the change was being made here a mass meeting, called by the constituted officials at Eureka Springs, pledged support to the "citizens' committee" and warned striking railroad workers against holding meetings.

WOODRUFF PLACE TO PAY $5,000 AS PROTECTION PRICE

Town Officials Agree to Terms Offered by City.

Woodruff Place has decided to pay the city of Indianapolis $5,000 in 1923, and a similar amount for each remaining year of Mayor Shank's administration for police and fire protection and other municipal benefits, W. W. Lowry, town attorney, announced today.

This was decided at a meeting of the town board last night following an afternoon conference between Woodruff Place officials and members of the city boards of public works and public safety.

City Refuses Moratorium. City officials refused to grant a further moratorium to Woodruff Place at the conference yesterday and the proposal of President Charles E. Coffin of the board of works that the town pay the city $5,000 a year, which amount to the difference between taxes in Woodruff Place and Indianapolis, definitely represented the city's attitude on the matter.

The city claims the town has been getting municipal benefits without being charged for them. Lowry said today there was no other way out of the matter as the city would enter suit against the town if the terms were not complied with. Such a settlement, Lowry said, would not be satisfactory to either party, however.

No Provision in Budget. Another conference was to be held today between the city and town officials to enter into a formal agreement.

Lowry asserted that no provision was made for such a payment in the 1923 budget and the only way it could be made would be to get permission from the State board of accounts to transfer certain funds that the town had on hand. If this can be done the amount the city asks will be paid, Lowry said.

Author of 'Klansman' Scores Modern K. K. K.

By United Press
NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—"We have already reached the point of riot and bloodshed unless this thing is throttled promptly we are in sight of martial law," Thomas Dixon, author of "The Klansman," declared in a denunciation of the modern K. K. K. here last night.

Speaking before the American Unity League, Dixon, who immortalized the southern Klan of Civil War reconstruction days, described the modern organization's proscription of the negro race as "a denunciation of the modern K. K. K. and here last night."

"If the white race is superior—as I believe it is—it is our duty as citizens of a democracy to lift up and help the weaker race," Dixon said.

"Acme of Stupidity." "The Klan assault upon the foreigner is the acme of stupidity and inhumanity. We are all foreigners except the few Indians we haven't killed. Some of us landed yesterday; some a few years ago. We all came as refugees from the tyranny and anguish of the Old World.

"Our fathers who landed before the Revolution blazed the way through the wilderness for the trembling feet of liberty. Shall we, their sons, meet the humble immigrant of today at the water's edge with a back and here last night."

Dixon declared the Klan's proscription of the Jew was a "curious revival of a malignant form of mob insanity. Jesus was the son of a Jewish mother."

Turns Down Membership. Dixon revealed that when the modern Klan was organized he turned down an invitation from its officers to join, warning the organizers that if they attempted to use the disguise in a secret, oath-bound order under a civilized government of today the end was sure—"riot, anarchy, bloodshed and martial law."

It was here that he declared that the sage of "riot and bloodshed" had already been reached.

COMMISSIONERS ACCEPT RUMFORD'S RESIGNATION

Fight For Road Superintendent's Office Is Ended.

Resignation of Warren C. Rumford from the office of county superintendent of roads was accepted today by the board of county commissioners. Rumford has been in a controversy since Jan. 1, with George Burks, of Wayne township, over the office. Burks was appointed the first of the year by the present board to succeed Rumford, who was appointed last year.

Rumford, an appointee of Carlin Shank and Harry Tutwiler, announced at the time that he would not accept his dismissal, as he held a four-year contract. The board, however, backed up by Leo K. Feiler, county auditor, prepared to file incompetency charges against him, forcing the resignation.

Rumford and Burks have occupied the same room at the courthouse while they fought over the office.

Patrolmen Mistaken for Thieves in Drug Store.

Two police officers using flashlights near Phares' drug store, Seventeenth and Bellefontaine Sts., caused Mrs. Minnie Farrees, who lives on the second floor of the building, to call the police at 1 a. m. today. The emergency squad investigated and found that Patrolmen Kinder and Branche were trying to see whether any one was in the store and had flashed their lights through the window.

BOLSHEVIST AND INFIDEL SIT TIGHT AS EUROPE BOILS

Lenin of Russia and Pasha of Turkey Will Play Parts.

