WITHDRAWAL OF LYONS MAY STIR FIGHT IN PARTY

A factional fight such as occurred over the appointment of Harry S. New as postmaster general may result in event of the resignation of Lawrence E. Lyons as Republican state chairman, some Republican party workers admitted today. The feeling was growing that Lyons would resign as a result of the publication of the fact he joined the Ku-Klux Klan and then resigned, publicly denouncing the Klan. The fight for control of the party in Indiana, considering for some time, already is beginning to flame up. Lyons has been considered the head of the local James E. Watson faction. He actively opposed the appointment of New on the part of Watson and his friends, including Governor McCray, to continue control of the party.

New's Friends Not Idle

On the other hand, friends of New will not sit quietly by and see Watson continue as the head of the party, it was said. New has a powerful following in the Federal building, where many of the employees are New appointees, and he has some strength in the State committee, which was divided over the New appointment to the cabinet.

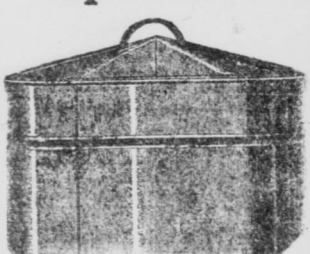

There has been some talk of making Clyde A. Wall, Twelfth district chairman, and vice chairman of the central committee, the new State chairman. It was pointed out that this would be the natural line of succession. Wall, however, is understood not to be acceptable to the Watson faction.

Hope to Delay Issue

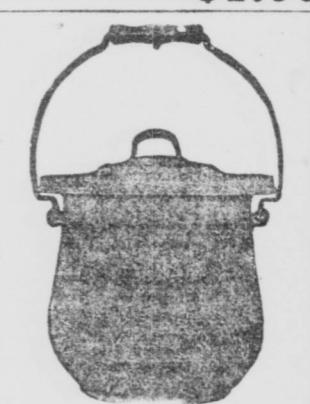

Some Republicans were making an effort to prevent hysteria and to keep the situation as quiet as possible for a few days or weeks, feeling the dif-

iculty could then be settled quietly. No meeting of the State committee has been called, although it is possible for a majority to call a meeting. The time for the proposed visit of Senator Watson to Indiana has not been set. Lyons was still at his home in Brook.
