

G. O. P. AIMS BLOWS AT PRIMARY

Party Leaders Hope to Pave Way for Harding Nomination by Ousting Present System of Choosing Delegates.

By United Press
AUGUSTA, Ga., April 4.—Active campaigns are under way in a number of States against the primary system of choosing delegates to the national convention, as a result of the announcement of President Harding's candidacy for re-nomination and re-election, Republican leaders say.

Private word to political lieutenants of the President is that Attorney General Daugherty's announcement that the President would run again has started party workers in many States actively organizing a fight against the primary system. When Mr. Harding makes his tour of the West he is expected to give active support to the campaign.

Present indications are that the presidential campaign of 1924 will get under way earlier and last longer than the usual campaign.

On his return to Washington next week, the President will hold a series

Failure of Attack on Primary in Indiana

Legislature Is Recalled by Press Dispatch

An unsuccessful fight against the presidential primary in Indiana was made in the recent Legislature by the Republican organization under the direction of Senator James E. Watson. It was looked upon as a forerunner of the possible candidacy of Watson for the Republican nomination for President.

As the present law still will be in force next year, it is expected presidential candidates will enter the State primary. The presidential primary system was tried first in Indiana in 1920 and it resulted in a bitter four-cornered fight, centering much of the national campaign, so far as the Republican party was concerned, in this State. No Democrats were entered.

Indiana delegates, as a result of the primary, went to Chicago instructed to vote for Gen. Leonard Wood, a powerful candidate in the last campaign, may again come to the front in the pending campaign.

MUNCIE PUBLISHER IS INDICTED FOR LIBEL

George Dale Surrenders to Sheriff and Gives Bond.

By United Press
MUNCIE, Ind., April 4.—Learning that he was wanted on a grand jury indictment, charging him with criminal libel, George Dale, Muncie publisher, surrendered to Sheriff Hoffman and provided bond.

The charge is based on an article appearing in Dale's local paper last January speaking of George Roger, Muncie grocer, as a draft dodger.

Dale is slated to appear for trial next Monday on another indictment charging violation of the liquor laws.

G. O. P. FIGHTS TO KEEP ORGANIZATION

Leaders Regard Resignation of Lyons Certain.

Taking it for granted that Lawrence E. Lyons will resign as Republican State chairman as a result of his action in joining the Ku-Klux Klan and then resigning, party leaders were considering today some plan of keeping the organization intact until a permanent organization can be formed for the next campaign.

There still was an inclination to proceed slowly, it being pointed out that there is no need for hasty action, as it is a "hot" year politically. There was a feeling that nothing would be done until late in the month when Senator James E. Watson is expected in Indianapolis. No call has yet been made for a meeting of the State committee.

The court said that it was not disputed that such a convention was held, or that Foster was present at the meeting.

The jury were told not to "draw any inference from the word 'revolution' mentioned in Foster's writing, or alleged to have been mentioned in his speech at Bridgman."

1. Was the communist party of America at the time Foster attended the Bridgman convention, an organization formed to teach and advocate criminal syndicalism?

2. Did Foster assemble with the communist party voluntarily, and with a conscious design and purpose to promote the teaching and advocacy of doctrines of criminal syndicalism.

The court said:

"Criminal syndicalism is a doctrine which advocates crime, sabotage, violence, terrorism or other unlawful means to accomplish an industrial and political reform."

Instructions favorable to the defense were seen in the court's statement that merely because the reform desired by the communists could not be obtained without "conflict or force" is not criminal syndicalism.

DR. W. F. KING RENAMED

Appointed for Another Term on State Health Board.

Dr. William F. King, secretary of the State board of health, today was reappointed for a four-year term beginning April 14. Appointment was announced after the morning session of the quarterly meeting of the board in Dr. King's office. Several departmental appointments and additions to the office force were to be made late today.

Dr. John H. Hewitt of Terre Haute, a member, was absent from the meeting because of sickness in his family.

Hourly Temperature

Forecast for Indianapolis and vicinity is cloudy tonight and Thursday. Probably rain. Not much change in temperature.

HOURLY TEMPERATURE.
7 a. m. 37 10 a. m. 39
5 a. m. 38 11 a. m. 40
3 a. m. 38 12 (noon) 39
1 a. m. 39 1 p. m. 39

'Let Your Conscience Be Your Guide' Is Woman Driver's Advice to All Auto Owners of Indianapolis

Mrs. Douglass Wheeler Has

No Rules, but Many Suggestions for Safety.

