

ANTI-MASK BILL MAY COME UP IN COUNCIL TONIGHT

Ray Plans Effort to Call Measure Out of Committee.

Practically no business is expected to be taken up at the regular meeting of the city council tonight, President John E. King said today. The meeting probably will be adjourned until Tuesday or Wednesday.

An effort to bring up for passage a proposed ordinance prohibiting the wearing of masks in public places, is expected to be made. Councilman Otto Ray said he would attempt to call the measure out of the committee, where it has been shelved since its introduction several weeks ago.

"Dead," King Says
President King was asked before the council "What ordinance is dead," he said. "More than two meetings have been held since it was introduced and given to the committee. According to council rules this kills the measure."

Councilman Ray said he expects a delegation to appear at the meeting urging passage of the measure.

Urged by Shank and Chief
Since the last council meeting, Mayor Shank and Police Chief Rik-hoff have asked that the ordinance be passed as a public safety measure.

Ray introduced the ordinance. When informed it had been killed in committee, he remarked: "Well, I guess another one can be introduced."

FRIGHTENING AWAY DOGS

E. Ohio St. Resident Explains Murder
Call to Police.

Police rushed to the twelve hundred block of E. Ohio St., Sunday night expecting a murder. They found a shooting report originated from the report of a gun exploded by David E. Large, 1217 E. Ohio St., who said every time any member of his family went in or out of their home dogs that "hang around" jumped at them. Mrs. Large was knocked to the street. Blank cartridges were fired at the animals in an effort to scare them away, Large explained.

Patient Disappears

A friend advised me to try Foley Kidney Pills, and before I used two boxes I was entirely well," writes A. C. Perkins, Sumner Shade, Ky. Kidney and bladder trouble requires prompt treatment. Foley Kidney Pills give quick relief. Refuse substitutes. Insist upon Foley's. Sold everywhere.—Advertisement.

Barthelmess Glorifies American Boy; Frank Keenan Contributes Good Acting

By WALTER D. HICKMAN
AMERICAN BOYS are great heroes.

A Yankee lad just naturally lends himself to romance in the story books, on the screen and in real life.

Dick Barthelmess in "The Bright Shawl" glorifies the American boy. We like to see our heroes be real Americans. Barthelmess is a real American and he knows how to reflect romance and daring on the screen.

In his latest movie Dick is a hero in Cuba in the days when Spain still had her despotic heel upon the island. Our hero wears the attire of those days when every true gentleman must have a necktie made of lace.

A high hat was also necessary at all times. To be a gentleman of that period one was required to be handy with the sword in order to impress those present that all gentlemen will fight when necessary.

I am mighty fond of this new Barthelmess picture because he has given us a Yankee hero of other days. It is a good deal like opening up a picture album of one's grandmothers. Everything is so quaint and old-fashioned. I take it, to go into detail concerning the story, I found that the charming and romantic atmosphere of the story has been carried out to the screen. Also that a splendid cast has given us some interesting characterizations. The heavy work of the picture is done by Barthelmess, Dorothy Gish as a Spanish dancer and the owner of the "bright shawl," May Astor, Anders Randolph, Jetta Goudal, Margaret Seddon and William Powell.

Miss Gish Wears
A Wicked Shawl
As Dorothy Gish is the one who wears the "bright shawl," we are of course interested in her. She is one of the tools used by the Cubans in their fight for freedom. Barthelmess lines up with the Cubans because the girl he loves is willing to die for Cuba's freedom. Before the story ends, the shawl becomes brighter because it is colored with human blood during a fight for freedom.

As the Spanish dancer, Miss Gish has given the screen a charming picture of a saucy and worldly miss who mixes patriotism and love together. You will love to remember Miss Gish and Barthelmess for their excellent work in "The Bright Shawl."

The director has done wonders in photographing the romance and intrigue of Cuba. It is a beautiful picture.

"The Bright Shawl" is the movie feature at the Circle this week. The bill includes a musical novelty, a wonderful demonstration of the ability of the Circle's orchestra and a unique Howe comedy cartoon affair.