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Keep your eyes on these two men as the European helipot boils.

Nikolai Lenin, Bolshevik director of Russia, and Mustafa Kemal Pasha, infidel dictator of Turkey.

Here is Lenin's idea: Sooner or later revolution will overtake all Europe.

Made desperate by the steady rise in living costs, house rents, and taxes, and with unemployment slowly spreading everywhere, millions will join the proletariat and become revolutionaries.

A social crisis will then shake Europe to its foundation.

Then will come Russia's hour. Reverting to her original formula of a communist dictatorship, her Red armies will take the field, make common cause with the rest of Europe and Russianize half the world.

Such is the plan which Ludovic Nauclaux, one of the most brilliant of Old World observers, attributes to Lenin.

Nauclaux is not an alarmist. I knew him in Russia in 1916. He was then, to the contrary, a most matter-of-fact person. Absolutely fearless, somewhat of a socialist himself, he remained in Russia to see the series of coups and revolutions there through to the bitter end.

Thrown into prison during the first days of the terror, he wrote one of the best books available on modern Russia. Liberated, he refused to flee the country and was perhaps the first Occidental to interview Lenin, which he did at the Kremlin. Afterwards he came to know Lenin well.

Infidel Kemal Pasha is somewhat similar. Biding his time, waiting until the Christian nations of Europe are too busy quarreling or fighting among themselves to forestall him, he will spring it.

Kemal Wants Uprising. Kemal makes no secret of his desire to bring about an uprising against Great Britain, not only in Mesopotamia, Palestine and Persia, but also in India, as well. At the same time he would aim a blow at France in Morocco, Algeria, Tunisia and Syria, and against Italy in Italian Libya—North Africa.

In short, while the Christian nations of Europe were preoccupied at the Holy War, for the restoration of the Empire of Islam, ranging from Vienna to Rangoon.

Events are now playing into the hands of both the Russian and the Turk. While Europe seethes, they watch, ready to close in on two sides whenever they think the time is ripe.

Fast work with stomach pumps by marine physicians was all that saved the lives of five marines.

DEBT BILL INTRODUCED

Bitter Fight Expected in Senate Over Confiscation Measure.

A garnishee bill, similar to measures which have caused more bitter fights in Indiana Legislatures than any ever presented, has been introduced in the Senate by Senator William Swain of Pendleton.

The bill provides that salaries and incomes of individuals may be attached for debt. Such a measure always has been strongly opposed by labor interests.

Rikhoff Warning to Police of 12-Hour Shifts If Hold-Ups and Attacks Are Not Checked Brings Activity.

Warning issued by Police Chief Herman F. Rikhoff that unless the crime wave is checked by Friday policemen will work on twelve instead of eight-hour shifts, resulted today in more than sixty men being detained as vagrants.

A number of others arrested in police tours through second-class rooming houses and poolrooms were released on bonds.

Two hold-ups were reported. One woman was the victim of an attack. Several burglaries occurred and in other places would-be burglars were frightened away. Two automobiles were stolen.

While the Community Chest supplies all running expenses, it makes no allowance for new equipment. Request of the nursing association for permission to raise funds for a car has been approved by the Chest.

MEASURE WOULD LICENSE REALTORS

Opposition Anticipated to Bill in House.

Compulsory licensing of real estate dealers would become operative under the provisions of a bill before the House of Representatives today. It was introduced by Representative John W. Thiel of Gary.

Considerable opposition to the measure is expected. The Indiana Real Estate Board informed it by a scant margin, while the Indianapolis Real Estate Board passed resolutions opposing the bill.

Under the provisions of the bill any dealer attempting to sell real estate without a license would be liable to prosecution and fine, subject to the judgment of a real estate commission appointed by the Governor. The present law provides that licensees are required only of non-resident real estate dealers and firms whose main offices are in other States. Representative Herbert P. Kenney of New Albany has introduced a bill for the repeal of the present law.

Cravens Asks Repeal of State Budget Law

The State budget law, which has been in effect only two years, would be repealed by a bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Joseph M. Cravens.

The measure provides for the appointment of a legislative visiting committee to inspect institutions and to make recommendations for appropriations to the Legislature. The bill is similar to the law in effect before the enactment of the budget law.

The budget law, according to Cravens, has been a failure, largely due to the inability of the budget commission and the Governor to agree.