"Say it with automobiles," when you are saying it to Mrs. Douglass Wheeler, 3055 N. Meridian St., wife of the president of the Wheeler-Schebler Carburetor Company.

Motoring is Mrs. Wheeler's favorite sport.

Trafficmen call her Indianapolis' "best woman driver." As she goes past in her car, they all have a greeting for her. And she has one for them.

Although Mrs. Wheeler declared she has no rules for driving—"I just let my conscience be my guide," she had many suggestions.

"First, be sure your brakes are good," she said. "Then know how and when to use them."

"I always see that I have plenty of gasoline and oil before starting out."

"Know your car and be at home in it." Be part of it, so that everything you do becomes automatic. Don't drive unless you enjoy driving.

"Remember the pedestrian. He'll try to beat you to the corner. Be careful of him."

"Women are better drivers, as a whole, than men," she asserted.

"Men are so sure. They have a lack of self-confidence which keeps many women from being expert drivers makes them careful."

Once Mrs. Wheeler was arrested for speeding, but was not fined. Another time she found a sticker on her car for neglecting to turn on her lights. When she promised the judge she would not "let the sun go down too soon" again, he let her go.

Indianapolis is going to have an excellent set of traffic rules, Mrs. Wheeler believes.

"If they make penalties for disobedience strict enough."

Resignation of Officials Starts
New Plans.

Reorganization plans for the Citizens Gas Company were being discussed today following resignation of former Congressman James W. Dunbar as vice president and general manager. Dunbar resigned because of illness.

John R. Welch, president of the company, refused to discuss the resignation pending examination by the directors. While Dunbar has held the position of vice president for some time, the special session of Congress and his illness following prevented him taking active charge.

J. Dorsey Forrest, general manager, has announced his intention to resign July 1. He said the resignation of Dunbar would not change his plans.

The public service commission is investigating affairs of the gas company pending the fixing of a rate that will not be considered confiscatory by Federal Court. A complete appraisal of the company's property is being made.

Under the circumstances, it is probable the commission will be consulted before an active head of the company is named. It is understood Dunbar had been considered suitable by the commission.

Under the circumstances, it is probable the commission will be consulted before an active head of the company is named. It is understood Dunbar had been considered suitable by the commission.

Under the circumstances, it is probable the commission will be consulted before an active head of the company is named. It is understood Dunbar had been considered suitable by the commission.

Under the circumstances, it is probable the commission will be consulted before an active head of the company is named. It is understood Dunbar had been considered suitable by the commission.

Under the circumstances, it is probable the commission will be consulted before an active head of the company is named. It is understood Dunbar had been considered suitable by the commission.

Under the circumstances, it is probable the commission will be consulted before an active head of the company is named. It is understood Dunbar had been considered suitable by the commission.

Under the circumstances, it is probable the commission will be consulted before an active head of the company is named. It is understood Dunbar had been considered suitable by the commission.

Under the circumstances, it is probable the commission will be consulted before an active head of the company is named. It is understood Dunbar had been considered suitable by the commission.

Under the circumstances, it is probable the commission will be consulted before an active head of the company is named. It is understood Dunbar had been considered suitable by the commission.

Under the circumstances, it is probable the commission will be consulted before an active head of the company is named. It is understood Dunbar had been considered suitable by the commission.

Under the circumstances, it is probable the commission will be consulted before an active head of the company is named. It is understood Dunbar had been considered suitable by the commission.

Under the circumstances, it is probable the commission will be consulted before an active head of the company is named. It is understood Dunbar had been considered suitable by the commission.

Under the circumstances, it is probable the commission will be consulted before an active head of the company is named. It is understood Dunbar had been considered suitable by the commission.

Under the circumstances, it is probable the commission will be consulted before an active head of the company is named. It is understood Dunbar had been considered suitable by the commission.

Under the circumstances, it is probable the commission will be consulted before an active head of the company is named. It is understood Dunbar had been considered suitable by the commission.

Under the circumstances, it is probable the commission will be consulted before an active head of the company is named. It is understood Dunbar had been considered suitable by the commission.

Under the circumstances, it is probable the commission will be consulted before an active head of the company is named. It is understood Dunbar had been considered suitable by the commission.

