

OWSLEY CALLS ON AMERICA FOR REDEDICATION TO IDEALS

SIX UNITS WILL FORM PROCESSION ON MEMORIAL DAY

Line of March Through Downtown Streets Announced.

Arrangements have been completed for the Memorial day parade Wednesday. Robert L. Moorhead, chief marshal, said today the six units will form at 1:30 p. m. at North and Meridian Sts. and will move at 1:45 p. m.

From North and Meridian Sts. the procession will move south on Meridian to Monument Pl., around the Circle to Market St., east to Pennsylvania St. and south to Georgia St. The parade will disband at Pennsylvania and Georgia Sts., where Crown Hill cars will be boarded. At the east entrance of the cemetery the divisions will re-form and march to the soldiers' graves.

The Divisions:
Division A—Thomas Clapp, marshal. Composed of Sons of Veterans, and local posts of the G. A. R. Forms on north side of E. Vermont St., right resting on Meridian St., and will fall in line at the head of the parade and continue in line until Monument is reached. There they will take automobiles to Crown Hill.

Spanish War Veterans
Division B—Edward P. Thayer, marshal. Composed of local camps of Spanish War veterans.

Forms on west side of N. Meridian St., right resting on North St.

Division C—Barnett W. Breedlove, marshal. Composed of local posts of American Legion, Rainbow Division veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, World War Veterans, American Women's Overseas League, Y. M. C. A. and Knights of Columbus secretaries who were in active service during the war.

Forms on east side of N. Meridian St., head resting on North St.

Division D—Col. George M. Lee, marshal. Composed of uniformed units of local high schools, followed by Boy Scouts.

Forms on west side of N. Meridian St., head to south, behind Division B.

Patriotic Organizations
Division E—Charles E. Edwards, marshal. Composed of civilian patriotic organizations.

Forms on W. North St., right resting on Meridian St.

Division F—Annabelle Peterson, marshal. Composed of all women's auxiliaries to ex-service organizations, women's patriotic organizations, etc.

Forms on E. North St., right resting on Meridian St.

All units of the parade will march in fours, the guide and dress being left.

Barnett W. Breedlove, president of 13th Field Artillery Reunion Association, requests all members of that organization to take part in the parade.

Services on Monument
Services will begin at 9 a. m. Wednesday on the steps of the monument. Frank J. Walsh will deliver an address.

At 9 a. m. Irvington Post, No. 38, American Legion, will hold services at Memorial Park cemetery. Boy Scouts will decorate graves.

Exercises will be conducted at Mt. Jackson cemetery at 9:30 a. m. under the auspices of the Alvin P. Hovey W. R. C. and Boy Scouts.

The Otis E. Brown Post, World War Veterans will hold ceremonies at 10 a. m. at New Crown cemetery. Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts will assist.

The Rev. W. E. Cissna will be the principal speaker at Floral Park cemetery at 10:30 a. m. Sunday school children will sing.

Anderson cemetery will be the scene of ceremonies conducted by William R. Shearer at 11 a. m. The Rev. D. L. Andrews will speak.

Ball in Charge
Albert J. Ball will be master of ceremonies at Crown Hill cemetery at 3 p. m. Addresses will be given by Mayor Lawrence A. Handley of Richmond, Ind.; Lieutenant Governor Emmett F. Branch, National Adjutant Lemuel Bolles of the American Legion and Representative Asa J. Smith.

Knights of Columbus will take part in the services at 3 p. m. at Holy Cross cemetery. John L. Allen will speak. Public School No. 41 held exercises in the school yard at 2 p. m. today. A large flag was presented to the school by the Sons of Veterans.

COLE DISTRIBUTORS MEET FOR SALES CONVENTION
Local Factory Entertains 150 Agents From All Parts of Country.

More than 150 Cole distributors from all parts of the United States assembled in Indianapolis today for the annual sales convention of the Cole factory.

A meeting at the factory on E. Washington St., is to be followed by a chicken dinner tonight.

J. J. Cole, president of the Cole Motor Company, will speak. Other speakers include L. B. Sanders, formerly with the Boston used car statistical bureau, and Edwin G. Baker of the Cole company.

Pocketbook Stolen

American Literary Stars Come to Indianapolis to Watch International Racing Champions Compete

The Indianapolis Speedway will have a "corner" on literary and newspaper men Wednesday.

