

CHICAGO TEACHERS ARE ORGANIZED TO FIGHT DRUG EVIL

Story of Student Who Shot
Self Proves False—
Police Busy.

By United Press
CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—City, county and State officials cooperated today to stamp out the drug evil which threatened to sweep into ranks of Chicago High School students.

Eleven thousand teachers were organized to lend their aid to the fight. The campaign against the dope was begun yesterday by the fair lady of George Roth, 18, high school student, who told police and educators he shot himself because he could not overcome his craving for drugs.

His story was admitted the story was false and that through it he hoped to save himself from punishment for "skipping classes" and pilfering money from home.

An operation will be performed today to remove the bullet from the boy's shoulder.

Roth's story set in motion every agency at the city's command to halt the dope traffic.

Squads of Federal narcotics agents patrolled the districts around the high schools and sought peddlers who it was believed might be furnishing students with drugs.

Experts Scoff at Eye Grafting

Will Alfred Lemonowicz of Paterson, N. J., who had a pig's eye grafted in the socket of his own eye, today said "No."

They term the operation "non-sense," "a fake," "impossible" and "cheap publicity."

The operation was performed Jan. 23, by Dr. Edward Morgan. At that time, Dr. Morgan said it would be ten days before a fair test of the grafting would be possible. A few days after the operation, Lemonowicz said he could detect light and dark through the pigs eye.

Here is what Indianapolis specialists say:

Dr. John F. Barnhill: "My judgment is that such a thing is impossible. I think it is a fake. Such cases have occurred before in medical history, and have been absolute failures."

Dr. W. E. Mendenhall: "It's an absolute impossibility. There is nothing to it. No physician would be able to perform such an operation with the eye. It is cheap publicity."

Homer R. Easterday, optician: "I doubt the success of the operation. They have always failed, and it is almost beyond the reach of probability that it will be successful."

RAILWAY SIGNAL MEN AGAIN ON 8-HOUR DAY

Decision of Labor Board Restores Union Law.

By United Press
CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—Fifteen thousand railway signal men were on an eight-hour day again today as the result of a decision of the United States railroad labor board.

The restoration of the eight-hour day was the result of negotiations started when the signal men refused to join the shopmen's strike last year.

It was highly commendable and every effort should be made to obtain action along the lines suggested," John P. Frey, nationally known labor leader said. "The first step of the United States should be to become a member of the League of Nations. Our position in world affairs has been fatally weak since we backed out of permanent peace activities."

Edward T. Dixon, common pleas judge: "I am wholly in favor of the proposed conference of world powers to adjust present serious conditions and forestall another war."