Under the circumstances, it is probable the commission will be consulted before an active head of the company is named. It is understood Dunbar had been considered suitable by the commission.

MRS. DOUGLASS WHEELER

ESCHBACH IS TO QUIT

DOLLAR GASOLINE IS RIDICULED BY STANDARD CHIEF

Robert W. Stewart Addresses
Chamber of Commerce.

The talk about $1 gasoline is preposterous and ridiculous, Robert W. Stewart, Chicago, chairman of the board of directors of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, told members of the Chamber of Commerce at noon today.

"The Standard Oil Company has been accused of many things, but this is the first time I have ever known it to be accused of lacking ordinary business sense," Stewart said. "Such a price on gasoline would mean the destruction of the business of the company," he declared. Distilleries would be turning out alcohol for fuel at 30 or 40 cents a gallon, Stewart said.

Referring to a recent examination before a Senate committee, Stewart declared, "It would have thought that even a senatorial committee would have realized the Standard Oil Company with possessing enough business sense not deliberately to wreck its own business."

During the twelve years since the Supreme Court issued a decree dissolving the Standard Oil Company, the dissolution has been actual, he said. "It may be interesting to know that of our 32,000 stockholders, 8,200 are employees," he said.

Referring to a recent examination before a Senate committee, Stewart declared, "It would have thought that even a senatorial committee would have realized the Standard Oil Company with possessing enough business sense not deliberately to wreck its own business."

During the twelve years since the Supreme Court issued a decree dissolving the Standard Oil Company, the dissolution has been actual, he said. "It may be interesting to know that of our 32,000 stockholders, 8,200 are employees," he said.

Referring to a recent examination before a Senate committee, Stewart declared, "It would have thought that even a senatorial committee would have realized the Standard Oil Company with possessing enough business sense not deliberately to wreck its own business."

During the twelve years since the Supreme Court issued a decree dissolving the Standard Oil Company, the dissolution has been actual, he said. "It may be interesting to know that of our 32,000 stockholders, 8,200 are employees," he said.

Referring to a recent examination before a Senate committee, Stewart declared, "It would have thought that even a senatorial committee would have realized the Standard Oil Company with possessing enough business sense not deliberately to wreck its own business."

During the twelve years since the Supreme Court issued a decree dissolving the Standard Oil Company, the dissolution has been actual, he said. "It may be interesting to know that of our 32,000 stockholders, 8,200 are employees," he said.

Referring to a recent examination before a Senate committee, Stewart declared, "It would have thought that even a senatorial committee would have realized the Standard Oil Company with possessing enough business sense not deliberately to wreck its own business."

During the twelve years since the Supreme Court issued a decree dissolving the Standard Oil Company, the dissolution has been actual, he said. "It may be interesting to know that of our 32,000 stockholders, 8,200 are employees," he said.

Referring to a recent examination before a Senate committee, Stewart declared, "It would have thought that even a senatorial committee would have realized the Standard Oil Company with possessing enough business sense not deliberately to wreck its own business."

During the twelve years since the Supreme Court issued a decree dissolving the Standard Oil Company, the dissolution has been actual, he said. "It may be interesting to know that of our 32,000 stockholders, 8,200 are employees," he said.

Referring to a recent examination before a Senate committee, Stewart declared, "It would have thought that even a senatorial committee would have realized the Standard Oil Company with possessing enough business sense not deliberately to wreck its own business."

During the twelve years since the Supreme Court issued a decree dissolving the Standard Oil Company, the dissolution has been actual, he said. "It may be interesting to know that of our 32,000 stockholders, 8,200 are employees," he said.

Referring to a recent examination before a Senate committee, Stewart declared, "It would have thought that even a senatorial committee would have realized the Standard Oil Company with possessing enough business sense not deliberately to wreck its own business."

During the twelve years since the Supreme Court issued a decree dissolving the Standard Oil Company, the dissolution has been actual, he said. "It may be interesting to know that of our 32,000 stockholders, 8,200 are employees," he said.

Referring to a recent examination before a Senate committee, Stewart declared, "It would have thought that even a senatorial committee would have realized the Standard Oil Company with possessing enough business sense not deliberately to wreck its own business."