One party alone boasts of such writers as Ray Long, a Hoosier, vice president of the International Magazine Company and editor-in-chief of Cosmopolitan, Hearst's, Good Housekeeping and allied magazines; Roy W. Howard, formerly Indianapolis newspaper man and now of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, of which The Indianapolis Times is a member; O. O. McIntyre, syndicate writer for more than eighty papers; Peter B. Kyne, author of "Cappy Ricks," "The Pride of Palomar," "Kindred of the Dust" and many others, and our own Meredith Nicholson, who is acting as host to the visitors.

It is not a stag party by any means, as the party includes Mrs. Long, Mrs. Kyne, Mrs. McIntyre and Mrs. Howard. Between the many parties planned, the party is staying at the Lincoln.

At their first luncheon at the Lincoln on their arrival from New York, the women were impressed by the size of the frogs served.

"There should be a law to control the size of frogs," Mrs. Kyne stated.

Today the writers were the guests of the Rotary Club at luncheon. Tonight Nicholson will be host at a Hoosier cottage cheese and chicken dinner.

Expected today from Washington, D. C., to join the party were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Shipp, who made the trip by motor. Shipp, a former Indianapolis newspaper man, now is head of a news and advertising syndicate.

The real sensation of the party is the "loud" shirts worn by the men, who seem to have embarked on a haberdashery contest. Pink and lavender seem to be the leading colors.

According to the party there seems to be no place just like Indiana in real life as well as in storyland.

Threatened City Hall Klan Split Appears Healed

Hogue Denies Rumors He Will Quit—Defends Record of Mayor Shank.

A threatened split in the ranks of the city administration over the alleged membership of Joseph L. Hogue, city controller, in the Ku-Klux Klan was apparently healed today.

In a flat denial that he intended to resign from the office of city controller, Hogue took a decided rap at "people who publish insinuating statements."

It was rumored at the city hall, after the appearance of the controller's name in Tolerance, that members of the administration would ask for a statement from Hogue.

Rumors that the mayor intended to oust Hogue were prevalent, although the mayor has never indicated this. Hogue neither admitted nor denied his membership in the Klan.

Hogue said that his policy of watching out for the best interests of the people was not popular with those who entertain selfish motives and designs; that they would employ any scheme to accomplish their ends, "hence this latest attempt to create the impression there is not complete harmony between Mayor Shank and myself."

"I believe in Mayor Shank and am always loyal to him. Mayor Shank and I have been for years close personal friends," said Hogue.

LIFELONG HOOSIER IS LAID TO REST

Funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Jane Newcomb Held Today

Mrs. Elizabeth Jane Newcomb, 91, lifelong resident of Indiana, who died Sunday after a long illness, was buried this afternoon in Crown Hill cemetery. Funeral services were held from the home of her daughter, Mrs. John S. Wright, 3718 N. Pennsylvania St., at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Newcomb was the daughter of Ebenezer Baldwin, who came to Indiana in 1819 from New York, and of Elizabeth Hess, who came to Indiana in 1821 from Virginia. She was active in war work. She came to Indianapolis about thirty-five years ago. Surviving are the daughter and one son, Leland L. of Long Beach, California.

CHARGE MADE BY GIRL
John Bauer Alleged to Have Contributed to Delinquency.

John Bauer, 704 E. New York St., was under arrest today on charges of contributing to delinquency. He was arrested on complaint of a Maple St. resident who said his daughter was found at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Otis, 958 Maple St., after she had been away two weeks. Otis and his wife were ordered to appear in juvenile court. The girl was taken to the Detention home.

Nighties Gone From Hospital
Nightgowns and bed clothing valued at $50 were missing today from the city hospital.

White Miss Middle Meyer, 3601 W. Washington St., was standing at Washington and Illinois Sts., a pickpocket robbed her of a purse containing $1.

Visit Riley Home

With thousands of Speedway visitors in Indianapolis, special preparations have been made to receive many at the old home of James Whitcomb Riley in Lockefield St. The home will be open to visitors from 10 to 12 in the morning and 2 to 4 in the afternoon. A small admission fee is charged to cover the cost of maintaining the home as a public shrine.

CITY SCHOOLS HOLD MEMORIAL SERVICE

Manual Student Says Day Is to Praise War Dead.