Meet a New Main Street Serial Hero
Did you enjoy "The Leather Pushers?"

Sure you did. Rather think you will welcome a new series called "Fighting Blood." I saw the first round yesterday at the Ohio. I understand that there will be twelve rounds.

The scenes of the first round are placed in a small town where the drug store, the home of ice cream sundae, is the social center for the young people. I rather enjoyed the first round because it shows up Main street in an interesting way.

Main street is not such a bad old street after all, you know. We all like to see the small town dandy go down under a well placed blow of chap who is trying to make good, although he is just a soda mixer at the drug store.

George O'Hara and Clara Horton are the chief players in the series. Many well-known sport celebrities will appear in the other rounds, I am informed. Am sure you will find this new serial clean fun and it will appeal to every one who enjoys sporting events and even those who read only the Congressional Record will like "Fighting Blood." Am rather anxious to see the other rounds.

These rounds have been booked at the Ohio, the first one being on view this week. On the bill is "Hearts Affair" with Anne Q. Nason and Frank Keenan. This is a story of the lumber regions. Of course there is a forest fire and a large bunch of rascals.

Interest will center upon the work of Frank Keenan. The author probably did not intend that the character impersonated by Keenan should be the dominating influence of the story, and yet it is the acting of Keenan which gives the picture whatever merit it possesses.

Keenan is cast as an aged lumber king who has a passion for cutting down pine forests. He loses interest in life when he can find no new tracts of pine forests to cut down. When such a tract is found the old lumber king becomes a young man again and fights to gain control of the pine forest.

Miss Nilsson did the best she could with a rather colorless part. The picture has been well photographed and the comedy situations well handled. At the Ohio last week.

Early Curtain at the Murat This Week
Nelson Trowbridge of the Murat states that the curtain of "The Passing Show of 1922" will go up at 8 p. m. promptly each night this week and at 2 o'clock at the matinees. The Shriners have taken over the house for Monday night.

"The Meanest Man in the World" is the new offering of the Grand Players at English's. The headline at the Palace this week is the Cunningham-Bennett Revue; at Keith's, the Princess Radjah; at the Broadway, "Round the Town," and at the Rialto, "Radio Girls."

Other movies on view today include: "The Go Getter" at the Colonial and "Safety Last" at the Apollo.

More Thoughts on
The Best Boy Actor
Jackie Coogan is appearing this week in "Daddy," a movie story written by his ma and pa, at Mister Smith's.

I have gone into detail before concerning "Daddy." This is a made-to-order picture for this boy star. It is rather loosely written and put together, but it again proves that Jackie is the best boy actor before the American public or any other public today. This little chap can register emotion and express real tears as easy as a duck can swim. Jackie has a chance to romp with the pigs, chickens and the cows down on the farm. You will laugh when he attempts to milk a cow. You will cry when an old master of the violin passes away while Jackie is playing on the violin.

One of the rarest attributes that Coogan has is that he interests grownups as well as children. When this chap flashed across the screen for the first time with Chaplin, many thought that the child's artistry was due to Chaplin. Now we know, after seeing Jackie in "Daddy," that this lad is a great artist.

If you haven't seen "Daddy," go to Smith's this week with your family and have a good cry and many laughs.

THAD B. LEHR, well-known Kansas City business man, who says his recent recovery of health is entirely due to Tanlac.

"I can place only the highest estimate on the Tanlac treatment, for I have realized its wonderful merits in my own case," recently stated Thad B. Lehr, proprietor of the Lehr Shirt & Underwear Co., 2722 E. Thirty-Sixth St., Kansas City, Mo.

"Before taking Tanlac I was suffering from nervousness, headaches, indigestion and loss of appetite, which had pulled me down until work was like a burden.

"Tanalac measured right up to my expectations and since taking it I am enjoying a full measure of good health. I eat and sleep like a school boy and have energy and strength that makes life and work a pleasure. My confidence in Tanlac was certainly well placed."

