

LID WILL BE CLAMPED ON OPEN SUNDAYS, SAY REFORMERS

McCRAY PROGRAM OF ELEVEN BILLS SETS SLOW PACE

Only One Measure Recommended in Message Has Become Law.

Of eleven measures recommended by Governor McCray at the opening of the Legislature, one has become a law.

It is apparent most of the others will not be enacted.

The bill recommended by the Governor, straightening out the State board of agriculture tangle and authorizing that department to issue bonds has become a law.

The $2,000,000 appropriation for the Reformatory recommended by the Governor, was reduced to $1,500,000 by the House and increased to $2,000,000 by the Senate. The chances are it will be reduced again when the Senate amendment goes to the House.

Gasoline Tax Doubtful

The gasoline tax recommended in the message is provided in a bill pending in the House. The administration has attempted a compromise with opponents of the measure by providing $500,000 of the proceeds shall go to the counties. It is still doubtful whether the bill can be passed.

The bill to increase automobile licenses still is pending. It probably will be passed in some form.

The county unit education bill recommended by the administration is having rough sledding. It has been almost unanimously rejected by the House.

The administration bills amending the tax law still are pending.

The Governor's recommendation that there be only two State funds, general and tuition, will not be carried out. The appropriation bill, however, provides for the strengthening of the general fund by placing in it a number of fees that formerly did not go to that fund.

Another recommendation of the Governor which will not be carried out is the reduction of the industrial board membership from five to three. A bill with this provision was killed by the Senate and an amendment to the appropriation bill with this end in view was killed by that body.

Butler Student Acts Queerly—But Only Because of Initiation.

If you have no spring overcoat, use your bathrobe. That's what one young man was seen to do. He was riding an E. Washington St. car early in the morning adorned in the unusual street costume of bathrobe and skull cap.

The youth shelled and offered peanuts free to every woman. Then he sang "The Sheik" to some Butler girls. They took no offense; for he was a freshman being initiated into a Butler fraternity.

Richard Moore now knows from personal experience the hardships levied on aspiring "brothers" of the B. A. fraternity.

Assembly Less Patient Than Congress

Members of the Indiana Legislature are watching with interest the filibuster on the ship subsidy bill in the National Senate. They are wondering what would happen if some group should attempt a filibuster in the Legislature.

While there is much conversation in connection with things legislative in Indiana, really long speeches are few. Perhaps Dr. John N. Hurty, Representative, holds the record. He talked nearly two hours on a medical bill.

Members of the Legislature have an unpleasant habit of holding speakers to a discussion of the subject before the House, and of moving the previous question for the purpose of shutting off debate.

In fact, many members feel nobody could get away with a filibuster in the Legislature. The rules are not so lenient as those of Congress.

CEREMONY HALTS WARM DEBATE ON SENATE MEASURE

Strong Opposition Shown to Bill to Give Board of Accounts Power.

Warm debate on the Penrod Senate bill, giving the State board of accounts practically unlimited powers in the examination of public contracts and conferring to the board other powers of prosecution against violations, was interrupted in the House today by the joint session at 11 a. m. commemorating the birth of Washington.

Fifty-four members signified their favor of the minority report, recommending indefinite postponement, by standing when Speaker Morgan called for a rising vote. The chair had passed to other business when Representative Smith, an advocate of the measure, interrupted and reminded Morgan the House had substituted the minority report, but had not adopted it as the amended majority report, as is the custom. Smith then spoke for the bill, saying it would establish a Supreme Court for taxpayers.

Representatives Hammett, Nolan, Johnson of Hamilton, Gottschalk and Waters, signed the minority report. Signing majority reports were called, chairmen of the roads committee, Kitch, Duffey, Hull and Carter.

Following the Washington's birthday ceremony the House was to resume consideration and debate on the bill. The House either will adopt the majority report as amended in substituting the minority report, or will reconsider its action taken before the recess.

Blue Law Target Aimed at Theaters, Movies and Baseball, or 'Profiteering in Morality,' by Lord's Day Alliance.

By EDWARD THIERRY
NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—"Every Sunday a blue Sunday everywhere in America."

That, says Rev. Henry L. Bowley, champion crusader, is the idea behind the campaign begun with test cases in New York and New Jersey to stop Sunday theatrical performances.