During the twelve years since the Supreme Court issued a decree dissolving the Standard Oil Company, the dissolution has been actual, he said. "It may be interesting to know that of our 32,000 stockholders, 8,200 are employees," he said.

Referring to a recent examination before a Senate committee, Stewart declared, "It would have thought that even a senatorial committee would have realized the Standard Oil Company with possessing enough business sense not deliberately to wreck its own business."

During the twelve years since the Supreme Court issued a decree dissolving the Standard Oil Company, the dissolution has been actual, he said. "It may be interesting to know that of our 32,000 stockholders, 8,200 are employees," he said.

Referring to a recent examination before a Senate committee, Stewart declared, "It would have thought that even a senatorial committee would have realized the Standard Oil Company with possessing enough business sense not deliberately to wreck its own business."

Board of Accounts Head Will Not Seek Reappointment
at End of Term.

Jesse E. Eschbach will not be reappointed as chief examiner of the State board of accounts, it was learned today. It is understood Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

Following expiration of his term, Eschbach will be associated either as a consultant or as a special investigator to the new reformatory as requested by Governor McCray, and he has recently criticized the Legislature for extravagant expenditures.

PUBLIC INTEREST
GROWS IN HOME
COMPLETE SHOW

Exposition Attracts Crowd of 12,000 at Exhibits
Tuesday.

Public interest in the Home Complete Exposition at the State fair-ground this week is growing rapidly. Approximately 12,000 people viewed the show Tuesday.

The L. S. Ayres & Co. exhibit, attracting favorable comment, shows a modern home, completely equipped. It is designed to show what a man of moderate means can do in selection of home furnishings. An innovation of this season is illustrated in draperies and bed covers. Checkered gingham is used.

Rapp & Lennox has an exhibit showing plans in styles for every class of home.

A colonial booth with fifteen panels illustrating woods used in interior finish, and the various ways of treating them, is shown by the Lumber Merchants' Credit and Inspection Bureau.

Everything at the exposition is not of the twentieth century. About 600 years B. C. some Chinese built a pagoda in their native country. A replica, in exact size and decoration, is used on the Lumber Manufacturing Company to interest the public in their roofing. The exhibit has been shown throughout the country.

If you want to start your home with the purchase of a lot, the exhibit of the Washington Bank and Trust Company should prove interesting. Central Park lots are featured.

Color, variety, and educational features, make the exposition worth while to any one who owns a home or expects to be a home owner.

"Newly weds, and young people who are planning to be married this spring are our most interested visitors," one of the exhibitors said today.

The Mercator Club held its weekly meeting at the exposition Tuesday. Harry Wangelin was host and William Kershner, silent booster.

The Indianapolis Real Estate Board held its meeting there today. Realtors inspected the exhibit.

Joe Katzen, 810 S. Capitol Ave., received a prison sentence of two to fourteen years in Criminal Court today on a charge of receiving stolen goods.

Katzen was convicted in June, 1921, and appealed to the State Supreme Court. The sentence was upheld Feb. 3, 1923.

Katzen, with Sam Koby and Albert Betty, was indicted for receiving goods stolen from the store of Charles Denker, 1112 Prospect St., including ninety-three pairs of pants, fifty men's suits, thirty sweaters, nine boys' suits, all valued at $2,454. Appeals of the other two men are pending in higher courts.

Katzen, with Sam Koby and Albert Betty, was indicted for receiving goods stolen from the store of Charles Denker, 1112 Prospect St., including ninety-three pairs of pants, fifty men's suits, thirty sweaters, nine boys' suits, all valued at $2,454. Appeals of the other two men are pending in higher courts.

Katzen, with Sam Koby and Albert Betty, was indicted for receiving goods stolen from the store of Charles Denker, 1112 Prospect St., including ninety-three pairs of pants, fifty men's suits, thirty sweaters, nine boys' suits, all valued at $2,454. Appeals of the other two men are pending in higher courts.

Katzen, with Sam Koby and Albert Betty, was indicted for receiving goods stolen from the store of Charles Denker, 1112 Prospect St., including ninety-three pairs of pants, fifty men's suits, thirty sweaters, nine boys' suits, all valued at $2,454. Appeals of the other two men are pending in higher courts.

Katzen, with Sam Koby and Albert Betty, was indicted for receiving goods stolen from the store of Charles Denker, 1112 Prospect St., including ninety-three pairs of pants, fifty men's suits, thirty sweaters, nine boys' suits, all valued at $2,454. Appeals of the other two men are pending in higher courts.