Tanalac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.—Adv.

Some things you should know about your heart

THE first thing a physician examines, when summoned, is the heart. It is the pulse. A normal heart will beat one hundred and three thousand times each day. You depend on it to beat every second of your life. You realize the heart should not have to overwork constantly to throw off blood impurities. It is impurities which increase the heart beat. More red-cells mean cleaner, purer, richer blood. They mean nerve-power, because all your nerves are fed by your blood. This means freedom from pimples, from blackheads, from boils, eczema and skin eruptions; from rheumatic impurities, from that tired, exhausted, run-down feeling. Red-cells are the most important thing in the world to each of us. S. S. S. will build them for you! S. S. S. has been known since 1836 as one of the greatest blood-builders, blood-cleaners and system strengtheners ever produced.

Mr. Arthur A. Smith, 3020 S. Ada Street, Chicago, Ill., writes: "After suffering with bad boils, I commenced using S. S. S. I wish to say that it came up to all expectations, and relieved me of boils. I wish to express my appreciation for what S. S. S. did for me."

Try it yourself. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The large size is more economical. Get a bottle today!

WRITTEN REQUEST DEMANDS MONEY

Masked Bandit Routed by Shots of Groceryman.

Detectives are searching for a masked hold-up man who presented a written demand for money to Charles Rugenstein, 1520 Lexington Ave., and Otto Borchert, 1016 Churchman Ave., in their grocery, 2101 Pleasant St., Saturday night.

The man wearing a blue handkerchief carried an automatic pistol. He ordered the grocers to read a note.

Rugenstein reached for a club. Borchert fired two shots. The bandit dropped the paper and ran. On the slip was this note: "The Flery Cross warning every grocer in Indianapolis has got to donate $1 to the Ku-Klux Klan for church purposes. Come across or we will see you later."

Pastor Declares New Tyranny Faces Us

"We face a new tyranny," declared Dr. Frank S. C. Wicks Sunday at All Souls Unitarian Church. "Not the despotism of a monarch, but oppressive measures passed by a majority, at times by an active minority."

"If laws are not appealed to public opinion is used to whip people into line with the opinions of the majority," Dr. Wicks declared. Continuing, he said:

"This country was born in a passion for liberty. For that our fathers lived, fought and died. At the same time they saw the necessity of defining the limits of personal liberty, and to that end they framed a constitution and enacted laws. Steadily these laws have multiplied until we need to take account of stock and see how much liberty we have left."

"Our recent Legislatures indulged in a perfect debauch in passing laws. Our own Legislature came near enacting a law which would forbid spending Memorial day as we wished. Another law proposed was to have some infallible censor appointed who should decide the kind of moving pictures we would be allowed to see. So innumerable have these laws become that the most law-abiding citizen may find himself innocently in their mesh."

Some Laws Infringe Personal Liberty
"Many of these laws are just and necessary; other are illegitimate invasions of personal liberty."

"It is time to stop and consider where the line should be drawn between the rights of the individual and the rights of all. How far can government go in curtailing our rights?"

"That line should be drawn at the point where my liberty touches upon the liberty of another man."

"We need protection against the tyranny of prevailing opinion and against the tendency of society to impose its own peculiar views and practices as rules of conduct upon those who dissent from them."

"There is an appropriate region for the exercise of personal liberty. It is the inward domain of consciousness, demanding liberty of conscience, though, feeling and opinion on all subjects. This requires liberty of tastes and pursuits, of one's life to suit his own character, doing what we like subject to such consequences as may follow with no impediment from others so long as we harm no one but ourselves," he said.

rumors persisted that the resignation of the Bonar Law Cabinet was at hand. This was officially denied at 10 Downing St.

The fate of the English pocketbook lies in the budget. It has been announced tax reductions will be submitted and the nation is awaiting the scheme with expectancy.

It is generally forecast the reductions will include a slice of sixpence from the income levy, a penny per pint off beer and a halving of the corporation tax.