The battle is on again. This time with a country-wide scope and a revived and sternly determined Lord's Day Alliance pushing the campaign. Ranged against the alliance, of which Dr. Bowley is national secretary, is the Anti-Blue Law League of America claiming 350,000 members, and theatrical producers led by William A. Brady.

"Grasping greed for money is the cancer of American life that is making our Sundays unholy," says Bowley.

"Profiteering in morality!" says Brady, characterizing Bowley's Sunday clean-up campaign.

These are the things the Lord's Day Alliance hopes to banish in every city in the United States.

SUNDAY theatrical performances, including vaudeville and burlesque, SUNDAY motion picture shows, SUNDAY baseball.

Dr. Bowley said branches of the alliance in many cities would follow the New York and New Jersey prosecutions as soon as tests of the law had been made. Brady, producer of "La Flamme," is one of the first test defendants.

Hours Prescribed

"We are fighting every enterprise and amusement that makes money on Sunday," says Bowley. "That includes theaters, baseball, grocers, cigar dealers, barbers. Only actual public necessities should be obtainable on Sunday. Drug stores and delicatessen stores may be open within prescribed hours."

Laws regulating Sunday amusements and business activities exist in every State, Bowley said. The campaign is for the enforcement of these laws.

ACID VICTIM UNDECIDED

Miss Cave Almost Ill After Assault Is Fined.

Undecided as to whether she will file a damage suit, and reported to be almost ill, Miss Helen Cave, 214 S. Emerson Ave., at whom Mrs. Ruth Nutter threw acid in Washington, Ind., several months ago, today was shielded by her employer at the Rite's Cioz Shop, 45 S. Illinois St., from interviewers. Mrs. Nutter pleaded guilty to throwing the acid and was fined $250 in Circuit Court this week.

Mrs. Nutter had charged Miss Cave with trying to vamp her husband, by whom Miss Cave was employed.

Bowley said there had been more than 400 convictions in New York alone for violations of Sunday laws during the past six months.

One of those arrested in the New Jersey campaign was Rev. Father Joseph N. Grief, pastor of the Holy Family Church of Union Hill. He was fined $1 for a violation of the vice and immorality act in giving "The Passion Play" which the church has been producing at intervals for nine years.

This was all a mistake, says Bowley. Father Grief thinks so, too, for immediately after the city court reversed its decision and remitted the $1 fine, he made plans to seek legal redress for his blue law conviction.

Reading That It Is Very—had for the average person to visualize just how furniture will look when placed in a room, the Sommers Furniture Company completely furnished a six-room cottage up on the fourth floor of their store. This is no miniature, it's a real life size house with sunporch, living room, bedroom, dining room, kitchen, breakfast room and bath, all ready to live in. It has created a lot of comment since it has been established and people who are planning to furnish a home for the first time or to re-furnish one, go there to see just how one can convert a house into a home by choosing the proper furniture.

It's lovely, but it's livable. There is nothing pretentious in the very comfortable and attractive furnishings, yet the hospitable and inviting atmosphere reflected by these well-appointed rooms, made Peggy Ann wish she were going to furnish a home.

If you have never visited "The Home Beautiful," do so—you will find it instructive and enjoyable.

February is drawing to a close, and then we have the first month of spring. People are taking advantage of the quiet imposed by the Lenten season to plan their spring-time wardrobes—they find it a particularly fascinating pastime this season because of the gorgeous materials, glowing with color, and of the simple, stylish lines that are universally becoming.

There's Music And Dancing—color and laughter in the vaudeville bill at the Palace this week. It's the best bill Peggy Ann has ever seen at this theater—so entertaining that she stayed during the entire performance, photoplay "Face in the Fog," included, although she meant to drop in for just a few minutes.

The Three Romano Sisters, toe dappers of ability, open the program and are very pleasing especially when they appear in summery frocks. Bartram & Saxon sing, and they sing—very, very well, melodies that have real harmony possibilities—you'll listen attentively, but your thoughts will go racing to some fond memory and there's where you will still be when Bartram & Saxon finish. Billy Beard is a good black face who chats his way into an atmosphere of friendliness—and what is more enjoyable? Miller and Frear, are a dancing pair, eschewing Miller, who also tells jokes and sings. But it is the Vincent Lopez Orchestra under the direction of Del Lampe, that makes one hope to find time to see the bill again—a wonderful orchestra of real musicians playing artistic arrangements of melodious airs. The setting for this act is very beautiful.