Katzen, with Sam Koby and Albert Betty, was indicted for receiving goods stolen from the store of Charles Denker, 1112 Prospect St., including ninety-three pairs of pants, fifty men's suits, thirty sweaters, nine boys' suits, all valued at $2,454. Appeals of the other two men are pending in higher courts.

Katzen, with Sam Koby and Albert Betty, was indicted for receiving goods stolen from the store of Charles Denker, 1112 Prospect St., including ninety-three pairs of pants, fifty men's suits, thirty sweaters, nine boys' suits, all valued at $2,454. Appeals of the other two men are pending in higher courts.

Katzen, with Sam Koby and Albert Betty, was indicted for receiving goods stolen from the store of Charles Denker, 1112 Prospect St., including ninety-three pairs of pants, fifty men's suits, thirty sweaters, nine boys' suits, all valued at $2,454. Appeals of the other two men are pending in higher courts.

Katzen, with Sam Koby and Albert Betty, was indicted for receiving goods stolen from the store of Charles Denker, 1112 Prospect St., including ninety-three pairs of pants, fifty men's suits, thirty sweaters, nine boys' suits, all valued at $2,454. Appeals of the other two men are pending in higher courts.

Katzen, with Sam Koby and Albert Betty, was indicted for receiving goods stolen from the store of Charles Denker, 1112 Prospect St., including ninety-three pairs of pants, fifty men's suits, thirty sweaters, nine boys' suits, all valued at $2,454. Appeals of the other two men are pending in higher courts.

Katzen, with Sam Koby and Albert Betty, was indicted for receiving goods stolen from the store of Charles Denker, 1112 Prospect St., including ninety-three pairs of pants, fifty men's suits, thirty sweaters, nine boys' suits, all valued at $2,454. Appeals of the other two men are pending in higher courts.

MAN HELD AS SUSPECT IN MURDER

Terre Haute Police Arrest 'Albert Smith, 47,' in Connection
With Killing of Theresa Perry Here
Monday Night.

By United Press
TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 4.—Albert Smith, 47, who police think may be connected with the killing of Theresa Perry of Indianapolis, is still held only a "vagrancy and suspicion" charge here after questioning by detectives.

Smith, in a statement made Wednesday, declared he was not in Indianapolis Monday night. According to the story told by Smith he had arrived in Indianapolis Sunday night from Anderson. He left Indianapolis Monday noon, he said, going to Plainfield.

He said he remained in Plainfield until Tuesday morning when he started to Terre Haute. After riding three miles with another man he said, he was picked up by a Mr. Pope and brought on to Terre Haute.

A Tuesday morning R. W. Pope, traveling from Indianapolis to Terre Haute, picked up a man at Plainfield. The man apparently had been walking all night, but appeared nervous in spite of his fatigue. From time to time the man discussed fragments of a news story of the murder of a woman in Indianapolis. The conversation between the two was directed into other channels, but always the passenger drifted back to a discussion of the murder.

The driver had heard nothing of the story, but his suspicions were aroused and when he arrived in Terre Haute he obtained a paper and read the account. Immediately after, Terre Haute police, who had been instructed by Indianapolis police to watch for the fugitive, were notified, and Smith was arrested. At police headquarters he stoutly maintained his innocence and was sent to jail charged with vagrancy pending word from Indianapolis.

Local authorities not informed of Terre Haute arrest.

Finger prints taken by Army authorities at Seattle, Wash., when Albert V. Smith, 32, alleged slayer of Mrs. Theresa Perry, 42, of 725 Rochester Ave., called at the time the United States entered the World War, may lead to Smith's arrest, detectives hope.

Local authorities have not been notified of the arrest of an Albert Smith in Terre Haute, but were keenly interested in dispatches telling of it.

Description of the man held in Terre Haute did not tally with the details of Smith's appearance given police here by relatives.

Not only will the prints, filed with the identification bureau at Washington, serve to identify Smith if he is arrested in some other city as a suspect, but the bloody finger marks on the glass of the rear door of Mrs. Perry's home will help pin the crime on Smith if he is caught, detectives said.

Niece, 10, Sole Witness
Smith is said to have been infatuated with Mrs. Perry.

The last trace of Smith was