

CITY INCLUDED IN PROPOSED ROUTE OF VICTORY ROAD

Coast-to-Coast Highway Is Planned as Memorial to U. S. Soldiers.

Plans were under way today for co-operation of local citizens in creation of a coast-to-coast highway, extending from New York City to San Francisco, and running through Indianapolis. The road, already paved from New York to St. Charles, Mo., is planned as a memorial to American soldiers who served in the World War. It will be more than 2,200 miles long, Ben Blaw, manager of the Victory Highway Association, told officials of the Chamber of Commerce Monday night.

Albert E. Metzger, vice president of the Fletcher Savings and Trust Company, was chosen director of the organization in Indiana. M. E. Noblet, executive secretary of the Hoosier Motor Club, also will lead.

Headquarters of the association is in Topeka, Kas. The project has the endorsement of President Harding and other national figures, Blaw said.

The proposed route includes Philadelphia, Baltimore, Wheeling, Columbus, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Topeka, Denver, Salt Lake City, Reno and Sacramento. Indianapolis will not be asked to aid financially until contributions have been received from several other mid-western cities, Blaw explained.

UTILITY RULES DISCUSSED

Committee on Electric Regulation
May Be Named.

The conference came as a result of a petition of the Indiana General Service Company of Muncie asking the commission to establish a set of rules satisfactory both to consumers and utility managements.

William F. Haymond, a representative of the Muncie company, explained a proposed set of rules, providing for service to rural consumers of power.