"Memorial day is not to mourn our glorious dead, but to praise them," declared Wilbur Anderson, Manual student, in an address before the Manual Training High School at Memorial services today.

McComb, principal of the school, told students that home, God, and honor were three ideals Memorial day should mean to youthful citizens.

Patriotic songs were sung by the chorus classes. John Klafner read the gold star lists of Manual's honored heroes.

Six student speakers took part in Memorial services at Shortridge. Collier Young and Edward Chapman spoke on "The Old Soldier." Kathryn Bowley and Jane Currie spoke on "The World War Veteran" and Burt Ely and Joseph Johnston on "Our Patriotism."

Technical High School students will participate in the service at Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument at 9 a. m. Wednesday.

Supreme Judges Rotate
Benjamin M. Willoughby of Vincennes became chief justice of the Supreme Court of Indiana and Willis C. McMahon of Crown Point became chief justice of the Appellate Court, under the custom of rotation, as the May term got under way tonight.

Solon A. Enloe of Danville succeeded Charles F. Remy of Indianapolis as presiding judge of the first division.

INCENDIARISM BLAMED FOR UNIVERSAL FIRE
Three Business Buildings and Home Are Destroyed.

By Times Special
CLINTON, Ind., May 29.—Incendiarism is blamed for a fire Monday which destroyed three frame business buildings and a dwelling at Universal, with loss of $35,000. The buildings, known as Smith's corner, and belonging to Henry Smith, were in the center of the business district.

Morris Yowell, grocer; Lindsay Brothers, barbers, and Smith's pool room occupied the buildings. Smith's home also was burned. A bucket brigade fought the flames.

COMMUNISTS IN BERLIN REPORTED PLANNING RIOTS

Eleven Killed In Fighting at Dresden—French May Intervene.

By United Press
BERLIN, May 29.—Communists who have rioted in many Ruhr cities and in Saxony plan a great upheaval in Berlin tomorrow, according to unconfirmed rumors.

Bloody fighting between reds and police at Dresden at midnight resulted in eleven deaths.

French, who have withheld interference in the disturbances in most instances, today prohibited public assemblies at Hocklinghausen, and will extend the prohibition to other parts of the Ruhr. The move may mark the beginning of French intervention to prevent serious consequences of the rioting.

The possibility of a red disturbance in Berlin is alarming.

A mob stoned the French patrol at Stephentown today, and two Germans were wounded in the fighting which followed.

A woman and a worker were killed near Solingen.

At Dresden during the night communists plundered a shop where arms were sold. Then they pressed in upon a little group of police, assailing the latter from both sides. Volleys were exchanged and many fell.

In addition to eleven dead, sixty are reported to have been wounded.

'CATCH US IF YOU CAN' MAY BE CRY OF NEW YORK KLAN

White Robers Stand on Theory Member's Mask Is His Mansion.

By United Press
NEW YORK, May 29.—A Klansman's mask is his mansion and any attempt to deprive him of his secrecy infringes on his personal liberty—this is the stand of the Ku-Klux Klan, to be tested in the courts if necessary, its leaders, both State and National, declared today.

Since the Walker act, aimed to unmask the Klan, raises this issue first and most clearly in New York, the opening salvo of the fight for anonymity will be fired as soon as Klan officials are prosecuted for failure to submit lists of their Klavern members.

From National Klan headquarters at Atlanta came the announcement, although the most exalted officials of the organization are sympathetic with the views expressed by the empire State King Kleagle in defiance of Governor Smith, they have issued no orders on the subject, and intend to let the New York Kleagles fight the battle themselves.

Nevertheless the past forty-eight hours compassed displays of Klan activity all over the country, in what happened to be a united effort to make an impressive showing. Salesmen of Klan memberships and regalia are reported most active everywhere, and observers believe initiations the past week mark the highest rate of Klan growth.

"Catch us if you can," may be the Klan war cry, if State and country officials make any real effort to impound records.

It would take a neat job of sleuthing to pin the goods on the night riders, unless they are caught on the road in the full panoply of their sheets and pillow cases.

Klan activity and expansion, it is said, is now emphasized in two channels: the organization of "100 per cent Americanism" locals by men apparently not connected with Ku-Klux, which locals are later converted to Klansmen in a body by "high-pressure salesmanship" second establishment of Klaverns among college students.
